

CELEBRATION TO HAVE SUPPORT OF UNIVERSITY ALUMNI

President of Ex-Students' Association Pledges Co-operation

SOUTH TEXAS BACKS PLAN

Band, on Tour Through Lower Part of State, Finds Enthusiasm for Idea

Ex-students of the University will give unqualified support to the Fortieth Anniversary Celebration to be held at the University May 8-10, according to D. C. Bland of Orange, acting president of Ex-Students' Association. In a conference with William L. McGill, manager of the celebration, Bland stated that a majority of Ex-Students' Associations in the South officially voted for their March 2 banquets to change the dates of the annual reunion from commencement to the anniversary celebration dates.

"I pledge my support to do all I can to make this anniversary celebration a success, both individually and as acting president of the Ex-Students' Association," stated Bland. "I think the time for our annual reunion for this year should be changed and that ex-students should co-operate with the students and faculty in making this a real University celebration. This will be one occasion when the University is united, students, faculty and ex-students."

Ex-students throughout the South Texas towns in which the Longhorn Band appeared expressed interest and approval of the celebration plans, according to McGill. Announcements were made of the Anniversary Celebration were made at each performance of the band and approximately 8,000 persons were reached in this way.

"Much interest was also exhibited by parents of University students, who heard the announcements," stated McGill. "They expressed much appreciation for the distinction given them through the Dad and Mother's Day. Equally as much interest was shown by the parents as by members of the Ex-Students' Associations."

MISS STOLTZUS RETURNS

Miss Amanda Stoltzfus, rural school lecturer in the Bureau of Extension, has just returned from the district meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association held at Santa Anna, where she lectured and gave practical demonstrations on play and recreation in the school. Miss Stoltzfus has been interested in the problem of recreation in the schools for the past several years, and has recently published two bulletins on why children and grown-ups need play.

As April First Draws Near Again Rumor of Resurrected Blunderbuss Fans Interest of Campus News Hounds

Publication of a Blunderbuss is forbidden by a law of the Students' Association of the University, but it is rumored that the yellow journal will make its customary appearance on April 1st, in spite of prohibitory regulations. For several years the Blunderbuss has been under faculty supervision. Last year it was completely abolished, and any student was forbidden to publish an anonymous publication.

When this law was enacted University officials, flighty co-eds, grafters and students in general heaved mingled sighs of regret and relief. A day of pure journalism seemed to be dawning, but this peace was shattered Tuesday morning when word spread over the whole campus that the hottest Buss in history was coming out on Sunday. All of the worst of the year's unconventional acts, and the lowest of the low downs have been assembled and will be broadcasted on April Fool's day. The antique weapon has been

Famous Singer Appears Here Next Week in Concert Performance

When Amelita Galli-Curci, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House, appears in the Men's Gymnasium, Friday evening, April 6, she will sing for the first time in Austin. Her appearance will be a noteworthy one, since she is in considerable demand in Texas cities, and is engaged for concerts nearly every available night.

Galli-Curci will sing again in the winter season at the Metropolitan Opera House and the Chicago Opera Company. She will appear in "Dinorah," "Rigoletto," "Barber of Seville," "Romeo and Juliet," and "Sonnambula," as well as other standard operas.

Homer Samuels, accompanist, and Manuel Berenguer, flutist, will assist Galli-Curci in her concert.

PLAN GIRLS' DORMITORY

Austin People Will Raise Money for Site of $100,000 Building

Plans are well under way to secure a Methodist girls' dormitory, according to Rev. K. P. Barton, pastor of the University Methodist Church. The plan that has been formulated by Texas Methodists, working in conjunction with the officials of the Methodist Centenary Fund, provides that a $100,000 dormitory will be built at Austin, under certain conditions. An appropriation of $66,000 has been made from the Centenary Fund, on the condition that Texas Methodists provide a building site and contribute in addition $34,000 for the building.

Money for the proposed site, which will cost $15,000, is being raised in Austin; while the $34,000 is being subscribed by Methodists all over the State. Unless the Methodists of Texas meet those stipulations the dormitory will be located at some other State university in the South. It is hoped that the entire fund will have been subscribed by April 1, so that a report to that effect may be submitted to the annual meeting of the Southern Conference at that time.

