MRS. STARK AT LUNCHEON

Over $900 Given by Her on Basis of 10 Per Cent of Student Totals

Reports made Friday at the second luncheon of the New Students Stadium organization showed that subscriptions amounting to $4,586.50 had been obtained during the second day of the drive, making a total of $9,048.50 raised by the students. This amount, plus the ten per cent promised by Mrs. H. J. Lutzer Stark, gives a grand total of $9,953.35 to date.

Division E, led by Frank Holt, is leading the field with pledges totalling $1415, and closely seconded by Division D, headed by Nelson Green, with a total of $1401. Other divisions followed with complete reports as follows: Division A, $1210; Division B, $843; and Division C, $1019.

Team 20 Leads

Of the individual teams, Number 20, captained by H. L. Lewis, carried off the honors of the day with a report of $326. Other ranking teams were: Number 24, Marv Catherine Givens, captain, $285; Number 25, Sam Polk, captain, $240; and Number 2, Nick Williams, captain, $240. Totals were materially increased by reports of the Men's Flying Squadron, Bill Rippey, chairman, with pledges of $1,000 and the Women's Flying Squadron, Stella Peden, chairman, with pledges of $875.

Features of the luncheon Friday at the cafeteria were the presentation of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lutzer Stark to the new students and a short talk by Coach E. J. Stewart. Bob Murphy, who Thursday challenged the workers to compete with him in raising some $100 pledges, repeated the proposition at the meeting yesterday. Max Fichtenbaum also gave the new students some additional instructions and complimented them for their good results despite the continued bad weather.

THE OBSCURE STAR

You may talk of speedy halfback. Flashing lightning in his dash. Of the brilliant, heady quarter. Who in headlines makes his splash. Of the passes that the star end snarles with flash.

You may brag of hefty fullback. Who can launch a smashing drive. But the unsung guard and tackle. With the center, unknown, strive. Making holes that star the fullback. With a dive.

Out of the numerous stars in the Baylor line-up, three will stand out head and shoulders over the rest of the rabble as the greatest obstacles in the way of a Texas triumph. Bear Walker has made the mythical all-conference each and every time he tried. In '23 and '24 he was the lightest and greatest of the Baptist linemen. This season is his third threat for recognition and is due to be his greatest. Knowing the game from the well known A to the equally famous Z, the Bear is a model of strategy. Cool, calculated ferocity here takes the place of brute rage. It must be admitted even by his enemies that Bear is the berries. Big Sam Coates is considered by many the most powerful cog in the Golden offense, and not without reason. His terrific sweeps on the famous "tackle around" as well as his uncanny pass catching proclivities won Samuel a place on the All-Southwestern last year and the big fellow is fairly certain to repeat. On the defensive he has recently still-d the numerous doubts as to his worth in this department. If he starts at

Bears Arrive Ready for Battle; Special Train Brings Rooters

After going through a snappy signal drill as the final practice before the game this afternoon, the Baylor Bears put the final touches to their week of strenuous training, and left for Austin in motor busses at 5 o'clock, arriving here shortly after 9 last night. The team stopped for dinner at Temple, and after arriving here were put up at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel.

Lead by the veteran "Bear" Walker, the Bears were in the best of spirits, and looked ready to give the Steers everything in their power. Because of the soggy field, the outcome of the encounter is more or less a toss-up, but there is the strategy and tricks of the crafty Baylor coach to be reckoned with. Chances are that the Baylorites will depend largely on some of Bridges pet off-tackle or similar plays to bring them victory.

Squad in Good Shape

The squad as a whole arrived in good shape, and though reports have put Jack Sisco out for the rest of the season because of injuries received in the Notre Dame and A. & M. games, there is a probability that he gets in today. The big forward is not in the best of condition, and the Bear mentor is going to take no chances on losing him for next year by further injuries.

With Howard Hartzog back in the game and Sam Coates, star tackle, in good condition, the Steer offense will have two strongholds to get by as both men have been outstanding this year though the Bears have made a poor showing so far this season. Hill Forman, veteran end, and Bubba Nash, also a wingman, are ready for the whistle, but there is a possibility that Coates will be started at one of the end posts.

After having gone through an almost disastrous season, Baylor sup-

Colored Cards Will Also Be Used in Spelling Out "Texas"

Eight hundred men are to form the Longhorn Steer head and the word Texas as a portion of the bleacher stunts to be staged by the men's rooting section today, according to Bill Rippey, cheer leader.

According to the very elaborate plans which are being made for the bleacher stunts the Steer head is to be orange upon a white background. All the men participating in the stunts must wear white shirts and bow ties. It is very necessary that

Presenting Coach Bridges With Eight of His Growling Baylor Bears

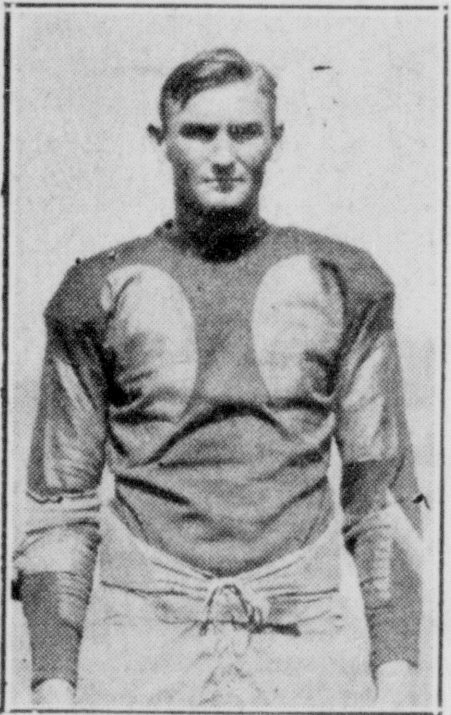

Primed for war Coach Frank Bridges' Bears match brain and brawn against determined revenge of eleven Orange and White fighters on the Stadium Field today. Hoozat there? He's Green, one of the hefty ends of the heavy Baylor aggregation. The next fellow, left to right, doing the imitation of the "light fantastic" is no other than Kelly, who plays at fullback. He has been told, likely, that victory over Texas is better than honey—or a conference title. Johnson, half, is better known as Boody Johnson, who turned the Interscholastic League topsy turvy once upon a time. Some say that the crafty Bridges has been feeding Boody raw steak to create a love for Steer meat. Has he been sayed to turn loose against Texas? Mebbe. Naylor at quarter is the general who calls for those puzzling end-around plays. Maxwell and Slade are two wing men. And then comes Slade, Coates, Nash—all ends. The next fellow, Coach Frank Bridges, himself, in person, is the cause of it all.

Longhorn Harriers Expect Stiff Competition from Aggie Squad Today

ESQUIVEL DOPED TO LEAD FIELD

Cross Country Meet Will End in Stadium Just Before Game

By Barry Bishop

Promptly at 1:30 this afternoon Coach McLean's harriers will take off from the starting line located between Z Hall and the Law Building, for the dual cross country meet with seven opposing cross country men from A and M. This meet will be run on Varsity's regular course, making the distance stretch out to about four and one-tenth miles, and will have the finish line on the Stadium track, thus serving as a curtain-raiser for today's game with the Baylor Bears.

Coach McLean is expecting the Aggies to put up a rather stiff fight in the meet today, and he is looking for some stiff opposition in the five letter-men that A and M. will probably run in the race. The seven Texas men that will be lined up at the start this afternoon will be the following, according to McLean: Esquivel, Connor, captain of the squad; Miller, Lowe, McCarroll, Bubar, and Vestal.

The Texas coach has not learned the men that will represent the Farmers, but they will probably include the five letter-men from the squads of previous years. These are Barnard, who served on the Aggie squad in '23 and '24; Bowen, also a '23 and '24 man; Clyde Johnson, cross country man of the team of '24; Killian, from last year's team; and Crump, a veteran of the '24 squad. The other two men will be selected out of a list of eligible men including: Childers, Essary, Hallie, Hembree, Macy, and Menger. The ability of these men is not known exactly, and McLean will have his men on the look-out for any dark horse that might arise in their ranks.

Out of the first five men in the race that count in the scoring, the Longhorn coach has little doubt but that Sandy Esquivel, flashy distance man from El Paso, will break the tape some distance ahead of his nearest rival. For the past week, he has been showing good form and McLean is pinning his highest hopes on his star runner. In the meet last Saturday with S. M. U., Sandy broke the tape fully a quarter of a mile ahead of the nearest Mustang runner.

