Engineers Plan Power Show

Demonstration Held May 4-5

Plans for the annual power show to be held May 4 and 5 have been completed by the students of the mechanical engineering department and preparations for the event are well under way. The show will represent student ingenuity and industry as well as present an exhibit of machines, instruments and equipment used in engineering work. Many novel and curious devices will be on exhibit. The new power plant will be opened for public inspection for the first time. Illuminated walks will lead the visitors to the various departments.

The itinerary will be as follows: Engineering Building, chemistry laboratories, machine shop, mechanical engineering laboratory, new power plant, and the architectural department. There will be seen in each of these departments various pieces of equipment and instruments which will be fully explained by guides. Laboratory and shop procedures, such as ceramic laboratory work and the pouring of molten metal, as well as many other practices will be seen.

The practice of giving a power show is customary with all the larger engineering schools throughout the country. The attendance at the power show given by the Rice Institute at Houston last week drew an estimated attendance of about 20,000.

The public will be welcome on either day of the power show but the first day, April 4, is primarily intended for the students and interscholastic leagues. The hours for the show will be from 6:30 to 9 o'clock each evening.

The business administration spring banquet has been postponed until May 10, according to Archibald Adams, president of the business administration executive council. The banquet will be given at the Driskill Hotel at 7 o'clock.

Southwestern Man Teaches in Greece

Special To The Daily Texan.
GEORGETOWN, Texas, April 25.—Anatolia College at Salonika, Greece, will have as a faculty member next year Harold Graves, of Fort Worth, now a senior in Southwestern University. He will act as secretary, which is under the control in this country of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

While in Southwestern, Harold Graves has been active in student and religious affairs, having taken a prominent part in nearly every organization on the campus. This year he is president of the Students' Association. He will receive his B. A. degree, Cum Laude, in June.

The contract calls for three years' service in the Grecian college, and Graves will sail for Salonika in time for the opening of the college on September 15.

Annex Hears Wedding Bells As Young Hopefuls Unite

One of the most spectacular weddings ever seen on the campus took place on the veranda of Annex B of the Woman's Building recently when Miss Zella O'Brien of Bowie, freshman in the University, and S. Smith of San Antonio, also a freshman, were united in marriage.

Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, someone sang "O Promise Me," or a similar song, and someone else played Lohengrin's wedding march—or perhaps it was Mendelssohn's.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend H. L. Hiestand of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who was especially imported for the occasion.

The bride was a picture of girlish charm in the usual fluffy ruffles, and she carried the usual bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom wore the conventional black, the color of obscurity.

Little Alice Miller was the flower girl. She carried a branch of spring shrubbery and scattered bits of the green foliage in front of the foolish couple.

The blushing bride entered on the arm of her father who gladly gave her away.

Only mourning relatives and very close friends were allowed to be present.

The couple, as well as the wedding party, will continue their work in the University because they were only trying out their feminine and masculine attire which they were to wear to the union prom.

She has participated in student activities since she has been on the campus, being a member of Ashbel literary society and a nominee for class officer.

Her candidacy has been endorsed by her friends because she is painstaking and conscientious, as well as capable and executive, in her organization and scholastic work on the campus.

1928-29 Juniors Elect Officers

It will be necessary for all members of the sophomore class to co-operate in the making of the chain. The time and place of meeting for making the chain will be announced in The Texan at a later date.

The cover was drawn by John Canaday. It is done in two colors and is suggestive of the spring motif.

Students Assembly Makes No Change in Blanket Tax Fund

Penick Attends Meet in Dallas

Intramural Aid Increase Denied

Honor Council Passes on Eligibility Today

Adoption of the committee's report on the apportionment of the blanket tax fund for 1928-29, which is the same as was in effect this year; recognition of the right of the Board of Publications to make awards to staff members of the publications without interference of the Assembly; and adoption of the resolution submitted by the Board of Publications to the Students Assembly which relieves the Board of passing on the eligibility of editorial candidates, was the chief business considered by the Students Assembly in its session last night.

The Honor Council meets today at 10 o'clock to decide whether the bill will go into effect immediately or is retroactive or just what its status is relative to the present political campaign.

A report was made at the same time by the committee appointed to make arrangements for the political convocation, which is to be held in the open air theater Monday night, April 30. Members of the committee were Spurgeon Bell, Cecil Tolbert, and John Hill Watts.

Intramurals Ask Aid

No recognition was made of the petition submitted asking for an apportionment for men's intramural athletics equal to that at present received by W. A. A. The petition was signed by some 1500 men. Reasons offered by the committee for refusing the apportionment included the fact that there are at present no funds available for it without affecting other campus organizations that are barely subsisting on their allotment. It was stated in the petition that the Athletic Council, under the pressure of its obligations, has reduced the sum set aside for men's intramurals on the Council's budget from $1,875 for the current year to $1,275 for the next.

W. A. A. Increase Requested

Investigation of the financial condition of W. A. A. revealed that that body is now operating with little hope of expansion without additional funds, the $1 allotted by the blanket tax being insufficient. Proposals were introduced into the assembly to cut six cents from the general fund of the band and one cent from the Oratorical Association, band (Continued on page 5)

Annual Banquet For Journalists Scheduled May 4

The annual all-Publications' banquet will be given Friday evening, May 4, on the roof of the Stephen F. Austin hotel, according to Burt Dyke, business manager of the Texas Students Publications. The guests at the dinner will include all workers on all publications, the business staffs, and a number of specially invited guests, including visiting delegates to the Interscholastic League-Sigma Delta Chi press conference.

Committees have been appointed for the decoration of the hall and for the entertainment to be given at the dinner, Dyke said.

Gregory Elected as Cap and Gown Head

Junior women met Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the girls' study hall to elect officers for the Cap and Gown organization of 1928-29.

Cornelia Gregory of Houston was elected president of the class by a majority over two opponents. Alberta Scott of San Antonio was elected to the office of vice-president without opposition. The candidates were out for the office of secretary, and after a close vote, Carol Chandler of Weatherford was declared winner.

The meeting was adjourned after Janet Files of San Antonio was elected to the office of treasurer over her one opponent.

