500 Die in Persian Earthquake

LONDON, April 23.—(INS)—Killing at least 500, a series of destructive earthquake shocks hit Mazanderan Province in Persia today, a Reuter dispatch from Teheran said.

So far 483 bodies have been recovered, and property damage is heavy, said the telegram. Persia lies in a zone of frequent earth disturbances, and three times in the last twelve years huge death tolls have been piled up in earthquakes there.

In 1923 nature's destroying hand killed 4,600, in 1929, 2,000, and in 1930 another 2,000.

Nothing like placing a bet on the favorite and have him fall down, is there HARRIS VAN ZANDT? Lucky with the women, unlucky with the horses and cards.

You gonna get caught selling that wood late at nights H. B. STROTHER, too, you had better leave that "bird liver" alone. Nothing like getting caught with your own gag and what did you tell him to do with the wood, ENOS GARY?

Social Science Group Elects 3 Faculty Men

Burdine, Mecham, And Smith Named At Sixteenth Meet In Oklahoma City

Three University faculty members were elected to offices of the Southwestern Social Science Association at the sixteenth annual meeting held Friday and Saturday in Oklahoma City.

Dr. J. Alton Burdine, adjunct professor of government, was named first vice-president of the organization. Dr. J. L. Mecham, professor of government, was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and E. G. Smith, professor of marketing, was elected to serve as representative for business administration at the next meeting. In this capacity, he will also serve as an associate editor for that division of the Southwestern Social Science Quarterly, official publication of the Association.

A change in the staff organization of the quarterly was made at the meeting. Instead of an advisory editorial board to assist Dr. C. P. Patterson, editor-in-chief, representatives from the various social science sections will serve as associate editors. Agricultural economics, business administration, economics, government, history, and sociology are the divisions having representatives. Plans for an intensive membership drive were also discussed at the meeting.

The association was organized in 1914 to stimulate and promote the teaching of and research in the social sciences in schools in the Southwest. Arizona, Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas are included in this area.

League to Hold Wild-Flower Show

"Five hundred specimens of native wild-flowers, authentically identified and available at all times for the use of the pupils will be the result of the statewide wild-flower contest," Dr. B. C. Tharp, professor of botany at the University and originator of the contest, said. This will be the seventh year that the contest has been a part of the Interscholastic League program.

Exhibits from the schools are displayed at the county meets, and the winning exhibits are then sent to the state meet in Austin. Judges consider the following points: brightness and general appearance of the specimens, neatness of the labels, and the required number of specimens.

Specimens of any kind of plants, except grasses and trees, that produce seeds are submitted during one year from April 1 to March 31 as follows: April and May, the ten most common; June and July, the ten most common; August and September, the ten most common; October and November, the ten most common; January to March, the first ten to appear. Thus fifty specimens are submitted.

The plants submitted are collected in triplicate. One specimen is retained by the school; the other two are sent to the Department of Botany at the University. These are identified as to common and scientific name and reported to the school so that it may label its plants. The University then mounts and labels its specimens and adds them to its herbarium. Since duplicates of any part of a previous collection may not be submitted, schools that have consistently entered the contest should now have in their collection some 350 different specimens of wild-flowers from their particular vicinity.

"The contest has a two-way value," Dr. Tharp said. "First, to the school that enters the contest is made possible its own collection of wild-flowers of its locality. Second, the University is able to increase its own collection. The University has an extensive herbarium that has been extravagantly praised by visiting botanists from the North and East."

Ex-student Killed In Automobile Crash

Melba Jones, ex-student of the University, was killed almost instantly in an automobile collision near Wilmer Saturday night. Miss Jones was graduated from the University in 1933, and was employed as a teacher in the Trinidad Public School at the time of her death.

Photographers! Always Hide Flopping Ears

DALLAS, April 23.—(INS)—The photographer who wounds the vanity of his customers is doomed to failure.

That, in effect, was the message delivered to the annual convention of the Southwestern Professional Photographers Association by Harry Elton, Rochester, N. Y.

Elton warned the delegates to flatter conspicuous noses and hide wide flopping ears. He confided that man—far more so than woman—is vain about his pictures.

Texas Folk-Lore Group Tells Tall Tales at Dallas

Sandstorm tales, Mexican proverbs, and glimpses of Western characters played a part in the program of the twenty-first annual session of the Texas Folk-Lore Society held in Dallas April 19 and 20. Meetings were in the Adolphus Hotel and at Southern Methodist University.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are Miss Martha Emmons of the State Home in Waco, president; Professor John L. Brookes, S. M. U., Miss Mabel Majors, T. C. U., A. W. Eddins, San Antonio, vice-presidents; J. Frank Dobie, professor of English at the University, secretary and editor; and Miss Marcelle L. Hamer of Austin, treasurer. The councillors, those giving special aid to the society, are John Green of Houston, Tom A. Knight of Dallas, ex-student of the University, and David Donahue of Fort Worth.

"Mister Coyote in Folk-Lore and Literature" was discussed by Mr. Dobie. Ramon F. Adams of Dallas talked on "Cowboy Figures of Speech"; Sue Gates O'Donnell related "Tall Tales of West Texas"; "Dogs' Spirits" was the topic of J. Mason Brewer of Dallas, "The Exposure of Pecos Bill" of David Henry from Dallas, "Ise Sho' Nuff Luck" of Aylett Royall from Southern Methodist University. A "Legend of the Charco Quinena" was told by H. B. Parks of State Agricultural Laboratory, San Antonio; Mrs. John Henry of Dallas spoke on "The Casey Jones Problem"; Dan Storm of Austin told some "Animal Tales from Mexico"; and Miss Jovita Gonzales of Saint Mary's Hall, San Antonio, contributed folk-lore of the Rio Grande border.

Next year the society will meet in Austin, Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr., professor of English, reported Tuesday.

Formosa Death Toll Mounting

TAIHOKU, Formosa, April 23.—(INS)—Steady streams of ragged peasants, injured in Sunday's earthquakes, continued to pour into emergency aid centers today as the army and Red Cross battled to bring order out of the chaos resulting from the death of 3,165 persons.

Airplane surveys of the northwestern section of the island indicated that 2,000 square miles had been devastated, with whole villages reduced to heaps of dirt bricks and ashes.

Want of food and medicine still caused suffering to thousands of homeless Chinese in the mountain valleys, cut off by continuing landslides, but airplanes brought partial relief while army contingents struggled to reopen the roads and railway.

Hundreds of dead remained unburied, and doctors in the more than fifty emergency stations reported that the death toll was slowly mounting.

In many towns medical treatment had to be given in the streets, and in the larger centers hospitals were jammed to overflowing.

With the aid of troops, temporary shelters were put up by the score to protect the bewildered natives from the alternating showers and blazing sun. At least 31,000 houses were destroyed in whole or part.