With the exception of Esquivel, however, all of the other runners are pretty evenly matched and will probably finish within 150 yards of one another, as they have been doing this week while training. According to Coach McLean, his team of men is slightly better balanced this year than it was last season. Last year, two stars were running for Texas, Coale and Esquivel. Coale's absence leaves only one man, the flashy Esquivel, as an outstanding star. Vestal has been showing up better than Gurnall this week, and will probably take the latter's place.

Connor is probably the second best man on the team this year, with Miller following close behind him for third honors. Bubar probably deserves fourth over his other teammates whose places are rather hard to determine.

Stiff Competition

Considering A. & M.'s men as they performed last season, Crump and Killian were both good men and made a good showing last year. In the conference meet last year, Crump finished immediately behind Connor, captain of the team this year. In the dual meet between A. & M. and Texas last year, Crump finished ahead of Connor, coming in for ninth place. Barnard and Johnson, two more of A. & M.'s letter-men, finished in thirteenth and fourteenth places last year in the conference meet. These two men also mixed it with the Texas man in the dual meet. Barnard bested Miller of Texas in this encounter, while Johnson nosed out Williams. In the conference meet, however, conditions were reversed, and Miller and Williams both came out ahead of their rivals.

Bowen, another star for the Aggies, is a good man when he keeps in training. He finished Number 18 in the conference meet last year, in a field of about 40 runners.

In looking over the Conference results last year and omitting all the men except those of the Aggie and Texas teams, it will be seen that Connor and Crump match up pretty evenly, and it is very probable that second honors will fall to one of the two men. Of the others, Miller and Barnard pair up evenly, while Bubar's nearest rival is Johnson.

GRIDIRON FOES IN CONFLICT TODAY

for the Longhorns in recent years.

Two years ago it was Baylor that held the great Longhorn football team, the best team this school ever had, to a tie in Waco. The next spring it was Baylor that broke the long winning streak of Coach Billy Disch and his baseball boys, and incidentally won the only game the Longhorns lost that year. And it was last November, over in the new stadium, that Baylor administered the most decisive defeat suffered by the Longhorn football team in recent years, the score being 28 to 10.

Bears Out to Win
Coach Bridges, the Bears, Baylor, and Jinx Tucker, the well-known Waco sports writer whose loyalty to Baylor cannot be questioned, have received no small amount of merit over these triumphs. As Alexander wept that he had no more countries to conquer, so Bridges has wept that he had no more games to play with the Longhorns. He has feared little about the results of other games, to beat Texas has been his great goal.

Two years ago Jinx Tucker covered up the strength of the powerful Baylor team so cleverly that the Longhorns were not prepared, mentally or physically, for the battle. Last year the Longhorns had a poor team, while Coach Bridges had one of the greatest arrays of talent in the history of the conference.

The Bears are here today, confident that they can again humble the Longhorns. Although they have lost practically all of their games this season, Frank Bridges is confident he can inspire his men to super efforts against Texas. And maybe he can.

Conditions Different

But conditions today are not analogous to the way they were last year or two years ago. Jinx Tucker has not been able to cover up the Baylor team as he did two years ago. Despite the poor record of the Bears, the student body knows that Baylor has wonderful material this year, but the team simply has not started. The Longhorns have been unable to practice this week because of the weather, and the heavy field will favor the Bears. But the Longhorn team of this year is far superior to the aggregation of 1924. The team this year has the ability to defeat the Bears, providing the boys play at their best and receive a fair share of the breaks of the game.

Coach Stewart has been confronted with all kinds of obstacles this week, but he will put a team on the field today that is as strong as any eleven that has represented the University in two years. Determined to secure revenge for the loss of last year and for the tie of the previous year, the Longhorns will enter the although Johnson has a little edge on the Texas runner from his last year's showing. Bowen and Lowe will also run about the same, it is thought, in the race, despite the fact that Bowen has a little more experience than Lowe.

As a spectacular finish to the race, the men will come down 21st Street and enter the stadium ground through the south gate. Running north on the east side of the track, they will continue around until they reach the finish in front of the west stands. According to McLean, the race will probably end about 2 o'clock.

Stiff Competition

Considering A. & M.'s men as they performed last season, Crump and Killian were both good men and made a good showing last year. In the conference meet last year, Crump finished immediately behind Connor, captain of the team this year. In the dual meet between A. & M. and Texas last year, Crump finished ahead of Connor, coming in for ninth place. Barnard and Johnson, two more of A. & M.'s letter-men, finished in thirteenth and fourteenth places last year in the conference meet. These two men also mixed it with the Texas man in the dual meet. Barnard bested Miller of Texas in this encounter, while Johnson nosed out Williams. In the conference meet, however, conditions were reversed, and Miller and Williams both came out ahead of their rivals.

Bowen, another star for the Aggies, is a good man when he keeps in training. He finished Number 18 in the conference meet last year, in a field of about 40 runners.

Of the others, Miller and Barnard pair up evenly, while Bubar's nearest rival is Johnson.

game today preferring to win over Baylor rather than any other school in the conference. If dogged determination is of any avail, the Longhorns will have a good chance to win today.

Moore and Homan

Two comparatively new names appear in the starting line-up for the Longhorns today, Murray Moore and Bob Homan. Ike Sewell and Basil Penney, regular guards, have not been used in scrimmage this week, and are not in good condition to start the game. But Homan and Moore constitute a good pair of guards as have represented the University this year. Thorlief Thompson and Ox Higgins are in excellent condition for the tackle positions. At end Leo Baldwin has been handicapped by an injury all week, but he will be able to start. Ed Olle, the sub end, who may play the other wing position, has been coming along rapidly, and the coaches expect him to play a strong game.

Despite many rumors to the contrary, Coach Stewart will rely on his regular backfield to start the game, with Captain Wright at quarter, Rufus King at full, and Mack Saxon and Rosy Stallter at halves. The only change from previous games is that Stallter will play the safety position. He can be depended upon to try to catch the Baylor punts and he will return them until he is tackled and tackled hard. Before the game is over Joe King probably will replace Captain Wright. Fred Thompson will supplant Rufus King, and Johnny Estes will take the place of Rosy Stallter.

This will be the battle of battles. It will be a great game between two strong teams, both keyed to the highest pitch; between two master coaches, one of whom resorts to tricks and the other to power; between two staunch student bodies, both of whom had rather win today's game than any other on the schedule.

NO GAME AT WACO

Several games in the Interscholastic League schedule have been rained out in the past week. The most important of these was the game between Waco and Temple which was to have been played today.

70 HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS IN LEAGUE CONTESTS AS SEMI-FINALS APPROACH

Starting with approximately 310 schools, the Interscholastic League football race has narrowed down to about 70 teams, according to Roy B. Henderson of the Interscholastic League Bureau of Extension. The semi-final sectional games are scheduled to take place during the weeks of November 15 and 22.

The high schools of Texas are divided into Class A and Class B groups. The higher ranking high schools compose the Class A group. There are eight sections in this class, while in Class B, comprised of the smaller high schools of the State, there are sixteen sections.

According to Henderson, there are left in the Class A group perhaps 20 teams, and in the Class B group around 40. The sectional games are now in progress with Cleburne holding the highest percentage of games in its section and also of the entire group. A sectional game that should prove of interest to the immediate vicinity is the Breckenridge-Austin game which takes place on November 11.

After the close of the Class B sectional games, arranged to have been run off by the end of November 21, the bi-sectional games of that group will start. The bi-sectional games of Class A schools will probably begin the week following the Class B games, November 22.

Following the close of the bi-sectional games, the finals will be held. The time and place of the finals is not yet known, Henderson said, due to the fact that these ending games will be handled strictly on a location basis, and that the still remaining games may be slowed up on account of ineligibility of some of the contesting teams, thereby causing a break in the existing estimated schedule. In all probability, however, the champions of both the Class A and Class B schools will have been determined by the third or fourth week in December.

Benedict on Program of Fellowship Club for Sunday Night

H. Y. Benedict, senior dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will deliver the fifth of a series of lectures at the Congregational Church Sunday at 7:30. These lectures are being given under the auspices of the fellowship club of the church. The title of the series is "Religions of Mankind." All of the religions which have been held by any major portion of the human race are being taken up one at a time in somewhat historical order.

According to Rev. R. P. Snider, pastor, it is the object of this series of lectures, to instruct the students and others interested, in the historical facts of various religions and also to promote a better understanding on the part of Christian of the essential features of religions other than their own. It is hoped in this way to make the viewpoint of these people a little broader.

GAMES TODAY MAY GO FAR TO DECIDE CONFERENCE TITLE

TWO TEAMS ARE OUT OF RACE

Longhorns and Aggies Are Favorites; One May Be Eliminated Today

TODAY'S BIG GAMES

Texas vs. Baylor at Austin.
T.C.U. vs. A. & M. at Ft. Worth.
S.M.U. vs. Arkansas at Dallas.
Rice vs. Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge.

