

BREAKS HELP VANDY WIN FROM LONGHORNS, 14-6

BIG RALLY TODAY AT STATION FOR STEERS LIGHTER TEXAS ELEVEN

STUDENTS WILL MEET LONGHORNS AT TRAIN 8:30 P.M.

Campus Organizations State That They Will Turn Out 100 Per Cent

BAND LEADS PROCESSION

Arouse Enthusiasm for Future Games and Show Team Texas Spirit

Everybody will be there to welcome that fighting team of Texas Longhorns with regular "Yea, Texas!" enthusiasm when the Longhorn Special, bearing Doc Stewart's spirited gridsters who invaded Nashville Saturday, pulls into the station at 8:30 here tonight.

Everybody, led by music from the Freshman Band, will assemble at the depot at 8 p. m. to give the homecoming Steers a rousing welcome, according to information received by The Daily Texan from every campus organization Saturday night.

Members of the Freshman Band will gather first at the Woman's Gym at 7:30 p. m. to start the southward march to town, according to C. L. Herrman, manager.

Freshmen will gather at the depot at 8 p. m. They will be joined by the Orange Jackets, headed by Ruth McMillan, members of the Woman's Athletic Association, and many members of other campus organizations who signified their intention of attendance. B. Hall is coming out in full force.

"Let's test that old Texas spirit," said Bill Rippey, Varsity yell leader, in a telegram to The Daily Texan Saturday night in which he applauded the student body for its support of the team in this way.

"Fellows, you will be sorry to miss this," C. A. Pickett, assistant yell leader, said. "Every man in the University will be sorry if he fails to help welcome that team at the depot at 8:30 tonight. Especially must the class of '9 show that it is 100 per cent back of the team. But old students can present the freshmen with a good example by being present also when the Longhorn Special rolls in."

"We are coming one hundred per cent strong to meet that team," Pete Oliver and Albert Tabb of the B. Hall Association said.

STRATON WINS MATH CONTEST

Dechard and McMahon Tie for Second Prize in Freshman Contest

Archie Straton won first place and Loraine Dechard and Lloyd McMahon tied for second in the contest held for freshmen competing for the Brown mathematical prize Saturday afternoon. To the winner goes a prize of $15, and the second and third prizes of $10 and $5, will be divided between the two students tied for second place. These students are requested to see Dr. J. H. Ettlinger Monday at his office.

About fifty freshmen took part in the examination, which consisted of four problems, two in algebra and two in plane geometry. The $30 prize was offered from a fund provided by an alumnus of Brown University, who also provided for a prize examination in calculus to be given annually and to be open to those taking the first course in math. The exam held Saturday was open to all bona fide freshmen taking Pure Mathematics 1.

JOBS FOR 244 MEN

A total of 244 men of the University were given employment through the Y. M. C. A. bureau during the school year of 1924-1925, according to the annual report of Block Smith, secretary, issued last September 1.

Junior-Senior Tea for Freshman Girls Wednesday, 4 to 6

The junior girls in conjunction with the seniors will entertain with a tea in honor of the freshmen from 1 to 6 Wednesday afternoon in the Girls Study Hall.

Miss Ione Spears, Mrs. Bell, Miss Lula Bewley, and Miss Ruby Terrill, the dean of women, together with the officers of the junior and senior classes will be in the receiving line. The junior and senior cabinets will assist in entertaining. All freshmen girls are invited to be present.

Present Day Club Will Meet Tuesday

At the next meeting of the Present Day Club, to be held Tuesday, October 13, at 1 p. m. in the Cafeteria, applications for membership will be considered, according to the president, Helen Boyson.

According to Dorothy Nell Whaley, vice president, the program for the luncheon will include two talks: One by Irene Kehoe, on the American civil service, principally the air mail and passenger service; the other by Margaret Bates, on the American army and navy preparedness.

RELIGIOUS BOOKS IN LIB

Howard Doolittle, chairman of the literature committee of the Y. M. C. A., has announced that he plans to have available to students many new books of a religious nature in the circulating library this year. Among the books now being read by many University students are: "Men, Women, and God," by Gray; "Twelve Tests of Character," by Fosdick; and "Confronting Young Men With the Living Christ," by Mott.

TEXAN ONLY AUSTIN PAPER TO PRINT FULL, ACCURATE REPORT OF VANDY BATTLE

One minute 42 seconds after the last play of the Vanderbilt game had been announced at the Co-Op, the Daily Texan's full play-by-play extra was distributed to University students and later to news stands. The Texan was the first paper in Austin to issue a full report with the correct starting line-ups. The Texan also ran a summary of the world series baseball game.

STUDENT QUOTA OF BUDGET SOUGHT

150 Workers Will Meet at Supper in "Y" Building Monday Night

The University Young Men's Christian Association starts its annual finance drive Monday evening, October 12, at 6 o'clock with a supper served in the association building for the 150 workers who will work on the 40 teams that are to canvass the men students of the University. Leaders of the campaign have set $4000 as the amount to be raised from students as their share of the budget for 1925-26.

At the beginning of the fall term each year the "Y" makes a drive for funds to cover the budget which this year is $17,545.00. It is to raise the student quota of the budget that this initial drive is put on.

The local association is supported almost entirely by voluntary contributions from students, faculty, alumni, and friends of the University. The privileges and services of the "Y" are open to all men students of the University alike, and its program is distinctly interdenominational in character. The "Y" fills a need that could hardly be cared for by any other organization on or about the campus of either a religious or secular nature.

Cowboy Foreman. This year the finance drive is headed by Claude Voyles, a member of the cabinet and an active "Y" worker as well as foreman of the Texas Cowboys. Texas students will respond in a great way to the appeal of the "Y" for funds, according to Voyles, who says, "when Texas men are called on to deliver in a football game or in a finance drive—they never fail."

Dean Chief Speaker at Regular Meeting of Literary Society

L. H. Hubbard, dean of students and former member of the Athenaeum Literary Society, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the society Tuesday, October 13, at 7:30 in the Law Building. Dean Hubbard, during his years at the University as a student, participated in all activities of the society, and his speech is expected to be of especial interest to member of the society.

Clinton Holt will speak on "The Work of Athenaeum," Arthur Bagley will talk on "Freshman Ambitions"; Bascom Nelson will give the weekly bit of advice to freshmen, the subject of his talk being "The Proper Diet for Political Campaigning—A Problem of Dietetics." The return of the Wroe cup, won by Athenaeum three successive years and now in the permanent possession of the society, to the public speaking council will be one of the important matters of business which will be discussed at the meeting Tuesday.

The regular Saturday morning musicale, under the auspices of the chapel committee featured Miss Leslie Ware, pianist, who rendered the first movement of Beethoven's "Appassionata Sonata" and Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song."

According to J. W. Ramsey, chairman, these weekly programs are being well attended. Dean L. H. Hubbard is in charge of next week's chapel exercises.

Capt. Stud Wright Carried Off Field After Being Injured

Captain Stud Wright, stalwart field general, never gave up in the game played Saturday against Vanderbilt and led his Orange and White team to fighting, outplaying victory, although the score was 14 to 6 in favor of Dan McGugin's Commodores.

LONGHORN STORY WILL GET PRIZE

T. C. McCormick Will Award $10 for Best Short Story of Term

A prize of $10 each term for the best short story appearing in The Longhorn Magazine during the term is being offered by T. C. McCormick of the Home Drug Company, according to the editor, DeWitt Reddick.

"I wish to support all student enterprises to fullest extent," said Mr. McCormick. "I have watched the ups and downs of the Longhorn Magazine with considerable interest. In the past, it seems to me, the magazine has lacked sufficient support from the students and from the friends of the University. This year I want to help it become the best magazine in the history of the school, and give something of lasting literary merit to the University."

The Home Drug Company prize will be awarded at the end of each term. It is the second prize offered for short stories appearing in The Longhorn, the first being a yearly prize of $50, made by the Texas Book Store.

Miss Terrill Will Address Sunday Club Today at 5:45 p.m.

Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women, will talk to the Sunday Club at Gregg House at 5:45 o'clock today, according to Nancy Pettus, chairman of the program committee. The subject of Miss Terrill's address has not been announced.

It has been necessary to change the hour of meeting for the Sunday Club because evening church services, formerly at 5 p. m., will be held in the future at 7:45. The Sunday Club will also begin promptly in order to finish its program before church begins.

Pianist Entertains at Chapel Musicale

The regular Saturday morning musicale, under the auspices of the chapel committee featured Miss Leslie Ware, pianist, who rendered the first movement of Beethoven's "Appassionata Sonata" and Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song."

According to J. W. Ramsey, chairman, these weekly programs are being well attended. Dean L. H. Hubbard is in charge of next week's chapel exercises.

SECOND TRYOUTS FOR CURTAIN CLUB GIVEN TOMORROW

Play and Director Will Be Selected After Election of Members

NEW SELECTIONS REQUIRED

Audience Will Be Limited to Members of Administrative Board

Final tryouts for candidates who were successful in the first tryouts for the Curtain Club Thursday night, will be held Monday night at 7 o'clock in room 312 of the Education Building.

Those candidates who were successful Thursday night will be required to choose a different selection from that given in the preliminaries.