Easter Seal Drive Begins At University

Committee Named To Cooperate With Texas Society For Crippled Children

The University committee in co-operation with the Texas Society for Crippled Children, which is making an Easter Seal drive over the State, organized Tuesday with P. M. Ferguson, adjunct professor of civil engineering, as chairman.

Other members of the committee are Edward Micek, C. F. Arrowood, L. T. Bellmont, Mrs. Kathleen Bland, Miss Dorothy Gebauer, D. B. Hardeman, Miss Bess Hefflin, J. L. Neu, and Miss Margaret Peck.

The Texas Society was organized in 1933 largely because of the influence of President Roosevelt. A campaign to raise funds for the help of crippled children was conducted on the campus last year, and about $300 was raised from the faculty. This year the committee proposes to appeal to the students as well.

Letters will be sent to the faculty, and tables will be stationed at convenient positions on the campus for student contributions on April 30. The Orange Jackets and the Mortar Board will supervise the tables.

"The outlook for a larger fund from the University this year than last is good," Mr. Ferguson told the committee Tuesday. "The federal government will match every dollar raised by the State, and Texas has set $50,000 as her goal for this year. The University should surpass the $300 mark."

The movement in which public schools and institutions of higher learning over the State are participating is to be used for making investigations, buying brace equipment, and obtaining medical and surgical aid for crippled children in Texas.

In 1933-34 with $20,000 the Texas society diagnosed 1,745 children and completely hospitalized 331. "The progress of a nation goes forward upon the feet of little children," A. H. Abbott, executive chairman, quoted in his report for the past period. "Surely a new day is dawning for the thousands upon thousands of little indigent crippled children in the State of Texas," he wrote. James V. Allred, governor, proclaimed the months of March and April as "The Texas Society for Crippled Children Fund Raising Campaign Months."

District 18 Leads In Legion Coin Sales

The eighteenth district of the American Legion of Texas is leading in the number of coins distributed for the Texas State Memorial Museum to be built on the University campus, according to A. Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Texas Centennial Committee.

This district, the most remote of Texas districts from the early historic centers of the State, is also the first to go over the top with its membership quota. Veterans at Paducah and Borger have brought the membership to 2,024, whereas the quota is 2,000.

Marble Machine Bill Passed by House

Marble tables would be virtually outlawed in Texas under a bill sent to the Senate Tuesday from the House.

Passed by the House Monday afternoon 116 to 6, the bill would ban cash or merchandise prizes in connection with the machines. It also would levy an annual tax of from $10 to $20 on each machine depending on the denomination of the coin used to operate it.

East Texas C. of C. Selects Houston

HENDERSON, Texas, April 23.—(INS)—Houston was selected as the next convention city by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce today. Dallas withdrew and Houston won over Beaumont, 1,281 to 680.

Pat Mayse of Paris was elected president. Other officers: general manager, Hubert Harrison; (re-elected) treasurer, C. A. Lofthouse; Longview; vice-presidents, T. E. Acker, Jacksonville, J. R. Morris, Texarkana, Paul Sanderson, Trinity, T. A. Low, Brenham, E. L. Smith, Mexia, and Gibson Caldwell, McKinney.

22 Years in University End As Medical Branch Dean Dies

O. M. Roberts, University Night Watchman and Son Of Former Governor, Dies

O. M. Roberts, son of former governor Oran M. Roberts of Texas and night watchman on the University campus, died last night at 7 o'clock. Funeral services will be held probably Thursday, the hour not yet set.

With the death of Mr. Roberts, son of the signer of the bill creating the University, the University loses one of its well known personalities and oldest employees. Mr. Roberts came here sixteen years ago as watchman, which position he held until his death. He originally worked out of the old Main Building but since it was torn down he has worked out of the Old Library Building. Mr. Roberts was stricken with a heart attack while at work late Thursday night, and was taken immediately to his home at 304 East First Street.

Mr. Roberts was born in Tyler, February 14, 1861. He received part of his education at Professor Looney's School in Tyler, from where he came with his father to Austin when Governor Roberts became Supreme Court judge. He went to school while in Austin at the old T. M. I. When his father was elected governor he took a position as clerk to the pardon board, which he held until the end of Governor Roberts' administration. He then opened up in business as Roberts and Fitzhugh, fancy grocers. He left this business to enter the School of Law where his father was dean. He was a member of the first law class of the University and numbered among his schoolmates such men as R. L. Batts, T. W. Gregory, and J. T. Buchanan.

He withdrew from school to marry Miss Erin Annie Scripture and began life as a farmer at a farm his father gave him eight miles north of Austin. He lived here until 1917 raising Jersey cattle. The farm was still in his possession at the time of his death. He left the farm to work in the office of Olander Caldwell, county tax collector, and in 1918 took the position on the campus which he has held until his death.

Mr. Roberts chose the life of a farmer because he thought it an honorable profession and followed the wishes of his father who said, "Civilization begins and ends with the plow."

Mr. Roberts' life was marked with simplicity and retirement. He was loved by all who knew him.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Erin Scripture Roberts; four daughters, Mrs. Eunetia DeGress of Dallas, Mrs. Beal Stone, Mrs. Nanie Evelyn Walker, and Mrs. L. R. Shifflet of Robstown; two sons, O. W. Roberts and R. L. Roberts of Austin; seven grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. M. E. Spain of Austin; and a number of nieces and nephews in different parts of Texas.

Funeral services will be in charge of Cook's Funeral Home, with burial at Oakwood Cemetery.

Math Society Names Vandiver Lecturer

H. S. Vandiver, associate professor of pure mathematics, will be colloquium lecturer for the forty-first summer session of the American Mathematical Society September 10 to 16 at the University of Michigan. This is a distinction conferred each year on the mathematician who has made the most significant contribution to the science.

In three lectures Professor Vandiver will discuss Fermat's "Last Theorem" and related topics in number theory. The subjects of his lectures will be "Cyclotomic Field Theory and the Fermat Quotient Criteria," "The Class Number of a Cyclotomic Field and Fermat's Last Theorem for Regular Prime Exponents," and "The Second Factor of the Cyclotomic Class Number and Its Relation to the Last Theorem."

REX HOPPER TO SPEAK
Rex Hopper, tutor in sociology, will speak to members of the President Day Club this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Texas Union 309. There will be a short business meeting following his talk and officers will be elected for the ensuing school year.

George E. Bethel First Enrolled At Texas in 1913

Funeral services for Dr. George E. Bethel, dean of the Medical Branch of the University in Galveston, who died last Wednesday night, were held in Galveston Thursday afternoon. Interment was Friday morning in Galveston, the town of Dr. Bethel's birth.

