VARSITY CINDER MEN HAVE BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR YEAR

Man for Every Event Back in The Contest

Track work at the University of Texas is getting well under way with eight men from last year's team, six second string men of last season, and an abundance of promising new material working out. From the present outlook, Texas is going to prove a formidable opponent among the teams of the Texas and Southwestern conferences this spring.

Among the men from last year's team are Joe Moss, DeWitt Waltmon, Johnny Gray, and Wyatt Baldwin. Moss won in the high hurdles against Baylor, Oklahoma, and A. & M. last season and took second place at the Southwestern Conference meet. He is captain of the team this year.

Waltmon broke the Southwestern Conference record in the high jump and the Texas record in the broad jump. Waltmon and Moss were the high point men on the team last year, each having 26 points to his credit for the season.

Gray won the mile against Baylor, Oklahoma, and A. & M. last season, while Baldwin won the quarter mile against the same teams and the half against Baylor and A. & M. Besides these there are Herbert Beavers in the dashes, Louie Smyth in the weights, Gehnts Graves in the pole vault and javelin throw, and H. Russell in the middle distances, all letter men.

From last years second string, there are four distance men and two competitors in the dashes. Among the new material are found such men as W. B. Ferguson, quarterback on the football team, who is trying out for the sprints, hurdles and high jump; T. H. Browne, who has never competed in intercollegiate athletics

HELPFUL LECTURE FOR JOURNALISTS

A. W. Grant, Managing Editor Talks on Subject "Habits that Hamper Success"

An entertaining and very instructive talk on "Habits that Hamper Journalistic Success" was given this morning before the consolidated classes in journalism by A. W. Grant, managing editor of the San Antonio Daily Express. By reason of his long experience in handling reporters and correspondents, Mr. Grant is exceptionally well qualified to discuss the subject from the different angles and viewpoints. He pointed out in the course of his lecture the several more important things that may become in the nature of habit with a reporter and which are to be avoided. The first of these objectionable and inexcusable habits is unreliability which may take several forms, all to the injury of the newspaper and the reporter. Carelessness and laziness are also to be avoided by the reporter if he would

EX-STUDENT BACK TO LAW

Captain Clinton G. Brown, a graduate of the University and former Mayor of San Antonio, has received his discharge and returned to his home in San Antonio. Captain Brown, who has been in the air service, being associated with the firm of Templeton, Brooks and Napier.

Following America's entrance into the war, Mr. Brown was awarded a captaincy in the National Guard and helped in the organization of a company of cavalry. He later resigned and was given a captain's commission in the Air Service. He was stationed at Washington where he remained until receiving his discharge.

COQUETTE CORNER ALONG WITH GRIND IS CAUSE OF DELAY

All other Parts of the Year Book Are Ready to go to the Press

All departments of the 1919 Cactus, with the exception of the grind and beauty section, have gone to press. Editor in Chief, Angly, is viewing the illustrious beauties of the University with a merciless eye. He is promising the greatest collection of beauty, talent, and attractiveness ever gathered under the covers of a single Cactus. The grind section will also display what was overlooked in the beauty section and it also will display physiognomies which would make a rogues gallery look uncomfortable.

If there is any girl on the Campus who has been rudely stared at and appraised she can rest assured that the person who is responsible for the staring is one of the minions of Ed Angly's Cactus staff. He has said that the beauties run this year, are going to assay 100 per cent perfect. Special paper will be used in the makeup of the beauty section, border designs are going to be works of art, but the main attraction is going to be what fills the frames. Angly is experiencing some difficulty in his choice, because of the fact that most of his time is spent at the phone declining invitations to parties

ATHLETIC PRACTICE

Baseball and Track Workouts Held Up By Bad Weather

Wet grounds, soft track, and muddy courts are the causes attributed to the lack of practice in baseball, track and tennis for the past few days. Basketball is the only sport which can hold regular practice, this being due to the fact that it is held on an inside court. Daily workouts are being held in the gymnasium by the pitchers and catchers and by the track men who are required to "warm" up and to keep their arms in trim. With the continued rain, it is not certain just when the athletic field will be in condition.