Exum to Represent Company in Belgium

James P. Exum, who received his Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering in 1922, has been sent to Belgium to represent the Harrington, Howard, and Ash engineering firm, according to T. U. Taylor, dean of the College of Engineering.

Exum established a good record while attending the University.

Mr. Howard, another University graduate, is also a member of the firm.

FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED

Owing to the evident tardiness of the various candidates for political office in announcing The Daily Texan, it is felt necessary to inform those who have not yet had their announcements printed that lack of space makes it advisable not to wait until the last day or two.

Only candidates for 10 most important offices are allowed page one display, which is necessarily limited. The back page, which is considered next best to page one, is reserved for other offices, but that page too has its limitations. Candidates may communicate with the Editor in B. Hall 127.

THE THEATRE

A MISLEADING title, a mediocre story, and some good acting feature Adolphe Menjou's latest production, "A Night of Mystery," now playing at the Majestic theater. The title has very little to do with the story, for it is as far from mysterious as anything pretending to be a mystery play could possibly be.

The story is an old one rehearsed with Menjou wearing some handsome French uniforms and making love fairly dashing to two women. The acting, however, is typically Menjou and is consequently good.

Menjou as a French soldier has been ordered to Algeria, and is to be separated from his sweetheart for some time; before he goes a past flame asks him to return her letters, and he does so, but as he is coming out of the house one of the keepers on the estate kills a man, and on accusing this keeper of the estate of the murder is threatened with scandal to himself and the woman if he doesn't keep quiet. He does, and goes to Algeria only to learn that the brother of his sweetheart is suspected. He returns to France in time to hear him sentenced to death, and to save him, when his old sweetheart refuses to let him tell, Menjou confesses to the murder, but on being forced to confront the actual murderer, things turn out right and Menjou as a "gallant gentleman" wins his right to happiness.

"The Cat and the Canary" comes to the Texas today, as one of the best mystery stories ever filmed. Carrying out the idea of some superhuman cat playing with the inferior human canaries, the picture develops hair-raising sequences and scenes that make you grab the man or the girl in the next seat.

It has been classed with the best mystery stories ever written and according to sustained interest, suspense, odd characterizations, floating cobwebs, grotesque shadows, and the like, it has all that it takes to make for interest and terror.

The announcement that Warner Bros. will bring their greatest motion picture success, "The Jazz Singer," starring Al Jolson, to the Queen theater May 4, is of prime importance. It is heralded as an epic of the screen and marks the debut of Al Jolson as a moving picture star.

Since its opening in New York at the Warner theater, where its success was instantaneous, it has established a record of capacity audiences at every performance. The story of "The Jazz Singer" is well known, and yet, under the direction of Alan Crossland, who has treated the story in the spirit in which it was conceived, there has been added a note of great beauty and pathos in the depiction of the rise of the son of the cantor who deserted his home to be a jazz singer, for it parallels the life story of Al Jolson himself.

Union to Benefit Austin Students

City Union Drive Opens Friday Night

Austin students, composing about one-fifth of the University enrollment, will receive perhaps the greatest benefits from the University Union project, Dr. E. C. Berwick, president of the Lions club and father of a University student, said Wednesday in urging Austin people to subscribe to the Union fund.

A drive for at least $150,000 will be started downtown this evening at an organization dinner on the Stephen F. Austin hotel roof.

Students who live in Austin, Dr. Berwick explained, will have the use of the Union buildings and, in addition, will receive the benefits which will come to the city in increased revenue from the use of two auditoriums and the growth of the University resulting from completion of the project.

If the University was moved away from Austin, he said, Austin parents would have to pay $1,000,000 annually to support their sons and daughters in some other school. If the University were not a state owned and state operated school, Austin parents would have to pay $300,000 annually for tuition alone.

The auditorium drive will be conducted through the coming week by about 40 teams of workers. Daily report luncheons will be held as in the recent campus campaign.

ELECTION POSTPONED

Austin Rotary Club Hears Union Workers

Members of the Austin Rotary Club will hear Representative M. C. Parrish and his Austin Union workers discuss the Ex-Student project at their meeting May 1, it was announced Tuesday. Twenty minutes will be spent in explaining the various features of the proposed buildings before the club.

Harry D. Cross, financial director of the Union drive, spoke before the club at its meeting yesterday. He discussed the buildings and explained that for $150,000, the quota which has been set for the Austin drive, local people could secure the use of an auditorium seating 10,000 people and a smaller auditorium which will seat some 1,800.

About 50 more workers have to be secured for the Austin drive before Friday, the opening day of the campaign, Cross said. With this number added, there will be about 300 workers in all divisions of the Austin drive, a number sufficient to carry the work to completion.

Fourteen more high school newspaper editors Thursday morning accepted the invitation of Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalistic fraternity, to attend a conference at the University, bringing the total number of acceptances to 64, according to DeWitt Reddick, instructor in Journalism. The convention will be held May 4 and 5 under the sponsorship of Sigma Delta Chi, in conjunction with the Interscholastic League. Among the high schools that will be present at the conference are Brackenridge high school and Main Avenue high school of San Antonio, Ball high school of Galveston, New Braunfels high school, Gidding high school, La Grange high school, Liberty high school, and Edna high school.

If the coming convention is successful it is the plan of the Interscholastic League and Sigma Delta Chi to make it an annual affair. The first convention was held on the campus three years ago.

The program of the convention opens at 8 o'clock Friday morning, May 4, when registration of the delegates will begin in B. Hall. Each of the delegates will be given a chance during the morning to cover an assignment for The Daily Texan.

Problems of the high school paper will be discussed with the editors attending the conference Friday afternoon. Those in charge feel that personal advice and talks with each of the editors will bring better results than speeches on general problems.

A banquet will be given Friday night by the Texas Student Publications, Inc., for all members of the staffs of the campus publications and for the high school delegates.

Several talks have been arranged for Saturday morning which will outline the scope of college courses in journalism. The speakers will also discuss journalism as a profession. The official program will close with a

Members of the Austin Rotary Club will hear Representative M. C. Parrish and his Austin Union workers discuss the Ex-Student project at their meeting May 1, it was announced Tuesday. Twenty minutes will be spent in explaining the various features of the proposed buildings before the club.