WROE PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST SEMI-FINALS SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Representatives of Literary Societies to Be Reduced to Six

Semi-finals in the Wroe Public Speaking Contest are to be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in the auditorium of the Law Building. At this time representatives from each of the literary societies will speak. From this number the best six speakers will be chosen as entrants for the finals which will be held the night of April 3. No order of merit will be given, but the best six men will merely be mentioned.

The winner in the finals is to be the representative of the University of Texas in the State Oratorical Contest at T. C. U. in the early part of April.

Last night at a meeting of the societies the speakers from each organization were chosen, but no formal announcement as to the men appointed has been made.

Bureau of Extension Worker Makes Survey of Mexicans in Texas

E. E. Davis, specialist in rural research in the Bureau of Extension, has recently made an analysis of the foreign-born Mexican population in Texas in its relation to scholastic conditions and has prepared charts showing the increase and movement of the foreign-born Mexican population in the State for the 20 year period from 1900 to 1920. In 1900 there were 70,981 foreign-born Mexicans in Texas. By 1910 the number had increased to 124,238. By 1920 it was 249,652.

"Many people imagine that most of the Mexicans in Texas live along the Rio Grande frontier," Mr. Davis says. "This is a great mistake. The greatest density of rural foreign-born Mexican population in Texas is in Caldwell County, 90 miles to the east of San Antonio. The main current of the Mexican migration to Texas for the past 20 years extends to the northeast from San Antonio. It passes Austin and is showing a tendency to follow the black land counties toward Waco and Dallas."

Stewart Greeted Enthusiastically By Student Body

In an informal get-together, Coach E. J. Stewart was introduced to University students Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A. Gathering in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. the students were led in several yells by Shorty Nowotny who later introduced Mr. Stewart to the players and rooters.

"Doc" Stewart made a short speech in which he expressed his gratitude for the splendid reception given him. Mr. Stewart's talk was very forceful showing the strong personality of our new coach. He especially urged that the support of the student body be given wholeheartedly to the team.

As the closing event of the evening the entire gathering was personally introduced to Varsity's new mentor. A long line was formed which slowly filed by the coach and each member received his hearty hand clasp. Refreshments of orange and white ice cream and cake were furnished by the Athletic Council.

Dr. Kuehne, who toured from Texas to Yellow Stone Park, will illustrate his lecture with colored slides made from pictures that he took in the park and along the route.

Curtain Club Repeats Success of First Evening Performance

"The Thirteenth Chair" Holds Second Audience Closely

Bearing out the impression of more than amateur proficiency in stage presentation given in the first performance, the Curtain Club gave a second performance of "The Thirteenth Chair" at the Hancock Theatre Tuesday night, before an even larger audience than that which witnessed the play at its first presentation.

Among the cast, the work of Kathleen Burnett as Madame Rosalie La Grange, the Irish spiritualistic medium, stood out clearly for strength and dramatic appeal. With no ostentation or playing up, she made the quiet little Irishwoman the dominating figure whenever she appeared on the stage.

Supporting Cast

Although she easily starred in the performance, she was ably and effectively supported by the rest of the cast: Hazel Edwards as Helen O'Neill, Madame La Grange's daughter and secretary to Mrs. Crosby, played by Minnie A. Wolfe; James Hamilton as Roscoe Crosby; William P. Gaines as Will Crosby, the son, fiancé of Helen; LeGare Atmar as Edward Wales; Paul Page as Philip Mason, the murderer; Constance Douglas as Helen Trent, Crosby's daughter; Lawton Gambill as Bradish Trent; Mary Elizabeth Boone as Mary Eastwood, the suspicious member of the group; Wilmer Page as Elizabeth Erskine; George Alma Terrell as Grace Standish; Byron Martin as Howard Standish; Ben Howell as Pollock, the butler; Charles Heimsath as the police inspector; George Groce as Sergeant Dunn; and Marshall Bell as Doolan.

Howard Mumford Jones directed the production; the stage setting was designed and executed by Peter Ames Vincent.