SIX ORGANIZATIONS NOW SUPPORTING ONE FRENCH WAR ORPHAN

Among the organizations of the University of Texas the following have each adopted a French orphan: The Andrews Carruthers Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the University Ladies Club, the women of the Woman's Building, and the Kappa Kappa Gamma, the Pi Beta Phi, and the Alpha Delta Pi sororities. Others of the sororities are considering the matter.

These organizations furnish $36.50 for each orphan and the French Government supplies the same amount, which supports a child for one year. When organizations or individuals adopt a child their name is given to the child or its mother and letters are always received from them. A number of pathetic but interesting letters have been received by the University organizations which have adopted these war orphans.

MILDRED MARSHALL ARRIVES

Mrs. H. B. Marshall of 2410 University Avenue, has just received a post card from her daughter, Mildred announcing the latter's safe arrival overseas. Miss Marshall sailed for France on January 31. Mrs. Marshall hopes soon to have a letter from her daughter giving an account of her trip across, and of the work she found awaiting her at the end of her voyage.

ENGINEERS WILL WELCOME ALEC AT FEAST TOMORROW

Banquet to Begin at 6:30 and Will Be Replete With Stunts

Beginning promptly at 6:30 tomorrow evening the followers of "Alec" will storm the citadel and the 18th Engineers Banquet will be formerly opened at the Driskill.

The affair this year promises to be the greatest in the history of the department. Every engineer will be there to lend his or her enthusiasm to make the festal event a glorious success. Ticket sales have already reached beyond the 200 mark. About 20 old boys will be back to mingle once more in old Engineering environments.

Many unique stunts have been scheduled for the occasion. The lordly seniors are planning to stage a stunt which will be of interest to both the students and the faculty. The flighty Juniors are also at work to rival the fourth year men. Even the Sophomores and Freshmen are preparing to surprise the banqueters. The members of Tau Beta Pi will cease their arduous labors and pull a little entertainment all their own. The Ramshorn Debating Club appears on the program for a stunt. It is rumored that even the Laws will escape the ironical satires of the T-square followers.

The greatest inducement, however, for attendance at this event is the fact that "Alec" will be there to inspire the banqueters. The largest Freshman class ever assembled in the department will for the first time gaze upon the benign countenance of the revered saint. His presence will be marked by the singing of Engineering canticles in his honor.

To insure that the affair will be democratic in spirit, chairman A. L. O'Banion has decreed that no dress suits shall be worn. Rookie Bill and Navy gob-rich and poor-ed and co-ed engineers—instructor and prof.—all are expected to be on hand when the doors to the dining room are thrown open.

The program for the evening is as follows:

E. C. H. Bantel, toastmaster.
A Squall from the Seniors, by W. H. Collins, '19.
A Squawk from the Juniors, by V. H. Clements, '20.
Q. X. K. by Tau Beta Pis.
A Squeal from the Sophomores, by K. Schapiro, '21.
A Blast from the Ramshorns, by the Rams.

Our University, by Dr. R. E. Vinson.

A Squeak from the Freshmen, by W. S. Rowland, '22.

The Old Boys, by an Old Timer.

"Gone West" by The Old Man.

Executive Committee: A. L. O'Banion, '19, chairman; D. W. Fielding, '19; R. L. Williams, '20; D. R. Pena, '21; A. J. Bohart, '22. W. H. McNeill, treasurer; M. T. Lawrence, president of Engineering Department; Patron Saint, Alexander Fred-eric Claire.

Famous Candy Pull Will Be Pulled off Tonight

Tonight at 7:45 in the Woman's Gymnasium the Seniors will hold their first festivity of the year. This candy pull has been planned on the lines of a good old fashioned party like those back in the native village. The senior dignity that is imposed upon the fourth year student will be abandoned. It is reported that they will be allowed to become wholly human, freshmanish, if they so desire.