Harry D. Cross, financial director of the Union drive, spoke before the club at its meeting yesterday. He discussed the buildings and explained that for $150,000, the quota which has been set for the Austin drive, local people could secure the use of an auditorium seating 10,000 people and a smaller auditorium which will seat some 1,800.

About 50 more workers have to be secured for the Austin drive before Friday, the opening day of the campaign, Cross said. With this number added, there will be about 300 workers in all divisions of the Austin drive, a number sufficient to carry the work to completion.

Steers Meet Bears in First of Crucial Games Today

Douglas Picked To Start Game This Afternoon

Pitchers Battle Due When Right Handers Go Today

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the Texas Steers will clash with their most dangerous rivals for the conference title, the Baylor Bears. The Bears have been giving the rest of the conference teams a fit all year, and this afternoon will find the Bruins all primed to give Texas the battle of her life. Jennings will send a curly headed blond by the name of Fuzz Douglas against Uncle Billy's Longhorns in today's game. Douglas is a youngster, pitching his first year for the Bruins and he has been standing the teams he has pitched against on their ears.

The Bears have been hitting every pitcher that faced them in any game. They hopped all over Miller of S. M. U. and sent him off the lot with an 8-3 defeat to think over. It was a smashing batting attack that gave the Bears their win over the Mustangs.

Shelton Hits

Rudy Shelton, the veteran southpaw of the Bear squad, is used in the outfield when he is not decorating the mound. Shelton is one of the hardest hitters in the conference, and his slugging has been commented on by several big league scouts this year. If Fuzz finds the going too rough, all he has to do is to change places with Rudy and the game goes merrily on.

Joe Dobbs, who has recovered from the sore shoulder which was bothering him a few weeks past, is wanting a chance at the Baptists this afternoon, and the starting hurler will either be he or Johnnie Railton. Dobbs pitched marvelous relief ball against the Aggies in College Station last Friday, and his arm has improved since that afternoon. Should he start, the game will likely turn into a great hurlers' battle between him and Fuzz Douglas. Both are good right-handers, and their battle will be well worth any man's time.

When the Steers took the two-game series from the Aggies in College Station over the week-end, they proved that they can come from behind to win, and fight to stay out in front. In the first game they scored eight runs in the eighth to take the lead, but were forced to fight for three more innings before Arvie Walker, the "rusty toothed first baseman," delivered a crashing blow that chased two runs across the plate to give Texas the game.

The next day, after getting off to a two-run lead in the first, the Aggies kept picking away at the offerings of Railton to tie the score in the third. From then on till the tenth, they battled on even terms, but then Arvie again came through with a hit that meant victory.

The Texas line-up will probably be the same that has taken the field in every game this year. Patsy Allen will be behind the bat, Walker at first, Hopkins at second, Radford at short, Rhoads at third, Hughes in left, Edwards in center, and Webb in right field. This is the same line-up that has brought Texas her wins this year. Johnnie Railton or Joe Dobbs will be found on the slab when the ump cries "Play ball" this afternoon.

The Bears have always had a great deal of luck against Texas on new fields, and this afternoon will see the Bears making their first appearance in the pride of Texas, new Clark Field.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 25.—With victories registered in three national meets this year, Track Coach Frank Anderson's Texas Aggies are seeking laurels in the Drake relay carnival to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, April 28. The Aggie mile relay team, composed of Ed Thompson, Cameron; R. S. Hodges, Taft; J. E. Kennedy, Denison; and D. H. O'Neal, Greenville, will pit their strength against the outstanding runners of the country at that time.

Estes Defeated in Third Round Bouts

Johnnie Estes, Texas athlete and University intramural champion in the 165-pound class, was eliminated in the third round of the Olympic boxing tryouts held in Boston the past week.

Estes fought under many difficulties, his last bout being at 2:30 in the morning. There were so many entrants in the tryouts that there were 72 matches in the eliminations.

Estes will return to Austin Sunday, according to Frank Estes, his brother.

Sigma Chi, Cafe and Alecs Win Intramural Track Championships

White, Dillworth and Heiman Star for Winners

The Engineers, Cafe and Sigma Chi added to their lead of Tuesday to the intramural track championship in their respective groups yesterday afternoon. The Engineers failed to find much opposition in the Academics, while the Sigma Chi and Cafe found the going a good deal tougher in their sections, and it was not until the last results in the relay came in that they clinched the win.

The Sigma Chi crack relay team broke the old meet record when they breezed through the race with a time of 1 minute, 38.2 seconds, lopping seven seconds off the old record held by the Phi Delta Theta four.

The Engineers didn't break any records, but they had the largest entry list of anyone, and in most of the departmental events, they took at least three of the five places, and in some four and even five. The only time they failed to take first was in the 440 yard dash when Red Kelley, Academics, stepped out in front to win it in 57.3 seconds. Thad White led the Engineers with two firsts, a third and the fourth man on the Alec relay team.

Dillworth, Sigma Chi, led the scoring for the afternoon, when he took three first places, and helped the Sigma Chi break the record in the 880 yard relay. He scored nearly half of his team's totals for the afternoon.

The Cafeteria was closely pushed by the Little Campus but the lead they took Tuesday sent them over and out in front. They won the Independent League with 54-1-2 points, Little Campus was second with 36-1-2. Newman Club came in third with 24-1-2 and Sparks finished fourth with 13-1-2.

The Half Moons gave the Sigma Chi a good fight for their money, but the work of Dillworth gave the Sigma Chi a good lead, and they took the Fraternity League title with 40 points, with the Half Moons coming second with 30. Kappa Sigma was third with 25, Pi K. A. fourth with 15-1-2, K. A. fifth with 10. Sigma Eta Chi, Phi Gams, Delta Taus, DKEs, Beta Theta Phi and ATO finished in the order named.

The man making the best time on distance in each event was awarded a gold medal. Those receiving gold medals were Caldwell, Engineer; Dillworth, Sigma Chi twice; White, Engineer; Roper, Engineer; members of Sigma Chi record breaking relay team; Fallin, Engineer; and Pupler, Kappa Sig.