Sketch of Story

The story, frankly the most lurid sort of melodrama, held the audience tense throughout, as on the previous evening. The plot centers about the attempt of Wales to utilize the superstitions of spiritualism to discover the murderer of his friend, Spencer Lee, and then in the unraveling of the circumstances of the murder of Wales, which takes place on the stage during the first scene. The latter part of the play centers about the attempts of the

SPEAKERS TELL NEEDS OF PRESENT-DAY SOCIETY

J. Pluvius Sinks Clark Field In Sloughs of Mud

Old J. Pluvius sat up in his watery domains and decreed a day of gloom for all the University when he said that the second game between the Southwestern Pirates and the Longhorns could not be played unless a non-sinkable ball was used and the players were issued hip boots. Monday's game was called off because of the cold and His Nibs was jealous of the works of the man from the North and he retaliated by making the second game impossible.

There was no room for argument. When J. Pluvius commenced, he held the stage for a full twenty-four hours and everyone was ready to throw up hands and declare him the victor. Clark Field was made into one of the leading swimming pools of the State and Deep Eddy looks like a mud hole in comparison.

If the rain continues one Billy Disch will be applying for a position teaching the co-eds to swim (a younger man could not get the job) and Col. Prater will put his splendid razzing voice into use as the bouncer to humiliate the boys into keeping away from Clark Field.

HOLCK AND ROEST DO NOT ASK FOR COMMUNIST RULE

Foreign Students Believe Communism Is in Conflict With Christian Socialism

ADVOCATE COOPERATION

Labor and Capital Must Learn to Work Together on Altruistic Basis

By Elizabeth Boykin

"Youth movement in Europe requires co-operation between the forces of capital and labor, and a social system in which ideals and business interests can exist in harmony," according to the foreign students who are lecturing in this country under the auspices of the National Students' Forum. Jorgen Holck of Denmark and Piet Roest of Holland spoke on the movement Tuesday afternoon in the girl's study hall.

"We do not advocate communism as a remedy for all ills of society. We are opposed to the methods of this theory, which constitute the main difference between it and Christian Socialism. The forces of communism favor the use of main strength, while those of socialism work by gradual education and evolution. According to the ideas of Europeans it would be quite impossible for one to be both a Christian Socialist and a Communist," said Mr. Holck.

Must Enter Business

"Before the ideals of altruism can be manifested in the business world it is necessary that the altruists go into business themselves. It is true that students have preferred to become teachers, doctors, and scientists, but as long as they shirk this field they cannot expect others to be imbued with the spirit which they alone have, a spirit which cannot be absorbed by individuals who have had no contact with ideals of altruism.

"Business is as high a calling as any of the professions and the desired change cannot come about as long as the younger generation flees from it. Principles of the Youth Movement will never be practiced till the dreamers go into it; they must not desert this new sphere."

Co-operation Needed

"The problem that arises comes from the fact that under the present system the idealists cannot live. If we attain co-operation, both factions can live together and prosper and help each other."

The ultra egoistic viewpoint which confronts the business world cannot be overcome until the people in the business change and altruism in business becomes possible, the foreign students believe.

"Laborers are an undeniable part of humanity as well as are those who control; capital as well as labor want life and they can obtain this only through the co-operative spirit. An attempt was recently made to bring together the laborers and the bourgeoisie; the result was that both perished and no class war existed. They began to understand each other. We must go down to the human principles which are alike for all beings, and then we see that the problem does not exist," declared Mr. Roest.

Holck and Roest believe that while there is no hunger for industry and money making among those who could bring the right principles into this field, that they should enter and overcome the handicaps which they find in business.

Kathleen Burnett as Madame Rosalie La Grange, the Irish spiritualistic medium, was the outstanding performer of the cast presenting "The Thirteenth Chair" at the Hancock Theatre Tuesday night.

RAIN CALLS OFF FIRST WORKOUT OF STEWART

Spring Training for Football Now Scheduled to Begin Wednesday

Because of a steady rain for twenty-four hours, "Doc" Stewart, Varsity's new mentor, was unable to hold his first football workout Tuesday. Weather permitting, the delayed opening of the spring training will be held Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock.