Stunts, as original as a cubist version of measles will be staged. There will be eating contests, races, and other such light delicate activities. Everybody will have a chance to show what he can do. His efforts will be respected and appreciated. After the pulling of the candy those wishing to dance may do so.

The party has been especially planned to get everybody acquainted, and at the same time generate class pep. If biting off somebody's else candy won't get people to know each other then all the principles of sociology will be in vain. Those that do not come will have one thing to regret all their life.

FROSH ELECTION SCHEDULED TO BE FRIDAY, FEB. 21

Australian Ballot System. Official Ballot Must Be Taken From Texan

The following ballot should be cut out by each Freshman and brought to the voting boxes between 8 a. m. and 2 p. m.

OFFICIAL BALLOT

Number the candidates in order of your choice. By all means, do not scratch or mark the ballot otherwise, because it will make the vote void.

President:

Harris Bell.
Thomas B. Scott.
Benjamin Brown.
Wiley A. Hartfield.

Vice President:

Margaret Carter.
Reva Terry.

Secretary-Treasurer:

W. H. Brumbach.

Sergeant-at-Arms:

Thomas G. Glass.

(Signed)

President Huffman states that the election of the Freshman officers for the winter term will be held Friday, Feb. 21, from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m. During these hours there will be a box kept in the corridor of the Main Building where the Freshmen boys will cast their votes, and another box will be in the girls hall for the co-eds.

The differential or Australian ballot will be used at the election. The entire ballot is printed below, and each Freshman should cut this ballot out of the Texan and bring it to the voting box. They must mark the name of each candidate the order of their choice. Thus by the candidate who is their first choice for an office, they place 1; by the candidate of second choice, 2, etc. Each voter must also sign his name to his ballot, if it is to be counted. In the ballot which is printed below a place for the signature of the voter is indicated.

"Let every Freshman be sure to cut out the ballot in the Texan and vote Friday," said President Huffman today. "I want to see that justice is done, and to secure it the secret ballot will be used. Only bona fide Freshmen have been nominated for the various offices, and only bona fide Freshmen will be allowed to vote. Every Freshman should cast his or her ballot Friday, and help elect the best candidates. The election will be absolutely fair and impartial."

Huffman has named the following Freshman to serve as judges and clerks for the election:

Girls, judges—Frances Bradley, Doris Beavers and Virginia Gregg; Clerks—Ruth C. Johnston, Elsie Brown, Blanche D. Aydtlett, Edythe M. Davis, and Elizabeth Goodman.

Boys, judges—W. H. Jack, Jr., Al H. Mayfield, and F. B. Lloyd; clerks—Stanley Babb, E. H. Klatt, Stanley H. Swift, Frank B. Crawford, and W. D. Autry.

These judges and clerks are requested to be at the office of the Students' Association at 5 o'clock Friday morning to receive instructions.

ABOUT POST OFFICE

Grows From Contract Station in 1903 to Present Size

The University post office was established in the fall of 1903 as a contract station. Its quarters then were on the second floor of the Main Building. Later on it was moved to its present location on the first floor at the south entrance to the building. However, it was not until August, 1915, that it became a United States post office. Since this time it has been enlarged and has gained steadily.

LARGEST SALARY OF ANY STUDENT IS MADE BY FRESHMAN ACADEM

Of the several hundred students of the University who are working their way through, none has made a more remarkable record in the matter of demonstrating his earning capacity than Moulton Cobb, the young son of William Cobb, the well known editor of the Milam County Enterprise at Cameron. This is Mr. Cobb's freshman year in the University. From January 3 to February 15 of the present term he earned a total of $133.50 as a linotype operator in one of the local newspaper offices. Young Cobb's compensation ranged from $10.50 a week to $32.70. He became an expert linotype operator while connected with his father's newspaper at Cameron. Notwithstanding his large earnings while at the University this outside work has in no way interfered with his studies. He is taking a full course in the academic department and has made excellent grades. What this young man has accomplished in the way of earning money while attending the University is only one instance of what is being done in a smaller way by a great many other students of this institution.