The results follow:

CAPTAIN PATSY ALLEN

will start the game behind the bat this afternoon. Allen is one of the mainstays of the Texas drive this year, both with his defensive and offensive work. He has been hitting at a fast clip since the season opened, and will try his luck against the Bear pitchers here today and tomorrow. He handles the young pitchers well.

Baseball Finals Commence May 2

League Winners Start Playoff on Intramural Field

Finals in the University championship in baseball will take place at the intramural field, beginning Wednesday, May 2, at 4 o'clock.

Sigma Chi, winner of the League A in the fraternity division, will meet Half Moon, winner of League B, and Pi Kappa Alpha, winner of League C in the same division, will meet Delta Chi, winner of League D. The two winners of these games will play for the fraternity championship on Thursday, May 10, at 4 o'clock.

The Engineers, winners of the departmental championship, will meet the winners of the independent section, the championship of this division being undecided at this time. This game is scheduled for May 14, at 4 o'clock.

The final game for the University championship will be played Saturday, May 19, at 4 o'clock, between the winner of the fraternity league and the winner of the departmental-independent sections.

Longhorns Meet Tulane in Dual Tennis Meet Today

Louisiana Squad Here For Two Day Match

The Texas tennis sharks will meet their second intersectional opponent this afternoon on Penick Courts beginning at 2:30 o'clock, when the Tulane squad invades Austin for a two day dual tennis meet with the locals. The Tulane squad boasts of two players who are regarded among the best in the South. Williams and Bayon are the two members of the Tulane aggregation, who are expected to give the Texas men their greatest trouble.

Last year Texas went to New Orleans to take part in a triangular meet with Tulane and Florida. Texas won the meet without much trouble, after playing two days.

Regular Texas Four

The regular Texas four, Berkeley Bell, Louis Ferguson, Howard Key and Hugh Dunlap, will be the men sent against the invaders by Dr. Penick. Louis Ferguson has been improving of late, and his serve is one of the best to be found among the players of the southwest conference. He is tall and comes through with his serve in a masterful fashion. Howard Key has developed into a steady player, and has been winning his matches with great regularity. Key is not a sensational player, but his steadiness overcomes the sensationalism of his opponents.

Berkeley Bell, one of the most promising young players in the South, will play as No. 1 man for Texas this afternoon. Bell has a powerful serve, drive, and chop them. He very seldom falls back on the chop, but his drives keep opponents on the run.

Dunlap Good

Hugh Dunlap, the southpaw star from Cleburne, will complete the Texas four. Hugh has a powerful serve, and one of the hardest drives of any man on the Texas squad, but he has the same misfortune that follows all left handers. He is erratic, and at times, he seems to be unable to keep the ball out of the net. At other times, he is unbeatable. He usually starts off poorly, but rallies to win the matches.

STULLKEN RETURNS

Miss Florence Stullken, adjunct professor of business administration, has resumed her duties on the campus after an absence of about two weeks, during which time she was seriously ill.

Her first official action on her return was to call and make her subscription to the Union.

"Give Corner a Corner on Your Vote."

claim to one outstanding honor. It came to the Frogs in their victory over the Texas University Longhorns in the first of their four-game series with Coach Billy Ditch's nine. That defeat is the only one that has been registered against the Steers so far this season and they have played half of their schedule.

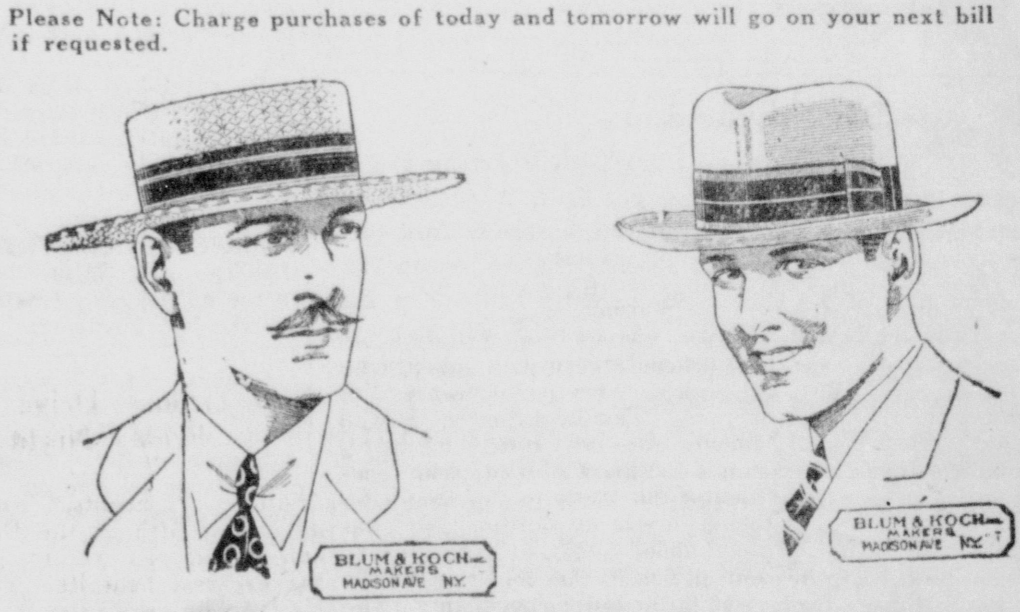

Irma Smith Heads Women Pharmacists

At a meeting of the women pharmacists of Austin last week, Miss Irma Smith, adjunct professor of botany in the University, was elected president; Miss Minnie Zalichin, pharmacy student, was elected vice-president, and Miss Alice Blaisdel was elected secretary-treasurer.

The society of women pharmacists was organized at a dinner given by Miss Smith at the Driskill hotel February 11. All women pharmacists in Austin and all the co-ed members of the University School of Pharmacy are members of the association.

The next meeting of the association will be held on May 3 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bradfield.

Scholarly Students

Yesterday The Daily Texan carried a story concerning the edition of "Pilgrim's Progress" which Professor J. B. Wharey of the English Department will have published this fall by the Oxford Press. Professor Wharey has been on leave of absence for the season 1925-26; and has spent most of his time collating early editions of Bunyan's famous work in the British Museum. The edition will be a complete critical work based on all the editions, eleven in number, which appeared during the lifetime of the author.

