BOURLAND CONCLUDES LECTURES WITH TALK ON "SOCIAL POWER"

Low Productive Power of People Causes Slow Development of Resources

Conclusion of the series of addresses by Dr. Albert P. Bourland, secretary of the Southern Education Society, came Friday night when he delivered his last lecture on the development of "Social Power." Perhaps the largest crowd of the series was out to hear the last address of the education secretary. The Friday night lecture of Dr. Bourland is the result of extensive study and investigation of village communities in Europe and of cooperative enterprises. The "Development of Social Power" lecture is considered by many, it is stated, to be the most important of the series in both Europe and America.

"In the aggregate we produce wealth annually which figures wonderfully in the government reports but we don't hold it; it slips through our fingers so that the accumulation of capital for the development of southern resources is very slow."

Unable to Develop Resources
The trouble starts with the low productive power of the masses of people. The average annual value of what is produced in each of the nine states east of the Mississippi ranges around $775, while the per-capita wealth of the southern white farmer ranges around $425, nearly $100 less than 1860, over against something like $500 in Wisconsin, $1800 in Iowa, and $2700 in Illinois.

"One of our conservative citizens, R. Coker of South Carolina, has recently estimated that under favorable conditions the Southern tenant farmer, with cotton at 15 cents a pound, will come out with about 35 as his share of the crop, or 51 cents a day for the sustenance of his family."

Conditions in Georgia
The average wealth of Jackson county, Georgia, per capita, counting men, women and children, was $33. In 1918 Mr. Rockefeller's wealth was estimated at $1,200,000. And yet, Jackson county, with nearly two thirds of its white farmer population, produces something like $500,000 in farm wealth year by year."

Colleges Praised
A recent study of the Peabody College brought out the fact that the annual consumption of food per person in the South is around $84. The per capita food production ranges from $34 in Alabama to $72 in Kentucky and $100 in Oklahoma, which is the only state that raised enough bread and meat for its home consumption.

"Branson found that nine-tenths of the farm wealth produced in Jackson county disappears every year to pay for western corn and wheat, salt pork, sides, mules, and horses, that might be raised at home. It is told, nearly one billion dollars a third of our entire crop wealth is sent out of the South to pay for food, stuffs that ought to have been raised at home."

The education secretary praised the work being done by agricultural colleges and demonstration agents in increasing the production of food crops. These two agencies have also made considerable progress in the study of the marketing problem, he continued.

Conditions in Europe
To get at the root of our trouble must again turn to the old world. The farmers of Europe as a whole live in villages. A village is its surrounding or adjacent lands is a "commune." One commune may contain only a dozen families with a hundred acres altogether; another, hundred families

All students who were in the first term of the Summer School will please call at the Registrar's office Monday and receive their reports.

E. J. MATHEWS,

with several thousand acres, but each commune has definite boundaries and in nearly every European state the commune is the vital unit of local government, which provides for the broad powers of community control, through the communal council, usually elected by manhood suffrage.

"Then for every group of villages we find a savings society, little village banks, without house or home, but compact associations that impel the people to bring in their earnings and accumulate. Practically everybody in the village is a stockholder in the savings bank."

"This little village bank keeps the money the people make at home—the profit that comes from farming stays on the farms and does not get out into the industries of the towns. These savings banks and also credit societies that lend money for productive purposes to their members on long time notes at a low rate of interest, three to five per cent. The society itself having a deposit in the bank in the city can borrow to meet the needs of its members. In its operations the savings and loan association along with the various other cooperative organizations unite the community into a productive corporation to develop the soil resources around it and to hold profits for community development."

Agriculture in Europe

"The best agricultural experience of the world is focused on each farm in the province and it is all done by the farmers themselves. The secret of it all is that in practically every important detail each farmer gets a great deal through common effort—in his harvesting, his manufacturing, his selling, he has the help of his community."

"The rural credit systems of Europe operated by the farmers themselves have demonstrated that agriculture can be financed so as to make it an industrial opportunity and this, with small farms. In Europe the farms range from three to thirty acres, only a small portion outside the great landlord estates being over 50 acres. As a result in France 80 per cent of the cultivated land is farmed by owners; in Germany, more than 85 per cent; in Switzerland, 95 per cent, and on these mountain slopes the cheapest land sells for $400 per acre."

"We must first get the partnership temper," he declared, "then organization and construction ability. We must start in the schools. We must teach partnership, group partnership as a regular vital part of the school problem. And thus we will create a living power unit, a community in which socialism will be an absurdity, and bolshevism a crime."