By Abe Mehl

Today's battles will probably decide the most likely claimant for the Southwestern Conference title with six conference teams fighting their games for a shot at the flag. Though the eyes of many Texas gridiron fans will be focused on Fort Worth, where the Texas Aggies encounter the T. C. U. Frogs, the outcome of which will make or break a team, an equal amount of attention will be centered to the Bear-Steer clash here this afternoon.

The S.M.U. Mustangs, considered out of the running, will tackle the Arkansas Porkers at Dallas in what promises to be a better battle than most fans expect. Rice will make their usual trip to Baton Rouge where they will meet L.S.U. However, the outcome of this game will have no bearing on the conference as the latter team is not a member. Rice after her defeat in the hands of the Longhorns several weeks ago, has been showing up well, but is out of the race for championship.

Aggie-T.C.U. Tilt

Though the Texas Aggies have won every game on their schedule this season with the exception of the 7-7 tie with Sewanee, the Christians are not to be under-rated in their fight against the loop leaders today. The Aggies have proven their ability with several forms of attack while the Frogs showed their best form when they tied the Baylor Bears. The Frogs will present a less experienced and lighter combination than the Aggies, and considering the edge that has already been conceded the former by many critics, the old dope bucket might be upset, and conference standing shaken considerably by the result. A tie will mean almost a loss for the Aggies while the T. C. U. aggregation can possibly get back into the race with a decisive victory though already they have been defeated by the Oklahoma Aggies.

Bear-Steer Battle

When the Bears and Steers meet again this afternoon on the stadium field, a supreme battle will be fought between two perfectly drilled teams, trained for the occasion with the vision of victory as the goal. A slip on the muddy and soft turf might cost either team a win, while there is a possibility of unexpected attacks being presented by the team's strategians. Though hopelessly out of the race for the conference title, the Bears are here to block the chance of the Longhorns, who have a path possibly by beating the pride of Baylor this afternoon.

S.M.U. and Porkers

The Mustangs' loss several weeks ago to the Aggies cost them their chance. With Arkansas already beat in a conference game, the outcome of this game, though closely watched, will mean little. S.M.U. with a lacking push-over drive in the pinch has been primed for this clash all week, but the Porkers have been showing up well, and with the return of Cole and Smith to the line-up, the Razorbacks will prove tough meat for the Ponies. Two complete teams have been working out behind closed gates all week for the S. M. U. game.

Rice vs. L.S.U.

The Rice Owls, a much improved team in the last week, beat the Southwestern Pirates 19-0 while L. S. U. went down at the hands of the Arkansas Porkers last Saturday, and when the Louisiana crew takes on the Owls today, they will learn what they are against. Rice should have no trouble in disposing of this interstate opponent.

As the matter now stands, the Mustangs and Bears are considered out of the race with the Texas Aggies looming as the title holders, though the Longhorns' victories over the Baylorites and the Aggies would have a clear claim at the championship. Tonight there will be a change in figures of the conference standing one way or the other.

MORE FRESHMEN GIRLS NEEDED TO FORM "T. U."

Saturday at the Baylor game the co-eds of the University are going to form the U.T. and all co-eds of the University are expected to be in the girls' rooting section. It is planned to have the upperclassmen form the T, the Greenhorns the U and the Orange Jackets the division between the two letters.

To fill the freshman section fully 150 freshman girls must report and be dressed in white. So far the number of freshmen signed up is far below the number expected from the class. All freshman girls who have not yet signed up are expected to sign in the Gym Saturday morning. All requirements for the identifying of the freshmen will be ready for the Greenhorns at the game.

If you are leaving school have your publications sent to your home address.

VIC GIVES HIS VIEWS ON SPORTS

end today he will certainly be the greatest wingman on the field. The third musketeer is the shy and modest Jack Jones, Stud Wright's strongest rival for quarter honors. Jack looms up as a real menace. He is nearly a match for Mack at bucking the line. He is far and away the greatest placement kicker in the circuit. Jones can also run the ball, using a shifty hip motion that is exceedingly deceptive. As a field general the boy is there if anyone is. These three will lead the attempt to dehorn the Longhorns.

Six T. I. A. A. coaches watched the Trinity triumph over Howard Payne Wednesday. The final count stood at 6-0. And the score is the thing in any athletic contest. But impartially, it can be said that the losing team played circles around their conquerors, from a technical viewpoint. The Yellowjackets piled up a total of 14 first downs to 3 for Barry Holton's crew. The ball was in Trinity territory for practically the whole game. At one time Dad Amis' men were on the verge of crossing the deadline when a couple of penalties shot their chances. To be sure, this was no "break"—it was deserved. Again, when trying a place kick, a high pass caused McAllister to fumble, hastily recover, and shoot a random pass. The ball settled into the arms of a big Trinity tackle who used good judgment and galloped 80 yards for a winning score. A lucky break? The interceptor was on the job, wasn't he? Yet from a strict analysis of technique, Howard Payne should have won. Our personal belief is that in football anyone is entitled to anything he gets any time he gets it. But there is food for argument here.

A solution for tie games and games resulting as the Trinity-Howard Payne fight resulted, has been suggested, cussed, and discussed. The new plan is to completely change the scoring system. Each first down under the new rules would count one point. The touchdown as an objective would be retained; as a scoring factor it would be abolished. A penalty giving a first down would also add a point. This would serve as a very potent method of diminishing the number of penalties. When summed up, this proposed project has both its advantages and disadvantages. It would certainly more nearly insure the success of the best team. Because all too often the largest score fails to go hand in hand with the greatest number of first downs. The plan would also do away with frantic attempts to come from behind by passing near the home goal line. More real football would be brought into play instead of desperate play for luck. On the other hand, the new method would be practically impossible to standardize, chiefly because it is not orthodox. All new things are fought bitterly. One of the chief arguments against the proposition is that it would greatly lessen the stock of alibi material. The poor loser would find it harder under the new regime to weep over the "decrees of fortune."

By far the easiest position to pick on the All-Southwestern this season will be at end. Unlike the past season, when winghood was in flower, flashy flankers are few and far between at present. Probably the only big league performer of the lot is Dog Dawson, of the Mustangs. The Corral has long been voted west of the Mississippi for the stellar end performers it has produced. And its extremities this year are not much more to be despised than they ever have been. Ox Key was the outstanding sensation in the Steer-Mustang quarrel of the past week. The big fellow is already being seriously considered for the mythical group. Nevertheless, we believe the Dog to be decidedly superior at any angle of the game. The lad from the Rio Grande is fairly certain to land on the honorary eleven unless he breaks a couple of legs and a neck in the near future. The rest of the better ends are likewise rather new to the conference. Winston of Rice has been demonstrating his worth in recurrent exploits of skill. Beutel of the Aggies is Bible's best bet at either wing. Leo Baldwin, lanky Longhorn, has been slow in coming 'round, but has shown more thorough development since the beginning of the season than any of the other flankers. Sam Coates, if really shifted to end as rumor indicates, is due to become one of the most formidable in the loop. The giant Bear specializes in picking the pigskin out of the ether and is no dub defensively. Parker of the Arkansas Porkers has shown his class, especially in the Hog victory over L. S. U. This exclusive group comprises the flankers' four hundred of Southwest society. "That's all there is, there ain't no more."

When Peter de Paolo, speed demon de luxe, smashed Tommy Milton's old record on the 250-mile grind he followed in the footsteps of his illustrious uncle, Ralph de Palma and clinched the annual championship. Driving the entire route himself, the little racer from Brooklyn struck a mean average of 128 miles per. Bad luck was successfully guarded against by a pair of baby shoes dangling from the front axle and a steel grip on the wheel. A lap behind the champion at the finish was Ralph Hepburn, the rest of the field being strung out at varying intervals. By copping the annual 500-mile classic at Indianapolis and the 250-mile race at Altoona, Pa., de Paolo now holds the ocean-to-ocean title.

SANDI ESQUIVEL

Sandi Esquivel proved to the wide world that he has lost nothing of his running form when he lost all competitors on the S. M. U. course Saturday. Sandi finished approximately 200 yards ahead of Winston Hooper, Mustang ace, who beat Earl Conner out of second place. The distance was over a fairly firm road all the way, for 3.7 miles. Coach McLean's ace took the trip in the time of 18 minutes 50 seconds which is fairly noticeable, to say the least. Hooper, record holder in the conference mile, made the raffle in something over 19 minutes, with Captain Earl Conner of the Longhorns stepping on his heels. In the Aggie duel today Gillespie is the fastest Farmer on deck and should make his presence well known. Miller and Bubbar are the two top Steers who will support Earl and Sandi in their efforts.