Tuesday was Stewart's busy day and he was occupied all morning and evening getting acquainted with the prospects for the 1923 eleven. During the day, Stewart held short conferences with the men from last year's Varsity, Shorthorn and freshman squads.

A large number of men have already been equipped with football togs and a still larger number is expected to be suited. All men who have a knowledge of the fundamentals of the game will be out fighting to make a showing worthy of a trial on next year's first squad.

THE FAILURE OF COMMUNISM

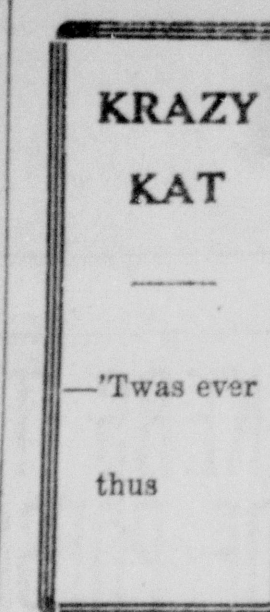

"What is a Communist! One that hath yearnings For equal division of unequal earnings. Idler or bungler, or both, he is willing To fork out his penny and pocket your shilling."

—Corn Law Rhyme

The foreign students who are visiting the University under the auspices of the National Student Forum are following the usual formula of radicals, especially young radicals, in damning the present order and holding out to view a magnificent, glowing and perfect order of society which they would substitute for the present "rotten European culture." Even the casual thinker can agree with the foreign visitors that ignorance and prejudices, religious, class and racial, should be discarded. But among all the theories and abstractions of the "young radicals," the only concrete plan or order of society which they have mentioned seems to be that of communism.

What is communism? In its simplest meaning it embraces a system of social organization in which goods and property are held in common; while, in actual practice, it may mean social and political chaos and despotism which have developed in Communist Russia. Although the dominant motive of many, if not most, of the communists has been to abolish the right of private property and force all individuals who have property to share it with others who have not, it should not be concluded that all advocates of the theory have been wholly selfish in their aims. Great characters, like Plato, More, and Robert Owen have advocated the ideals of communism; and their influence has been felt in the social and economic development of the world. Communism is no new-fangled doctrine—it has had its advocates in every age and country, usually taking the form of extreme dissatisfaction with the existing economic conditions. The doctrine found expression in Plato's Republic and in More's Utopia. Many attempts have been made to put the theory into practice, as in the Oneida community, the society of the Shakers, the Owenite colonies, and the Icarian communities.

Communism eventually has always failed wherever tried because it does not consider and have due regard for the fundamental facts in human nature, human weaknesses, passions, ambitions, and characteristics. Communism in the ideal would have every one equal, with identical opportunities, resources, and advantages. The theory is pretty in the idealistic conception, but is wrecked in every attempt to put it into practice through the essential fact that people are not made in the same mould, subject to the same impulses, or dominated by the same motives and aspirations. Some are weak, others are strong; some are dull, others are talented; some are lazy, others are energetic; some are unscrupulous, others are conscientious; some are devils, others are saints.

Even Soviet Russia, dominated by the Bolsheviks, has discovered after several years of trial that communism is not practical; that a new bourgeoisie has appeared to take the place of the old order that was abolished; that a new landlord class is developing and that private property is returning in fact, if not yet in form; and that the communistic regime has led to complete paralysis of commerce, industry and social life. The Bolsheviks realize the failure of communism to the extent that they are gradually making a strategic retreat from the doctrine, although they continue to employ the unofficial Third Internationale as the propagandist of communism, with the ultimate aim being to promote world revolution.

Ideals of communism have brought considerable good to the world—they have aided in the establishment of universal education and in the growth of beneficial co-operative movements in industry. The world, however, has not been, and would not be, benefitted by adopting communism itself; but only derives benefit from applying the searchlight on existing conditions and making desirable changes which the theory of communism, as well as other doctrines, may point out. In other words, communism has failed and will continue to fail because it urges a complete revolution in the social and economic order, rather than a gradual and sane evolution toward more desirable conditions. The communists, intoxicated by dreams of their Utopia, would discard the entire present order and organization as being "rotten," thus forgetting that modern society is the development of centuries of human effort and experience. The present order of society may have its defects, but improvement must come through an acceptance of the existing status, as the result of the best experience of the ages, with the additional sensible desire to improve things by working upward from this sound foundation, rather than by tearing down the entire structure and attempting to start anew.