AMENDMENT URGED TO WITHDRAW BAN ON APPROPRIATION

House and Senate Seem in Favorable Mood for Passage of Bill

(By Ruby Black)

President R. E. Vinson of the University of Texas, and President Bizzell of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas addressed the joint session of the Senate and the House of Representatives on the floor of the House last night, favoring the appropriations bill for the two institutions, the bill to issue bonds on the income of the lands, and the amendment to separate the two institutions and remove the constitutional inhibition against legislative appropriations for buildings for the University.

Both presidents stated that the Board of Regents of the University and the Board of Directors of A. & M. as well as themselves, were agreed on every item of the proposed bill and amendment. The bill is to authorize the Board of Regents to issue bonds against the income of the lands

Employment for Fighters to Be Found By University Alumni

The University of Texas Y. M. C. A. is doing its part in the great international plan of the War Work Council of the Y. M. C. According to T. W. Currie, Secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. there are twenty-five to thirty men assigned to cover this work in Texas, including such men as T. V. Smith, a former student of the University and for several years instructor in English at the Texas Christian University, and R. L. Jetton, formerly Professor of Greek at the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary who has just returned from six months' service with the Y. M. C. A. in France. "The plan of the Y. M. C. A GLIMPSE INTO THE FUTURE

The many students who availed themselves of the privilege of attending the opening meeting of the House of Representatives of the state legislature Wednesday night were afforded a rare treat by being given a glimpse into the future educational development of Texas. President W. B. Bizzell of Texas A. & M. and our own President Robert E. Vinson both made pleas before the legislators for the passage of the bill providing for a bond issue not to exceed $4,500,000 and for the constitutional amendment which will completely divorce the University and A. & M., divide their landed endowment, and make it possible for legislative appropriations to be given the two schools for future building needs.

As outlined to the legislators the immediate plan of the University is to issue three millions of dollars of debenture bonds against the income from the University lands. One million five hundred thousand dollars worth of similar bonds would be issued against A. & M.'s income from their share of the endowment. This money would then be available to immediately start the University's program for reconstruction of the campus and its buildings.

The proposed bill as explained by President Vinson seems to be air-tight as far as its legality and constitutionality is concerned. The bonds would bear not over five percent interest, and should bring in at least par, because of the attractive features they would have of being free from all state and local taxes. The money received would be used to meet the most pressing building needs as presented by the special faculty committee of nine. Their complete report on needed buildings for instruction purposes alone calls for about twenty, costing approximately five million dollars.

If the measure is passed by the legislature and is approved by the Governor the future prospects of the University will indeed loom up bright and rosy. The dream of the founders of the University and all those who have been connected with it and really cared will begin to be true. A new day for higher education in Texas will have dawned.

The accompanying amendment to the state constitution is fully as important and protentious in its purpose. It will open the way for legislative appropriations for Varsity's building needs as they may arise. The University of Texas has long suffered from the unjustness of the provision of the constitution banning building appropriations, and the amendment is only fair and just.

Doctor Vinson's main plea before the legislators was for a body or physical plant for the University commensurate with the spirit that already exists. We are proud of our spirit, the Texas spirit, and we are proud of the showing as an educational institution that we have already made with our limited facilities. We are proud of the future University of Texas as we saw her last night through the glimpse given us by President Vinson.

A TOAST TO TEXAS

Who in this crowd said Texas?
I love to call her name.
Her aid so pure, a breath of it
Is like a draught of wine.

She has her fruits and flowers,
Her stately palm and pine,
And cotton fields around her houses
Where honeysuckles twine.

Her prairies are so boundless,
In Spring such riches hold,—
They seem a shoreless ocean,
Of red and green and gold.

In the bottoms, on her rivers,
We find the Southern moss
That hangs about her forest trees
Like tangled skeins of floss.

Just to think about old Texas
Makes a fellow proud, Gee Whiz!
How could anybody blame us
When you know how big she is.

With Maine up nher bosom,
And Rhode Island on her knee,
She can mix a Tom and Jerry
For her sister, Tennessee.

She can rock to sleep New Jersey
While she bathes New Hampshire's head,
And give Vermont a French massage
And put New York to bed.