Dr. Bethel was born November 2, 1894, at Galveston. His parents were Simpson Bethel and Virginia Soule Bethel. He attended Garland High School from 1907 to 1911 and was a student in the University from 1913 to 1917, when he transferred to the medical branch in Galveston.

He received his medical doctor's degree on May 31, 1923. He was a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, medical fraternity.

After receiving his degree in 1923, Dr. Bethel returned to the University in the capacity of adjunct professor of anatomy and held various positions in the University until 1926 when he was chosen director of the University Health Service. In 1928 he was given the position of dean of the medical school.

Dr. Bethel was a fellow in the American College of Physicians, a member of the American Medical Association, American Heart Association, and numerous other distinguished societies. He was chairman of the committee on Medical Education and Hospitals, Texas State Medical Association, and from 1930 to 1932 was a member of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. at Galveston.

He was a member of the Baptist Church. He was unmarried.

Representatives of the University present at the memorial services in Galveston were Dr. H. Y. Benedict, H. J. Litcher Stark, Dr. Edward Randall, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Klotz, Dr. E. P. Schoch, J. W. Calhoun, and W. L. McGill.

Timm to Address Atlanta Group

"What Should the United States Do in Its Foreign Policy to Increase the Likelihood of Exports?" will be the title of a paper to be given by Dr. C. A. Timm, associate professor of government, at the Atlanta Policy Conference of the Foreign Policy Association, April 25-28, in Atlanta, Ga.

Four points are to be covered in this paper. They are the possibility of currency stabilization; a more vigorous policy of tariff reduction; improvement of political relations with Germany and Japan; and the military and naval expenditures of the United States, which for 1936 will exceed a billion dollars if present plans are followed.

Other delegates from Texas to this regional conference will be Dale Miller of the Texas Weekly and S. D. Myers, Jr., professor at Southern Methodist University.

The purpose of the conference is "to make recommendations regarding the policy of the United States Government from the standpoint of the Southern States in the light of national interest. These recommendations naturally fall into two groups: (1) recommendations regarding the long-time general line of government policy; and (2) recommendations regarding specific acts of government during the next year or two which are regarded as essential for sound economic and political development in the South."

Delegates from Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and Texas have accepted invitations to participate in the meeting. Invitations have also been extended delegates from Alabama, Arkansas, and Mississippi.

Hoped For and At Hand—2 Plays Scheduled While Romance Dominates Screen

Coming events cast their shadows—and while Austin theater-goers see romance on the screen this week, the prospect of the season's last plays by the Little Theatre and the Curtain Club looms on the horizon this week-end.

Left, Rogers McClelland, who directs the Little Theatre production of Keith Winter's "Shining Hour," to be presented for one performance Friday night in Hogg Auditorium. The cast includes Frances Cash, Dorothy Starnes, Louise Reese, Latane Temple, Al Breshers and Girard Kinney. Following the production, Mr. McClelland will go to Shreveport to direct a play and then will vacation in California.

Upper center, Bill Erwin heads the cast of the final Curtain Club show this year, "Her Master's Voice." This comedy by Claire Kummer will be presented Monday through Wednesday nights in Hogg Au-

Ted Fio Rito Considers Viola As Instrument with Most 'It'

By WALTER BEACH

Behind the great success of Ted Fio Rito and his position as one of America's greatest purveyors of dance music is his desire at all times to create individual touches in rhythm and phrasing—distinctive touches which radio, dance and stage fans like to recognize and comment upon. That is one of his trade secrets—he gives the listener a chance to applaud something, and is always striving to provide a new innovation to keep this tribute from his many fans forever alive.

Fio Rito, who brings his world renowned band to Gregory Gym tonight under the auspices of the Austin Young Men's Business League, is a pioneer in creating these original touches. Those who attend the dance and hear Fio Rito's novel arrangements will be aiding the Y. M. B. L. Sunshine Camp for under-nourished children, the cause for which the organization is sponsoring the dance.

If you have wondered how Fio Rito achieves his tantalizing percussion effects over the air, it is because he treats the drummer, youthful Charlie Price, and his tricks as legitimate music. The maestro has developed Charlie's chores with minute care and attention until they have become what Fio Rito chooses to call a "warm instrument."

And while scores of other maestros regard the saxophone as the sexiest of all musical instruments, Fio Rito relegates it to a back position in favor of the viola. He regards this instrument as the one with the most "it" and constantly features it in his distinctive arrangements.

At the present time his "trombone slide" effect, which emerges upon the listener's ears like the eery wail of a ghost, is in vogue, and predominating in the majority of his arrangements.

Perhaps the greatest mark of distinction in Fio Rito's style is his manner of taking the vulgarity out of the hotter rhythms. This he does by using the flute with brasses muted, and lighted percussion effects, and with many other Fio Rito devices.

But not only is Fio Rito famous for his instrumental novelties and excellent dance rhythms. His singing stars, Muzzy Marcellino, the honey tenor, the three Debutantes, and Ray Hendricks, crooner of fame, contribute much to the nation-wide fame of the Coconut Grove band.

The three Debutantes are sorority sisters from the University of California whose rare harmony is known to radio and screen fans alike from coast to coast. Muzzy Marcellino has been the leading soloist with the Fio Rito orchestra for many years, and 20-year-old, curly headed Ray Hendricks hails

Steers Set-Up New Mile Relay Mark in Kansas

The Texas tracksters set a new meet record in one event, finished a close second in three other events, third in another, and fourth in another for a good day's work at the Kansas Relays last Saturday.

The Steer mile relay team, Edwards, Austin, Grunisen, and Wallender, ran the mile event in the record time of 3 minutes, 16.1 seconds. The Iowa University team finished second in this event.

In the quarter-mile and half-mile relays, however, the Iowa speedsters set world records to beat the Steers out for first. The Texans were close on the heels of the Cornhuskers in both races. The Iowan's record times in these events were 40.5 seconds in the quarter-mile race and 1 minute, 25.2 seconds in the half-mile event.

Forrest Wilson ran a beautiful race in the high hurdles to finish a close second to Sam Allen, Oklahoma Baptist steeplechaser. Allen had to set a new meet record of 14.5 seconds in order to beat Wilson. Jack Vickery tied for third place in the high jump.

The 100-yard dash was truly a thriller. Wallender came from behind to finish close in on a blanket finish in which it was almost impossible to ascertain the winner. Wallender was awarded fourth place; Crooms, Kansas negro, won first.

KERRVILLE LAWYER DIES

Judge W. G. Garrett of Kerrville, lawyer and once legal advisor to Captain A. C. Schreiner, died yesterday afternoon. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Harriett Garrett, and two sons, W. G. Garrett Jr. and D. Garrett, all ex-students of the University. His two granddaughters, Annie Laurie Garrett and Annie Louise Schmerbeck, and Robert Schmerbeck, grandson, are also ex-students.

from Spokane, Wash.