In presenting the selections in the final tryouts, the boys may not take feminine parts, nor may the girls present masculine parts. The tryouts will be held in the presence of the administrative board of the Curtain Club. No others will be admitted to the room.

Immediately after the election of the new members, the club will take up the discussion of a play to be presented soon. As soon as the play is selected, a director will be decided upon and the work of casting begun. Rehearsals for the first play will begin soon.

Sigma Delta Chi to Elect Officers at Monday Meeting

The local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, will hold an important meeting on Monday afternoon at 4:30 in room 157 of the Main Building.

The purpose of the meeting will be the election of officers for the coming year, including a president to take the place of Howard Marshall, the former president. Marshall is now working with an oil publication in Chicago. The meeting will also take up the question of the pledging of new members.

JOURNALISTIC STUDENTS MEET

A meeting of all students taking courses in journalism will be on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in M.B. 159. A short talk on the subject of journalism in the University will be given by John M. Sammons, and several officers will be elected.

OUTPLAYS VANDY TEAM UNTIL FOURTH QUARTER

Dudley Stadium, Nashville, Oct. 10.—A light, staunch, fighting Longhorn line that repelled charge after charge of the celebrated Vanderbilt forward wall and plunge after plunge of the famous Commodore backs, could not, assisted only by the marvelous line plunging of Big Rufus King in the Texas backfield, stave off defeat for more than three periods of the game, so that Vanderbilt defeated Texas today, 14-6.

PRESIDENTS MUST TURN IN NAMES

List of Organizations Heads Necessary for University Directory

Twenty-five names of presidents of campus organizations have been turned into the Registrar's office for the directory. It is important that names of others be turned in as soon as possible in order that work on the directory will not be delayed, according to Rupert Fowler, catalogist.

The names of presidents of the following organizations and of any new organizations should be submitted at once: American Society of Civil Engineers, Athenaeum, Beta Gamma Sigma, Cap and Gown, Chancellors, Chemistry Club, Daughters of American Revolution, Girls' Rifle Club, Graduate Club, Graduate History Club, Hoeg Debating Club, Home Economics Club, Mu Phi Epsilon, Newman Club, Orchestras, Pi Epsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Ramshorn, Sigma Delta Chi, Tau Beta Pi, Texas Cowboys, Texas Outing Club, Theta Sigma Phi, Turtle Club, Men's Glee Club, University Scandinavian society.

Pearce Lectures on Primitive Religions

A discussion of the religions of primitive peoples will be given this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Congregational church, West Twenty-third and San Antonio streets, by Prof. J. E. Pearce, of the department of anthropology.

This is the first of a series of lectures to be given by members of the faculty of the University on the religions of the world, and is being sponsored by the Fellowship Club of the Congregational church.

F. McCONNELL HEADS SOPHS.

Frances McConnell of Jacksboro was made president of the sophomore girls at a meeting held this week. Other officers elected at the meeting are: Vice-president, Bertha Black; secretary, Frances Foster.

FOLKS, MEET HAROLD

Had fate been even slightly kind to Texas the Orange and White would have victorious tonight instead of the Black of Vanderbilt. For Doc Stewart's proteges outplayed the pride of the South on their own grounds for a full three quarters of the game and lost only in the last period when for the second time a blocked punt proved costly to the Longhorns as Thompson, who recovered, was downed behind his own goal line for a safety. To a 8-6 margin Vanderbilt added a touchdown, scored by passing through a tired, valiant Texas eleven, in the last seconds of play.

McKibbin Hero. Tonight all Nashville, shivering between halves for fear that Doc Stewart's powerful invaders would administer the first defeat to Vandy, is proclaiming Jess McKibbin a hero. For it was the big tackle who recovered Wright's fumble of Spear's punt in the second quarter and dashed 20 yards for the first score of the game. It was the big tackle who blocked the Texas punt in the fourth quarter for the safety that proved a winning margin. It was the big tackle who bore much of the brunt of Commodore punting, his spirals going high and far, with never the danger of a block, to keep the pigskin away from the Vanderbilt goal.

Rufus King Stars. But equal with McKibbin as a hero is Rufus King of Austin, playing a whale of a game on the defensive and scoring the only Texas touchdown almost singlehanded. The Longhorn aerial attack failed to materialize except for a few short gains. It was the big plunging fullback, rising to the occasion like his predecessor, Oscar Eckhardt, did at Dallas three years ago against the Commodores of old, that gave Texas their only touchdown and a chance to win the game.

Heinie Stops 'Em. Defensively Heinie Pfannkuche starred for the Longhorns. The center on offense and end on the defense stopped the celebrated Gil Reese early in the first quarter and threw the Vanderbilt ace for a 5-yard loss when the Commodores were but three yards from a touchdown with fourth down and goal to go. He seemed to possess an uncanny sixth sense for divining plays and time and again threw Reese or Spears, his stellar halfback mate, for a loss.

For that matter the whole Texas eleven and particularly the line, gained lasting glory. Lingered memories of the last Texas eleven to come to Nashville about 20 years ago, and that was smothered by almost 50 to 0, were forgotten this afternoon, wiped out by the Longfight. But what can any team do, despite its fight and innate defensive strength against another eleven with as much luck as any team could have and a great pair of punters?

Texas wins toss and chose to defend north goal. Teams go on field. McKibbin will kick for Vanderbilt. McKibbin kicked over goal line. Touchback ball on Texas' 20-yard line. Rufus King through center for four yards. Second down, six yards to go. Wright kicks to Reese on Vandy's 20-yard line. Vandy gains 7 yards around right end.

Ball forced out of bounds. Spears over left guard for three yards, second down. Reese over left guard, three yards. Third down. McKibbin kicked to Texas 35-yard line. King calls for fair catch. King through center for 3 yards. Second down, seven to go. Saxon goes 2 yards around left end. Wright punts to Reese on his 25-yard line. Reese down in tracks by Baldwin. Reese over right guard for 1 yard. Second down, 9 to go. Reese over right guard for 1 yard. Second down, 9 to go. McKibbin kicks to Wright

VANDY GAME OVER, LONGHORNS POINT TO AUBURN CLASH

'ON TO DALLAS' IS VARSITY CRY

Dallas Stadium Will See Orange Opposed by Heavier Team

With the games with Mississippi and Vanderbilt behind them, the Longhorns now head to Dallas to meet the last of three formidable Southern grid machines billed in succession on this season's amazing schedule arranged for Doc Stewart's green but promising eleven. Doc Stewart and his squad are now hurrying homeward to put in the last few days of preparation for the first appearance of the season in Dallas, when the Orange clashes with Morey's Yallerhammers of Alabama Polytechnic from Auburn next Saturday, October 17, at Fair Park Stadium.

"On to Dallas" has replaced "On to Nashville" on the campus, and this time it will be the major portion of the student body that accompanies the squad along with the full band and Cowboy organizations instead of only the latter and a few enthusiastic alumni able to make the long trip.

North Texas fans will see two powerful teams in action at Dallas. They will see Stewart's Longhorns, a team that, while possibly still showing the customary ragged edges of October play, has just about fought through a stiff card to season form—a small, but effective squad of real material combining power and speed—more speed than any eleven the man who produced an unbeaten team in his first year at Texas has ever had at his command. They will see in Saxton and Pfannkuche two of the greatest defensive players of the section. In Estes, Stallter, Rufus King, and Saxon, a versatile running, plunging, passing, and kicking threat back of a green but powerful, improving line is a greater potential offensive power than Texas flashed even in 1923, will be seen.

They will see in Auburn a veteran team, with eleven men on the roster who played under Morey last year—a medium heavy backfield, a powerful forward wall. Barring uncertainty of a new field general, experience is with this finely trained team. Light ends, a fairly heavy backfield, a line where weight and speed seem to be admirably mixed—that is Auburn.

Both teams will reach Dallas in time to get a work-out on the stadium field preceding the game.

Tickets for the Texas-Auburn battle will be on sale at Austin through Wednesday of next week and at Dallas at the Adolphus Pharmacy during the entire week.

'Y' HAS REQUEST FOR SODA JERK OR CAT BURIER

Requests for boys to work on jobs ranging from soda clerks to boiler-makers or from musicians to saxophone players have been received by the "Y" since the employment bureau was established in dim days before anti-hazing, but the latest surprise came last week when an amateur undertaker was ordered by a feminine voice over the telephone. She wanted a cat buried.

"I want to make a funny request," she said when Miss Edleen Beggs answered the phone. "My husband is out of town, and I think there is a dead cat in the basement. Can you send a boy to get it out and bury it?"

The boy was sent and the cat was buried with honors in the back yard of the residence. Miss Beggs and the other secretaries at the "Y" have ceased to be surprised at any request received.

Rusk Revives Old Custom; Will Hold Meets on Saturday

A time-honored custom of the oldest debating society on the campus was revived Saturday night when the Rusk Debating Society changed its meeting night from Tuesday to Saturday night.

his question is an old one in Rusk history, it was learned at the meeting from Morris Wise, president. The Tuesday night change was made last year when basket ball games dwindled the membership of Rusk, declared the president.

From now on the Rusk Society will meet for debate and public speaking every Saturday night at 7 o'clock.

DISCH REPORTS THRILLS IN WORLD SERIES

Thrilling plays and intense moments in the World Series games were hinted in the telegram received by The Daily Texan from Coach Billy Disch, who is East seeing all the games played by Washington and Philadelphia.