Then let us drink to Texas,
The land we love the best,
And teach our boys to love the graves
Where Texas heroes rest.

FIRING LINE

Of all fascinating and attractive things in our library from the beauty of the ceiling, the eternal shifting and massing of talkative student groups and charmingly seated coeds, to the engaging courtesy of the attendants and the wonderful scoops of campus gossip which are forced on the studious by earnest and decided whispers of his table mates, there yet remains one feature of our "Hall of Echoes" known only to the esoteric and apparently few. It consists of the opportunity to read, offered by the countless books piled shelf in shelf around the room. Here one may browse at leisure until by chance hits the periodical room, where he may begin his idle perusal of contemporary thought. He need not worry ordinarily about running into anything "advanced" or "radical." Old files of masses will not be forced on him. I. W. W. bulletins are not glaringly scattered about the smaller room. "The Protest" is happily missing. In fact, any one not ironically and solely addicted to the funny paper habit may find peaceful and soothing magazines not the least offensive to untrammelled minds.

But protest I must, for this is a Firing Line article. This idyllic condition of the periodical room has at last been discovered in its darkest secret. The room harbors one publication that carries thought subversive to University training. In the Nation for February 15, 1919 appears an article on the need of leaders for the country to show the peaceable and calm settlement in the possibility of a revolution in America. An industrial revolution is clearly real, intimates this journal, and further continues, "Twenty men,

CHAPEL NOTICE

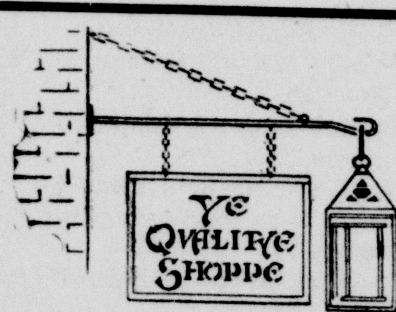

As a basis for his talk this morning, Mr. Currie used the incident of Christ healing the blind men. Before healing them he asked, "Do you believe I can do this?"

There was no doubt in Christ's mind as to whether or not He had the power to heal these men. The question was about their faith. Did they have faith so that He could use that power?

The same problem confronts us today. The thing that retards the progress of the Kingdom is not the lack of power on God's part, but the lack of faith on our part to use all the power God is willing to give us. God is looking for the man or the woman whom he can trust unlimited power.

There is a law for the coming of the Kingdom just as there is for the growing of a seed. The power is there, and the thing is sure to grow if men relate themselves rightly to that power.

Mr. Currie will speak again tomorrow.

"Twenty men, not from the Universities for during the past four years we have had a free, full, and sufficient experience of the kind of leadership the universities are capable of furnishing—"understands the least," as Clarendon said of the clergy, and taking the worst measure of human affairs of all mankind that can read and write." What, are we really not being trained for leadership? Can it be that the colleges are failing? This is directly antagonistic to the self-professed teachings of the universities themselves, and such doctrine is disconcerting. Such an open attack on the higher system is conducive to thinking and hits every true and tried student, I don't want to think. Oh, why does the Library carry such upsetting literature! Why have I been allowed to read such a criticism in the sacred clusters of the library itself! Can the student body demand a censorship, I ask you?

The amendment proposes to separate the two institutions in law as they are separate in fact, and to enable the Legislature to appropriate funds for the improvement of the material plant of the University.

Speaker R. E. Thomason introduced Dr. Bizzell first, praising the work of the two schools and the ability of the two presidents. He spoke of the disgrace of the shacks, and added that the men rushing back to school from service at home or in France could not be accommodated by the facilities offered at the University now. The registration of twenty-seven hundred is the proof that physical improvement must be given to the University.

"It must be done," said Mr. Thomason. "Let them go 'hog wild' if necessary, to do it." He expressed his eagerness to do anything to relieve the conditions now existing, and his confidence that the same feeling was predominant in the Legislature.