While we are on the subject, it might be just as well to state that Sandi Esquivel appears at present to be the loop's greatest athlete. The handsome young El Pasoan excels in every endeavor. As a cross country runner he is the best the Southwest has ever seen. As a past-timer at the gentle art of basketball he will probably land on the mythical quintet, captaining the Steers this year. On the cinder path Sandi has distinguished himself more than in any other field of effort. He is undoubtedly the greatest two-mile canterer the conference is likely to see in quite a few moons. Holding at present a Southwestern record in this event which bids fair to stand like the Roman forum, Esquivel will make a powerful bid to set a national mark next spring. Turning to the manly art, boxing, Sandi is the best in the University, weight being considered. If it were not for his championship chances on the track, the name of Sandi Esquivel would more than likely appear in the reign of King football. Blink Bedford, triple all-conference athlete, was the only thing that kept Sandi from the top of the heap last year. This season he cannot be denied.

Quite a quibble has been carried on through the newspapers over the comparative weights of the players. Some authorities quote avoidupois ratings after a game while others keep quiet. The latter may be a better policy but is not half so valuable as a publicity plan. However, sport followers have learned when reading interesting statistics about players' weights to mentally add or deduct the usual dozen pounds, as the case may be.

BRING ON THE BEARS

Despite the unfavorable condition of the weather this week, the students and Longhorn team are ready for the Baylor Bears. After two pep rallies attended by those students who will sit in the Texas rooting section today, and give their best to the support of the team, the rooters are ready to show up the Baylor rooting section. The Longhorns, in spite of the fact that they have been forced to practice in the Men's Gym due to the muddy field, are ready to match trick for trick and pass for pass with the Golden Bears which Frank Bridges will bring out on the field at the Memorial Stadium this afternoon.

The Texas students are ready. The Longhorns are ready. Bring on your Baylor Bears!

LOWER RATE TO COLLEGE STATION OR WALK!

Feeling is running high among the students on the campus because of the failure so far of the railroads to reduce the rates to the Texas-Aggie game to the same rate that is charged for similar excursions and trips. Why, the students are demanding, is it possible for the railroads to give a rate of seventy-five per cent of one-way fare to the State Fair at Dallas, to the bull fights at Laredo, and to the bathing beauty contest at Galveston, and then refuse the same rate to the Thanksgiving game at College Station, when 4,000 students, faculty members, and citizens will ride the roads?

How can the officials of the railroads, and especially the International-Great Northern and the Southern Pacific Lines, justify their position in this rate question to College Station, when the International-Great Northern offered a one-way fare to Nashville for a football game on October 10, on the basis of 125 fares, dividing the receipts among four lines involved in the movement, and then offer the students only a rate of one and one-tenth for approximately 4,000 persons to College Station Thanksgiving?

It was brought out in the correspondence between the officials and L. Theo. Bellmont, who is acting as the representative of the 4,000 students and faculty members, that the lower rates were granted to Dallas, Nashville, Laredo, and Galveston, when only a few hundred made the trips. The railroads had no assurance whatever that the number who would make the trips mentioned would be enough to pay the expenses of the train, since the fares had been reduced. But the railroads are assured, if they give the same fare to College Station, that 4,000 or more persons would ride the rails to the biggest game of the year. Past movements of students to the traditional fight between the two schools show that all students make the trip.

The Southern Pacific Lines and the International-Great Northern have offered a fare of $4.48 only after Mr. Bellmont had shown the officials of the road the inconsistency of charging a higher rate after they had adopted the policy of giving seventy-five per cent of one-way fares to the State Fair, and on other similar occasions. It was also shown that the roads had offered a week-end fare of seventy-five per cent of one way to the Cotton Palace at Waco. It is no wonder when all these facts are known that students have become incensed over the action of the roads in refusing to extend the same consideration to them that is given to persons who make trips to Waco, Dallas, and Laredo.

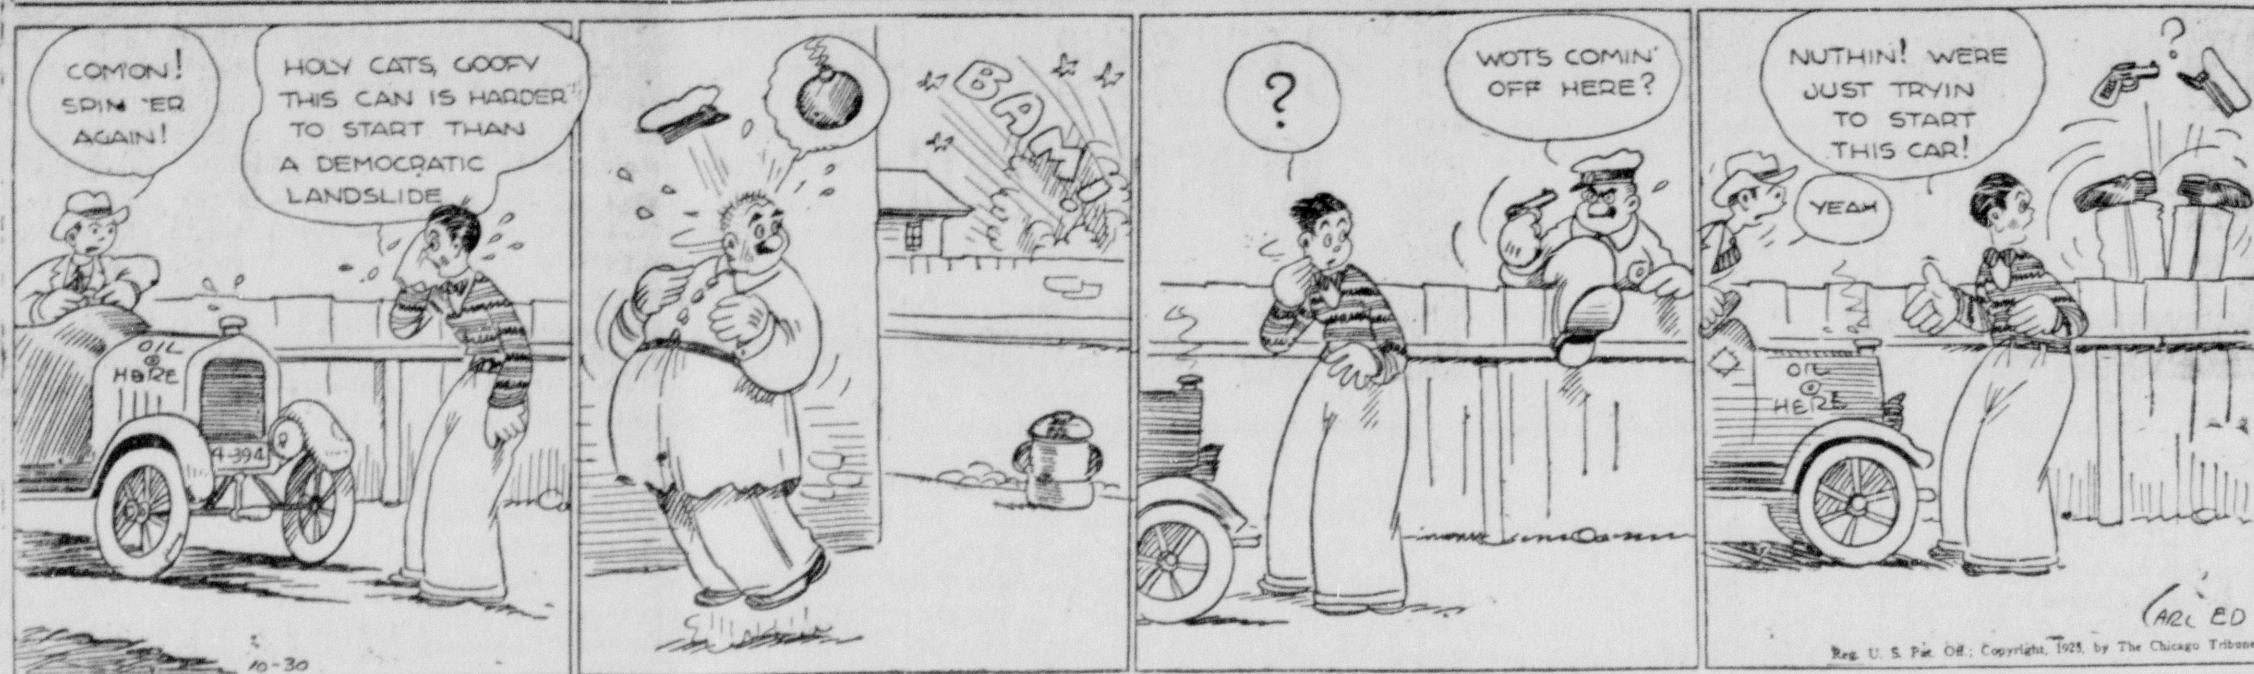

While the railroads may claim that the expense of operating a train to the Texas-Aggie game would involve a greater expenditure of money than the operation of several cars to Waco, Dallas, or Galveston, The Texan cannot understand how this will materially increase the price of operation, since there will be 4,000 or more persons to move. It appears that the large number of passengers would lower the operating cost of the train. The Texan does not believe that the railroads plan to make excessive profits at the expense of students. The railroads must be given a fair profit on the operation of special trains.