The telegram stated: "Weather dreadfully cold game time. President arrives, hats off. Boys sing national anthem, 'Taps,' and 'Nearer My God to Thee.' Washington paying respects in honor of baseball's idol, Christy Mathewson. Play ball. Game full of thrills and tense situations. No place for weak hearts. Oh, boy, what fielding stunts and what a terrific drive by Goslin for a homer. Game saved by Rice's wonderful one-handed catch as he jumped into the bleacher fence. Carey pulled smart play. Many thrilling features. Bet we beat Vanderbilt.—W. J. Disch."

Sewanee Crew Fails to Display Winning Punch; Tie Aggies 6-6

By Universal Service.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 11.—The Tigers of Sewanee tonight were a disappointed crew of football players, with Texas A. & M. Farmers wending their way back to their homes at College Station joyfully, after holding the invading hordes to a 6 to 6 draw in Fair Park Stadium here this afternoon.

Completely outplayed from every angle, the Aggies rose to supreme glory in the shadow of their own goal posts and stayed off the onrushing Tiger attack with a do-or-die spirit time and again.

The great punting of Capt. Fay Wilson was the feature for the Aggies, his matchless toe putting the Tigers back into their own territory after drives in the Texas sector on many occasions. Dusty Berry, Aggie mainstay, stood out with his deadly tackling.

For Sewanee, Mahoney, the driving ball carrier, was the brilliant luminary. Mahoney was in on every lateral pass play used by Sewanee and this effort netted the Tigers most of their gains. It was a beautifully executed play that the Texans were completely at loss to fathom.

Football Trophy for High Schools Now at League Headquarters

A silver football, the trophy offered annually to the football champions of the University of Texas Intercollegiate League by an engraving company of Fort Worth through Roy J. Beard, has been received and is now on display at the league headquarters, according to Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the organization.

The award becomes the possession of the winning team. Schools which have already won such a trophy are Waco, Abilene, and Oak Cliff (Dallas).

Y. W. C. A. SEEKS MORE MEMBERS

Girls Asked to Join at Table in Main Building Corridor

The Y. W. C. A. inaugurates membership week Monday, October 12. About 25 girls have voluntarily signed for some special work of the Y. W. C. A. and Monday there will be a table in the hall of the Main Building where all girls interested in Y. W. C. A. work are asked to sign the membership cards and discuss the particular phase of the work in which they are interested.

Opportunities may be had for service in almost any line. Anyone wishing work in social service should see Lenora Curry or Virginia Taber; membership, Ruth Mantor; social, Ann Marshall; Bible discussions, Grace Oldfather; publicity, Ruth Allred; finance, Rosemary Walling; program, Natalie Gates; music, Lillian Augsburg; world fellowship, Mohling Ma; practical needs, Rachel Summers.

Recognition services for all new members will be held at Vespers on Monday, October 19.

ENGINEERS MEET MONDAY.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers will meet Monday night, October 12, at 7 o'clock in Power Building 209. W. B. Preston will talk on the "Sulphur Industry." The regular business meeting will also be held.

St. Edwards Defeats Aggies in Stadium

St. Edwards University's light grid machine came into its own yesterday afternoon, when Coach Jack Meagher's squad turned in an 18-0 victory over the North Texas Aggies from Arlington on the Stadium field.

While the St. Eds line was never in danger, the Little Aggies put up a defensive style of play that kept the Catholics from piling up a heavy score.

TICKETS FOR AUBURN GAME SELLING FAST

From early indications the much heralded Auburn game, scheduled for Saturday, October 17, in Dallas, is to be the most popular game of the season to date. From reports of the ticket sales in Dallas, it is expected that the Fair Park stadium, which seats 13,000, will be filled to its capacity.

MEET THOSE FIGHTING LONGHORNS!

Saxon chroniclers narrating the many defeats suffered by the warriors of Alfred the Great at the hands of the Danes invariably ended their reports with the seeming paradox: "The Danes took the battlefield; but the Saxons won the victory."

There is no solemn nonsense in this. It is not even paradoxical. Those old Saxon chroniclers had a sense of the sporting instinct in the blood of our race. They saw the distinction between the decision of battle and the unbeaten spirit of an army compelled to abandon the battlefield. Texans should understand this. Mexico took the Alamo; but Texas won the victory.

In the last four days our Varsity squad travelled 1200 miles and played a game on a foreign field. They left the field in possession of their opponents. But no Texan need be ashamed of the fight they fought.

As Napoleon once said, "God is on the side of the biggest battalions." Our football coaches insist that God is on the side of the team with the huskiest line and the heaviest backs. Such was the case yesterday.

But, like the old Saxon chroniclers, can we write down that Texas won the victory? This depends entirely upon the student body. The team will arrive in Austin at 8:30 this evening. If the student body is willing to accept the decision at Nashville as a defeat, if it is willing to admit surrender to circumstances and let it be said that Vanderbilt not only outmatched the Longhorn team, but triumphed over the Longhorn spirit, it will go about its business this evening and the team will pull into a deserted station.

But if the student body is determined to show the team that every student knows that every player did his best in fighting a splendid fight unsupported on a foreign field, there will be such a demonstration tonight that the shouts of welcome will echo through the streets of Austin like the roar of a mountain torrent thundering through its gorge.

The team has done its bit. Now let the students show that they can do theirs, too.

Turn out and meet the team! Give them the royal welcome they deserve!

OUR RESERVED READING ROOM

Of all the quiet, attractive places to study, the room in which the reserve books are kept is the best. Professors, realizing this fact, are kind enough to make many assignments. A fine situation, to be sure.

Perhaps the most soothing sound in the world is that of French heels trotting across the uncarpeted floor. Add to this the faint murmuring conversation on the enlightening subjects of dates for the German, the price of cheese, etc., and the location cannot be excelled.

In the meantime and in between time the lighting is super-fine. Especially in the afternoon when the sun pours in through unshaded windows are the eyes rested. Bright light is never offensive, of course.

Another point in favor of the reserve reading room is its exclusiveness. Due to the comparatively small number of tables and chairs, one does not have to mix in with a large crowd. Standing up is a pleasant pastime, too.

Taking all such things into consideration, the University is to be congratulated upon its reserved reserve reading room.—J. S.

STADIUM PAYMENTS

With the same loyal spirit that prompted them to pledge more than $200,000 to the Texas Memorial Stadium, the students have been coming around to the stadium office and making their payments regularly.

While the directors have no complaint whatever in regard to the way the students have paid their pledges, they would like to call the attention of those few who are delinquent that the building of the Stadium was financed on borrowed money, and that if students pay their pledges promptly, a great deal will be saved in interest on the borrowed money.

Only a very limited number of those who pledged have to date been delinquent in their payment, but these should pay up in order that the Association will not be forced to pay interest on borrowed funds instead of putting everything back into the Stadium.

The Association reports that already more than $271,000 has been received at headquarters in pledges from the hundreds of loyal Varsity men and women who gave that the University would have a fitting memorial to the Texas men who gave their lives in the World War.

The Association suggests that those students who are unable to pay their pledges in full come around to the Stadium office and make arrangements to pay on a monthly basis. A small amount paid each month on a $50 card will soon take care of the pledge.

Payment of the large amount of pledges is direct proof that the student's pledge did mean something, and refutes without a doubt the word passed by critics that students would not meet their Stadium obligations. But it should be made unanimous, with every man and woman paying his pledge.

Book Reviews

The critical spirit receives singular discouragement in the first four line stanza of "Odes From the Divan of Hafiz" by Richard Le Gallienne.

"Song such as this hath need of no man's praise."

Beauty like this can be concealed from none.

Why should I hold a candle to the rays

Of such a sun?"

It would require a measure of temper to proceed against such a statement of disarming artlessness.

Richard Le Gallienne undoubtedly accomplishes his avowed intention of anglicizing the Mohammedan Hafiz in the worst way. With the exception of theme there is little reminder of the Persian attitude in the entire volume. The metrical system of the poet has been laid aside by the paraphraser for a lyrical arrangement more attuned to the occidental ear, according to Mr. Le Gallienne's conception. Perhaps he is correct but there is some charm in the purely oriental.

Le Gallienne's version has an easy grace along with distinctly poetic characteristics. With the exception of a few lapses it makes good reading. Hafiz himself had an intimate manner and a warm humanity which fit in more or less with personal spirit of the English poet. He is slightly more material than his worn and weary country man Omar, and is given to fuller description of his epicurean delights.

While Mr. Le Gallienne has a tendency to lapse into the sentimental, he has an aptitude at words.

"O you embroidered robe of my young days
How fast your silken pattern fades and frays."

There is a similarity about many of his images, but perhaps Hafiz is to blame.

The volume which is a reprint is nobly bound and has a fine gold jacket.—M. C.

Br-r-r and a few shivers! Have you ever, friend reader, tried to sit in some cold, well ventilated room.