Dr. Bizzell was then introduced. He expressed his gratification over the sentiment of the speaker, and his friendship for the University. He said that since the social viewpoint has dominated higher education, it needs no defense as it did ten years ago when he began asking for legislative appropriation, and pays in public service for all that is provided for it. He told of the services of A. & M. and of the value of its extension and research work, and returns of which far exceed their cost. He then stated the terms of the bill and the amendment agreed upon by the two boards and their two sub-committees, and in regard to the physical plant of the University, said that A. & M. had fared much better than the University, and added that the University had the "sorriest plant in the United States." He made comparisons with other institutions of equal academic rank in the country, and said that the five millions asked for would not put the University in the class with these universities.

Speaker Thomason, in introducing Dr. Vinson made a plea for the support of the University, urged that it be removed from politics, spoke of the boys and girls of Texas who had worked hard to educate themselves here, referring to Adrian Poole, Representative from El Paso, whom he said that he first saw washing dishes in B. Hall. He expressed his pride in being a graduate of the University and told of the first time he visited the University after the war started, of seeing in the hall the great service flag with its more than twenty-five hundred stars, and of contrasting the spirit of those former students with that of the politicians who were accusing the University of all sorts of evils and vices. He then introduced Dr. Vinson.

Dr. Vinson began his speech by contrasting the clarity of the atmosphere in the House at the storminess of it at his last appearance. He added that the atmosphere of the whole world was clearer now than it had been for years.

Dr. Vinson went immediately to the problem of education in Texas, and the lack of proper support and adequate planning for both common school and higher education. He said that though the problem is difficult, it is not at all discouraging, and told of the plans agreed upon by the boards of the University and A. & M.

"If we improve, we must clear the grounds, must tear down that which is unsuitable, raze completely all that is in the way. In proportion to the stability of the building is the depth of the foundation.

"It is not repressive measures that are needed to destroy Bolshevism, to kill anarchy, but education, training of the mind and the spirit. The misdirected energies of Bolshevism must be directed and turned in the right way."

Dr. Vinson described the physical conditions on the campus, saying that there were four real University buildings, and inviting the members of the legislative body to go out and look around at the shacks and the condemned Main Building. He said that a careful study had been made of what could be done under present conditions, and that the results of this study were incorporated in the bill recommended. He stated that the best lawyers available had framed the bill so that it was constitutional, and would not be held up in the courts after it was passed.

"Gentlemen," continued Dr. Vinson, "we must have buildings. We are great in what we have done, great in our ideals, great in our spirit. We ask only a body that our spirit may develop and do its work. We ask only a suit of clothes that will fit, instead of reaching only our knees and our elbows and being ragged and outgrown. We do not ask for students, we do not ask for ideals, we do not ask for spirit; we ask only for a body to enable us to do all that our ideals and our spirit can do."

Dr. Vinson then explained the plans made, and urged their adoption. He told of the report of the Building Committee, with its plan for twenty buildings, which includes no plan for dormitories or for buildings for the Medical School at Galveston.

Newell Waters is expected to visit the campus during the coming week-end.

John I. King is recovering from a recent illness at the P. and S. Hospital.

Milton Thomas, on inactive duty in the Navy is visiting at the Delta Chi House.

He said that the five million might not be wisely spent all at once, and asked for three million to make a "respectable start" with.

Dr. Vinson told the incident of the prosperous Harvard man who was visited in his luxurious office by an old classmate of his who had been very unfortunate. On hearing the misfortunes of his old friend, the wealthy man wiped his eyes and rang for the office boy, saying, "Send someone to kick this man out before he breaks my heart." "That must be the reason that it is hard to get legislators to visit the University under the present conditions. It's poverty might break their heart," added Dr. Vinson.

Dr. Vinson expressed his faith that the Legislature would make it possible for the University to be a University of the first class in body as it is in spirit, and his faith in the plan to accomplish this result. He especially urged the amendment removing the prohibition of legislative appropriation for buildings.

