

PURCELL MAKES SOME CHANGES IN COMMITTEES

Advertising of Academic Reception to Be Carried on by Means of Banners—Tickets Now on Sale.

Determined that the Academic Reception, which will be held next Saturday night, should be advertised despite the rule against class banners, President Purcell of the Academic Department has placed the big painted sign in the reading room at the Y. M. C. A. Further publicity was given the affair by cards which were placed on all of the bulletin boards this morning.

The providing of entertainment for non-dancers has met with considerable success under the direction of Misses Lillian Womack and Lucille Robison. This part of the reception will take place in the Woman's Building, while the dancers will be entertained on the Woman's Gymnasium floor.

President Purcell has announced the following changes and additions to the various committees: W. C. O'Donnell succeeds Thurman Randle, who was the chairman of the decoration committee. E. W. Clements, W. D. Mayfield and M. L. Patterson have also been added to this committee. J. D. Glenny Jr., G. B. Gouger and Mary E. Smith have been added to the arrangements committee.

The sale of tickets has begun, and already more than fifty have been sold. The following men have tickets for sale: R. B. Allen, Miss Jeanette Taggart, R. C. Simmons, W. K. Cousins, Dan McCrummen, Adrian Levy, Beauford Jester, Tom Gambrell, M. L. Purcell, J. L. Du Mars, Robert Field, D. I. Morgan, Clyde White, G. H. Name, T. E. Popplewell, L. K. Boswell, R. S. Crawford, Dan Wood, Gordon West, Nathaniel Jacks, J. B. Ferguson, Thad Scott, Jack Goforth, W. W. Hawkins, Fred Adams, L. Sherrill, T. E. Hayden and Palmer Bradley.

LIGHT BASEBALL PRACTICE FOR NEW MATERIAL TUESDAY

Coach Disch Put Freshman Squad Through Short Workout—Varsity Will Start Training Early Next Week.

Light baseball practice was held for the freshmen yesterday. It was the second workout. About thirtyfive men responded to the call. Coach Disch gave instructions to the first-year men in the elementary principles of baseball, and warned them against appearing on the field without jerseys to protect themselves from the cold winds.

He then divided the men into squads of eight or ten men each for practice, and each man was sent up to dress as soon as he had had a very light workout. Several promising new men were seen on the field. Among those showing up especially well this early in the season were the Vickery brothers and D. B. Gregg of Manor.

The old men will not begin practice in earnest before the early part of next week, although several helped in yesterday's workout, particularly George Anderson and Dick Hooper.

HEBREW SOCIETY ORGANIZED HERE

Y. M. H. A. to be similar to the Y. M. C. A.—To Supplement Work of Menorah.

The launching of a Young Men's Hebrew Association, which promises to exercise a powerful influence in the Southwest, will be next Sunday afternoon at the Austin Temple. This movement, conceived in the brain of a youthful Boston attorney six years ago, has already assumed incredible proportions.

Said Robert Goodman, the leader of the movement, when interviewed yesterday:

"The Y. M. H. A. aims to give the young Jew the opportunity for development through its social activities. It seeks on the one hand to help him interpret his Jewish background and to impress upon him a vivid Jewish consciousness in the Jewish social group, keeping alive his racial entity in this maelstrom of evolution, while on the other hand training him for the best type of citizenship.

"It enables the Americanized youth to retain what is best in the teachings of his ancestors and at the same time to acquire the advantages of a modern training. In short, the Y. M. H. A. is a melting pot where is fused the highly desirable combination of good citizen and good Jew.

"The Y. M. H. A. will supplement the work of Menorah, a society for the study of Jewish literature in the University, by enlisting the efforts of its most capable men and women, calling out and developing in them the qualities of leadership for social service and philanthropy—things with which Judaism has always been synonymous.

"In addition to laying plans for establishing and co-ordinating Y. M. H. A.'s in all the large cities of Texas, efforts will be made to assist Jewish students by securing a loan fund and prizes for public speaking contests, while at the same time promoting a more sympathetic and better acquaintance among them."

CHINESE DISPLAY TO BE SHOWN AT Y. M. C. A. SOON

Mr. Masterson, Formerly of This City, to Have Charge of Exhibit. With Raymond Robins Campaign.

A display representing Chinese life and customs will be shown by Harris Masterson at the University Y. M. C. A. during the Raymond Robins evangelistic campaign. Mr. Masterson, who was former pastor of All Saints Chapel here, has been in Hang-kow, China, for the past four years doing student work at the Episcopal University in that city.