The announcement that the work will be published by the Oxford Press is a tribute to the excellence and integrity of Professor Wharey's scholarship as well as to the intrinsic value of the project which he has undertaken. The need for such a work has been apparent for many years in as much as no satisfactory comparative study of the early editions has yet been made. It is, however, peculiarly fitting that such a work should be brought out this year, the three-hundredth anniversary of the author's birth.

Universities are popularly supposed to exist for the purpose of increasing the earning capacities of those ambitious youths who enroll for courses given within their walls. But in the eyes of a minority, who may or may not be right, they exist for the extension and dissemination of knowledge. In that sense, all who are connected with such institutions are students. Or at least they should be. Many members of the faculty of the University of Texas have proved themselves to be proficient scholars. The University may consider itself fortunate in having on its faculty such students as Professor Wharey.

Good Candidates

In the elections on May 1 the student body of the University will be asked to select what it considers to be the most outstanding and most popular athlete, Pottie McCullough, C. B. Smith, and Glen Higgins have been sanctioned by the director of athletics and by the chairman of the Athletic Council as candidates.

The trophy is awarded annually by the Norris Candy Company. Last year, the first, it was given to Ed Olle. Eligibility for the competition presupposes a high degree of scholastic proficiency coupled with athletic prowess and personal popularity.

Though the advisability of all elections for any purpose whatsoever may be questioned, the merit of the man who was selected last year and of the three who will be voted upon in the present election cannot be questioned. To score on the three points above mentioned is to be proved a well rounded man.

From Other Pens

Crowded Curricula

When the college man makes his formal entrance into the world after graduation, he is naturally subjected to a minute and microscopic examination. His mental make-up is the basis of consideration, so to speak. On the results of this inspection depends his status in the social and business circle of the community in which he is desirous of residing. Far from being a cursory inspection, this examination is a rigid test, governed by the rules of convention and society. Too often a specialized, highly trained scientist fails to achieve the consideration due his mental capacity, because he is lacking in one essential. What that essential characteristic consists of cannot be definitely stated; it can only be descriptively defined as polish.

Whether or not the present day conception of the college man is iniquitous or erroneous is beside the question. The fact is that the college man is always judged, very often too severely. The first requisite to satisfy the concepts of the majority is that the college man be well read. Not well read in the particular branch of work on which he has concentrated in his college career, but well read in all branches. It is taken for granted that the average college man has a certain amount of learning. The surgeon knows how to operate; the diagnostician is well versed in the intricacies of the maladies of the human system; the brain specialist is considered to have a thorough knowledge of the mental processes of this animated body. All this is taken for granted and does not constitute the criterion by which the college men are judged. The criterion has its foundation in matter extraneous to the curriculum.

The curriculum in most colleges, despite all averments to the contrary, is becoming too specialized to permit of any but the most necessary reading. It stands to reason that when the demands of a lecture schedule are too burdensome, when too much concentrated research is required for a specific branch of study, very little time is at the disposal of the student. It will be admitted that a great deal of leisure time is necessary if every man is to have a thorough acquaintance with the modern and ancient literature, history and philosophy. And when the curricular demands of a system have become so great they make it practically impossible for the student to do any reading, no one will deny that this system is defeating the very purpose of education.

We know that many men will not attend literature or philosophy lectures, because they are more interested in economic or scientific work, but these men should be given more opportunity to acquire the culture of literature and philosophy in their leisure hours.—The Holy Cross Tomahawk.

The preacher had been doing his stuff for nigh on two hours, and the length of his sermon and the dryness of the subject was beginning to tell on the congregation. In fact, Deacon Beggs (who was seated near the end of the church, had dozed off. Finally the minister himself became exhausted, and ended the sermon with the suggestion:

"We will close with a short prayer. Deacon Beggs will lead."
The Deacon awoke with a jerk and replied: "It ain't my lead, I just dealt.—Selected.

What Do You Know About—

1. Turkish Religious Trial?
2. General Peter Wrangel?
3. Japanese Marines?

Miss Edith Sanderson of Berkeley, California, Miss Lucille Day, and Miss Jennie Jilson are on trial at Broussa, Turkey, before a Turkish court on charges of having explained the teaching of Christianity to Turkish girls. In Turkish law this is regarded as the spreading of religious propaganda.

Although the trial was completed Wednesday, the judge will not return a verdict until April 30. Both Miss Sanderson and Miss Day made speeches in their own defense. Miss Sanderson admitted discussing the New Testament with two girl students when she was a teacher in the American School for Girl in Broussa. She held, however, that this did not interfere with Turkish law since the discussions were not held during school hours.

In defending Miss Jennie Jilson, her Turkish lawyer produced three medals awarded her by the government in recognition of her services. He maintained that Miss Jilson was not aware of the discussions her teacher were holding with the girl. Miss Jilson is director of the school and has been for the last 15 years.

General Peter Wrangel, sworn enemy of the Reds in Russia and leader of the Whites during the Bolshevik revolution, died Tuesday as an exile in Belgium. He was the last hope of the White army which was driven into the Black Sea by the Reds seven years ago.

After the suicide of Kaledin during the World War, he allied himself with Alexiev and Deniken and distinguished himself in the defense of Tsaritsen. He had served as the commander of a squadron, regiment, and division of Cossacks in the World War. In April of 1920, he was made commander of the volunteer White Army and fought the Red Army successfully in Southern Russia. He was recognized by France as head of the de facto government of Southern Russia, but the tide turned against him when the Bolsheviks succeeded in allying themselves with Poland.

On November 15, 1920, the Bolsheviks captured Sebastopol from him and from that time on his army was gradually destroyed. Wrangel's troops gradually withdrew from the onslaught of the Reds, reinforced by troops from Poland and Siberia, into Crimea. He refused to surrender to the Reds and 40,000 of his men were taken prisoners. It was reported that matins helped to break down the morale of his troops and that many of the officers committed suicide over the situation.

After the destruction of the army, the remnants of the forces took refuge in the Balkan countries and General Wrangel was forced to flee from Russia. Since that time he had lived in continuous hope of gathering together a great army and invading and crushing the Soviet government.