Dr. Vinson spoke of the increasing expense of education, due to the present low value of money, only 54 per cent of its purchasing power in 1916, and to the natural causes that make institutions increasingly expensive just as families are increasingly expensive as they grow in number and in age. As in the case of the family, one would never exchange places with

Dr. Vinson ended with a plea that the University be provided with the physical plant necessary to educate the boys and girls of Texas into the finest and best possible men and women, here at home. He quoted Psalms, where the poet compared the strong in body and mind to the tall and straight palm.

The inclement weather and the meeting of many committees prevented a large attendance of those interested and of the legislators themselves, but a considerable number of University students and professors sat in the galleries or in the House, and the meeting was marked by earnest attention, and some enthusiasm both in the gallery and among the representatives and senators. Frequent applause greeted statements made by the speakers with regard to the work and needs of the institutions. Both outsiders and members of the legislative bodies expressed confidence on the passage of the bill and the amendment.

VARSITY'S SERVICE FLAG WILL GO DOWN ON OUR WAR RECORD

the service flag. More than four thousand University of Texas men were in military service during the war. This number includes the membership of the S. A. J. C. Nor are the veiled stars a true representation of Varsity's dead heroes. Fifty-one veiled stars were prepared for the memorial service held in the fall term. Those on Varsity's Roll of Honor are not represented by gold stars, but by a blue star veiled in white. This is a unique idea and has not been done elsewhere.

The University Ladies Club presented the flag on March 2, 1918. Under their supervision it was designed by Mr. E. C. H. Bantelle. The girls of the University sewed on the stars. Eventually this flag will become a part of the permanent war records of the school. At present there is being collected and compiled a mass of interesting data from every newspaper file of the State, pertaining to Varsity students and alumni who were active in National Service. The service flag will be a most tangible representation in these records of historical interest. When the remaining stars are added on the border, it will perhaps not be so beautiful, but it certainly will be a more significant record of the National spirit of Varsity's men.

LAST BARGE RIDE SATURDAY AT TWO

All Co-eds Urged to Come for One Grand Rally Before Final Exams

Everybody come to the last co-ed barge party! Going to be the best of the four. Everybody come whether you have attended before or not.

Time: 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

Place: Anywhere between carshed and gym.

Fare: Only ten cents.

Special features: Victrola, dancing, canoeing, baseball at cabin. Let's make this ride the grand finale of the historical "flu" days. Let every girl come and bring her share of the Varsity spirit. Let's play it is the night before Thanksgiving and that the Finals are A. & M. Let's get up pep to meet those Finals. We can do it by one big jollification. Then we'll fall to the books with unwonted gusto and give Benny a little surprise.

Don't stay at home to study. Play, then work. Don't stay on the campus for entertainment, for you won't get it. Everybody'll be gone to the Lake. You'll be the only one left if you don't come; so join the crowd and come on along.

The barge rides have been provided by the Women's Athletic Association, and all expenses except carfare are covered by the Blanket Tax. The Department of Physical Training has in every way possible furthered the regulations passed by the Health Committee during the recent epidemic. The members of that department, both instructors and assistants are to be commended for their perseverance in enforcing the regulations. The "Flu T" and the barge rides have kept a goodly number of co-eds in the fresh air and away from crowds. Further entertainments are being planned by the department such as the Flu Tea and the Baby Party.

The girls have co-operated wonderfully with the "flu" plans and as the ban is now off it is hoped that all will continue with the good habits they have formed, allowing, of course, for more social pleasure.

MASONS HAVE BIG SMOKE AS GUESTS OF ACACIA FRAT

The smoker at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Wednesday evening was featured by the after-dinner reveries of such men as Judge J. T. Montgomery of the Court of Criminal Appeals, Judge S. P. Sadler of the State's higher court, Judge W. T. Pfaefflin of Austin, Dr. E. P. Schoch of the University faculty, Joe H. Muenster of Austin, and others.