Probably no man in the Fio Rito orchestra claims more attention than Charlie Price, the youthful drummer, who boasts of the most complete collection of drums and who never sits down while playing. This, because there are such a large number of instruments at his disposal and because the average Fio Rito arrangement calls for innumerable novel drum effects.

Independent II Girls Defeat Chi Omega Baseball Team

For two innings, half of the baseball game, Independent II baseball team was held scoreless by the pitching of Eva Hart, Chi Omega star player. In the two periods Miss Hart fanned five players, only allowed Frances Hall a hit, and for those two innings Chi Omega led with the score, 3-0.

In the last innings the Independents broke down the sure-to-fan-pitching of Miss Hart and crossed the home plate eight times.

In the third inning Miss Hall tripled and was brought in on a single by Frances Shifflette. 'Sis' Olsen, best intramural catcher and self-appointed sideline coach, evened the score by a hard hit into left field for a home run.

An excited Chi Omega team took the bat but failed to add to their much needed score. Hattie Mae Roach tripled but was forced to keep her base by Miss Olsen's close playing.

In the fourth and last inning, Eva Hart fanned her eighth player, but the Independents, revived from their slump, made the final score 8-4. Hallie Dunlap, Margie Hawle, and Miss Shifflette scored three points while Miss Olsen put a final batting touch with another home run.

Chi Omegas up for the last time, presented Mary Jo Dunlap, Jessie Edmundson and Miss Hart, but four additional scores were impossible. Miss Hall, Independent II left fielder, took care of Miss Hart's high fly.

Tri Delta team headed by Inez Granau, Ann Fleming, Margaret Ward, and Florence Carville outplayed Woman's Building by a score of 18-9.

Independent III proved too much for the Pi Beta Phi team in the third of the series of intramural games. Although Gail McDavitt scored two points, one a home-run, Beth Ryburn repeated the same score, and some fine fielding was done by Isabel Thomson, the Independents amassed 37 points to the sorority's 6.

Prize Winning Poets To Get Dictionaries

Copies of Webster's Collegiate Dictionary worth $5 and $3.50 respectively will be awarded by the publishers to first and second place winners in a poetry contest open to freshmen and sophomores in the University, according to an announcement by Dr. Theodore Stenberg, chairman of the Department of English.

As many as four poems may be submitted, but no one person may win both prizes. Students wishing to enter the contest should drop three typed copies of each poem in the mail box at B. Hall 15 not later than May 10. Three judges selected from the Department of English will announce their decision in The Daily Texan about May 20.

Helen Coburn of San Antonio was a week-end guest of her sister, Betty Coburn, at the Alpha Phi house.

Beulah Luedeman of Schulenburg was an Easter guest at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

Curtain Club Goes Russian Over Holidays

The Russian influence has invaded the Curtain Club.

Not since the days of Maxim Gorky's "Lower Depths" and Andreiev's "Waltz of the Dogs" has the Curtain Club gone so Russian in its rehearsal schedule as for "Her Master's Voice."

Three-day took on a new meaning as the cast was called for work at 9 o'clock each morning during the spring vacation and rehearsed continuously until 10 o'clock each night with two hours off for food . . . all decidedly Russian in concentration. Day after day, the thespians endured this grind.

So Hogg Auditorium was the vortex of activity during the holidays, with the actors doing scenes from their play instead of being scattered all over the Southwest as they had originally planned.

Bill Erwin would have gone to East Texas to visit his grandparents, Dick Waite to Monterrey, while Frances Tucker and Wheeler Lyon to Houston. Martha Stack had planned a trip to New Orleans to gather material for a play she's writing. Vernon Rogers was going to Winters and Jean Craddock would have attended a family reunion in Georgetown . . . but they stayed in Austin and rehearsed roles in "Her Master's Voice" to be presented Monday night.

And now they all wonder about a line from a recent movie: "The sorrows of life are the joys of art."

Dr. I. E. Nelson, principal of the University Junior High School, will leave Austin Friday to represent the University at the annual State meeting of junior high school principals. The convention this year will be held at Southern Methodist University.

Simple, homespun sentiment.

RKO-Radio closely follows the Gene Stratton-Porter story of an Indiana farm boy who loves the daughter of an English family living on the next farm. Parental objections to the girl's marriage form an insurmountable barrier, removed only when a mystery in the past is solved and the Englishman sheds his harsh exterior and gives his consent.

Longhorn Baseball Team Overwhelms Taft, 23-5

Steers Engage Refugio Nine Today

By BOND DAVIS
Baseball Manager
Special to The Daily Texan

TAFT, April 23.—The Steers collected nineteen hits to beat the local Taft nine, 23 to 5 this afternoon in a slow game featured by many hits and four home runs. Bohn Hilliard hurled good ball for the first five innings. This was his first appearance on the mound this year for the Steers.

Joe Fitzsimmons and Aubrey Graham led the Steers at bat. Fitzsimmons clouted two home runs and a single in five times at bat, and Graham had a perfect day at bat, getting five hits in as many tries.

One of Graham's hits was a triple. Red Preibisch got his eye on the ball to get a homer, a triple, and a double in six times at bat.

With Hilliard pitching, a complete sophomore infield of Sands, Rigby, Winburn, and Graham performed very capably.

The Steers moved on tonight to Refugio, where they will meet the Refugio Firemen Wednesday in the last game of this road trip.

The Steers continued their pentant chasing by taking a pair of Southwest Conference games from the Baylor Bears Saturday. The scores were 7 to 6 and 4 to 0.

The Texas team had to clout four home runs to win the first game. Red Branch, pitcher, hit two of these and scored a man ahead of him each time to account for four of Texas's runs. Bohn Hilliard and Morris Sands each hit a circuit drive also.

Branch was not in his best pitching form Saturday. He has just recovered from an illness that caused him to lose 15 pounds. His two homers made up for the six runs the Bears gathered off of him.

Branch, Sands, and Baebel each got two hits in the game. Vinson, right fielder for the Bruins, collected three hits in five tries.

In the second game Dick Midkiff pitched beautiful ball to shut the Bears out with only three measly singles. At the same time the Steers bunched enough of their nine hits into the fifth inning to score four runs and win the ball game.

Midkiff got two hits in two times at bat, one of them a mighty blow that cleared the left field fence for a home run. Red Preibisch hit one in the same inning that hit at the very top of the fence and bounced back for a two-base hit.

ST. LOUIS, April 23. (INS)—Bill Lee, giant All-American tackle of Alabama's undefeated and untied 1934 football team, is going to become a wrestler, he had announced here today. Lee gave out this information just before entraining for Tuscaloosa, and following a visit with Promoter Tom Packs here.

Lee said that as soon as school closed in June he would return to St. Louis and start his professional wrestling career.