Mr. Masterson will arrive here two days before the Robins campaign begins, and the exhibit will also be put on at that date. It will be free. Mr. Masterson will also be one of the men who will hold personal conferences with the men students during this campaign.

NEW IDEAS TO BE CONSIDERED BY ASSEMBLY

Question of Blanket Tax and Paid Treasurer Brought Before Body at Supper at "Y" Last Night. Dr. Battle Talks.

The blanket tax, the student "point" system and a paid treasurer to handle all student funds were ideas discussed at the supper given by President Battle to the Students' Assembly last night at the Y. M. C. A. Besides the personnel of the Students' Assembly, the Faculty committee on student life in the University was present. The supper was a "get-together" affair, and much interest was manifested by the guests.

After the splendid supper had been served, President Battle opened the battery of discussion by advocating the blanket tax system of supporting student activities. Dr. Battle suggested that the plan was entirely practical, as twenty-four large universities had already adopted the scheme.

"Six or seven dollars from every student would not only mean that athletics, The Texan, the Glee Club, the Oratorical Association would receive enough for ample support, but it would also insure an increased interest among the students."

Dr. Battle showed that the plan would mean a saving to every student in the University, and that it would not drain the working student of his last resources.

Dean Benedict next made the suggestion that the Student Assembly consider the point system of keeping a record of a student's work. The Woman's Council follows the plan in a modified form. The idea brought out in the discussion was that a student should be credited with a certain number of points for every University activity in which he took part. By this means a record of a student's work would not only be kept, but it would stimulate a student to more work.

"Star Chamber" Session Behind Closed Doors

Two hours dragged by, and still the Texan door remained ominously closed to prying eyes. From within a murmur of voices reached the corridor now and then, ending in a burst of fiendish laughter. The few reporters that had the temerity to open the door got only as far as the threshold, for the "Committee of Six" was holding a session.

Two hours were required to complete arrangements for the program to be held at the big staff Texan dinner at the Cactus Tea Room Friday, Jan. 14. Rumor has it that the committee has compiled a "proscription list" of formidable dimensions, and many prominent heads will fall on that fateful Friday night.

Not only is the identity of the "committee" being kept a profound secret—for obvious reasons—but also the nature of the program is entirely withheld. The only fact that has leaked through the vigilance of the secret council, better known as the Committee of Six, is that a large number of wires and phone calls have been dispatched to very prominent persons. In fact, the telephone company is said to have reported an unusual number of Eastern calls, but would divulge no more details.

The entertainment planned is promised to be something with the tang of originality, and plenty of pep, together of an abundance of local color of a humorous nature is promised, in addition to an excellent dinner. The program will be full of features, and a very large attendance is expected. The dinner will cost 60 cents a plate.

LEAP YEAR DANCE GREAT SUCCESS

Tea Room Crowded With Dancers. Some Girls Act as Stags—Formal Dinner-Dance to Be Given.

Novelty was the keynote of the Leap Year dance given last night at the Cactus Tea Room. Seventy-five girls were present with their partners, besides several who acted as "stags." From 8 to 10 o'clock, while the dancing was going on, light refreshments were served to groups of the young people.

Music was furnished by two University students, Mr. Renick Smith, who played the piano, and Mr. J. W. Wyse with his violin. Tickets were received at the door by Mrs. R. C. Walker. Mrs. R. C. McSueen was also present as chaperone.

This dance, which was quite informal, was intended as a try-out for the purpose of finding out how such an affair would be received by the students. It proved so popular and was such a success that the managers have decided to give a strictly formal dinner-dance in the near future. The date has not been set, but it will be given in about ten days. The number of couples will be further limited this time, probably to twenty-five.

BELTON MAY HAVE GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Business Manager Receives Letter Inviting Members to Sing at Baylor College—May Give Matinee.

The business manager of the Glee Club has recently received a letter from Baylor College in Belton, Texas, cordially inviting the club to give a concert there this spring. Baylor College has not a very large enrollment, but Belton is close to Temple, and it would cost very little more to make the trip over there.

Baylor College is exclusively for women, and it is very gratifying to find that the Glee Club has such an excellent reputation that they should request a concert. In fact, the reputation of the club is growing each year, and the territory covered by it is becoming more and more extensive.

The concert at Belton would probably not draw a large enough crowd for a regular performance, so it is the plan of the management just to give a matinee performance, if the trip is taken. It would be possible for the members of the club to sing in Belton in the afternoon and get back to Temple in time for a concert that night. But the trip has not been definitely decided upon yet.

MISS PENDLETON TO TALK.