"When the winter sleets with icy hands
Taps loud on the panes of glass
And the cabin's corners are viol strands

To the wailing winds that pass—and try to write a column? It is Friday night, and no fire, and the afternoon newspaper chatters from the floor its shrill headline prediction of frost. Shivers are shaking themselves on the backbone, loosening up after a summer slumber, and I'm dreaming of those boys on their way to Vandy, wearing summer suits to face a north wind. My fingers are stiff and won't respond to the keys, but the column is there before me, like a white desert over which must be spread some sort of a harvest—perhaps corn. Won't some one kindly step out and irrigate it with thoughts

That quotation above, by the way, is from a recently published book of poems by an Illinois youth which is winning him a certain recognition in that part of the country. He is still unknown, and this first edition, sent me by the artist friend who decorated it, is only fifty pages. But the significant part of this little book is the fact that its author is but 20 years old.

A century ago few writers were recognized before they reached a mellow age. Hawthorne received nothing more substantial than praise and an occasional small check before he was nearly 40 years old. Irving, though writing earlier, was almost 30 when his first noteworthy work was published. Some of the greatest writers did not begin their work so early.

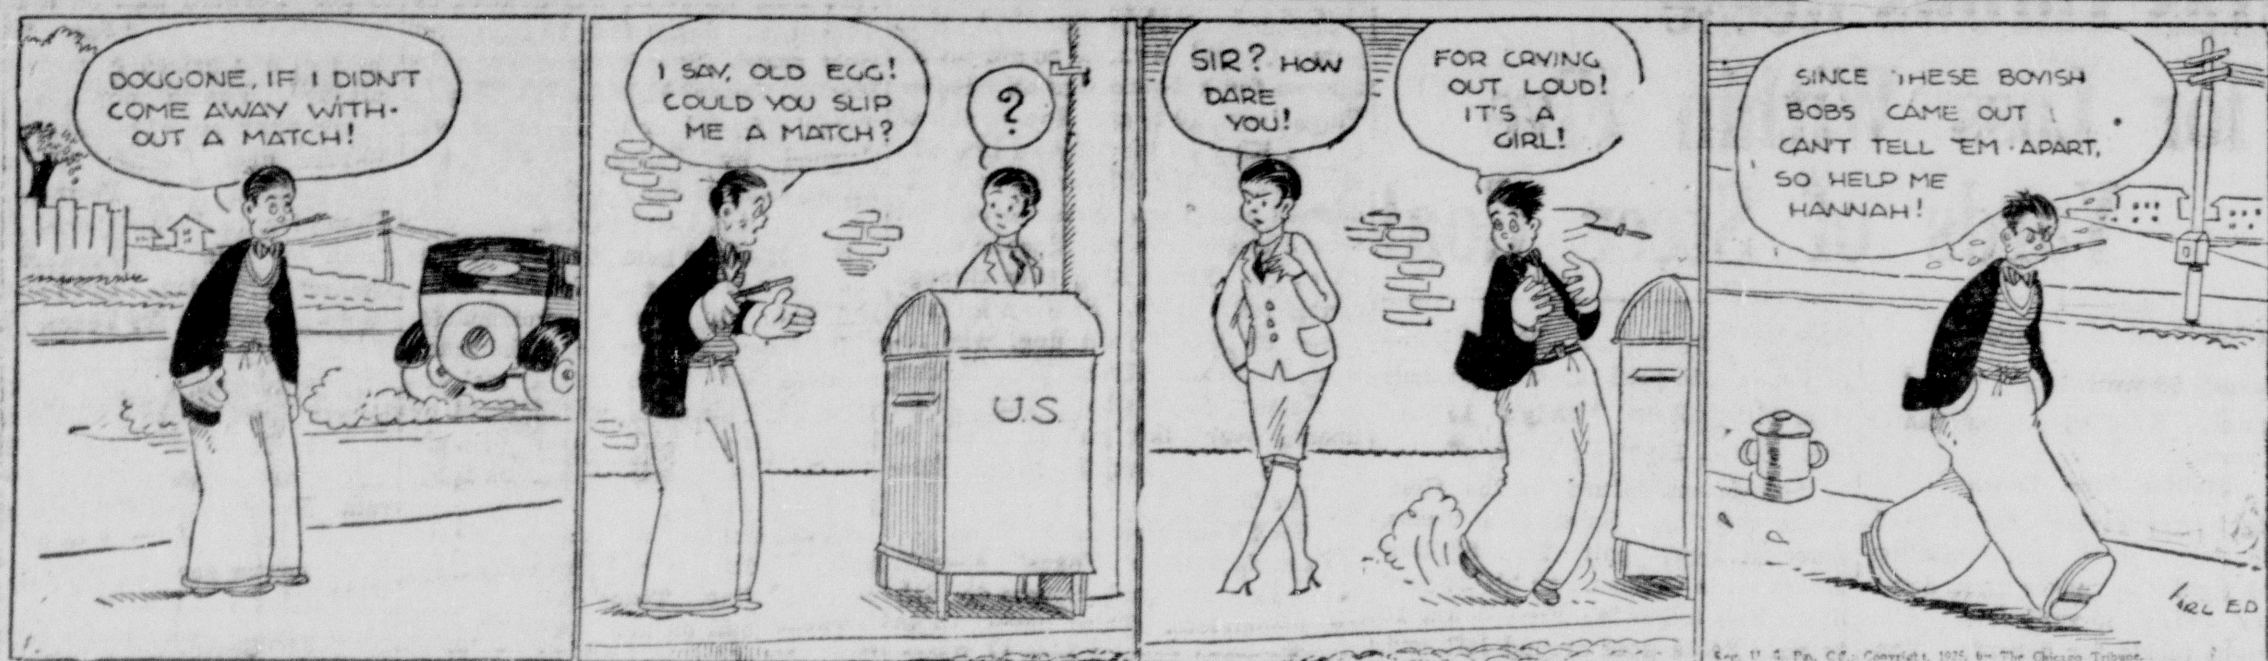

Today, due largely to our colleges and to the ever increasing magazine demand for writing, the young author is being steadily encouraged. In the future this recognition will be even more prevalent and students of journalism are preparing themselves for a field which ever is expanding before them.

The Y.M.C.A. drive for finances will begin tomorrow night, and hundreds of students will be asked to contribute their bit to the work of the organization. Most of us are accustomed to take the "Y," as we do the main building or the cafeteria, for granted. We drop in, play a game of dominoes, take a swim, or read a magazine with never a thought of who is responsible for the pleasures we enjoy, and with even less thought of our own responsibilities for the continuance of that work.

Not all can give to the "Y." Not all who can, will. But when the team calls on you this week, see if you cannot manage to forget Doug Fairbanks or a dance sometime and put a bit into one of the most worthy causes which ever asks the campus for a bit of support.

Among foolishing things which we have recently been guilty of associating with is golf. For some years we held the opinion that this was a child's game involving hitting a ball and then chasing it—a tamer variation of baseball. All you had to do was to take a peculiarly shaped bat, and with it hit a shrunk-up little ball sitting perfectly still upon a convenient pile of dirt, and then make a home run down the slope to swat it again.

After some hours spent in tearing our hair and the brush around while looking for elusive balls, we changed our opinion. We became puffed up when we made nine holes in less than ninety. We attained a speaking acquaintance with such words as mashie, niblick, bogey, and caddies. Hitting that little ball down the fairway may look easy when someone else is doing it, but it is much like writing a column, and the same invitation will apply: try it yourself some time.

Golfing last spring was one of the leading fads on the campus. In fact, it often supplanted love in the young man's thoughts. From the number of University students we saw playing last week-end, the fad may well become, in the course of the year, a well settled sport, which might be recognized in our intramural calendars.

DEAN OF WOMEN WILL MAKE RESERVATIONS TO DALLAS FOR ALL CO-EDS

All girls intending to go to Dallas October 16 to see the Texas-Auburn football game will have to make their reservations through the Dean of Women's office, according to Miss Ruby Terrill. No pullman reservations will be made at the ticket office. The co-eds are requested to make their reservations as quickly as possible.

Miss Ruby Terrill and Miss Alma Yeiser will act as chaperons on the special trains leaving for Dallas Friday night.

Girls must report to the Dean of Women's office their intention to make the trip whether they intend to go on the special train or not, explained Miss Terrill. "The girls should make arrangements with members of their family or friends for lodgings while at Dallas, as they will not be expected to stay at the hotels," she stated.

The girls will not only make reservations for the going trip but also for the returning trip. They will be given slips at the Dean of Women's office showing their reservation for the special train, and will present these slips to the ticket office before they leave.

Cambridge Cancels Debate; New Subject Sought for Tryouts

Owing to the fact that Cambridge University has been forced to cancel its debate with the University, the subject for debate tryouts will be changed. A meeting has been called by W. O. Moore, coach of debating, for all presidents of men's literary societies to meet Wednesday at 4 o'clock in room 4, V Hall, for the purpose of discussing the changing of the subject in question.

Plans for the eastern trip of the debating team are rapidly materializing, and much time will be devoted in preparation for the coming clashes with other members of the conference.

Mrs. Lefkowitz of Dallas Will Speak to Menorah Society

Mrs. David Lefkowitz of Dallas will address the meeting of the University of Texas Menorah Society Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at temple Beth-Israel, according to Irving Goldberg, president of the society.

Prior to Mrs. Lefkowitz's talk there will be a debate on the question of a hostess house. The meeting is being called at an early hour in order to allow the full program to be completed.

11 Senior Architects Prepare Art Designs in Problem Contest

Eleven senior architects in the Engineering School are now working on a problem contest of the American Beaux Arts in New York City. The problem is designing of a memorial dam and all architectural students in the United States may compete.