Olden Gillum, Indiana University (Bloomington) wrestler, won his first-round match in a recent national intercollegiate meet despite a broken right hand.

WELL, AT THE HALF-WAY MARK of the Southwest Conference diamond race, we find the Longhorns perched at the top of the league by the slim margin of one game. This position was gained by virtue of the Aggies breaking even with T.C.U. in a doubleheader at Fort Worth Monday to give the Frogs a record of 4 games won and 2 lost, which record is topped by that of Texas, 5 games won and 1 lost.

This week-end we shall witness out at Clark Field the crucial series of the 1935 campaign. Texas meets T. C. U. Should the Steers be able to sweep the series, they would have easy sledding for the rest of the way. That would make it safe for them to drop a game or two to the Farmers down at College Station later on.

The Steers have a hard-hitting bunch of pitchers this year. In the first game at Waco Saturday, Red Branch, ace of the Texas pitching staff, hit two homers, scoring a man ahead of him each time, to account for four of his team's seven runs. In the second game Midkiff, not to be outdone by his pitching partner, Branch, hit for the circuit also in the fifth inning.

Texas is now playing a series of three games with semi-pro teams at Kennedy, Taft, and Refugio. They beat Kennedy in a ten-inning tussle Monday, played Taft Tuesday, and today they will meet the Refugio Firemen.

Playing second base for the Refugio club will be Clyde McDowell, who was captain of the Texas varsity last year. McDowell was all-Southwest Conference second baseman for two years and is a hustling, peppery ball player with plenty of talent. He is hitting the ball at a merry clip down at Refugio this spring, and if his teammates are up to par, they should be able to give the Steers a merry battle today.

Forrest Wilson, Jack Vickery, and Moody Pickett returned yesterday from the Kansas Relays along with Milton Kelly, the trainer. We got some interesting notes on the Relays from Kelly. Wilson's race in the high hurdles was probably the best he has ever run. He was only a fraction behind Sam Allen, Oklahoma Baptist steeplechaser who set a new meet record in that race. Wilson ran even with Allen up to the last hurdle and then kicked that last hurdle and dropped just a step behind Allen. Incidentally, Bill Wallace of Rice, Wilson's foremost Southwest rival, was running in the same race and finished fifth.

The hundred-yard dash was truly a "blanket finish." In fact it was so close that Wallender carried the tape off instead of Crooms, Kansas Teachers College negro who was awarded first place. It must have been very close indeed if Wallender should be so close to the front and still only get fourth place.

In the 880-yard relay, in which the Steers chased Iowa University into a new world's record, Wallender took the baton for the anchor lap a good twelve yards behind Jimmy Owen, Iowa anchor man, and narrowed that difference down to only two or three yards at the finish line. Owen is recognized as one of the fastest sprint men in the Mid-West, and our man Wallender must have been fairly stepping it off to gain nine yards on him in the 220 yards they ran.

Our hat's off to Clark Allen, captain of the varsity swimming team and winner of the Nagel trophy for the most outstanding varsity swimmer of the 1935 season.

High Hat huh?

Texas Netmen Defeat Cadets, 6-0, at A. & M.

Special to The Daily Texan
COLLEGE STATION, April 23.—With the loss of only one set, The University of Texas tennis squad swamped the Texas Aggies, 6-0, in a dual match here this afternoon. It was the third conference duel for the Longhorns this season.

Carl Smalley, playing brilliant tennis all the way, had little trouble with Bob Early, number one Aggie, and he smashed out an easy 6-0, 6-0 victory. Leo Brady, in his first conference competition this year, defeated Warren Sorrels, 6-2, 6-0, before pairing with Smalley to take a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Early and Jack Crichton, first ranking Aggie doubles combination. Neither Smalley or Brady experienced any difficulty in their matches.

Bill Byrd, first-year Texas varsity candidate, defeated Jack Crichton, 6-0, 6-1, and Shirley Forsgard came back strong in the second set to win 6-4, 6-0 over Sigman Black of the Aggies.

Forsgard and Fred Buechel were extended to three sets by the Aggie team of Sorrels and Irving White before the Longhorns pulled out a 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 victory after lagging in the second set. Following a slow start in the deciding set, the Steer netmen displayed smoother teamwork and ran out the match in short order.

Arrangements have been made to accommodate the visiting teams on Memorial Stadium track and Penick Courts, and W. E. Metzger, chairman of the Athletic Council, is negotiating with the Austin Country Club to make the links available for the junior college golf teams.

The Daily Texan Gets Results!

Any Austin merchant who knows from experience will tell you that University students make good customers. It's no secret that The Daily Texan gets results.

Centennial Bill Given Another Chance by Senate

The battered Texas Centennial appropriation bill was given "one more chance" by the Texas Senate Tuesday after a blistering criticism of the House for binding its free conference committee, International News Service reported.

Senator Will Martin asserted that House instructions to its free conferees, resembled the acts of a "spoiled baby," he was not willing, however, to kill the Centennial, and Senate conferees were re-named, with no instructions.

Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogota waved the olive branch. "If you want to save something out of this wreckage, let us go back and try to work it out," he said. He pointed out that while the instructions of the House might be considered mandatory, the House conferees would be free to ask the House to recede from instructions totally unacceptable to the Senate.

One of these instructions, to which Senator Martin pointed a scornful finger, called upon "patriotic citizens" of Texas to meet at Goliad, the Alamo and San Jacinto, "after the show is over" and "patriotically observe" the anniversary of Texas independence.

Bonus to Require New Taxes

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(INS)—New federal taxes must be imposed if any bill for payment of the soldiers' bonus is enacted by Congress, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau declared today.

Appearing before the Senate finance committee considering bonus legislation, Morgenthau conceded that the treasury has given thought to such a contingency, and proposed a graduated inheritance tax as an effective method of raising the necessary revenue.

"We have worked it out on a basis that will raise from $20,000,000 to $500,000,000 yearly," he said.

The treasury secretary said that taxes would be necessary no matter which of the pending bonus bills was passed—including the so-called administration compromise presented recently by the committee chairman, Senator Pat Harrison (D), of Mississippi. This would pay the veterans the face value of their adjusted service certificates minus two and a half years interest, immediately.

Morgenthau warned that without the revenue raising tax federal securities would suffer should a bonus bill be passed.

"I don't think we can enjoy the present favorable rates and favorable market for the sale of government securities if new expenditures are incurred which go far beyond the limits of those which have already been outlined," he told the committee.

"A material decline in the market price of government securities which would be very likely to result from large expenditures outside the budget, would work a grave injustice upon all purchasers of government securities, and would tend to stow up the whole recovery program."

"The treasury therefore, would view with great concern the enactment of any bill which calls for large additional expenditures, without compensating additional taxes."