In a movement to protect Japanese lives and property from the ravages of Chinese revolutionists, the Japanese nation has landed a force of 550 Japanese marines at Tsingtao. The marines are destined to protect Japanese nationals and their interests in the province of Shantung where fighting has been going on between the nationalist and the northern armies.

Japan also sent three companies of infantry from Tientsin to Tsinan to protect its interests in Shantung. Edward P. Stanton, American consul, advised his countrymen to leave Tsinan with the nationalists in control of Yenchowfu, 75 miles to the south. The northern armies have been driven back along all the battle fronts.

Odds and Ends

IN an attempt to give the University the most modern and up-to-date equipment of any school in America, the new Power Building, recently completed, was designed and erected under the supervision of Hal C. Weaver, professor of mechanical engineering in the University.

The plans for the structure were drawn by Professor Weaver after two years of study and calculation of the needs of the University and the possibilities of growth in the near future. When his plans were completed they were submitted to the building committee of the Board of Regents. Before the Regents approved the plans, they submitted them to a large company of consulting engineers in the North, who suggested only one minor change in Professor Weaver's plans.

To be sure that the University should obtain the very best for the school, the plans as changed were again submitted to another group of engineers. Again they made only one change in the new plans. They suggested that the plans be amended so that they would agree with those first suggested by Professor Weaver.

Orchesus Members Present Program at Studio Evening

BY MADELINE JAFFE

Orchesus girls in pastel dancing costumes in the Greek manner of barefoot dancers recently gave their first studio evening of the year to members of the University faculty. The evening program was given in the form of a class period with Miss Edith Alice Boys as the leader of the dance.

"Dancing is the first art—fundamental art," said Miss Boys. "In music, poetry, sculpturing the artist uses some external means of expression. He employs some tool with which to fashion his emotions and ideas. In dancing we use ourselves."

To the rhythm of a waltz played by Elizabeth Baker, the girls showed the technique of getting from one place to another with ease and grace; walking, skipping, leaping, jumping. Interpretation of pitch, intensity of tone, and rhythm was combined in an original interpretation of two musical compositions to which the girls had never danced before.

Rosalie Agnew, Grace Meyer, Mary Margaret Taylor and Irma Harvey danced their own interpretations to numbers of their own selections. The entire class formed a frieze of pink, green and rose figures which came to life, danced in groups of twos into a whirl in the center, and returned to the frieze to resume their former inanimate position.

Finale Complex

The closing number and the most difficult in complexity and interpretation was the dance drama in which the Goddess looking from her pedestal on the sleeping elements of the human soul, calls her handmaidens from the realms of the unknown from where they bear scarfs of many colors and intensity. The Goddess by her magnetism lifts each spirit from her lethargy and, bestowing the scarf, breathes life into the inanimate quality. The spirits of Fresh Innocence received their yellow and green scarfs and danced out into life. Flippancy took the gift of the Goddess with a playful air and threw it carelessly in the dance. She dropped the scarf, and carefree returned to recover the many-colored silk before taking her place in life.

Passion, with the flaming sulk from the Goddess' hands, whirled and leaped with all the fervor and force of her nature and rushed into life. The Goddess gave to Conflict a scarf blending a dull ashen gray and a bright orange. She writhed and danced with the torture of pent-up energy held in check. Chastity in a white scarf glided into life with a serenity and poise of the mind at peace. Joie de vivre with all the colors in a scarf in each hand leaped and bounded in glee toward life.

Mystery assumed the fresh scarf of green and slowly approached life with lingering, suggestive steps. The Goddess gave to the last spirit the scarf of Sophistication of every hue. The dancer, not caring enough to assume the scarf, went into life alone to find out the mysterious world. She learned all through the senses and found disillusion. Then she returned to the pedestal of the Goddess and took the scarf Sophistication. The Goddess bade her handmaidens look out at the living qualities as they appeared in the world.

History of Local Group
Orchesus, the name of which is derived from the Greek word for dancing, is a national society for girls who wish to express themselves through the medium possible," he continued. "Every case is different, but there are many cases where it is desirable, and their parents are willing that they should, then it will do much to improve the morality of our colleges and help to do away with many abnormal and unhealthy cases."

DR. PIATT APPOINTED TO CHICAGO STATE FACULTY
During the first term of the next long session, Dr. D. A. Piatt, associate professor of philosophy in the University of Texas, has been appointed to teach in the University of Chicago in the absence of Professor A. W. Monroe, who has been called away from that institution to the University of California to fill the Mills Lectureship there.

Dr. Piatt will be on leave of absence from the University of Texas for only the first half of the year, returning at the beginning of the second semester. Dr. Piatt will teach in the University during the second term of the coming summer session.

Elsie Lee Sheffield has left for her home in Galveston after a visit at the Alpha Phi house.

ened by a persistent ringing of the doorbell. Thinking something terrible must have happened, a few of them dressed sleepily and went downstairs. Two boys were waiting.

"Have you made your Union pledge?" they inquired. The reply was unprintable but in the negative, and they got the pledge. The same workers were abroad about 6 o'clock the next morning, waking up members of other sororities.

Was in His Bath

Good-natured high pressure methods were used in some of the boys' rooming houses. One young man had the misfortune to be taking a bath when the workers called, and thus at a disadvantage, was unable to escape. The boys promptly annoyed him with icy water until he promised to sign a pledge card.

Another sad case was that in which a slightly obese student was laid flat on the floor to the detriment of his dignity and sat upon by a worker while the latter was delivering his little talk. He got the pledge.

Altogether the attitude of the student body toward the undertaking was reported by the workers as very good, and most of them gave cheerfully and freely, proud to help put across the biggest project ever undertaken by the campus of the University of Texas.

uniform fund, and the two glee clubs, to be added to the present W. A. A. appropriation. This motion was later withdrawn when it was made clear that none of the organizations can at present bear the cut and preserve their financial integrity. Recognition was made also of the present financial burdens of the Athletic Council in refusing the petition for aid in men's intramurals.

Committee Reports

The report of the blanket tax committee was as follows: "We, your committee on appropriations, in accordance with the laws of the Students Assembly, do hereby submit for your approval the following apportionment of the blanket tax: men's athletics, $7.25; Texas Students Publications, $1.80; W. A. A. 45 cents; Loughorn band, 33 cents; uniform fund for band, 15 cents; Oratorical Association, 25 cents; glee clubs, 19 cents; student government, eight cents.