The design course which these seniors are taking is given under the instruction of S. C. Vosper, a practicing architect of San Antonio, who is in charge of senior design. Vosper is assisted by R. L. White, resident architect of the University.

SMITH GETS JOBS FOR STUDENTS

Has Signed More Notes Than He Can Count; Works With Y.M.C.A. in Siberia

He's the man who meets the ambitious boys and finds jobs for them, Block Smith is the man who never tells that he has signed more notes for students than he can count, and the man who knows the beginning of more successful careers during the past ten years than possibly any other man in the University of Texas.

W. A. are the initials—Block is the first name. Block Smith, the general secretary of the University of Texas Y. M. C. A., graduated from the University with a degree in civil engineering in 1913 and immediately entered the Y. M. C. A. as assistant to T. W. Curry, then general secretary. He worked as assistant until 1917, when he entered the United States army as instructor in the aviation school at Austin, specializing in machine gun warfare.

Following the armistice Smith went to Siberia as a Y. M. C. A. secretary, but upon his arrival at Vladivostok he was made director of the entire Y. M. C. A. organization in Siberia. He was decorated by the Czech government for services rendered during the post war period in Siberia, but he would never tell of his decoration, for Block is interested more in his work and giving aid to men in the University than he is in himself. Since his return to the University in 1920 as general secretary, he has constantly improved the local branch of the organization until it now ranks as one of the leading ones of the nation. Smith will serve as general head of the finance drive among men students of the University this week.

Forty-one Years As Varsity Social and Religious Center Is "Y" Record

AIDS STUDENTS IN NEW ENVIRONMENT

Organization Is as Much an Institution as Dean Taylor or Beck's Lake

Since 1884, two years after the University of Texas was established, the University Y. M. C. A. has been active in campus welfare work—encouraging homesick students, finding employment for boys, reviving lagging religious interest, and serving as a temporary guardian for boys of Texas.

In all parts of the world men who have come to the "Y" as green freshmen during the past years of its service are leading in business and the professions. In Texas students remember the "Y" as an institution just as they remember Dean Taylor, Beck's Lake, the Hancock Opera House where ham actors were given the egg accompaniment, and B. Hall, famous for Jeffersonian Democracy and the escape of the South Austin church bell which residents of the hall stole for an ornament on one of the east towers. Men who attended the "Y" meetings and worked on "Y" committees in the old days are making good while their younger brothers and sons, the new generation of Texans are receiving the same training that the present State leaders received.

Faculty Aids in Work

The "Y" was organized to meet the need of a campus organization caring for the religious and moral side of student life since the athletic side was developed from the beginning, and the educational division in the college scheme was already improving in the beginning of the University when the present "Y" was organized. Members of the faculty gave complete co-operation to the organization from the start just as they are doing at present when six professors and the president are members of the board of directors with business men of the city.

Members of the board at present are W. Mather, professor of physics, president; D. A. Penick, professor of Greek and coach of the tennis squad; T. H. Shelby, director of the division of extension; W. A. Felsing, professor of chemistry; J. B. Wha-rey, professor of English; D. C. Reed, cotton dealer; W. E. Long, secretary of the Austin Chamber of Commerce; W. T. Caswell, cotton dealer; R. H. Baker, capitalist; J. R. Reed, merchant; W. T. Williams, attorney; W. M. W. Splawn, president of the University of Texas; W. J. Battle, head of the Greek department; L. T. Bellmont, director of physical activities, and L. H. Hubbard, dean of men.

The present Y. M. C. A. building, one of the finest in the State, was opened for the use of students in 1912 after a difficult campaign for funds resulting in the erection of the edifice with money collected from students, business men of Austin, and patrons of the University throughout the State. The total cost of the building was originally $96,375, but since it was opened new equipment has been added and improvements have been made until the present estimated value of the property is $106,000.

Building Is Social Center

Reading rooms, a large auditorium where the ex-students association meets each year, chapels for discussion classes, the tiled swimming pool in the basement where the girls' swimming class, the boys' physical training class, and men of the University swim, and the lobby which is used as headquarters for homecomings on the campus are included in the building. The second and third floors of the building include the dormitory rooms.

Introducing new students to University life in the proper attitude for work is one of the principal purposes of the "Y" in its present scheme of work. The employment bureau which annually finds work for over 200 students enabling them to remain in school is another phase of the work, while the latest development in the progress is the placing of Bible Discussion in each boys rooming and fraternity house on the campus. The work has just started, but already several groups have been established and others are being added weekly.

Budget System

Finances of the "Y" are provided by subscriptions from the students, faculty, citizens, and alumni each year, and from the building and appropriation by the Board of Regents. The total budget for the coming year is $17,545, which will be spent for general expenses, committee expenses, salaries, and in a note and retirement fund.

Students Will Aid

One hundred workers of Y committees will start the annual students drive for $4,000 on the campus Monday, asking students who are given the privilege of swimming, reading the latest magazines and papers in the club room atmosphere of the "Y," and meeting in private rooms for conferences to subscribe to the expenses of the organization for the coming year. The money spent will enable officials of the "Y" to continue the work of introducing Bible discussion groups on the campus, employing boys who must work in order to remain in school, and to continue the work of greeting new students as the official welcoming organization of the campus.

The Y. M. C. A. is an established institution in the collegiate life of the nation, but very few universities have the advantage of a modern building on the campus and of direct contact with men students such as the University of Texas has. Members of the faculty and regents saw the need of the organization when the school was founded and have supported it since, both in service and finances. Students of the school will be requested to join officials, and patrons by giving financial support during the week.

Methodist Students Hike to Split Rock

Methodist students of the University met at the Wesley Bible Chair at 7:15 last night and enjoyed a hike and campfire at Split Rock.

A large number of students were present. Apples and toasted marshmallows constituted refreshments.

BUDGET FOR YEAR WILL BE $17,545

Drive This Week Will Finance Activities During 1925-26 Long Session

Budget for the Y. M. C. A. activities for the present long session calls for an expenditure of $17,545. The detailed budget follows.

Expenditures

Building: Insurance, $1200; water, $400; light, $350; fuel, $450; janitors, $1900; house repair $300; house supply, $400; postage, $75; general expense, $500; reading room, $100; laundry, $150; total, $6325.

Conference and conventions, $200; social, $250; finance, $250; religious meetings, $100; employment, $75; miscellaneous committee, $225; total, $1100.

Salaries and contingent: General secretary, $3600; associate secretary, $2400; office secretary, $1700; desk men, $800; contingent, $500; total, $8800.

Note and retirement fund, $1320. Grand total, $17,545.

Income

Buildings, $3000; regents, $2900;

To those who seldom visit the Y—the words Mack and Charlie are mere words, but the dormitory men at the Y and to the Y staff, Mack and Charlie mean a great deal. When a key is lost and one of the dorm men must get into his room at once, he yells "Mack" and immediately the key is produced. When something gets wrong with the light or the radiator, again comes the word "Mack," and the trick is turned and all is O. K. once more.

When the heat is low and the northers are strong, a loud howl for Charlie brings the fresh warm breezes of Florida to help start circulation in cold feet. When hot water is minus and the whiskers are hard to cut—total, $5900.

Subscriptions:

Students, $2700; faculty, $1200; citizens, $3600; alumni, $4145; total, $11,645.

Grand total, $17,545.

Pledges Honored at Alpha Phi Tea Thursday at 4

Members of Alpha Phi sorority were hostesses at a tea given in compliment to their new pledges Thursday afternoon at the chapter house. The rooms were attractively adorned for the affair with a profusion of tea roses and fern. Mabel Cooper greeted guests at the door while in the receiving line were Charlie Kelly, Mrs. Eva Prendergast, Mrs. W. M. W. Splawn, Miss Ruby Terrill, Mrs. Florence Bell, Miss Goldie Horton, Mrs. J. J. Terrell, Mrs. Neil Carothers, and Mrs. Lonsdale.

The dining room was also decorated with tea roses and lighted with yellow candles. The same cheery hue was reflected in the refreshment course of ices, sandwiches, mints, and nuts. More than 150 guests called during the receiving hours to greet the honorees, Adelaide Berwick, Evelyn Thompson, Rosine Sharpe, Jean Tullis, Helen Roberts, Margaret Robinson, Louise Alsworth, Mary Martha Morris, and Nedra Newkirk.

Co-eds to Take Part In Coronation

Many University girls will take part in the All-Collegiate Circus and Coronation to be held at Dallas, Saturday, October 17. In this event the "All College Club" will crown the most beautiful college girl in America, and follow the coronation with "Her Majesty's Formal Ball," in which a galaxy of the fairest co-eds of the country will participate.

Featuring the affair will be the "All college Circus," which will present the best athletic stunts, musical, and stunt artists to be found in American colleges.

Hallie Ball, who is a student at the University, will represent Mills College of Berkeley, Cal., where she was a student last year, at the all-collegiate meet to be held in Dallas during October. Thus beauty and charm have scored again.

Last year Texas made a fine showing and carried away several first awards and this year interest in Varsity circles is running high.