If the railroads do not heed the request of Mr. Bellmont, acting in behalf of the students of the University of Texas, there will be a general movement in cars of students toward College Station on Thanksgiving morning. Others may take the hobo route and leave the campus on the day before the game, in the hope of walking and catching rides in order to arrive at Kyle Field in time for the kick-off on Thursday. It is a well known fact that the rate question has caused many students to make plans to attend the game by means of automobiles hired from the local taxi companies. It is possible for several students to rent a car and ride to the game cheaper than they could make the trip on the railroads, unless the rates are reduced. The Texan believes that if the rates are lowered to seventy-five per cent of one-way fare, it will appeal to the students so strongly that they will abandon plans to ride in cars, and will ride the trains. If the rate is reduced to that asked for, it will be about $4, which should be low enough to insure that not only will 4,000 make the trip, but that should cause at least 5,000 students, besides the faculty members and Austin citizens to ride the specials.

But whatever the final decision of the railroads is on the matter, they should not forget the fact that their action in this particular trip will be remembered when the students choose their road to ride home Christmas, and on other trips. The students are going to ride the railroad which treats them right in the present rate question.

It is the belief of The Texan that the railroads will understand the justice of granting the desired rate of seventy-five per cent of one way. If they do, there certainly will be a better feeling on the part of the students and the railroads will have gained the good-will of students, which, when everything is considered, is worth a great deal to any railroad.

HAROLD TEEN—LEAPING LENA STARTS OFF WITH A BANG

Day by Day

By Edward Newbury

The way of the true artist is hard. We have discovered that from time to time. As long as we do things in a straightforward manner, dotting our "i's" and getting our P's and Q's in the right place, nobody has any criticism to make. Once in a while, even, someone gives us a compliment. But never Erasmus or the Professor. A man's friends may like the way he makes money or, better, the amount he makes; his friends may like the grades he makes in school, or the clothes he buys, or his agility in playing football, basketball or craps. They may even like his taste in women, but his art—never.

If we want to get a compliment on our writing we never go to Erasmus or the Professor. The Professor says we write too loosely; Erasmus says that we write too exactly. Our friends are two horns and we are the dilemma.

For instance, we write sorry, very sorry poetry. But sometimes, when we are considerably in the dumps, we forget ourselves and burst into rhyme. These brain children of ours, though as sorry to us as to anyone else in our mentally strong moments, at such time are very dear to us. Our rhythms may be halting and our rhymes forced and the overtones of our words discordant, but they are ours and they are part and parcel of that rotten mood we happen to be in. To defame them is to defame us.

So, whenever we fall into such artistic stupor we usually hie ourselves to some acquaintance that knows us too slightly to be critical. He, or she, gushes and says it is beautiful poetry and that he, or she, didn't know that we did such things, and that he thinks we are the stuff or she thinks we are wonderful. We come away thinking we are Homer himself. In fifteen minutes, of course, we come out of our stupor and all's right with the world.

In a word, as long as we tread along our weary path, Erasmus and the Professor have no comment to make; we will do, as far as they are concerned. But the minute we start cutting capers of one sort or another they are sure to call us silly. Then we have to stop some bearded passer-by, say the streetsweeper, and ask him he doesn't think we skip gracefully. He has never seen a man skip gracefully in his life, and few women. He may not even be sure that we are skipping. Yet he comes through like a brick and says, "Why, of course, sir, you do it very well." Then we are quite ready to vote pensions to the whole street department.

All this is prefatory to saying that we have two letters from Erasmus and the Professor which we have not yet decided to publish.

Railroads Cut Fare to Austin for Dads' and Mothers' Day

Railroads have agreed to grant one and one-half fares on the certificate plan for the coming Dads' and Mothers' Day at the University or November 14. The rates go on November 12 and are good for return before midnight November 16. Patrons are asked to get a certificate or receipt, when purchasing tickets, if benefit of rate is desired. It is expected that the reduction in fare will add to the attendance for the celebration which has been under arrangement for several months. Austin parents of University students are preparing to assist the University authorities and students in acting as hosts to the out-of-town visitors.

The Lyin' Lion's Line
 (Tragic comedy of buzzing bustees, deadly deans, etc.)

Time: Dean's office hours after mid-terms.

Place: Somewhere near there.
 Characters: The dean, popularly known as "The Lion," a freshman, and a telephone. Also line of bustees.

The Lion (roaring): Next!
 Freshman (shivering): Y-y-yes, sir.

The Lion: Son, where's your self-confidence?

Freshman: Huh? Oh, er-r-r, I think I left it in my math book in my room.

The Lion: What? Talk sense, boy. Don't you know that it takes nerve to get along in this world?

Freshman: Yes, sir, but I got slapped for playing hands once.

The Lion: Scare of a woman, eh? You'll never get anywhere in this world. No wonder you can't pass your courses. Now if you'd follow my example, you'd get somewhere. I'm not afraid of anyone on this earth. That's where I got my nickname of "The Lion." Every time I see one of you jellyfish students, I get angry. Why don't you have some backbone? I'm almost decided to put you on probation without looking at your grades. Let me—

Phone rings. The Lion answers.

The Lion (fifteen minutes later, very meekly): Yes, my dear. I'll be home to take care of the children as soon as my office hours are over. Yes, I'll do all that shopping just as you asked. Please don't be mad about having to rush off without washing the dishes this morning. All right. Yes, my love. All right. Good bye.

Bustees laugh heartily.

Freshman (smiling): What were you saying a minute ago?

The Lion: Get the hell out of here. Your grades are okeh.

Texas Chemical Club Elects Officers at Cafeteria Friday

Texas Chemical Club met for the first time this session in a dinner at the Cafeteria Friday evening. The meeting was mainly social, but some business was discussed. It was decided to have semi-monthly meetings on the second and fourth Thursday evenings. It was also decided to have programs containing both social and lecture elements.

The practice followed in past years of having the various professors of the science departments give lectures on subjects of interest to prospective chemists will be followed this year for at least half of the programs. The remaining programs will be either entirely social or will consist of short talks by outstanding members of the club on subjects in which they have a special proficiency.

The officers for the year are: M. L. Petty, president; Margaret Seabury, vice president; Henry Kohler, secretary; and Albert Ullrich, treasurer. The main feature of the social calendar of the club will be a picnic in the spring term.

Deen Makes Talk to Geological Society

The Austin section of the Southwestern Geological Society held the first meeting of the year in room 315 M. B. Friday night. President Fred M. Bullard called the meeting to order.

The speaker of the evening was Professor Arthur Deen, of the Geology Department, on "The Revision of the Paleozoic." Refreshments were then served and a social hour held.

STADIUM STANZAS

Perhaps the most celebrated group of the organization that is conducting the solicitation of the New Student Campaign is the Women's Flying Squadron, headed by Stella Peden of Houston. Miss Peden is a veteran of last year's campaign, leading the entire organization of the 1924 campaign with a total amount of $2,300 in subscriptions. "Little Stelle" as she is affectionately termed by her fellow workers and friends, is small in stature but is possessed of boundless energy and poise.

Others among the new students who are distinguishing themselves in their sincere efforts to put the campaign over the top are Gwen Harris of San Angelo, Mary Louise Murray of San Antonio, Agnes Smith, and Virginia Eckhardt of Austin.

Bill Rippey, genial commander of the Men's Flying Squadron, is covering his list of prospects like a Trojan, in spite of the fact that he has to plan the program of the Texas rooting section for the Baylor game. He is ably assisted by Zeke Marvin, Tommy Suggs, and others.

A rare exhibition of an unusual type of Texas spirit was met yesterday afternoon at Kirby Hall when one young lady crawled under her bed in her room to escape the committee members of the Flying Squadron who came to solicit her subscription. Aside from the rather ridiculous aspect of the case, a flagrant insult to the workers in the campaign and the noble project that they unselfishly devote themselves to is conveyed by such conduct.