SILVER FOOTBALL GIVEN TO FRESHMAN LINESMAN

Mat Newell, center on the freshman football eleven of last fall, has been awarded a silver football by Moritz Silver, of the Driskill Barber Shop, for being the best developed line man on the Frosh team the past year. Newell, formerly a star on the St. Edward's College football team, was one of the main cogs in the freshman team the past year, and much is expected of him during the coming year in Varsity football.

Inter-frat Players Postpone Baseball Contests Wednesday

Most all of the games in the Inter-fraternity baseball league scheduled for Wednesday afternoon have been postponed by mutual agreement of the respective teams in order that the players may have the opportunity of witnessing the New York Giants-Austin Ranger game Wednesday afternoon.

Manager John J. McGraw will bring all of his first string World Champions to Austin for the Ranger game and it is expected that many Varsity fans will crowd the Ranger Park Wednesday afternoon to see in action such players as Frankie Frisch, "Beauty" Bancroft, and other baseball celebrities.

Woman's P.T. Staff Completes Program for Term Activities

With the close of the winter term, the department of physical training for women re-organized entirely, changing all athletics to sports, and putting them all out of doors except dancing. All regular P. T. classes are discontinued, the girls having to sign up for some sport. The schedule completed, is as follows:

Monday and Friday
8 a. m.—dancing, tennis and archery. 9 a. m.—dancing, swimming, Woman's Building pool, three sections of twenty minutes each, for beginners; tennis and archery. 10 a. m.—swimming, Woman's Building pool, three sections; 11 a. m.—swimming, Woman's Building pool, three

Dear Mr. Ette: I am a pretty co-ed, sixteen years old and have never been kissed. It is wrong to kiss? Ans. I can't answer this, Sixteen, through these columns but I will gladly call tomorrow night to tell you personally what I think about it. Will you please send your address and telephone number?

The Tuesday-Thursday schedule is the same. In regard to the riding classes, these have been arranged for the afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, beginner classes and advanced alternating. It is expected that all who, under the regulations, are supposed to take regular physical training, will sign up for one of these sports at the beginning of the new term, on the lists in the Woman's Gymnasium. They may also add an extra outdoor activity if they so desire.

YOUNG'S LATEST BOOK MEETS WITH SUCCESS

Judging from the very favorable reviews of Stark Young's latest book, "The Flower in Drama," the book has met with the decided approval of dramatic and literary critics. Mr. Young was for seven years professor of English at the University of Texas, and was the originator of the Curtain Club. The work comprises a number of articles about various phases of drama and the stage and gets its base from the article called "The Flower," which deals with the Japanese ghost plays, especially those produced by Seami, the fifteenth century playwright. Mr. Young has returned to Austin for a brief visit.

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED FOR STUDENT SCENARIO

Besides Prize Manuscript, All Usable Ones Will Be Bought

To the student who submits the best scenario in the "Laemmle Scholarship Contest" that is being conducted by the Universal Pictures Corporation of Universal City, California, in the interest of better pictures for the screen, a scholarship will be awarded.

All students regularly enrolled in the University are eligible to enter the contest. Under the rules of the contest, all contestants are requested to typewrite their scenarios in short story form, in the briefest manner possible. The working script will be made in the company's own scenario department. In addition to the scholarship, such scenarios as can be used will be bought at not less than five hundred dollars.

All scenarios must be mailed from the University before May 15, 1923. Scenarios once entered can not be withdrawn, and an option is held on the purchase of all stories submitted. The right to make such changes as is deemed necessary on the purchased scenarios is also reserved. The name of the authors of the winning scenario and his University will appear on the film. The winner will be announced some time before September 15, 1923.

The contest has received the approval of the University authorities, and all students desiring to enter should see Dr. J. J. Weber, I Hall, room 8, at once in order to secure additional detailed instructions.