Among Texas University girls selected to take part this year, who have been announced to date, are Carter Mathews, Duchess of the University of Texas; Elizabeth Hudsneth, Duchess of Holton Arms Studio, Washington, D. C.; Gladys Love, Duchess of Gulfport College, Gulf Park; Mae Myle Shumway, Duchess of Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans. Other appointments will be made from time to time, and will be announced as received.

University Dames Meet Wednesday

University Dames will have their first meeting of the year Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. R. S. Winslow, 112 West Thirty-second Aldridge Place.

All the old members are urged to come and bring some one with them. Members will answer roll call with "Why I am a Dame." Mrs. Winslow will have as joint hostesses the incoming officers, Mesdames S. A. Street, H. S. Ratliff, S. L. Mansell, J. M. Grasty, J. R. Laughlin, M. Jones and Jno. T. Jay.

Birthday Party for 15 Co-eds at Kirby Hall

Kirby Hall held its first monthly birthday party Friday evening for the girls who have birthdays in September and October. In the center of the dining room was the long birthday table in the center of which was the birthday cake. Vases of Queen's Wreath and clever favors furnished the rest of the tasty decorations which adorned the table.

The menu consisted of cream chicken on toast, English peas, creamed potatoes, fruit salad and buns, with banana nut ice cream and cake for dessert. The birthday cake contained all the birthday emblems, and the cutting of this cake furnished much entertainment for the girls.

Following the dinner, a toast was given by a member of each class to the following girls: Annie Kate Ferguson, Rose McNaillie, Lillian McMurray, Ruth Madora, Benthol McCollum, Gladys Gill, Mae Garlington, Sudie Hodnette, Albertine Koennecke, Meta Petsch, M. Sullivan, Pauline Stout, F. Thomas, Winnie Wilkinson, and Mildred Markham.

This birthday party idea has become an annual affair, and is looked forward to by all the girls at the hall.

Aleen Cain of Sherman has entered the University and is a candidate for a degree in June. She resides at Kirby Hall.

Phi Sigma Delta Gives Banquet for Pledges

Complimentary to their pledges, Phi Sigma Delta fraternity entertained with an informal banquet Saturday night at their new home on Rio Grande. The fraternity colors of purple and white added to the decorations. The following pledges and alumni were present: Harry Trifow, Julius Alexander, Lassar Alexander, Mendel Melasky, Landman Teller, Jerome Landa, Dan David, Leo Davis, Nathan Mittenenthal, Joseph Rosien, William Andrews, Max Oppenheimer, Mack Waldman. The alumni included Henry Mack of Ft. Worth and Bill Koen of Austin.

Hazel Shawyer has gone to Dallas for a brief visit with her parents.

Corinne Stallings is making a week-end visit to her home in San Antonio.

IN TODAY'S PICTURES

A galaxy of the fairest maidens of the country with the attendant chivalry of the nation will represent more than one hundred colleges at the All-Collegiate Circus to be held in Dallas October 17. It is the greatest college event in America, and the most beautiful college girl in America will be crowned queen.

Miss Carter Mathews, Zeta Tau Alpha, will represent the University of Texas, as duchess to the All-Collegiate Circus. Miss Gladys Love, Kappa Alpha Theta, is duchess of Gulfport College, Gulf Park, where she was a former student. Miss Love was one of the Cactus beauties last year.

Miss Julia Matthews, Kappa Kappa Gamma, will represent the University of Texas at the Cotton Palace to be held in Waco in November. She is active in the Curtain Club of the University.

Mary Helen Holdan, a former University student who has been seriously ill at her home in Darian, Conn., is said to be improving.

Stanley Erskine of the Delta Sig house has gone to the Vanderbilt game.

Alpha Chi Omega held initiation services Sunday morning for Margaret Cousins of Dallas and Lucile Bridgers of Temple.

Helen Voss and Dorothy Smith are spending the week-end at the former's home in San Antonio.

Phi Mu Tea Dance Is Saturday Event

Pledges of Phi Mu sorority were honor guests at the enjoyable tea-dance given by active chapter members Saturday afternoon at the Country Club. The dance was informal and the personnel included 150 guests, in addition to the hostesses and the honorees. Pledges for whom the affair was given are Rosalie Kirkpatrick, Elizabeth Fischer, Jessie Ormsbee, Alice Golaz, Mary Frances Stone, Addo Shafer, Farnia Rutt, Edna Boone, Alice Pierson, Mary Jo Cole, Mary Holland, Peter O'Keefe, Ardis Martin, Alice McGruder, Lucile Barnett, Constance Zirkjacks, Maurine Edgar, Eunice Mohrmann, Travis Lipscomb, Jane Bowers, and Janet Lipscomb.

Gib Turner has gone to the Vanderbilt game.

University Ladies' Club Honor New Members With Tea

The University Ladies' Club entertained the new comers of the faculty with a tea Wednesday afternoon at the Faculty Club.

The rooms were lighted with lavender candles and bowls of garden flowers were used as decorations with the color notes of lavender and pink carried out effectively. In the house party were Mesdames F. McAllister, C. T. Gray, Lee Hollander, Frederick Duncalf, E. K. McGinnis, Richard Corner, L. T. Belmont, D. A. Porter, Ira Hollander, J. R. Bailey, and L. J. Henderson, and Misses Mollie Montgomery and Goldie Horton. The receiving line included the following: Mesdames Carothers, chairman; A. Shaffer, W. R. Long, Leon Green, Roselle Goree, E. J. Vilavoso, W. M. W. Splawn, Nathan Gustch, Florence Bell, Mesdames D. A. Porter and Jess Walker presided over the pouring of the tea.

The following University girls assisted in serving a salad course to 100 guests: Virginia Cowles, Virginia Eckhardt, Emily Long, Evelyn Thompson, Zola Milstem, Lillian Bullington, Katherine Thornton, Marie Silverburg, Laura Eleanor Marks, Sally Humlong, and Ruth Butler.

Stella Paden of the Pi Phi house is spending the week-end in Houston.

Bobby Speer of Quannah is spending the week-end in Fort Worth.

Louis M. White of Austin, former captain of the Varsity tennis team, has gone to Cambridge, Mass., where he will be a student at Harvard University this year.

THE WORK OF THE "Y"

Across the street from the campus, housed in a modest but commodious brick building, is The Young Men's Christian Association of the University of Texas. Daily, hundreds of students visit the "Y" to browse through its reading rooms, to match wits with roomie across the domino table in the game room, to dive refreshingly into the "Y" pool downstairs, or to hark to the plaintive melodies that some homesick frosh teases from the social room piano.

This is the "Y"—the heart and spirit of comradeship—underneath whose modest and somewhat social surface there flows a river of unceasing service. The sick in the hospitals, the little church in the cedar hills, the penniless student who searches for employment—they all know the "Y" and those tireless workers who further its aims.

Today the "Y" wants your heart in fellowship and your hand in service. Your college life needs the kindly, humanizing influence that comes from personal service.

THE PURPOSE OF THE "Y"

1. To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
2. To lead students into membership and service in the Christian Church.
3. To promote their growth in Christian faith and character especially through the study of the Bible and prayer.
4. To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians to making the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

THIS YEAR'S OBJECTIVE

The 1925-1926 budget of the University Y. M. C. A. calls for a sum of $17,545.00 to be raised from the gifts of students, faculty, ex-students, and friends of the University. The "Y" has always received the indispensable support of Austin business men. It remains for the student body to stamp its unqualified approval upon the many fields of Christian endeavor which the "Y" sponsors by contributing in cash to its support.

TODAY At Austin Movie Shows

Majestic: "The Pony Express" all week.

Queen: "New Brooms" Monday and Tuesday, "Up the Ladder," Wednesday and Thursday, "The Mystic," Friday and Saturday.

Texas: "Orphans of the Storm," Monday and Tuesday; "Code of the West," Wednesday and Thursday; "Madame Sans Gene," Friday and Saturday.

QUEEN

The Queen Theater is having a change of pictures three times a week now because of the many good pictures that are being released. The pictures at the Queen are all first-run pictures and are all of the very best quality, educational, entertaining and interesting.

QUEEN—Monday

"New Brooms" William de Mille's latest production for Paramount, at the Queen Theater Monday and Tuesday, is in reality a love story between a father and a son.

There is also a love story between the girl Bessie Love, and the boy, which is a delightful flash of romance and color.

Phyllis Haver, who completes the trio of players featured in the production, is a mercenary blond engaged to Hamilton at the beginning of the story.

The picture, which remains at the Queen for one day, shows you just how he makes out.

Robert McWade, as the father, also appeared in the same role on the stage. Fred Walton, Josephine Crowell, Larry Steers and James Neill complete the cast.

QUEEN—Wednesday

"Up the Ladder," the Universal Jewel feature adapted from the stage success by Owen Davis, to be seen at the Queen Theater Wednesday and Thursday, vividly portrays the idea that men, after seeing their ambition realized, often forget and scorn the rungs of the ladder on which they climbed to success. Virginia Valli stars. The supporting cast includes Forrest Stanley, Holmes Herbert, Margaret Livingston, George Fawcett, Lydia Yeomans Titus, Priscilla Moran and Olive Ann Alcorn.

QUEEN—Friday

Aileen Pringle, who plays the featured role in "The Mystic," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production at the Queen Theater, Friday and Saturday, was a society woman of San Francisco before entering pictures a few years ago. She has climbed steadily in the favor of picture-goers until she is now playing featured roles with a bright chance for stardom in the near future. Her leading man in "The Mystic," is Conway Tearle.