Classes for Women in Life Saving to Be Taught at Lake

Beginning Tuesday, August 1, at Lake Austin, classes will be conducted in life saving, preparatory for the "Woman's World Life Saving" examination which will be held Tuesday, August 15, and for the "Red Cross Life Saving" examination to be held Wednesday, August 16.

The course covers the breaking of the four grips of drowning persons; carrying the drowning person fifty yards with four carries; and recovery from the pool. A surface dive must be executed and the lifting of the weight of the body from the pool and carrying it eighty yards must be done in order to pass the test.

Floating and treading will be taught, as well as resuscitation by Shafer's method.

Regular swimming classes will be continued every morning from 10:30 to 12:30. Certificates will be given to those who complete the elementary strokes.

LATEST VOLUME OF CO-ED SCRAP BOOK FINISHED

Miss Bewley Announces That the Third Volume Is Ready for Inspection

Miss Lulu M. Bewley, assistant to the Dean of Women, announces the completion of the third volume of the co-ed scrap book. This volume contains all the social and school activities of the women during the long session of 1921-22 and has been carefully collected and arranged by Miss Bewley.

The co-ed Scrap Book is kept on file in the Dean of Women's office as a reference book. It is of value not only to the Dean of Women but also to the faculty and the students who wish to look up back records of sports, society, grades, etc. Miss Bewley invites anyone who wishes to look up such records to come to her office and make use of the Scrap Book.

The 1921-22 Scrap Book has been made especially attractive by the tastefully decorated cover, designed and painted by Marion Hord, a student in the School of Architecture. At the top of the cover is painted the staff, notes, and words of the first line of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You." In the center of the cover is the date and number of the volume. The cover design will be used on the complete volume when it is bound.

First Dance for Second Term Held At Women's Gym

About sixty couples were present at the first All-University dance of the second term of summer school held at the Woman's Gymnasium last night. Music was furnished by the Moonshiners' Orchestra.

The dance was chaperoned by Miss Lulu M. Bewley, dean of women for the second term of summer school, Miss Gertrude Wroe, Mrs. W. D. Twitchell, Mrs. E. L. Faulkner, and Judge and Mrs. W. A. Rhea.

The dances will be continued each Saturday night. Admission is twenty-five cents and an identification card must be presented at the door.

EXTENSION SCHOOL GIVES NEW COURSES

Beginning next year the Business Administration Extension schools will adopt a new plan whereby students may attend school two terms out of the four that make up the whole year. During the other two terms students may obtain work along the lines of their studies.

Courses to be offered are: a two year course in accounting, one year course in business law and economics, and a course in psychology. Extension schools will be located at Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, and Austin. M. W. McLendon will be in charge of the school at Houston, the one at San Antonio will be under the supervision of John H. Shields, the one at Fort Worth under B. S. Mothershead and for the one in Austin assignments will be made later.

UNIVERSITY EXPENSES LIST NOW COMPLETED

Budget Ready to Be Presented to Legislature for Approval

According to budget estimates just completed and submitted to the legislature by the University, $1,845,002 will be needed for each of the two school terms beginning in September for maintaining the University. The estimate includes salaries and maintenance funds for the Main University, for the Medical branch at Galveston, and for the School of Mines at El Paso, for each of the two years.

Substantial increases in appropriations are asked by College of Industrial Arts at Denton, and by other State institutions of higher learning. The list of expenses for the Normal schools is as yet incomplete, but will be completed within a few days. There will be proposed to the next Legislature, in addition to the increased budget already compiled a comprehensive building program for all of the State institutions of learning except the Main University, whose building expenses are expected to come out of the available school fund of the State.

The salary basis of 1920-21 which was greatly reduced by the legislature last summer, is restored in the budget estimates of the University. These increases over the present salaries will include both the Medical Branch and the School of Mines, due to the large number of students attending the present summer schools.

Ten Austin Artists Show Much Interest in Fair Art Exhibit

Ten Austin artists have made known their intentions to place exhibitions of their work in the art division of the Central Texas Fair to be held here October 16 to 21, states W. E. Long, secretary of the chamber of commerce and supervisor of the fair.

The art exhibit to be shown in connection with the fair is expected to be one of the most complete and interesting ones that have been here for several years. It is said that Austin has more accomplished and experienced artists than any other city in the state and with the production of these and other artists over the state the fair visitors are promised an interesting exhibit.