The peppy Friday luncheon of the workers found an unusual array of dignitaries on hand to watch the reports come in. H. J. Lutecher Stark of Orange, chairman of the Board of Regents, Mrs. Stark, Coach E. J. Doc Stewart, T. Theo. Bellmont, Bill McGill, Dean L. H. Hubbard, and others were present and made inspiring talks.

Students From Hunt County Organize Club Friday Night

Judge and Mrs. William Pierson held open house Thursday evening at 7:30 at their home for all University students from Hunt County, and particularly from Greenville. The meeting was held for the purpose of organizing a Hunt County Club. About twenty members were present and officers were elected. Dan Dansby was made president; Maude Morgan, vice president; Tom Starnes, secretary; Harrel Van Cleave, sergeant-at-arms; and Harry McWhirter, reporter.

A short business session was held and plans were discussed for the coming year. A social committee was appointed to make plans for the dance to be given in Greenville during the Christmas holidays. It was decided that the club should hold meetings on the first Thursday in each month. All University students from Greenville or any other part of Hunt County are invited to attend the meetings and become members of the club.

Judge and Mrs. Pierson were made honorary members of the club. The following students were present: Hester Herndon, Maude Morgan, Anabeth Wright, Tom Starnes, Lawrence Reeves, Merle Anders, Harry McWhirter, Harrel Van Cleave, Ma Shelton, Dan Dansby, Frances Cheatham, S. E. Dunham, Jr., Herndon Johns, Leslie Bush, Alice Pierson Howard Weddington, and Leeton Lovingsgood.

HOUSE MOTHERS MEET

House mothers will meet Tuesday, November 10, in the Girls Study Hall, according to Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women. No plans have been made definitely yet as to the program, except that Dean Hubbard will speak.

STAFFS ORGANIZED FOR CURTAIN CLUB

Entire Government of Club in Hands of Administrative Council

Detailed organization of staffs to function in the production of Curtain Club plays has been completed by the Administrative Council of the club. These staffs will immediately assume their duties in connection with the presentation of "Outward Bound," a drama that has been enthusiastically received by audiences of England and America, and that has been selected as one of the best plays of 1923-24.

Under the new system inaugurated this year, the entire government of the Curtain Club lies in the hands of an Administrative Council. The chairman for the fall term is Melvin Williamson.

Dramatic direction of the club is supervised by Milton Ling, a playwright and director who has gained distinction through the production of a number of his plays by dramatic companies in the East, including the Stuyvesant Players of New York City. Ling has recently come to Texas after studying with Hatcher Hughes, Columbia University playwright whose "Hell Bent for Heaven" was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for drama.

The director of the technical staff is Harry Akin. His assistants are Quinten Martin, Lena Tot Cowan, Beatrice Burnaby, and Guinn Harris. Akin also serves as advance agent for Curtain Club tours, and is at present contracting with San Antonio theaters for the presentation of "Outward Bound" in that city early in December. Bob Massingale is in charge of lighting effects.

David Miller is director of publicity and advertising. To aid him in the preparation of news copy and advertising lay-outs are three assistants, Annie Laura Mewhinney, Priscilla Austin, and Lucille Camp. Stage properties are under the management of Wolfrid Butte.

Richard Scurry retains his former position of business manager. Arrangement for designating patrons of the Curtain Club and for the publication of patron's names on the play program will be made by Julia Matthews.

DIVISION E OF STADIUM DRIVE LEADS FRIDAY

With a total of $1425 pledged to date, Division E of the stadium campaign is setting a mark for other divisions to shoot at.

Frank Holt is leader of the division and team captains are: Tom Kelley, Mary Catherine Givens, Sam Polk, J. N. Royall and Smith Walde. The first day this division brought in $650. The second day a total of $775, bringing the grand total for the two days to $1425.

A remarkable feature of this divisions work comes in the fact that, due to incomplete organization, it got a late start, necessitating real work on the part of the workers to bring its total to the mark attained.

Ashbel Society Has Study of Masters Works at Meeting

Ashbel Literary Society met Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock to make a study of the works of Edgar Lee Masters. Over twenty of the twenty-five members were present. Elsie Townes gave a discussion of Masters' life, and Martha McCutcheon read excerpts from his poetry and from "Spoon River Anthology."

At the next meeting of the club, according to Sarah Penn, president, all the old members of Ashbel who are on the campus or in Austin will be invited to be present and tell the society how Ashbel was conducted in the "good old days." A program will be rendered by Lois Camp and Virginia Taber, who will discuss the life and works of Vachel Lindsey.

putting over the drive, saying that she believed the new students to be the backbone of the University and therefore a vital factor in its development. Mrs. Stark congratulated the workers on their results in the drive, and told them she was glad to participate in the campaign and the completion of the stadium.

"You students have a great opportunity to meet together in this drive and to do something of lasting benefit to the University," stated Litcher Stark in a talk following Mrs. Stark's address. He also stressed the need of development of the spirit, mind and body. "You must put your best efforts into this work and leave some monument to the interest and love you have for this institution, and in doing this you have a better chance than did the classes of old," he said in closing.

Coach Stark's Talk

After Mr. Stark's talk, Coach "Doc" Stewart spoke, beginning with a comparison of the stadium drive to the development of a football team. He likened the obtaining of subscriptions for the stadium to the making of the team, urging the students to "come across" with both labor and money. The coach continued the simile by asking that there be no sideline fighters and that all workers get into the campaign with the determination to win. He congratulated the workers on their totals to date and on having the co-operation of Mr. and Mrs. Litcher Stark.

As the next luncheon will not be held until Monday noon, the workers will have two days to get subscriptions before making reports again and for this reason, the results should take a big jump on that day according to persons heading the organization.

every one taking part should be at the Stadium before 2:30 o'clock. Orange and white cards with explicit directions for the formation of all figures will be attached to each seat and every one is requested to read them carefully so as to be able to make an imposing showing during the game. All the cards and instruction sheets are being furnished through the courtesy of E. C. Rather and the Co-op.

Texas University is the first school to use the card system, which originated in Western universities, on such a large scale. It is hoped by Bill Rippey and his cheer leaders that every man in the University will turn out for the stunts, and obey the instructions on his card.

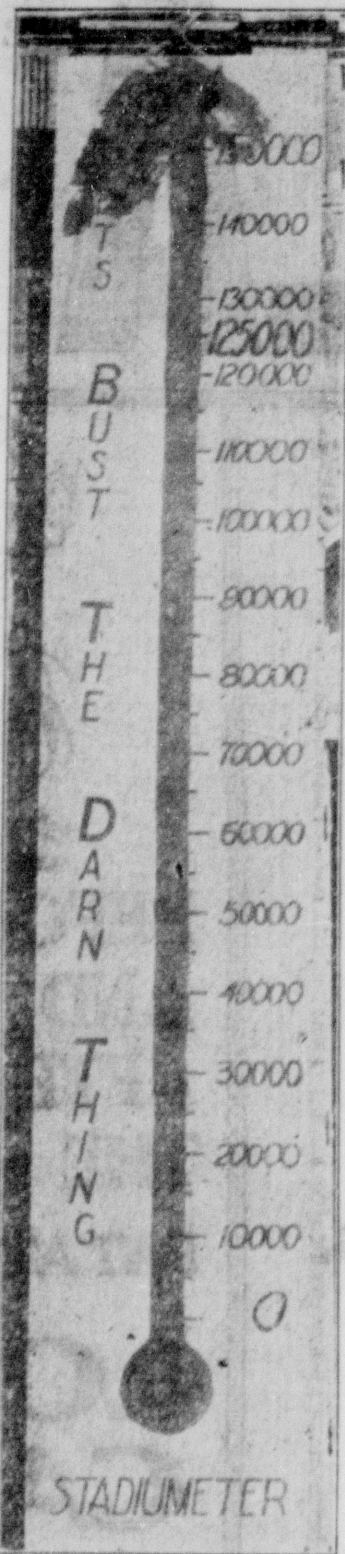

It has also been announced that the Baylorites will sit on the west side of the stadium next Saturday afternoon, instead of on the east side with the Texas rooters, as they did last year.

This arrangement of seating is expected to help the showing of both rooting sections, according to L. Theo Belmont, athletic director.

MISS MARLIN HERE

Lois Marlin of Houston, who received her degree from the University in 1924, arrived on the campus Friday for several days' visit. She will return home Sunday.

Stadiummeter Ready to Be "Busted" by New Student Drive

All freshly painted and spruced up, only to be "busted" again! But such is the fate of the stadiummeter. Here is the one that tried to measure the results of the first campus campaign, when more than $150,000 was raised. Again the mercury ran over the top last year when $35,000 was pledged by new students. What will new students do to the stadiummeter this year?