MAJESTIC

The Majestic Theater will have a musical program given by four best dance orchestras in town on November 2.

shown at the Texas Theater next Monday.

TEXAS—Wednesday

The Story of "Code of the West" was adapted by Lucien Hubbard from the novel of the same name by Zane Grey and centers around a flirtatious flapper and a romantic cowboy. The picture is filled with thrills, love-interest, comedy and human appeal. There are several melodramatic high-spots, including an exciting automobile-horse race and a tremendous forest fire.

The supporting cast includes Lillian Leighton, Edward Gribbon, Gertrude Short, Pat Hartigan and Frankie Lee.

The picture is booked for the Texas Theater next Wednesday.

TEXAS—Friday

In "Madame Sans Gene" Gloria Swanson has probably the most difficult role ever attempted by her during her screen career, but according to all reports she has created for the screen a figure as great as the French actress Rejane did for the stage in the play by Victorien Sardou and Emile Moreau.

Charles de Roche, popular Franco-American leading man, heads the cast appearing in support of the star. Emile Drain, of the Comedie Francaise, has the role of Napoleon. The other characters are all prominent on the French stage and screen.

PROGRAM CHANGE THREE TIMES WEEKLY

Smile If You Want to Sell Magazines, Says Dendy

Student Secures 1,060 Subscriptions in Three Months; Sees New York

BY TY COBB

How did you spend your summer? Did you spend your time loafing in your home town, or did you take Horace Greeley's advice and go West? Or did you spend the summer in hard, tedious work so you could have enough money to splurge during rush week or perhaps help to defray your expenses during the school year.

One of our University students, O'Neal Dendy of Strawn, a little town out west of Fort Worth, spent his time selling Pictorial Review magazines to housewives, and sold 1060 subscriptions, cleared $800, and was given a trip to New York City at the expense of the publishing house.

Dendy sold magazines this summer with a team managed by H. P. Massey of San Antonio, who sold an equal number of subscriptions and also won a trip to the metropolis. Other members of the squad were Raymond Gerhardt of San Antonio, a member of the intercollegiate debating squad, assistant in the library, and assistant Varsity yell leader, and Gordon McGee of Marshall. The boys charged $2.75 for each subscription, which entitled the housewife to twenty-four editions of the publication.

Hard Worker.

O'Neal has always been a hard worker, both in summer and winter. Before coming to the University two years ago he was a student at the junior college at Weatherford, and worked in the largest shoe store in that town to earn his way through school. Last year he was a student in the junior law class, and passed all of his courses, which is quite an accomplishment these days in Dean I. P. Hildebrand's school.

During the fall term last year he managed Blue Smith's hamburger stand on Guadalupe Street. Blue at that time was a star sidestepper on Coach Doc Stewart's football team, and sidestepped most of the work at the hamburger stand. During January Dendy was private secretary for C. V. Terrell, Railroad Commissioner of Texas and father of John Terrell of the football team. During February and March he went back to his old calling and sold shoes in a down-town shoe store. In April and May he sold footwear for another down-town shoe store.

The selling team left Austin in June and went to Marshall, the home town of Dick Blalock, the student prexy; then they worked as far north as Idabel, Okla., and through Central Arkansas. From Arkansas the team worked south into Mississippi, capturing Vicksburg, Natchez, and other points made famous by the Civil War. From "Ole Miss" the team trekked eastward into Louisiana, working Alexandria and Minden, and finishing the season in Shreveport. Dendy must have felt more at home in Arkansas than anywhere else—anyway, he had his best luck at Eldorado, Ark., where he sold 35 subscriptions in one day.

In practically every town the team met one or two University students or ex-students, and all asked the boys if they knew "So and So," and a thousand other questions about the school. "Whenever we found a mother who had a son or daughter at the University, she seemed to like our magazine very much, and subscribed for it immediately," stated Dendy.

Pleasant Approach, Boys.
When asked the essential characteristics for success in salesmanship, Dendy replied: "The chief essential for good salesmanship is a pleasant approach. The greatest factor toward high production is constant effort; the salesman must study the prospect before he begins his sales talk and then again after the sale is attempted, whether successful or not. To work hard is necessary, and the salesman should think only of selling his product."

The boys discovered that as a rule the entire town was either courteous or discourteous toward salesmen. Some towns had been warned by the chambers of commerce not to patronize peddlers of any kind because a few years ago the country was overrun with sheet writers—people who took orders and kept the money. "Every housewife at some time or other has been swindled; at least, they all said this. One lady said that she had subscribed from every University boy who had called on her, and she had never gotten a copy of any of these magazines," according to Dendy.

In Gay Gotham.

The trip to New York was the climax of his successful summer's work. He left Shreveport September 12, going direct to Washington. At the National capital Dendy climbed the Washington Monument, which is 555 feet high, and it required twenty minutes to walk to the summit. Baseball fans will recall that Gabby Street, the old Washington catcher who used to be Walter Johnson's battery mate, once caught a ball thrown from the top of the monument. The ball came down with such terrific velocity that it split open the leather catcher's mit.

While at Washington the University salesman visited the graves of the unknown soldier, William Jennings Bryan, Woodrow Wilson, and George Washington. "I also visited the White House but President Coolidge had a conference and could not see me," facetiously stated Dendy. In the White House he saw the Texas section, where are monuments of Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston.

In New York City Dendy witnessed the Tilden tennis matches, and saw the champion retain his crown. He dined at the Crystal room in the Ritz Carlton hotel, which is the most exclusive dining room in New York—the plates cost $8.00.

He also made the rounds of all of the theater and saw the season's latest hits. Among them were Al Johnson, the great blackface comedian, in "Big Boy," "Gay Paree"; Howard Marsh in "The Student Prince in Heiderberg;" "Artists and Models" at the Winter Garden; Leon Errol in "Louie the 14th," and Flo Ziegfeld's nationally famous follies.

After the shows he visited Chinatown and Greenwich Village, these places being known by the quotation, "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," according to Dendy. All of the expenses for these shows were paid for by the Pictorial Review Publishing Company. He also was taken through the Pictorial plant, and shown every department of its mammoth factory.

He plans to sell Pictorials again

Home Eco Students Guests at Tea This Afternoon at Club

Dean Moore Smooths Out Troubles of Freshman Studies

Answers Daily Appeals for Help from Frosh Class of Approximately 600

BY HAZEL HEDICK

"Oh!" wails a freshman, and no matter what may have been the cause of the poor boy's cry, he is sent to the new assistant dean of men and there the barriers are usually broken down, his troubles patched up and his mind set at ease. Assistant Dean V. I. Moore is a true friend and helper of the lonesome, mistreated slime.

When the approximately 600 first-year men are thought of as individuals, it is clear that Dean Moore has a real job. At all hours of the day there is a steady stream of young men leading to and from his office. Why do they go there? For as many reasons as there are callers. Some desire changes in lodgings. Some want advice about fraternities. Some are in search of part-time jobs.

And the new assistant dean probably knows better than anyone else on the campus how to meet these daily appeals. For the last—well, we wouldn't say how many—years he has been in intimate contact with young people. He understands them. Long before he ever went to Vanderbilt he spent much of his time teasing his sisters and scuffling with his brothers. Then he went to Vanderbilt and for four years he was associated with young people there. While in Vandy he was a member of the V Association, having received his letter in track.

In 1903 he received his B.A. Degree from that University. The next seven years he spent in teaching and directing athletics in two of Kentucky's colleges. This was followed by three years as a professor at Missouri University. Then in 1913, he became connected with the Carlsle Military Academy at Arlington, Texas. For the last nine years he has served as superintendent of the schools at Bartlett.

Keeps in Touch With World

"I was just a small town superintendent trying to keep in touch with the rest of the world," he said in regard to those years in Bartlett.

So you see, Assistant Dean Moore has long been associated with young people. And he still is. He is the father of four children. His oldest is a student in the University but anyone who has seen Dean Moore will doubt this statement. He and Vic, Jr., registered together this fall, the one as a graduate student, the other as a sophomore, and an observer might have thought them brothers.

Father and Son Resemble

There is quite a resemblance between the two. Vic, Jr., best stated that fact when a small lad. A caller at their house one day asked the little fellow if he looked like his father, whereupon Dean Moore says his bright young son replied in a mournful way, "Well, my ears stick out."

So there you have it. His humor is not the only attribute that makes for the popularity of the new assistant dean. He has a reputation all over Texas as being an unusually fair referee when rivalry on the gridiron is exceptionally heated. He has been sought as a referee by high schools, colleges and universities for the past several years. His judgment is accepted in all such cases when it is doubtful if others would be.

Referees as Hobby

Even now, most of his spare time is spent in refereeing, that being his one and only hobby. A calendar hangs on the wall above his desk and practically every week in the months of October and November bears a notation of an engagement to referee a high school or college game.

"I enjoy refereeing a contest between high schools now as much as between universities," said Mr. Moore. "Due to the work of the Interscholastic League the standard of sportsmanship in our high schools has become as fine as in universities. This league, too, is almost wholly responsible for the high standard of sportsmanship now noticeable in our universities."