The treasury chief did not go into details in explaining his proposed inheritance tax, but promised at the request of senators to present figures to the committee within 24 hours. He said the treasury had given careful study to the question, and felt that a tax was necessary if any of the pending bonus bills was passed. He refused to discuss the merits or demerits of any of the separate pending measures.

Morgenthau revealed he had talked the whole question over with President Roosevelt before appearing before the committee, and disclosed that the views he expressed were also those of the executive.

Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., of California, national commander of the American Legion, appeared before Morgenthau testified, and urged enactment of a non-inflationary bill for payment of the bonus. Senators on the committee sought his attitude towards other measures if the Vinson bill, which the Legion supports, could not be passed.

"The Legion believes that the question of inflation or non-inflation has no part in its bill for bonus payment," said Belgrano. "Of course, if the senators failed in their attempt to pass the Vinson bill, and selected some other vehicle so they could keep trying to pay the bonus, the veterans would be thankful to get the bonus."

Senator Huey P. Long held a 2-1 lead over the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and William Randolph Hearst in a recent "unpopularity contest" at the University of Illinois (Chicago).

France Drafts Conscript Army Of 'War Babies'

PARIS, April 23.—(INS)—France's "war babies," born in 1914, today joined the "great French family"—the drillmasters' term for the national conscript army.

From Bordeaux to Metz, 120,000 rookies armed only with "travel orders" and provisions for forty-eight hours, proceeded from their homes to the big garrison towns of Toul, Nancy, Strasbourg, Thionville, and Forbach.

There they will learn close order drill, peel spuds, and salute in preparation for the day when they may be called into combat.

Roosevelt Navy Estimates Slashed

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(INS)—President Roosevelt's budget estimates for the navy were slashed $27,657,586 by the House appropriations committee in reporting the annual naval supply bill today.

While the bill carried $457,786,261—largest naval supply bill since 1920—the slash threatened to slow the navy's huge building program.

New England Hates Wallace, Martin Says

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace would be in danger of physical injury if he appeared in some sections of New England, Representative Martin (R), Massachusetts, foe of the cotton processing tax, said today.

"I have never seen such bitter feeling," he said. "I don't believe Mr. Wallace would be safe in some sections."

Martin had just returned from New England where mass meetings on the processing tax and Japanese importations were held.

ENGINEERS TO MEET

Advanced students in the Department of Petroleum Production Engineering are planning to attend the spring meeting of the southwestern district of the Division of Petroleum of the American Petroleum Institute to be held at San Antonio April 25 and 26.

After spending ten years of research work, Professor G. G. Bogert, of the University of Chicago law school, has published a seven volume treatise on trusts.

New Ex-Student Council to Make Plans Saturday

The program of the University Ex-Students' Association for the Texas Centennial year will be discussed by the newly elected councilmen from the fifteen ex-student districts meeting Saturday morning, April 27, at 9 o'clock in the Texas Union, John A. McCurdy, executive secretary, has announced.

Plans for a state-wide membership drive will also be discussed, as well as plans for expanding each local club, Mr. McCurdy said. The councilmen will have lunch at 12 o'clock in the Commons, and the meeting will re-assemble at 1:30 o'clock.

The councilmen, who were elected April 6, are now taking office. The State was divided into fifteen ex-student districts under the new campaign set-up, and each district is now represented by a member on the council, who is to be responsible for the work of the local clubs and coordinate them with the general association program.

District councilmen are Fred Adams, Austin, first vice-president; R. C. Ledbetter, Dallas, second vice-president; A. D. Moore, Beaumont; Ernest May, Fort Worth; R. L. Holliday, El Paso; Bascom Cox, Brownsville; E. M. Wise, Houston; Edmund Key, Marshall; Luther Hoffman, Wichita Falls; Robert Lee Bobbitt, Laredo; I. M. Alexander, Corpus Christi; Judge W. O. Murray, San Antonio; Beauford H. Jester, Corsicana; H. C. Pipkin, Eastland; and John W. Turner, Eastland.

Retiring president is Ralph C. Goeth and the new president is Hines Baker of Houston, councilman-at-large.

Other councilmen-at-large are Dr. Joe Gilbert, Austin; Mrs. R. E. Hardwicke, Fort Worth; Maxey Hart, San Antonio; Albert S. Johnson, Dallas; and W. H. Richardson, Jr., Austin.

Horse Race Repeal Given New Chance

The Texas House laid the horse racing repeal bill on the line Tuesday morning.

By a vote of 75 to 36 it granted the request of Representative Harry Graves of Georgetown to lay the bill on the table subject to call.

This means that, by a majority vote, the House at any time may call up the bill for consideration. There were no opposition speeches to moving the measure up to this favored position.

Displaying a bale of petitions urging racing repeal, Graves said: "Let's see if you've got nerve enough to let the people of Texas know how you stand on horse race gambling."

Bullard Analyzes Samples of Dust Carried in Storm

The extreme fineness and high degree of angularity of particles in the dust which has swept Texas this spring particularly impressed Dr. Fred M. Bullard, chairman of the Department of Geology, when he made an analysis of a collection of the dust Tuesday.

Minerals found in the dust were quartz, feldspar, epidote, zircon, flakes of muscovite, and many small, undeterminable particles probably representing some of the kaolin minerals. Pollen of grass seeds made up a large quantity of the particles.

The dust is similar in composition to the loess deposits of China which attain a thickness of several thousand feet," Dr. Bullard said. "The loess deposits undoubtedly represent age-long accumulations of dust under conditions somewhat similar to those accompanying present-day dust storms."

DEAN HARPER BETTER

Dr. Henry Winston Harper, professor of chemistry and dean of the Graduate School, who has been confined to his home for several days because of illness, is better, and is expected to return to his classes today.

Press Freedom To Be Maintained, Publishers Assert

NEW YORK, April 23.—(INS)—Freedom of the press must and will be maintained, hundreds of publishers agreed today as they met at the Waldorf-Astoria for the forty-ninth annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

A free press and how to keep it free from any attempts to muzzle it, in whatever guises the attempts may appear, is to be an outstanding subject of discussion before the convention ends Friday.

The usual attendance of about five hundred publishers was swelled to nearly seven hundred because representatives of non-member newspapers were invited to join a discussion of the policy to be adopted on the newspaper code, which expires by limitation June 16.

Because of the seriousness of these and other problems confronting newspapers, the board of directors of the association invited one representative of each non-member newspaper in the country that has subscribed to the code to attend the convention. It is the first time non-members have been asked to attend an A. N. P. A. convention.

Verne E. Joy, publisher of the Centralia, Ill., Sentinel, until recently president of the Inland Press Association, presided at a preliminary meeting at which matters of particular interest to smaller newspapers were discussed.

The first full session of the convention will be held tomorrow, with Howard Davis, president of the association, presiding.