It was also deemed inadvisable by the committee to cut the present apportionment to the Texas Student Publications in view of the fact that the corporation has to provide numerous improvements in the next year.

Eligibility Ruling Passed

The resolution recently drawn up by the Board of Publications asking that it be relieved of the duty of passing on the eligibility of editorial candidates was adopted by the Assembly. Question was raised as to whether such a bill is retroactive or not. If not retroactive, it will go into effect immediately and the Honor Council will be requested by the president of the Students Association to pass on the candidates whose eligibility is now in question. If it is retroactive, the bill will not go into effect until May 2, and the present situation will have to be met by the Board of Publications as in previous years. This issue will be decided by the Honor Council at its meeting today.

Publications Make Awards

A bill was also passed giving the Board of Publications the sole right to determine the nature of the awards made to students on the publications. The bill reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the Students Assembly of the University of Texas:

Article 6. a. Awards to staff members of the student publications shall be made by the Board of Publications.

Articles 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 are hereby repealed.

Plans for the political convocation are now complete, according to the committee. Candidates will meet at the open air theater at 7:15 o'clock Monday night. Those students aspiring to the presidency of the Students Association will be allowed to speak for 5 minutes, all other candidates being allowed only 2 minutes. Those students who have no opposition in their races will be introduced by Robert Eikel who will preside, but they will not be permitted to speak. Candidates for yell leader will speak two minutes and lead two yells. The order of the speakers will be determined by the order in which the various offices are listed on the ballot.

Members of the blanket tax committee were Jim Hammonds, Katherine Rockafellow, and Arthur Bagby.

Johnson Praises Ridley in Tests

Curtain Club Star Declared Perfect Screen Type

One member of the Curtain Club, University dramatic organization, Miss Randle Ridley, a star of "Dear Brutus," which was recently produced by that group, received special praise from John Leroy Johnson, movie man, who during the past three days has taken movie tests of ambitious students at the Driskill hotel.

Before leaving Austin Thursday for New Orleans, where he will take tests of students at Tulane University, Johnson stated that Miss Ridley was almost a perfect type for the screen, being a brunette as well as talented. It will be remembered that Miss Ridley appeared in Mallory's "East of Eden," the Curtain Club's entry in the Texas Little Theater tournament at Dallas last week, and that she received extensive praise for her work from all of the critics present at the tournament.

Men Reluctant

Johnson expressed regret that University of Texas men were reluctant to appear before the camera and that they seemed to fear the power of the Kleig lights. He and his technician, A. L. Lane, expected a greater response from the male element of the campus.

Tests were given on the campus last year to men only by Johnson, and several University students were given tryouts in Hollywood. The success of the experiment has led to a repetition of the tour to some fifteen leading universities of the country in the quest for new movie material. Approximately 250 applicants presented themselves for the tests, Johnson said. Of this number, only 15 were selected. Results of the tests will not be known until the tour has been completed and the films have been returned to the studios at Hollywood.

New Salesmanship Methods Disclosed When Students Raise Funds in Drive

By MAURICE GARDNER

"It can and will be done."

With this statement as their slogan, four hundred students of the University of Texas set out to raise $100,000 as the student quota for the building of a University Union. In one week of intensive work they did it, and the inside story of the process involves many a tragic and humorous incident.

Divided into teams under a number of team captains, the workers, armed with a list of students, a package of pledge cards and a pocketful of buttons which proclaimed to the world that the wearer was a Union Builder, set out to prove themselves in the field of salesmanship. They had an idea to sell, and a challenge to the student body. They sold the idea, and the result will be a concrete reality—or rather three of them.

Efficiency Watchword

The watchword of the organization, which was stimulated by inter-team competition, was efficiency. The workers invaded every boarding house, dormitory, fraternity and sorority house about the campus, and no student could permanently escape an invitation to pledge. The workers lined the "drag" and the "perip" during class hours, and managed to get in an effective bit of free lance work. Much woe was the lot of the poor student who made his pledge and then ventured abroad without his "Union Builder" button, for he was likely to be approached with a half dozen or so propositions before he had gone a hundred yards. The story is told of one worker who approached a likely looking prospect, presented his little talk in the most approved manner, and even went so far as to fill out a pledge card, only to find that the "prospect" had not only pledged already, but was himself a lieutenant in the drive. "But why didn't you stop me?" asked the first worker. "Oh, I bet another man a cup of coffee you wouldn't ask me," was the reply.

Longhorns Travel to Houston for Dual Meet

Owls Favored To Take Dashes And Long Runs

Steers Send Powerful Teams in Field And Weights

Twenty-two Texas track stars will leave today at noon for Houston, where they meet the Rice Owls in the annual dual track meet between the two teams. Texas has engaged in one dual meet this year, losing it to the Aggies by a substantial margin. This same Aggie squad later gave the Owls a good old fashioned beating on the track.

The Owls will spring a bunch of dash stars and long distance runners on the Steers Saturday afternoon. Chuck Bracey, the 19 year old Owl dash star, will step the 100 yard dash off in record time. He equalled the world record in that event in the Texas Relays, and he has been getting better all along.

Ralph Hammonds and Pee Wee Cabiness will have a merry fight in the pole vault. Hammonds beat the little fellow in the Texas Relays, only to fall before him the next day in the Rice Relays. Hammonds has been getting over 12 feet consistently in this event and Cabiness will find that he will have a great battle on hands Saturday.

Leo Baldwin and Herbert Hargis, the star Steer weight men, will be along to take off honors in the shot and discus. Baldwin and Hargis have been fighting a battle among themselves this year in the shot, while Baldwin along with Tiny Oakes has been upholding the honor of Texas in the discus.

Captain C. B. Smith, leading Steer scorer of the year, will be favored to take the broad jump, javelin and place high in the hurdles. Shep Shepherd should take the high jump without any great trouble.