That which seemed to be uppermost in the minds of all was the high ideal of the Club, i. e., to make a man worth while, to level all to the same plane. Mr. Pfaefflin said in part: Acacia is part of the University because members are composed of students from that institution. It is for them to live up to ideals. Judge Montgomery said: Ought to avoid spirit of snobbishness as manifested by some students, while he belonged to a "frat" he believes more in the democracy of the school. No man lives but who is a walking advertisement. Dr. Schoch said in part: Praise Texas from whom oil blessings flow. Judge Sadler: Masonry to me means a great deal—Masonry has no politics nor religion, but teaches most perfect political principles and most perfect religious concepts. To you, young men of the University, the day is coming when your duty will be not only to walk out as mirrors of the University, of church, of father and mother, but as the mirror in which the reflection will be seen of the ideals of this club.

CAPT. LEE SENS TO RE-ENTER

Lee Sens, at onetime a student in the University of Texas and now a discharged Captain of the army visited the school during the last few days. It is expected that he will return and register in the spring term. His work in track and football in the past has been very creditable, and should he come back, he will be a valuable addition in hurdling, broad jumping, and quarter mile running. He was also a member of the 1917 football squad laying halfback.

FRESHMEN BANQUET TO CAP CLIMAX OF ONE PERFECT DAY

Successful Candidate for President of Freshman Class to Be Announced

All Freshmen are urged to remember that the "Y." gives its annual Freshman banquet tomorrow night. All Freshmen should be at some banquet Friday night, the Engineers at their banquet and all other Freshmen at the big banquet at the "Y." The banquet will be absolutely free, it being a treat to the Freshmen by the "Y." All who will attend should notify the "Y." officials before 10 o'clock tonight, so that ample food materials, and a good surplus, will be on hand. Even if they do not notify the officials, they are urged to come on any way.

An excellent program has been arranged for, consisting of good brief talks by prominent speakers. Short speeches will be made by Robert F. Gribble, State Student Secretary, Dr. Wharey of the University faculty, and L. A. Coulter, State General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The supper will be in charge of Miss Beggs who will be assisted by a number of fair co-eds. A supper served by such attendants should be especially attractive to all Freshmen.

The successful candidates in the Freshmen election will be announced at the banquet. This banquet will be a great get-together meeting of the Freshmen, and the large crowd which is expected will be given unusual entertainment. The officials state that the object of the banquet is to fit the Freshman into college life, and to give him an opportunity to get acquainted with his fellow students. Remember the time, Friday night at 6:30.

COQUETTE CORNER ALONG WITH GRIND IS CAUSE OF DELAY

given in his honor. He will play no favorites, and will make the selections upon his own initiative only.

The grind section has quietly been gathering all stories of slang, slander and scandal to be found within the environs of the University. To give an idea of the range of the grind section this year, it may be said that there will be ten more pages added to this department alone. Incriminating evidence has been gathered against the campus buzzards, and it is rumored that some of them are going to eat crow. Pictures will be lavishly distributed throughout the section and where there is no story to explain the picture, the picture will tell its own tale with the suggestion that it carries. Just as man has perfected his weapons of warfare, so has the grind section perfected all means for drawing paroxysms of laughter, and groans of remorse.

FIRST GEOLOGY HIKE

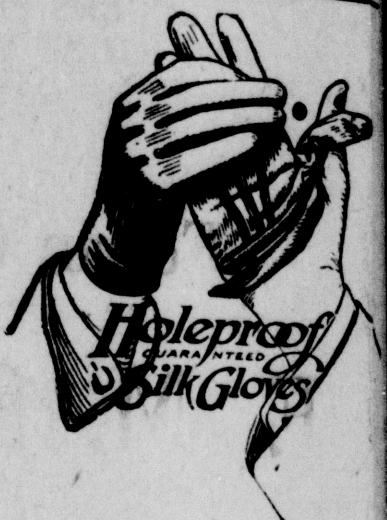

Warm weather and spring sunshine produced tangible results in the form of the first Geology hike of the season this afternoon. Promptly at 2 o'clock, Dr. H. P. Bybee with his section of Geology 1 students was off for the region of Barton Springs. From the make-up of the crowd, it looks as if much of the old interest of such hikes will be lacking this year, there were only three wee small co-eds to stroll with about thirty boys.