POINT SYSTEM ON CAMPUS FAVORED

Co-ed Council Hopes for Installation of Plan Before Spring

The Co-ed Council Friday considered the installation of a point system on the campus to regulate the number of officerships and memberships that any girl may hold. No definite action could be taken until more information is secured from the officers and girls themselves. The purpose of such a system is to protect a few capable and popular girls from being overworked by the various clubs and organizations and give opportunities for leadership to a greater number of girls.

Rosemary Walling and Ruth McMillan are on the committee to investigate the matter. They have made a tentative plan which will be subject to revision. This plan will be in the office of Mrs. Bell, assistant dean of women for the next week. All officers and members of campus organizations are requested to go to Mrs. Bell, study the plan and suggest any changes they might consider helpful.

The council wants to have the plan in working order by the time elections are held in the spring term. The presidents of all co-ed activities, constituting the Co-ed Council will be introduced to the Dads and Mothers at a meeting in the Woman's Gym, November 14.

The members present at the meeting November 6 in Miss Terrill's office were: Frances Agnew, president of the Women's Council; Helen Boyesen, Sidney Lanier and Present Day Club; Melba Mitchell, Reagan; Anna Lee Durham, Versus Club; Bernice Green, Y. W. C. A.; Rosemary Walling, W. A. A.; Ruth McMillan, Orange Jackets; Helen Hargraves, Mortar Board; Helen Roberts, Greenhorns; Eva Belle Huling-Quaid, Pan-Hellenic; Sarah Penn, Ashbel; Ruth Alexander, Turtleettes; and Frances Foster, sophomore council.

Childress Makes Talk on Feasibility of Class Leaving Gift to University

The senior Business Administration students held their first meeting of the term Friday, November 5, at 3 p. m. in room 157 of the Main Building, at which the following officers for the fall term were elected: Connell Reese, president; Frank Exum, vice president; Virgil Childress, secretary-treasurer; Howell Hagg, sergeant-at-arms. Due to the inclemency of the weather, only a limited number of seniors attended the meeting; as a result, excluding the election of officers, little business was transacted.

Virgil Childress made a short talk on the precedent set by previous graduating classes of the University in leaving behind them some representation that is symbolic of the senior class; he closed with the request that the present class continue the custom. A motion was made and carried to this effect, the details of which will be discussed at the next meeting.

Connell Reese then stated that there would be a called meeting of the class in the near future, at which various important businesses are to be considered. He asks that every senior in the University come out for this meeting in order to make possible a better spirit of co-operativeness and loyalty among the members of the graduating class.

Alpha Phi Epsilon Decides on Banquet at Friday Meeting

Alpha Phi Epsilon, honorary fraternity recognizing effective work in debating and literary societies, held a regular meeting Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in M. B. 105.

Anna Caswell was elected to take the place of Helen Boyesen on the social committee. Raymond Gerhardt is chairman and Joe Bashara is the other member. This committee was instructed to complete plans for a banquet this term.

Bess Minter was elected reporter to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Charles Banister.

Then the main business of the meeting, the election of new members, was taken up. Those elected will be notified by their club's representatives in Alpha Phi Epsilon and the names will be announced next week.

Hackler on Editors Board for Harvard Business Review

Word has been received that Kenneth Hackler of Dallas, an ex-student of the University, has been made head of the editorial board of the Harvard Business Review, an honor accorded to a graduate of the University of Texas for the first time, according to E. K. McGinnis, chairman of the School of Business Administration.

Hackler received the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1924, and the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration in August of the same year. He then went to Harvard University to do graduate work. According to McGinnis, the Harvard Business Review is one of the most widely distributed magazines of its kind. Hackler took an active part in athletics while at the University, having made the track and relay teams, and was a two-letter man.

Educational Ass'n Meets Next Friday

Educational Association will hold its first meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m., Friday, November 13. Refreshments will be served and a short social program will be given. Plans are being formulated to interest all faculty members and students who are eligible for membership. Individuals will be notified.

'BEAR MEAT' CRY AT RALLY FRIDAY

Coach Emphasizes "Win or Die" Attitude of Baylor Eleven

"Beat Baylor" was the keynote of the short rally held last evening to prepare the student rooting section for the game today. The program was featured by a short speech by Coach E. J. Stewart.

Coach Stewart explained fully the attitude of the entire Baylor student body, how they were determined to come to Austin and make today's game the one redeeming success of the season. He said that after their hopes for the championship had been smothered, their only desire was to beat Texas. Stewart declared that the students had been too anxious to show Baylor courtesy last year, and had lost sight of the real contest.

Coach Stewart read a letter from Hubert "Bertie" Foster, of last year's Longhorn team, now in Waco, who declared that the Bears had been saving their stuff for the meet with Texas, and that the loss to A. & M. Saturday had been invaluable in showing their weaknesses and how to remedy them. Stewart declared that Baylor had the material and had been working all the week like Trojans to attain the co-operation, which was all that was necessary.

Cheer-leader Bill Rippey told the gathering that 750 seats had been blocked off on the 40-yard line at the stadium, and that he wanted the seats filled up with men in white shirts by 2:30. Orange and white placards will be handed to the rooters in the section, and under the direction of the yell leaders and the information cards passed around, the rooters will form the letters in the word "Texas" and follow up with an outline of a steer's head. He added that in return they would get their picture shown on the screen.

TEXAN BANQUET SET FOR NOV. 13

Annual Term Entertainment at Caf Friday Sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi

Definite arrangements have been made to hold the annual fall term banquet of Daily Texan workers Friday evening, November 13, at 7:30, at the University Cafeteria, it was announced Friday by officials of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, sponsors of the affair.

It was previously planned to entertain the scribes Saturday evening, November 14, but it was found desirable to make the change, since the date first selected has been designated as Dads and Mothers Day and the students will be busy entertaining hundreds of visiting parents expected on the campus that day.

Moulton (Ty) Cobb, in charge of the program plans, promises that the specialties this year will be the best ever given on a similar occasion. The numbers will be varied and will furnish a full hour of entertainment and fun, Cobb promises.

There are approximately 150 members on The Texan staff and those in charge are making arrangements for a banquet surpassed by none this year.

THOMAS PARSONS TELLS OF EXPERIENCES IN EUROPE AS GUEST OF 1924 CACTUS

Spending the summer in Europe as the guest of The Cactus, year book of the University, Thomas M. Parsons of Austin took advantage of his stay abroad to study music and to travel. "There were so many things to see and so many places that I visited, that I really cannot begin to tell of them," Parsons said.

Sailed in June

Parsons left Austin early in June, soon after the closing of the University, going to New York from Galveston by boat, and from New York he sailed directly to France, landing at Cherbourg. From Cherbourg he went by rail to Paris, where he spent two months in study and sight-seeing. "I suppose that I saw all of the places that are usually visited by people who visit Paris," Parsons said reminiscently. "At least, I didn't miss many of them during my two months there," and he began to recall to mind the scenes that are known the world over.

"The cathedral of Notre Dame I found particularly interesting because of its sombre Gothic architecture; it is impressive and somehow beautiful. Other places that I visited were equally as famous." Among the art specimens of Louvre Parsons spent many delightful hours.

Visits Belgium

After a stay of two months in Paris, Parsons visited Belgium, devastated during the war, but now showing no signs of invasion. He found Brussels particularly interesting and quaint.

From Belgium Parsons went to Holland, visiting places not often frequented by tourists. The Isle of Marken, on which he spent a week, was of especial interest to him. Here the people still dress in their ancestral costume of wooden shoes, queer headgear, and voluminous blouses, pantaloons, and skirts.

London, one of the cities most often visited by American tourists, was the next place of great interest to Parsons. He grew familiar with Westminster Abbey, the British Museum, and other places famous in literature and history. The houses of Parliament were closed for the summer, and Parsons could not visit them.

His stay in London completed. Parsons sailed to New York City, where he spent a few days before returning to Austin to enter the University. Parsons went to Europe on the Andania, a steamer of medium size, a ship of 17,000 tons displacement.