The men making the trip are, Captain C. B. Smith, Shepherd, Baldwin, Hargis, Daniels, Jones, Marsh, Beaty, Hammonds, Courter, Harris, Windrow, Mondrix, Vestal, Dickerson, Goode, Galloway, Reynolds, Oakes, Meadows, Wright, Presson, Manager Miller, Trainer Kelley and Coach Littlefield.

Frogs Prepare for Aggie Game Friday

Special to The Daily Texan.

FORT WORTH, April 25.—With half of their 20-game schedule completed, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs set out doggedly this week to get ready for the Texas Aggies' invasion of Frogland next Friday and Saturday.

In beginning the second lap of their Southwest conference schedule, the Frogs hope to overcome the severe handicap of seven losses against three lonely victories. The double defeat by the Rice Owls last week was an unexpected and bitter disappointment and practically robbed the Frogs of a fair chance to finish the race among the first three teams.

The remaining ten games include four with the Aggies, two more with Rice and four with S. M. U. The Frogs will likely have to win at least eight or nine of them to rate a second or third place in the conference race.

The Aggies' double loss to the Texas Longhorns last week surely is an indication that they are more or less an even match for the Frogs.

One of the most unfortunate things about the loss of the two games to Rice was that Ralph "Buster" Walker, leading Frog pitcher, was credited with both defeats. He lost the first in the role of a relief hurler and the other as the starting pitcher. Until last week he was one of the leading hurlers in the conference.

Lumpkin Favors Impartial Council

James Lumpkin Announces For Academ Council

Judicious Execution Of Duty Promised By Candidate

James G. Lumpkin of Amarillo has been put forward by his friends as a candidate for academic councilman. Lumpkin is imbued with the realization that the honor system is in need of further development for the continued growth of the spirit of honor in Texas University.

Lumpkin will return to the University next fall as a graduate student, having already spent two years in the academic school here. He came to Texas as a transfer from New Mexico Military Institute, where he was graduated among the first five of his class in scholastic standing.

The honor system as it prevails here has been largely responsible for the spirit of honor in the University. Upon the strength of this system does the preservation of the true spirit of honor depend.

Fairness, impartiality, and a conscientious and judicious execution of the duties of the council, as well as student government in the strictest sense of the word, is the platform upon which Lumpkin bases his candidacy.

Stovalls Beat Delta Taus in Semi-Finals

In the most hotly contested match seen on local courts this spring, Stovall's team, composed of Boyett and Fitch, defeated Delta Tau Delta, fraternity champions, Thursday in the semi-finals of intramural tennis. As a result, they will meet the Engineer team Saturday afternoon to decide the championship of the University.

Ferguson and Daugherty of the Delta team were right in the first two sets, and it looked like for a while as if the match would be a cinch for them. Ferguson had the serve which has been a deciding factor in the winning of the fraternity championship working to perfection, and Daugherty was knocking the ball to all sorts of difficult corners.

Third Set
Then, in the third set, the contest advanced to the crucial stage. Ferguson was serving and the fraternity team needed only one point to win the game, the set, the match, and the right to enter the University finals.

But the Stovall boys were not to be outdone so easily. They won the point in question. Furthermore, after a hard struggle, they won the set, 10-8. From then on it was a different story. Boyett and Fitch were all over the court, and the former starred often with his slashing net play.

Stovalls Win!
The Delta Taus seemed to lose heart and were never again in striking distance of victory, the final score being 2-6, 2-6, 10-8, 6-4, 6-3.

In this match, which was somewhat of an upset, Boyett and Fitch beat a team which has been showing quite a bit of class, and if they can continue to play as they did Thursday, the title of University champions ought to be of the team will be appreciated still more when it is recalled that Boyett, the star of the combination, was too ill to be out of bed Wednesday, and left the hospital to play this match.

From the showing he made Thursday, he ought to be a wonder when in condition, which does not look so good for the Engineers.

Wichita Falls Exes Launch Union Drive

The University Union campaign was launched in Wichita Falls on Monday at a luncheon of the Texas exes, according to J. A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' Association. Bert King, lawyer of Wichita Falls and an ex-student of the University, was appointed chairman of the drive and Sam Holliday, brother of Robert L. Holliday of the Board of Regents, is assisting Mr. King.

A picnic for Texas exes was given Saturday and about 150 ex-students were present. Dr. Benedict addressed the gathering concerning the problems of the University and Mr. McCurdy talked about the Union drive.

Geology Bureau Edits Bulletins

Cooke County, Rio Grande Valley Surveyed

The Bureau of Economic Geology of the University has completed this week the printing of two important volumes on geology. One of these publications, University of Texas Bulletin 2710, is on the geology of Cooke County in North Texas, and was prepared by Professor H. P. Bybee and F. M. Bullard, assisted by students in the Department of Geology of the University. The field work for this bulletin was done as a part of class work in the field courses in geology. It is a volume of 170 pages, ten plates and one map. The report includes a chapter on petroleum developments in Cooke County by E. M. Hawtolf, assistant in the Bureau of Economic Geology.

Has 357 Pages
The second publication, by Dr. Emil Boese and O. A. Cavins, on the geology of the Rio Grande Valley, is a volume of 357 pages, sixteen plates, and one map, and is issued in bound and unbound form as University of Texas Bulletin

Class in Fencing Meets Today to Plan Exhibition

Plans for intramural and exhibition fencing tournaments this spring will be presented members of the University men's fencing class at its regular meeting this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the freshman gymnasium, according to announcement yesterday by the instructor.

Fencers from the regular physical training class will be named soon for competition, and a drill team will likely be selected for an exhibition fencing tournament, which will probably be sponsored by Omega Delta, honorary fencing fraternity, it was explained.

There are a large number of fencers on the campus who are not members of the class, but whose connection with Omega Delta will make them eligible for the intramural and exhibition matches.

No. 2748. According to Dr. E. H. Seilards, associate director in the bureau, under whose direction these reports have been issued, this publication gives a wealth of detail on the geologic conditions of the border region between Texas and Mexico and is indispensable to those interested in the geology of that region.

The publications are illustrated by engraved maps in colors and by half-tones. The edition printed of each bulletin is 3,000 copies. The printing, except the color maps, which are lithographed, was done by the University of Texas Press. The base for the geologic map of Cooke County was drawn by Mrs. Bess Mills Bullard.