Organizers of the fair are now at work appointing a committee to have charge of the art section of the fair. Several members of the committee have already been selected and it is expected that the committee will be complete within the next few days.

TIME LENGTHENED ON ESTES PARK CONTEST

The time for turning in songs in the Estes Park song contest has been extended until noon, August the tenth. The theme is to be inspirational, on any subject. The music turned in with the song need not be original, but the words must be. The local chapter of the Y. W. C. A. is offering a prize, and it is expected to be something well worth working for.

AMERICANS TO ALLOW POST SEASON GAMES

The American League Club owners at a recent meeting in Chicago voted to remove the ban prohibiting players from participating in post-season exhibition games, provided they first secured the permission of the club presidents and also of K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

Players will not be allowed to participate in exhibition games after October 31. Not more than three players from any one club can play on any single team in an exhibition game.

This will make it possible for players like Babe Ruth to play in exhibition games and not be suspended at the beginning of the League season. The National Club owners will probably make a similar ruling.

SHAKESPEARE'S PLAY, "MACBETH," IS SHOWN TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Play Is Well Received by Summer School Students

Yesterday evening at 8 p. m. a large crowd saw the motion picture presentation of Macbeth. This picture was brought here under a special arrangement of the entertainment committee of the summer session. Before the pictures were shown, Dr. Law, of the English, faculty made a brief talk. He began by speaking of the plot of the play. During the course of his talk, Dr. Law gave such points as would better enable the spectators to understand the situations and characters.

This drama is generally considered to be the greatest of its kind, and the chief actor is said to be the foremost Shakespearean actor of the day.

The picture brought out very vividly the chief points as they are given in the original. At first there was a strong king who was very popular with his subjects who was ruled by a desire for more power and by evil ambitions. The play deals with his gradual downfall caused by his yielding to these passions. However, in his last hours, the qualities of manhood returned to him and at the end his death was very pathetic.

The cast of characters in this production was excellent. Every one of the principal ones is a specialist in Shakespearean acting. Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, especially, deserves comment. His acting of the part of Macbeth was exceptionally clever.

Due to the fact that the pictures for the lay were taken in Scotland, the presentation was doubly realistic. The picture carried one back to the days of ancient Scotland. The picturesque Scottish Highlands, the highland feuds, and the customs of the day were all impressed on the spectator.

BIRDWELL TO RETIRE FROM TEXAS NORMAL

A. W. Birdwell will retire from the Southwest Texas Normal college faculty to take the chair of president of the new state normal school at Nacogdoches. For the past ten years, Mr. Birdwell has been head of the department of history. When the normal became a college he was elected dean of the faculty and remained in that position until he announced that he would retire. Mr. Birdwell has been prominent in church circles and all civic organizations and his departure from San Marcos is a loss to the school.

Prof. M. L. Arnold, who has been a member of the faculty since 1912, will succeed Mr. Birdwell as head of the department of history. Dr. Alfred H. Nolle, a member of the faculty since 1919, as head of the department of modern language, will succeed Mr. Birdwell as dean of the faculty.

CABINS MAINTAINED FOR GIRLS' PLEASURE

Oak Lodge and Mammy cabin, cabins maintained by the Women's Physical Training Department, are open for week-end parties. As many girls as wish may go, but no parties of less than three. An cooking utensils and beds are furnished, the girls carry only their food. Any who pay the salt and pepper fee of twenty five cents may go. Hand in lists from one until twelve o'clock at the Physical Training office. Chaperones will be approved by the Physical Training Department.

YOUNG WIFE UMPIRES HUSBAND'S PITCHING

The umpire question has been solved. In a recent game in the Belton Civic League, the umpire was Mrs. Paul Baker, a young lady 19 years of age. And what is more, she called a good game. It goes without saying that there was no fault finding, even from her husband who was pitching for one team or from her brother on the other team. And the spectators were satisfied too.

HIGH COMMISSIONER OF COLLEGE SPORTS

Recognizing the immediate problem concerning the colleges in the growth of professionalism in athletics, the "Big Ten" universities have established the post of commissioner of Western Intercollegiate Athletics. The athletic authorities in that conference are following the lead of the movies and professional baseball in appointing a commissioner who shall be charged with the duty of enforcing rules of fair-play and promoting a better spirit in intercollegiate competition. Major John L. Griffith, an all-around athlete, head of physical training activities of the United States Army during the war, and recently a member of the University of Illinois coaching staff, has accepted the appointment to serve as the first commissioner.