"Moon," a story of the means, manners and mode of living of the rich, little did she think, perhaps, of the expense and trouble she was going to cause Paramount when it undertook the job of translating her story for the screen.

In a novel it is easy to move characters from Lake Como to Venice, thence to Paris and St. Moritz, little did she think, perhaps, of the sentences, but erecting such settings for a motion picture is another thing.

Allan Dwan's Paramount production of "The Glimpses of the Moon," which will be on view at the Majestic Theatre tomorrow is just one lavish setting after another in which piquant Bebe Daniels, statuesque Nita Naldi, Ruby De Remer, David Powell, Charles Gerrard and Maurice Costello move in the portrayal of the characters of this many angled drama.

DEPARTMENTAL TENNIS PLAYERS MUST SIGN UP

All men who wish to take part in departmental tennis are notified by Berry M. Whitaker to sign up at the Athletic Council office before April 4. The competition is open to all students who are not on the Varsity tennis squad. Whitaker expressed the belief that an exceptionally large number of men would be expected to participate in this year's race.

The championship will be decided for the doubles only and each man should have a partner sign up with him. The preliminaries will consist of three sets and the finals will be five sets in length.

PAMPHLET ISSUED

An interesting little pamphlet has just been published by the Division of Visual Instruction of the Bureau of Extension describing the work of the division. The pamphlet contains detailed information for those schools and communities of Texas where work of the division is not well-known. It is hoped that this pamphlet will induce such schools and communities to register with the division.

THEATRES

Hancock

What critics say is one of the best bills that has made the Majestic vaudeville circuit this season will be shown in Austin next Monday at the Hancock Opera House.

Manager L. Novy has engaged the entire Majestic bill of six acts for two performances in his theatre here Monday.

"I am going to see whether or not Austin again wants big time vaudeville," said Mr. Novy. "If Monday's patronage shows that Austin wants further vaudeville I will book additional acts for this theatre."

Queen

There is thrilling work done in "Broken Chains," which is presenting Coleen Moore in an unforgettable role as the wife of a brutal outlaw, and is forced to marry him by her step-father to save her mother's life, and as the cowed wife, the adorable mother whose baby died she is wonderful.

The story is a gripping one in every line and Ernest Torrence, as the husband, is a superb actor. Not one who will be liked, for one would have to hate a man who would chain his wife in his cabin, beat her and make her less than the dust beneath his feet, but his character work is unsurpassed.

An added attraction at the Queen for three days, starting today, is J. D. Cole, known as the boy with the golden voice. Mr. Cole has appeared in theaters throughout the South and has made a big hit wherever he has appeared. He made his initial appearance in Austin in the Lions' "Dixie Revue" and was compelled to respond to several encores.

VARSITY TRACK MEN SHOW WELL IN EARLY WORK

Rice Institute Comes to Austin on April 7 for Dual Meet

Rice Institute sends up her fast Rice Owls on April 7 for a dual track meet with Varsity for the first Conference meet of the season. The Houston aggregation boasts of practically the same line-up that Varsity met last year supported by such former Frosh material as Fitch who promises to be one of the fastest dash men in the Conference.

Taking the five-cornered meet from the Frosh, Shorthorns, St. Edward's College and Austin High School, Varsity cinder-path and field men showed championship ability that promises well for a championship season, unless the early season signs are mistaken.

Stinnett Shows Up Well

In the dash department the University showed up exceptionally well with Beaumont Stinnett, the flashy Varsity athlete who defeated Lindsay of Rice last year and placed in the meet with Illinois, looking up well. Stinnett won first places in the century and the 220 yard event. His time for the 100 yard event was better than he has done heretofore, 10.1 seconds. In the 220 run he broke the tape after exactly 22 seconds which is also better than he has done before, but due to some inaccuracy in the watches this time is slightly faster than it should be. "Bully" Gilstrap finished only a step behind in the 100- winning second place in a fast field.

The 440 dash is also a strong point. Ritchie and McNatt placed in first and second positions at the tape after a fast race. Tittsworth, however did not finish third as he was expected to but was nosed out by the Shorthorn entry.