Miss Ellen Pendleton, the president of Wellesley College, who is on a tour of the State, will be in Austin tomorrow. She is visiting Mrs. L. N. Goldbeck. She will talk to the girls of the University at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. W. T. Mather is to be hostess to Miss Pendleton tomorrow afternoon and any girls desiring information regarding Wellesley may telephone Miss Pendleton there. She will probably leave tomorrow night.

TALK MADE BY DR. ARMSTRONG WELL ATTENDED

Lecture on Southern Europe of Great Interest to Students of Literature. Dr. Armstrong Interested in University Activities.

Before a large and appreciative audience, Professor A. J. Armstrong, head of the English department at Baylor University, gave an illustrated lecture on the cities of Southern Europe, at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium last night. About eighty slides were shown, being the pick of some 200 or more views, collected by Dr. Armstrong on his various tours of Europe during the past several years.

The lecture started with Italy and wound up with Ireland. The views were for the most part of various historic buildings and scenes of interest to nearly all Americans. Along with the lecture, Dr. Armstrong occasionally digressed to give several anecdotes and legends about certain historic spots, which were very amusing.

Dr. Armstrong has selected seven modern "wonders of the world" which he declares are equal, if not superior, to the ancient great wonders. He also took occasion to say that along all lines of art and literature, the people of today are producing as fine material as did the ancients.

He particularly emphasized the importance of all teachers of Literature visiting Europe, and said that a visit to Italy was more beneficial to English teachers than one to England. Dr. Armstrong also told of conditions in Germany at the time of the declaration of war, he being in Berlin at the time.

He is very much interested in University affairs, particularly The Daily Texan. He was the sponsor of Ralph B. Feagin, first editor of The Daily Texan, and said that during the year The Texan was under his leadership he read every issue and every line of each issue.

Dr. Armstrong came here to deliver the lecture under a plan whereby the various colleges of Texas are exchanging speakers. Dr. Morgan Callaway will in the near future give the return lecture at Baylor for the University. Dr. R. H. Griffith presided at the lecture and introduced the speaker, in the absence of Dr. Battle.

REHEARSALS START TODAY.

Rehearsals for the Winsonian play, "The Big Idea," will start today in the Auditorium of the Main Building. The parts have already been given out to a tentative cast, but the official cast has not yet been selected. It will be announced the last part of the week.

Mr. A. C. Thomas, who worked in collaboration with Mr. Clayton Hamilton to produce this play, is the author of "Rainbow," a play in which Henry Miller starred at its recent production in Austin. Both of the authors of "The Big Idea" are well known as playwrights.

MISS DUNNING DELAYED.

The music teacher from New York, Miss Carrie Louise Dunning, who was to speak at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium today, has been unavoidably delayed. She will be unable to reach Austin before Friday morning. The lecture has been postponed and will be given at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

Important Meeting of Press Club

There is to be an important meeting of the Press Club in the office of The Texan. Each of the following members is urged to be present: Richardson, Potash, Etter, Putnam, Dunham, Baggett, Thweatt, Luter, Hawk, Smith, Johnson, Arnoux, Dave Williams, Dan Williams, Howard, Skiles, Maverick, Jester, Brown, Scott, Hibbard, Wood, Shaw, Raht, Landrum and Jameson.

THE PRESIDENT.

Don't Miss The Banquet

I hereby request that a place be reserved for me at the staff dinner at the Cactus Tea Room, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Student activities these days bear a lot of knocks they do not deserve. Over against scholarship they are placed as the greatest tormentor of that historic champion of academic arena. They are the cause of professorial woes, low grades, untimely termination of collegiate careers, and consequent parental pangs and tribulation.

But student activities should be differentiated from the multitude of parasitical activities and inactivities sailing under a false flag. It is true that a number of students indulge to their detriment in the worthy and necessary activities, but the great majority of those who engage in extra-curriculum pastimes to their detriment are not, strictly speaking, engaging in student activities, according to the common acceptance of that term.

Loafing on the Campus benches, attending Germans, playing pool or frittering away time in idle gossip, though not in the same category as to merit, are nevertheless not student activities.

Student activities proper are those activities which supplement the curriculum in bringing about the greatest improvement in student life, especially making possible the greatest benefit from the community life of students. Do away with such activities entirely, and University life would be robbed of a very valuable and vital element.

The problem is to make student activities proper so efficient and so beneficial that they will tend to eliminate activities foreign to the purpose of a university and better supplement the work of the curriculum.

MISTAKE IN CAUSE OF DEATH.

By mistake, an article in Tuesday's Texan said that the death of Reuben Frederichs had been due primarily to injuries to his skull, received in football practice. According to Coach Ettlinger, this report was entirely erroneous, in that Frederichs was only out for football for about two weeks, and during that time was never hurt at all seriously. Frederichs met his death from injuries received during the Christmas vacation, while out hunting.