Assistant Dean Moore himself is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. "But when we have a family reunion," he said, "it is almost like a meeting of Pan-Hellenic. Each brother and each brother-in-law is a member of a different fraternity."

Interested in Studies

As to the assistant dean's duties, he is well pleased with them. At the first of the term he sent out form letters to the parents of all the freshman men. In these letters he stated the University's personal interest in the new students and asked for the co-operation of the parents.

"Devil-May-Take-It Place"

"One would be surprised at the number of responses—these letters brought," declared the dean. "Most parents have the idea that when their pology will speak on the subject of "Religions of Primitive Peoples" at the Congregational Church. Professor Pearce is an authority on the subject on which he will speak for it is not only more or less in line with his work in anthropology, but has also been a sort of hobby with him for some time. It is the belief of the pastor that all who attend the lecture will be benefited both intellectually and spiritually.

sons come here to complete their education such a thing as personal contact between the students and school officials is at an end. They consider the University a regular "devil-may-take-it place." When they received those letters, however, and learned that someone here is really interested in the welfare of their sons, they were more than pleased and expressed their appreciation in these replies.

"I am enjoying these contacts by correspondence with the parents. They give me much information that helps in my individual contact with the young men and now I am trying gradually to become acquainted personally with each freshman in the University."

the religions other than our own in a way that will promote sympathy and understanding for the viewpoints of others on such subjects and at the same time increase our realization of the value of our own religion.

"Then men who will deliver the lectures are, for the most part, members of the University faculty and are in every case scholars who have made a study of the subject on which they will speak," said Mr. R. Russian Choir to Give Recital

The Amateur Choral Club will present the Russian Symphonic choir in recital at the Men's Gymnasium October 29. The program will consist of what may be called the popular-classical variety, that is to say classical songs which have a popular appeal. Examples of this type of music are those classical compositions which have a strong human appeal as for example Dvorak's "Humoresque," Schubert's "Ave Maria," and Rachmaninoff's famous "Prelude."

Among the numbers on the program, will be the "Volga Boatmen's Song," which is perhaps one of the best known folk songs in the world and as sung by this choir will be a real treat to local lovers of vocal harmony. The same can be said about a number of other songs which will appear on the program of this unique company, and a Bohemian the earmarks of a composition which is destined to be hummed by every American music lover who looks for tunefulness, rhythm and sentimental song, in particular, is said to bear all appeal in his musical fare.

Irish, Jews Have Lucky Symbol--Two Red Heads Act Football Mascots

Old Lady Luck takes various guises and disguises. To the Irish, luck is symbolized by a four-leafed clover; to the Jew, the mystic number "7" is sure to bring luck; to the negro, a rabbit's foot and some edice and that would be heav'n eno'w; but to the scraping, fighting, Longhorn teams there is Stubby Lewis and Steve Williams—mascots par excellence.

Red-Headed Kids

Justa couple of grinning, red-headed kids, that is Stubby and Steve. Fightin', crying, yelling, laughing, encouraging their teams when they are out there fighting, that is Stubby and Steve.

Stubby has been football mascot three years and basketball mascot two years. Steve has been with the football team two years and with the basketball team one year. Both say that Texas has a "good team" and that the squad is composed of "keen fellows." When asked how they came to be mascots both claimed that "the fellows just picked us."

High School Frosh

Stubby is a freshman in high school and intends to go out for athletics. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lewis and lives at 2206 Rio Grande.

Steve is in the high seventh grade. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams and lives at 607 West 24th Street.

Both mascots remember their first games. Stubby's was the Tulane game at Beaumont in 1923, the year of the undefeated Texas team. Steve's first game was the S.M.U. at Dallas. It was a sad day for him. In the first play Texas was beaten. Somebody threw a long pass just before the game started. The ball hit him on the chest and almost knocked him cold.

Vandy Game Best

Stubby claims that the best game he ever saw was the Vanderbilt game at Dallas. Texas won 16-0. Steve, on the other hand, claims that the best game he ever saw was the Florida game that ended in a 7-7 tie.

Stubby and Steve are typical mascots; cheerful and always willing to give their best to Texas. Texas in a few years will have a couple of valuable stars in Stabby and Steve.

Hockey New Sport For Co-ed Classes

Hockey is a sport offered by the department of physical education of the University of Texas this year for the first time in three years, according to Miss Virginia Rath, instructor. Meetings of the class are held twice a week, and the thirty girls enrolled are rapidly learning the game, Miss Rath said. Interclass matches are to be arranged later in the year.

Students Promote World Fellowship

World fellowship is being promoted by a group of University women students under the direction of Mohling Ma, a native of China who has been attending the University for several years. The discussions of international affairs is said to prove very interesting. It was when Miss Nancy Lee Swann, a former University of Texas student, went to China as representative of the University Y.M.C.A. that she became interested in the Chinese girl, and it was through Miss Swann's influence that Miss Ma came to the University of Texas to complete her education.

SCRIBBLERS MEET

Scribblers will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, October 14, with President Floyd Stovall officiating. Stovall was elected last spring with the other officers and he will hold his office the rest of the year. No new officers have been appointed as yet.

Girls Must Register With Miss Terrill Before Auburn Game

Miss Ruby Terrill, Dean of Women, makes this announcement to the co-eds who are planning to attend the Texas-Auburn game in Dallas, October 17: "All women students who go to Dallas on the occasion of the Texas-Auburn game are expected to register in the Dean of Women's office whether they go on the special train or not."

"The forms for Pullman reservations are now ready in the office Room 3. Girls are requested to make reservations for return trip as well as going, before they leave Austin."

"All women students who are going should be making arrangements for lodgings with friends or relatives, as they are expected not to stay at hotels. Other information will be published later."

Physics Department Has Large Increase in Number Enrolled

With an enrollment of 1,085 the department of physics of the University of Texas has for the first time in several years more students than the department of chemistry, according to Dr. S. L. Brown, professor of physics. Chairman of the first named comparative figures show an increase of 150 in the total enrollment this year over that of last year. There are 800 students taking first-year physics, 150 in second-year physics, 75 students in advanced physics, and 10 doing graduate work. Of the ten graduate students, six are working for a doctor's degree.

Although the department of physics has some of the best equipment in the State, it is one of the most poorly housed departments on the campus, Dr. Brown said. The instruction staff consists of nine professors and twenty tutors and assistants, he stated.

for the veterans, but letters, diaries, and the like of the veterans were published in its columns, according to E. W. Winkler, University Librarian, making the magazine of additional value. The veterans located in Texas and the Southwest seem to have been the most frequent contributors, Mr. Winkler said.

Girls' Rifle Club Organizes and Plans Year's Work Friday

Girls' Rifle Club was organized Friday night at the Woman's Gymnasium. Colonel Eckdahl explained the plans for the coming year.

The club will meet at the indoor range at Camp Mabry every Friday night from 7 to 9 o'clock. Regular instruction will be begun at the next meeting and will be continued during the spring term. The kind of practice will be: Fall term, off-hand shooting at fifty feet with small rifles; Winter term, prone and kneeling shooting; Spring term, pistol practice. Regular army regulations will be followed at all shoots.

Colonel Eckdahl announced that he had already planned several matches with teams in Austin and the surrounding towns and that a telegraph meet was being considered with A. and M. Rifle team. These will all be handicap matches until the members have had more practice, as many of the new members are inexperienced shooters.

The membership of the club is limited to 24 and the following members have already been taken in: Katie Ray Hall, president; Minnie Peterson, vice-president; Bertha Black, secretary; Isabel Foster, treasurer; Irene Whitman, Ruth McDaniel, Ethel Taylor, Alma Grouse, Celia Prewitt, Myrtle Lee Peters, Mary Frops, Pansy Forsythe, Maggie Doole, Elizabeth Schutz, Dot Carroll, Elizabeth Miller, Ed Sweat, Kathryn Cook, Evelyn Watkins, Aileen Cain.

Wooden Soldiers May Enter the Collegiate Circus at State Fair

Wooden Soldiers, who took part in the circus last year, are planning to enter the Intercollegiate Circus at the State Fair, October 17. It is only through full co-operation from all of the girls that are participating in it can this act be a success, stated those in charge. There must be an understanding that each girl will be at all practices.

The first practice will be Monday afternoon at 5. The following girls report to the Woman's Gym promptly at 5 p. m.: Evelyn Abshear, Frances McConnell, Lucile Thompson, Gilberta Burrows, Jimmie Crozier, Jeanette Leary, Ruth Manter, Freda Dabbs, Polly Mogford, Helen Sandel, Helen Roberts, Mildred Robertson, Jelly Strnad, Fay Sappington, Fannie Eichenlohr, Helen Frances Girardeau, Sarah Penn, Marion Penn, Doris Kelly, Willie Bell Brennon, Julia Wilcox, Martha McKay, Mollie Johnson, Dorothy Heacock Agnes Vaughn, Asta Grona, Elizabeth Ward, Bernice Erwin, Sarah Daniels, Luella McQueen, Irma Winn, Edna Reid, Katy Rae Hall and Jean Holland.

Tact saves many an embarrassing situation. But in getting out of trouble is not the only time to use tact.

Cultivate it—it is considerate thoughtfulness that strengthens friendship and esteem. For instance, there's tactfulness in giving presents—Gifts That Last, dainty, useful, pretty presents of gems and precious metals.