Reese Strong in Half

In the half mile run unexpected strength was shown when Jim Reese, somewhat of a dark horse, rounded the track twice in the Conference record breaking time of 1 minute and 59 seconds. This betters the record by a full second. Hawley and Vickers took the next two places in the finish.

Captain Loop easily took the mile affair and he seems certain to place in all of his meets this season as he did last year. Gardner and Williams are strong running mates for the track captain in the mile grind. The two mile runners follow Trout who is the holder of the Conference record in this long run. Youngblood and Muller are the two men who regularly essay the long endurance grind. The two first mentioned men finished the race in the meet last Saturday in the order named.

The relay team with Ritchie, McNatt, Tittsworth, and Reese each taking the lap looks good if they continue the stellar running they showed in the first meet.

With Gilstrap demonstrating his ability at the javelin in the first meet by hurling the wand 186 feet, about three feet better than the Conference record it seems certain that if he continues true to form he will add first place points right along. Seconded by Hemsell who also will pitch the discus along with Dayvault who won first place in the first meet both departments look good. Dayvault at the shot put also bolsters this department to real competitive class.

Barnore, McCorquodale, and Atkinson look like a winning trio in the pole vault. Although the height of 11 feet which won the meet does not look encouraging the men will probably perform in better form later in the season. The broad jump and high jump are the especial weak places on the squad now. Both first places in these events were taken by Frosh with Varsity men training.

PORTER WILL TALK ON UNIVERSITY RESEARCH

Mathematics Professor Speaks Under Auspices of University Lectureship

Beginning a series of lectures under the auspices of the University Research Lectureship Milton Brockett Porter of the department of pure mathematics will speak at the University Baptist Church, Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Dr. Porter's inaugural lecture, which will be on the subject of "The University and Research," will be followed by three others, setting forth the results of his investigations during the past year.

The University Research Lectureship, which was inaugurated last year by the Regents at the suggestion of the committee on public lectures, is an annual honor awarded to the member of the faculty who, in the opinion of the Graduate Council, has done most to advance knowledge in his field. Dr. Porter was selected last year by the Graduate Council from the field of science and mathematics. This year that body will select a member of the faculty who has done most in social science.

Preliminary Lists of Summer Work Issued in Recent Bulletin

Preliminary lists of courses for the next summer session of the University are now available in a bulletin giving descriptions of courses in the different subjects to be taught and the names of the instructors in charge of each. According to an announcement of Dr. Frederick Eby, dean of the summer school, more than 150 courses will be offered in the first term of the summer school, thirty of which are in education alone. During the second session, 100 courses will be offered, fifteen being in education.

The first term of the summer session begins June 7 and continues through July 21. The beginning of the second term of the summer session will be July 27, and the closing date on which the summer commencement exercises will be held in August 31. There will be more than thirty teachers in the summer normal, and it is expected that more than 700 students will attend the normal alone. It will be held from June 11 to August 9, and many courses intended for normal students can be applied as credit toward a college degree.

OLD MAP OF TEXAS IS ADDED TO ARCHIVES

Among the latest documents added to the archives of the University, is a map of Texas dated 1837 which was presented to Dr. Charles W. Ramsdell, professor of American history, by H. W. McGee of Marshall. The map was originally the property of Dr. James A. Starr, who held public office under the government of the Republic of Texas.

The map, which shows the organization of the first counties in the State, has been hanging in an office wall in the redlands district for years. It is so thoroughly discolored by dust that it looks like a large square of sandy soil, with faint black veins which show the early boundary lines. This map will be placed in the new steel map case, which has just been added to the furnishings of the archive department.

Construction Expert Will Give Illustrated Lecture to Engineers

Homer M. Matthews, assistant state bridge engineer, and formerly associated with the Mexico Power and Light Company, will give an illustrated lecture to engineers on the construction of a hydro-electric project recently completed in Mexico, Wednesday evening, at 7:30, in K Hall 5.

Mr. Matthews will show about eighty slides illustrating the construction and the working of the Mexican project which was built in the region of Mexico City. He was officer-engineer on the project, and he brings first-hand information about the harnessing of the hydro-electric power furnishing electricity to Mexico City and adjoining towns.