The student who was hurt was M. C. Culbertson, a Junior Law, who was knocked unconscious one afternoon in scrimmage with the first team. Culbertson, however, is now thoroughly recovered and in no way permanently injured.

Phunnigraphs

If you don't like 'em, you still have the ads.

The Texan prints a story about the "Battle of Kegs" of January, 1778. It is well the date is given, or some critic might use it as a text for an arraignment of University sobriety.

CHAPEL NOTICES.

 Professor Butte was unable to appear yesterday. He promises to be on hand Friday morning; we hope all the lawyers who came to hear him yesterday will return Friday. We had a good service of song and responsive reading and prayer. The passage was a very familiar Te Deum Laudamus; the words are beautiful and many magnificent musical arrangements have been made of these words. One could almost hear them sing themselves as they were read. Special prayer was offered for the Robins meeting and for the recovery of Dawson, both in body and in mind.

LETTER TO COLLEGE MEN.

Assistance Urged to Prevent Mob Rule in the South.

The following is an extract from an open letter by the University Commission on Race Questions which recently met in North Carolina to study the best means of preventing the growing tendency toward lynching for crimes in the South. Dr. Sutton of the University was very prominent on this commission, and has given his hearty recommendation to the advice offered in the letter.

"These are the terrible facts. Is there no remedy? Have we not sufficient legal intelligence and machinery to take care of every case of crime committed? Must we fall back on the methods of the jungle? Civilization rests on obedience to law, which means the substitution of reason and deliberation for impulse, instinct and passion. It is easy and tempting to obey the latter, but to be governed by the former requires self control, which comes from the interposition of thought between impulse and action. Herein lies the college man's opportunity to serve his fellows; to interpose deliberation between their impulses and action and in that way to control both.

"Society has a right to expect college men to help in moulding opinion and shaping conduct in matters of this sort it is their privilege and duty to co-operate with others in leading crusades against crime and mob rule and for law and civilization. The college man belongs in the front rank of those fighting for moral and social progress. For this reason the university commission makes its first appeal to you and urges you strongly to co-operate with the press, the pulpit, the bar, officers of the law and all other agencies striving to eliminate this great evil by speaking out boldly when speech is needed and letting your influence be felt against it in decided, unmistakable measure and manner.

SCHOOLS TO JOIN INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE IN SPRING
 Superintendent of Llano Public Schools Writes Letter to Department of Extension—Much Interest Shown.
 Prof. E. D. Shurter of the Extension Department is in receipt of a letter from D. F. McCollum, superintendent of the Llano Public Schools, in regard to their joining the Interscholastic League. He is very optimistic as to the schools in his county, having recently visited most of them for the purpose of interesting them in this association. His letter to Professor Shurter follows:
 "My Dear Doctor.
 "I made a tour of the principal schools of our county before the holidays in the interest of the Interscholastic League, and while nearly every one of them promised to join the League, only one paid the membership fee, namely, Castell, Mr. Louis J. Koonsen, principal.
 "I feel sure the others will pay the fee later, as they are very anxious to come into our county meet we propose to have in the spring. I am writing all the schools not visited and think we can have a large per cent of them in the League.
 "We are publishing a county magazine in order to try to stimulate interest in essay writing. Our business men are to offer prizes in all the contests provided in the League. That in essay writing is to be determined on the basis of the best essay published in the magazine. I am sending you copies of this publication. If convenient, get the opinion of the other members of the department on the plan.
 "I assure you I shall do my best to stimulate interest in the work.
 Yours very truly,
 "D. F. McCOLLUM."

NEWS FROM AMERICAN COLLEGES
 (By Carl G. Raht.)

Brown.
 Prof. J. A. Lomax of the University of Texas, who is in the East on a lecture tour, delivered an interesting address on "Songs of the Cowboy" to the student body of Brown University at Providence, R. I. He told the Easterners interesting tales of cowboys, of the cowboy's life in the West; and he delivered in a fitting manner old cowboy songs and verses which a few years ago constituted the only music of the Western prairies. He mentioned as his earliest and keenest recollection the lowing of the cattle, the songs of the cowboys and the cracking of their whips as herds of longhorn steers passed near his home, along the old cattle trail from Texas to Kansas.
 Professor Lomax has long been interested in the collection of the ballads, songs and life of the cowboy.
 During the past few years he has been delivering lectures on these subjects to various universities and other bodies in the East, and has been able to arouse a good deal of interest in this particular kind of folk-lore. He has published the only book on cowboy folk-lore that has been written up to date.