The creation of the post of commissioner of intercollegiate athletics puts into effect in the Western Conference a plan unparalleled in any other conference. As the plan is being initiated and supported by the athletic directors of the "Big Ten" institutions, its success seems assured. The new official will be charged with conducting an educational campaign looking toward the development of better sportsmanship, belief in the amateur law and understanding of the values of competitive athletics. He will study athletic problems of the various Western Conference universities, assist in enforcing the eligibility rules, and take the initiative in fostering relations among students and alumni of the institutions.

The Western Conference authorities are correct in their diagnosis of the danger threatening intercollegiate athletics: the growth of professionalism in college sports with the consequent breaking down of the amateur standing and the introduction of commercialism as the dominating factor in college competition. Professionalism has already displaced college baseball from its former importance and that same malignant influence is now rapidly encroaching on intercollegiate football and basketball. In the staging of great intersectional contests which are so popular at present there should be some influence to see that commercialism does not overthrow the values of competition. The growth of intercollegiate sports requires the active attention of a trained man in each conference who will have the authority to enforce impartially the rules of eligibility and the regulations to secure fair-play and better sportsmanship.

As Commissioner Hays of the movies and Commissioner Landis of professional baseball are fighting for higher standards in amusements and sports, so Commissioner Griffith now enters the lists in behalf of better standards of sportsmanship and competition in intercollegiate athletics. Each has a difficult task to perform, but a great goal in view. The experiment initiated in the Western Collegiate Conference by the appointment of Commissioner Griffith will be watched with interest by other universities whose athletics are facing the same dangers as those of the "Big Ten" institutions. An official of this character, properly functioning, should do much for the betterment of sports, and may offer the solution for many of the dire problems now facing intercollegiate athletics.

DUNDEE DEFEATS KOSTER

Johnny Dundee of New York, junior lightweight champion, out-pointed "Kid" Koster of Galveston in Houston last night in a twelve-round bout. This decision is based on the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside. It was an unusually slow bout.

TEXAS ENTERS TOURNEY

Texas to Be Represented in Southwestern Tennis Tournament

The University of Texas will be represented by some unusually strong teams in both singles and doubles in the annual Southwestern Tennis Tournament which begins in Dallas, Monday July 31. Dr. Penick thinks that the chances are very favorable for the championships in both singles and doubles.

In doubles there will be three unusually strong teams. Chile Granger of Austin and Sellers Thomas of Houston, state doubles champions of last year will be strong contenders for the Southwestern Championship. Lewis White of Austin and "Red" Thalheimer of Dallas will make another strong pair. This is fortunate for the University because these two men will probably represent the University in next year's National. Another strong team will be McNeil Drumwright of Teague and Charles Willis of Tyler. Drumwright will be remembered as Granger's partner for two years in the National. He also defeated Davis of California last year and is one of best players that the University has ever turned out.

The singles representatives will be Marshall Bell, Fritz Daniel, and Gillespie Stacy of Austin. These men are all experienced players and will make a strong contention for the Southwestern Singles championship.

BARTLETT TEAM TO MEET LEGION NINE

Fast Game Is Expected When Bartlett and Fast Legion Team Meet Sunday

Bartlett and the Austin American Legion team will play at Lake Austin, Sunday. From all reports this will be a stiff game.

No announcement has been made as to the Bartlett battery, but Cagle, Hagler, or Stokes will start on the mound, with Hudspeth behind the plate. Hagler is the Bartlett ace and has a deceptive delivery. Cagle is no newcomer on the local lot. He is a classy performer in all departments of the game. He is also the pilot of the Bartlett aggregation.

There is a merry fight for places on the Warrior team, due to hitting slumps. Henninger, Whitlock, and Smith will probably handle the outfield. In the infield, Falk is a fixture at first, Henderson has a regular position, Ecklund's work at short has been phenomenal, Hines, Whitworth, and Severn will fight, it out among themselves for a position in the infield. Whitworth's hitting will probably give him a position in the infield or outfield.

The Legion battery is uncertain as yet. Henderson will probably catch. It is Clements turn for mound duty but his choice is uncertain as yet.

Bartlett's probable line-up is: Hudspeth, c; Hagler, Cagle, or Stokes, p; Whitworth, 1b; Kair, 2b; Harlan, 3rd; Roberts, ss; Charles, lf; Kendrick, cf; Loughlin, rf.

Kendricks is a former A. & M. player.