BARBECUE SHOP OPENS ON EAST FIFTH STREET

Old Style Method of Preparing Meat Will Be Used

Students and housekeepers in Austin have found a solution of the meat supply problem, for Frank Joffrion, the barbecue expert, has opened an establishment at 104 East Fifth Street catering to the most exacting cooks in choice cuts of prize winning beef, in addition to supplying patrons with pork, chicken and ham, as well being prepared to serve patrons for picnics, dinners and camping parties. A cafe service and tables for women diners are also maintained for those who desire to eat at this establishment.

Every visitor to the cafe is asked by Charles Nitschke, local manager, to inspect the barbecue pits, which are different in construction from every other pit now in use. The barbecue is cooked from eight to ten hours over the heat of a wood fire, and with every pound that is sold there is a positive guarantee as to its flavor and richness.

The cafe is open daily and Sunday from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. and free delivery service is given.

Band Returns After Successful Tour of South Part of State

Members of the Longhorn Band returned from the southern tour Tuesday afternoon, after an extensive trip which included stops at Brenham, Galveston, Beaumont, Houston, Port Arthur, Orange, Victoria, Bay City. Preparations were begun as soon as the property was unloaded for the performances in Austin which will be given Monday and Tuesday, April 2 and 3.

Burnett Pharr, director of the organization, stated that he was well pleased with the showing that the band had made on the tour, and that he felt that many friends of the University had been drawn closer to the school through this new contact. The band also carried the message of the Fortieth Annual Celebration to the 8,500 persons who heard the performances.

El Paso Lawyer Chosen as Commencement Speaker for Seniors

For the graduation exercises of the University in June, President R. E. Vinson has invited Judge J. M. Goggan of El Paso to deliver the commencement address. Dr. Vinson states that the invitation has been accepted. He will himself deliver the baccalaureate sermon. This announcement was made after a request by the senior laws and the senior academics that Dr. Vinson himself deliver the graduation address.

Judge Goggan is a member of the first class which was graduated by the University, and the invitation was extended to him at the suggestion of the other members of the first class.

SUMMER STUDENTS TO HEAR STORY TELLER

Mr. Wythe will lecture and tell stories both in the afternoons and evenings during one week of the first term.

CAMPUS SHORTS

Students from the ages of 16 to 60 are registered for correspondence courses, according to a statement of Miss Julia Vance, registrar of the extension teaching division. The average age for the students, however, is 27. The most popular course is English, but a wide variety of subjects are taught by specialists in each field of study. There were 2,800 students enrolled from December, 1922, until December, 1923. Recently there have been 252 new registrations, and 99 students have completed courses. This year's enrollment for correspondence courses shows an increase of 18 per cent over last year's registration.

C. P. Benedict, a prominent cattleman of Midland, is in Austin visiting his brother, H. Y. Benedict, dean of the college of arts and sciences. The purpose of his visit is to present the claims in behalf of Midland as the proper place for the location of the Texas Technological College.

That the University Commons is rapidly becoming the favored location for University banquets is shown by the fact that during the winter term fifty-three banquets were held there. Many are given in the private dining room, which is tastefully furnished in mahogany period buffets, tables and chairs, the rugs and draperies toning in with dull blues and rich grays.

Speakers

Tuesday evening, at the meeting of the Speakers Club, the following officers were elected for the spring term: Charles Spence, president; J. L. Bilberry, vice-president; Robert Jones Jr., secretary and treasurer; J. H. H. Dennis Jr., critic and J. Desha Patton, sergeant-at-arms.

University Y.M.C.A. Elects Officers for Next Long Session

Election of officers for the coming year was held by the University Young Men's Christian Association at a called meeting Tuesday night at 8:30 in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The following men were elected to serve during the session of 1923-1924: Herman A. Brantigan, of Jewett, president; Ralph Wood of Houston, vice-president; and Byron Kennedy of Coleman, secretary.

Elections are held at the beginning of the spring of each long session to select officers for the following year. Much interest is shown in the work being done by the Y. M. C. A. by those who are directly in charge of such work and especially were the meeting and elections Tuesday night interesting as some of the candidates and campaign managers aroused much enthusiasm by their speeches and repartee.