Syracuse.
 The inter-fraternity basketball schedule is soon to be arranged. As in previous years, trophies will be given the winning teams. It will be remembered that Gamma Eta Gamma has two legs on the three-year interfraternity trophy. If they win again this year the cup will go to them permanently.

Columbia.
 The football spirit at Columbia is not dead; it is only dormant. Rum-mors concerning Columbia's football schedule were set at rest when the Athletic Association office announced the eight games that Varsity is to play this year. This is an increase of three games over last season. All games will take place on South Field, and all save one will be played on Saturday. While no definite information was available, there are indications that games with Columbia were much sought for. Communications passed between the A. A. office and the managers of some thirty or more teams.

Yale.
 The passing of Thomas Lee Shelvin adds another name to the list of famous Yale linemen who have died within recent years. Four great Yale scrimmagers who won their "Y" since 1900 have died within the last decade.
 They are: F. Gordon Brown, Stillman, James J. Hogan and Shelvin.
 All made the All-American eleven with ease. Brown and Hogan were selected for four consecutive years at guard or tackle, while Shelvin made an end position for three years, and Stillman made a tackle two years.

NEW IDEAS TO BE CONSIDERED
BY ASSEMBLY

Each student would also be limited to a certain number of points.

Sam Holliday brought out the points in favor of selecting a paid treasurer, whose duty it would be to take care of all student funds, such as those of The Texan, the Cactus and the Students' Association. A Faculty member with previous business experience or a former business man would be eligible to the office.

It was urged that the affairs of the students should be looked after the entire year. A more firm business basis and more continuity of policy would result from the establishment of such an office.

General discussion on all the ideas followed every suggestion. It is probable that each one will find its way to the Students' Assembly soon.

It is likely that the blanket tax question and the matter relating to a paid treasurer will be considered at their next meeting. It was the opinion of a prominent member of the Assembly that both of these matters will receive very favorable consideration.

Those present at the supper last night were:

Assembly: F. J. Lyons, Tom Gambrell, C. J. Balwin, H. M. Bufkin, Joel Burney, Gordon Conley, W. E. Glaze, T. E. Hayden, Sam Holliday, D. B. Jones, G. L. Mixson, Pat Nunn, D. E. Park, Leroy Sherrill, S. W. Smith, Lloyd Taylor, J. U. Yarbrough.

Faculty student life committee: H. Y. Benedict, E. C. H. Bantel, H. T. Parlin, J. M. Bryant, S. P. Finch, R. A. Law, D. A. Penick, E. D. Shurter, H. J. Ettlinger, H. C. Weaver, T. W. Currie, E. T. Miller.

GERMANIA TO HAVE
ILLUSTRATED TALK
AT NEXT MEETING

Dr. Schoch to Deliver Lecture on Scenery Along Rhine Valley Before the Society Tonight.
Excellent Program.

A special treat has been provided for those who attend "Germania" tonight, and it consists of an entertaining and instructive lecture upon the subject "Das Rheintal von Mainz Nach Koblenz," which will be abundantly illustrated by means of balopticon views. Those who are acquainted with the speaker will agree that he is one who has, by his personality and in interest in the Club won a "cozy corner" in the heart of the Germania Literary Society. Everybody who feels interested in the picturesque scenery and peculiarly characteristic landscapes along the Rhine River will be amply repaid for attending the program. The program as a whole follows:

Song, "Deutschland Ueber Alles," the society.

A story, Miss Paula Henry.

Address, R. Klingelhoefer.

Vocal solo, Mr. W. E. Metzenthin.

"Memories of the World's Fair, 1915," Miss Mary Felsing.

Speech, "A Characteristic German Winter," S. E. Brandenberger.

Illustrated lecture, "Das Rheintal," Dr. Schoch.

REAGAN MEETS.

Reagan Literary Society held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. The topic of study was "The Unskilled Wage-Earner," with Miss Mildred Walker as leader. Miss Louise Cartledge made an interesting talk on "The Laundry Girls," Miss Giesecke on "The Factory Girls," and Miss Mildred Walker on "The Girls Engaged in Domestic Service." The regular program was followed by the initiation of Miss Margaret Stokes.

MRS. JOHN H. REAGAN DIES.

News has been received of the death of Mrs. John H. Reagan at Palestine, Texas. Mrs. Reagan was the wife of John H. Reagan, one of the most prominent citizens of Texas. He was Postmaster General of the Confederacy, ex-United States Senator from Texas, and for a long time on the Railroad Commission. Mrs. Reagan was a prominent Daughter of the Confederacy.