As the publishers arrived from every section of the country they gave a picture of a clearly defined upturn in business conditions, they said almost unanimously, gives every indication of mounting in the next few months.

They were in agreement that by whatever yardstick recovery is measured it has arrived in some degree at least on a nation-wide scale, though some sections have moved further toward prosperity than others, due largely to local conditions.

French Troops Sent To German Border

NICE, April 23.—(INS)—Strengthening of the Franco-German frontier proceeded today with dispatch of two batteries of the One Hundred Fifty-Seventh Field Artillery, with a large quantity of supplies and materials, to Thionville.

Further troops are expected to entrain shortly. For the first time in history, France's famous Alpine chausseurs, known as the "Blue Devils" were incorporated with colored Algerian troops on the Franco-Italian border while the main corps goes up to the German frontier.

Bergman-Black Marriage Announced

The marriage of Margaret Black, ex-student of the University, to William E. Bergman, junior student in the University, which was solemnized December 28, 1934, was announced last Sunday at a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Patterson, aunt and uncle of the bride, in Dallas. The reception was held in the Patterson home from 3 to 5 o'clock. The reception rooms were decorated with pink and white roses, and in the dining room the center of attraction was a ring-shaped wedding cake. Orange blossoms and rose buds attached to announcement cards were given to the guests as favors. Mrs. Bergman wore powder blue chiffon and carried lilies of the valley.

Monday night, April 22, Mr. and Mrs. Bergman were honored by Mrs. Joe A. Shepperd, sister of the bride, with a buffet supper and shower in Dallas.

Mrs. C. M. Miller, Jr., of Austin, will honor the bride Friday night with a shower at her home, 606 West Twenty-fifth Street. Mrs. Bergman will also be feted with a shower in Temple May 2, given by Miss Glenna Bandy.

Mrs. Bergman is a former student of Austin High School and of Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton. In the summer of 1934 she was a student in the University. She is a niece of Judge Charles L. Black of Austin.

Bergman is a junior student in architecture in the University and a member of Delta Chi and of Tau Sigma Delta, honorary fraternity in architecture. He has been connected with the Texas Student Publications since entering the University and is at present circulation manager in the Student Publications office.

Mr. and Mrs. Bergman are at home at 1903 Pearl Street.

Measles No Handicap At Dallas Reception

At least the Bergmans have the measles to start housekeeping on! Breaking out at the crucial moment, the former Margaret Black of Dallas, who has contracted measles from her husband, W. E. Bergman, was handicapped Easter Sunday at the announcement reception given in her honor in Dallas.

By receiving guests from the doorway of her room, however, the bride overcame the unexpected difficulty and participated in the reception.

Bergman had been confined with the measles for several days, but is now back in school.

LOMAX TALKS IN DENTON

John A. Lomax, compiler of several books on folk lore, spoke on cowboy songs Tuesday night in Denton at the Texas State College for Women. Mr. Lomax and his son Allan have been absent from Austin for several months and have been working on a new book, "Lead Belly and His Songs," the saga of a singing negro convict.

Harry Marks and Erwin Barrow have recently been voted into the Mavericks.

Pianist Prodigy of 16 Years Ago Returns to Give Concert Tonight

Miss Yetta Wexler, Austin's pianist prodigy of sixteen years ago, will be presented in concert tonight at 8:15 o'clock in Hogg Memorial Auditorium by the Hill Foundation.

In Texarkana, where Miss Wexler played Monday, she gave a triumphant home-coming recital.

Miss Wexler was born in Texarkana twenty-two years ago. At the age of 5, she was able to reproduce on the piano any melody she heard. She came to Austin in 1919 and studied under Miss Sallie Day, Austin music teacher, for several years.

On her first concert tour in 1920, Miss Wexler astounded critics and audiences wherever she went. In San Antonio she received the personal praise of the famous Australian pianist, Percy Grainger, and the outstanding developer of artists, Madame Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler. For a time thereafter she lived with Madame Zeisler and was instructed by her for ten years.

Miss Wexler's adolescent years were spent in schools of music in Chicago and New York. She studied three years at the Julliard School of Music in New York under Ernest Hutcheson and enjoyed the unusual distinction of being awarded three Julliard scholarships because of her pianistic ability.

Her recent activities have included concert work, an appearance with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra as soloist, and a teaching appointment with the Musical Education Foundation, a project sponsored and managed by the distinguished artist, Mme. Olga Samoroff.

The program of the concert tonight includes compositions by Beethoven, Brahms, Bach, and Liszt, as well as some works of the moderns.

A reception will be given in the Texas Union for Miss Wexler after her performance tonight.

From Austin Miss Wexler will continue her present tour by making appearances in Shreveport and Monroe, La., San Antonio, and Houston.

Texas Auto Sales Show Increase

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has found, according to reports of representative counties, that the sales of new passenger cars in Texas during March shows a marked increase for the third consecutive month.

From reports of fifteen counties, it is shown that 6,433 cars were sold in March, an increase of 23 per cent over February and 30 per cent over March, 1934.

The number of cars sold during the first quarter of 1935 is 16,157, which is 62 per cent more than the corresponding period last year.

Number of Charters Issued Increases

The granting of charters in Texas, both in number and in capitalization, took an appreciable rise during March, according to information released by the Bureau of Business Research.

A total of 162 new charters was granted, an increase of 10 per cent over March, 1933. Total capitalization showed gains of 13 per cent and 50 per cent respectively over the two comparable periods. Groups making the greatest gains were banking-finance, real estate-building, and merchandising.

Having been elected secretary-treasurer of the Association in 1930, Dean Fitzgerald is now serving his fifth term in that office. The Association was organized in 1916 with fifteen members, the University being one of the charter members.

A Life of Service

The University and the State lost one of its most valuable servants last week with the passing of Dr. George E. Bethel, dean of the University Medical School at Galveston. Cut down in the full bloom of his prime at the age of 41, Dr. Bethel leaves behind him a record of distinguished service and energetic brilliance.

Dr. Bethel, who served as director of the University Health Service from 1926 to 1928, was in close contact with the Main University and the relations between the two branches were exceedingly effective during his term of service. A man of pleasing personality, a competent executive and thoroughly versed in medicine, Dr. Bethel entered into his important duties with an energy and a vision that contributed much to the establishment of the Medical School in the top rung of American medical colleges.

Taking office as dean of the School in 1928, he devoted much attention to the building program of the institution and during his tenure more than $2,000,000 worth of buildings and equipment were added to the physical plant. These improvements included an addition to the new laboratory building, virtually doubling its size, a large out-patient clinic for the hospital, and a new and elaborate home for the nurses besides many minor alterations.

In this expansion of the medical center of the entire State, Dr. Bethel worked in close contact with the Board of Regents, the hospital authorities, and the Sealy and Smith Foundation, which furnished a considerable part of the funds.

During the years when he was at the head of the great medical plant at Galveston, the college was raised to a high standard of efficiency, its academic standards and enrollment increased, and today it ranks as one of the truly great medical schools of the entire nation.

In recent years Dr. Bethel received the distinction of being named a fellow of the American College of Physicians, and he was also active in state and national medical organizations.

He is deeply mourned by the students at Galveston who, through their president, issued a statement that to them, "Dr. Bethel seems to us to embody the spirit of the older medical leaders—Pasteur, Lister and Pare—and he kept faith with the principles and ideals of our noble vocation, and in so doing with such fervor and with such cheery grace, has kept the true spirit of Hippocrates ever within our easy reach."

That a man of so much ability and such a rare gift of inspiring character should be cut down at the age of 41 is cause for sadness throughout the State. Dr. Bethel went quietly on his way in the laboratory and in the classroom seeking new ways to protect human life and to fill his students with a sense of the high obligations to society which fall upon them, and throughout his short lifetime he exemplified the spirit of medicine which is "to minister unto, not to be ministered unto."

It is with sincere regret that we mark the passing of a man who has given so much to society, but he leaves behind him an achievement for humanity that will stand through the years as a monument to one who lived to serve his fellow man.

Education in a Hurry

The University of Chicago student who made such a stir in the press when he recently graduated from that university with his degree of bachelor of arts after only twenty months of study pronounced a serious indictment of modern educational systems when he said he cut classes so frequently because it was foolish to listen to lectures when he could get the same material more easily by reading texts and other books.

That this student was abnormal and not a good example upon which to base a general rule cannot be disputed. Yet he touched a serious defect when he pointed out that in many cases the lectures of professors and instructors add nothing to the knowledge of the student beyond that which intelligent reading could have given him.

There are many students who need the repetition in class to grasp the subject—the question is, are they the students who should be receiving the most attention? Usually they are too lazy or they could garner the facts from the books. Some emphasis upon certain parts of a text is needed by the majority of students.

However, it is the duty of the teacher to give his students a broad background and the correct emphasis and not mere facts easily gathered other places. The professor who is too ignorant or too lazy to serve this function has no right to receive a salary from any university.

Spring Failures Fewer Than 1934

Recent reports of students on final trial and special observation issued by Dean H. T. Parlin of the College of Arts and Sciences show a small decrease in the percentage of students reported as compared with the numbers of the April 1 reports of last year.

One hundred thirty-five students have been put on special observation, the report shows, and 47 on final trial. On April 1, 1934, 118 went on special observation, while 49 found themselves listed for final trial. The decrease figures about one-half of one per cent for the present session.

Final trial was more exclusive this April, with two fewer students being listed.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1935, International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(INS)—There is a lot of deep-seated strategy behind this Senate delay in taking up the question of extending the N. R. A.

Here it is:
N. R. A., barring enactment of continuing legislation, will automatically die on June 16 next.

The N. R. A. has many enemies. At best, its friends face a tough battle to get a two-year extension, and in a protracted battle the chances are slim that the big Blue Eagle would come through with all its tail feathers.

In any long drawn out battle, the casualties obviously are greater than in a short, sharp scrimmage.

Relatively few of the powerful influences in Congress want the N. R. A. killed outright. They all want to change it, to tinker with it, but few want to kill the bird entirely. By keeping it off the floor, the N. R. A.'s friends are preventing the tail feathers being plucked, one by one.

Therefore, the later N. R. A. comes to the floor, as the deadline of June 16 approaches, the shorter will be the battle, the less the wrangling, and by the same token, the more complete will N. R. A. emerge from the struggle.

Yell Contest Renewed Today

The contest for new yells, which was suspended last week due to the spring vacation, will be renewed this morning. Boxes will be placed in front of Texas Union, Garrison Hall, and the Journalism Building.

Three winners will be selected in the contest which is sponsored by the Mavericks, newly formed yell club. First prize will be a pass to all athletic contests that will be held during the next school year. Second prize will be a pass to all basketball games that are played in Austin. The third prize will be a book of tickets to the Texas Theater. Judges in the contest will be in the hands of a committee appointed by the Mavericks.

Boxes will open at 9 o'clock and will be kept open until 1 o'clock. They will be opened again at the same hours on Thursday and Friday. Winners will probably be announced Sunday.

U.S.S.R.'s Planes Worry Germany

Copyright 1935, By International News Service

BERLIN, April 23.—(INS)—With a nucleus of 4,300 planes and a promise of more than 10,000 within a few years, the gigantic air power of Soviet Russia "constitutes a danger for the entire world," Lieutenant-Colonel Baron von Buelow, member of the Reichswehr ministry, charged today.

In an official statement, von Buelow set forth what purported to be actual details of Russian air strength never revealed before. "Soviet Russia's air force," he declared, "represents the most effective instrument for the Third International to carry out its ultimate aim to overthrow the governments of all countries and spread revolution to the remotest corners of the globe."

Windsor, Former Librarian, Talks Here April 25

P. L. Windsor, librarian of the University of Illinois and former librarian of The University of Texas, who will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Texas Library Association here April 25-27, will be the honor guest of a Texas Pioneer Dinner, to be given by the Association in the crystal ballroom of the Driskill Hotel at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, April 26. The dinner is to be a tribute to library pioneers. He will also be honored at the alumni breakfast of the Illinois Library School on April 25. Mr. Windsor's main address will be on the evening of April 25 when he will speak on the new National Library Planning Program.

Mr. Windsor was brought to Texas in 1903 by W. L. Prather, at that time president of the University. Before coming to Texas, Mr. Windsor had studied for two years at the New York State Library School, and was connected with the copyright division of the Library of Congress when President Prather met him. Mr. Windsor resigned his librarianship at the University of Illinois. Illinois is his native state.

While Mr. Windsor was librarian at the University, the Library was housed in the old Main Building. Before he left, the library had outgrown its quarters, and in the last year of Mr. Windsor's stay, he aroused so much sentiment for a building devoted exclusively to library purposes that shortly after his departure the necessary financial provision was consummated for the erection of the building. This was the building recently vacated for the still newer building.

Mr. Windsor is a life member of the American Library Association, and has served on the council of the association, and has been a fellow of the American Library Institute. He has been president of the Association of American Library Schools, and president of the Illinois Library Association. Throughout his library career he has maintained membership in the scholarly Bibliographical Society of America. "Who's Who in America" lists Mr. Windsor as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Tau Delta, a Methodist, and a Rotarian.

MRS. PENNYBACKER TO TALK

The program is being sponsored by Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority.

Half the students at Ohio Wesleyan University (Delaware) who cut classes do it because they want to sleep. Other favorite reasons: fear of quizzes, and studying for exams.