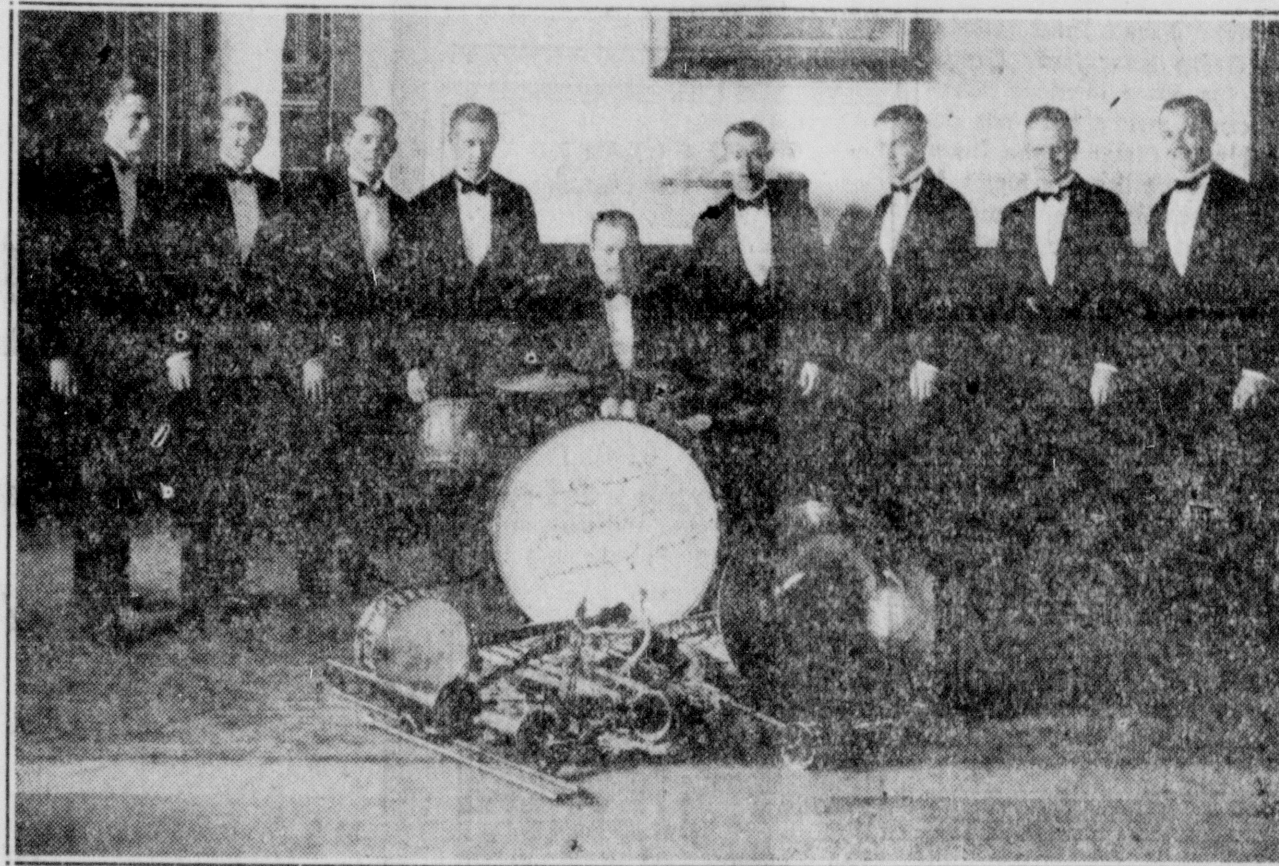

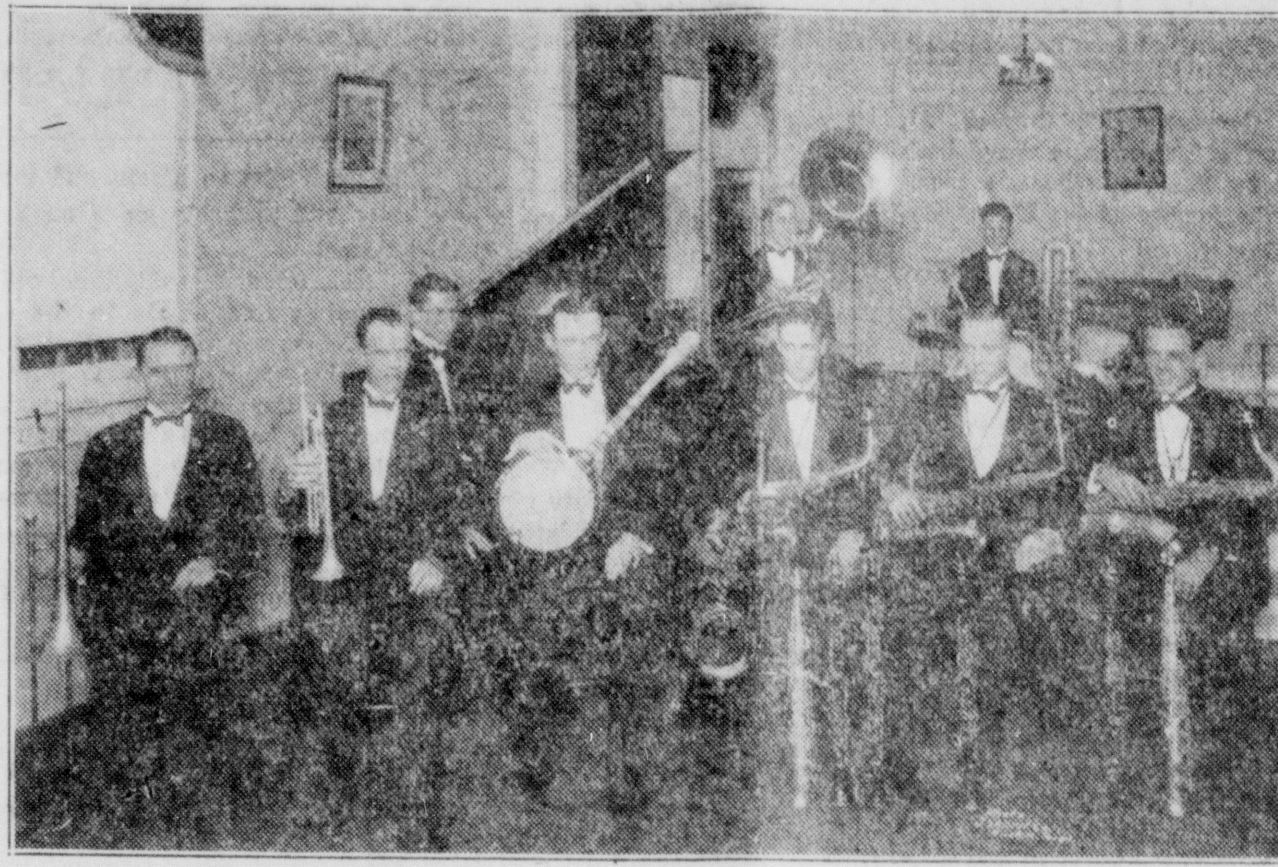

"The trip was a great experience for me," Parsons said in conclusion, "and I regard it as invaluable in many ways."

Freshmen Will Have Opportunity to Earn Cross Country Award

Freshmen long distance runners will be given an opportunity to earn a numeral in cross country running for the first time in the history of the athletic department of the University. Coach R. J. McLean decided to begin this custom because of the interest being shown among first year men in this sport.

Between forty and fifty freshmen have been working out on the Varsity course in preparation for a meet which will be held the latter part of the winter term. The five men finishing first in the meet will be awarded orange sweaters with a numeral, McLean said.

ORCHESTRAS THAT WILL PLAY FOR GERMAN

Tonight at K. C. Hall will be the big Homecoming German, according to Warren Whitesides who is manager of the dance. Two orchestras will play, Fatz Obernier's and the Texas Collegians. The dance promises to be something different from the usual run. Music will be continuous, one orchestra to start as soon as the other quits. The personnel of Fatz Obernier's orchestra is: Collis Bradt, Bob Poutney, and Arno Navratil, reeds; Babe McNamara, banjo; John Torbett, trumpet; Ben Hasell, trombone; Alton Bailley, piano; Barney Dodd, bass.

Those comprising the Collegians are: Jack Archer, J. Wiley Taylor, and Howard Taylor, reeds; Francis Gilbert, strings; Roy Willis, trumpet; Lynn Grizzard, trombone; Jaybird Thomas, drums; Bill Laurie, tuba; and Ike Braxton, piano.

KEMPER ON CAMPUS

TODAY At Austin Movie Shows

Majestic: "The Man Who Found Himself."
Queen: "The Golden Princess."
Texas: "Eve's Secret."

TEXAS

The final showings of the Paramount picture, "Eve's Secret," which was shown for the first time at the Texas Theater will take place there today.

Betty Compson and Jack Holt are co-starred in the production, directed by Clarence Badger from an adaptation of the Broadway stage play, "The Moon-Flower," in which Elsie Ferguson starred.

William Collier, Jr., heads the supporting cast of the picture which tells of a little French peasant girl, a cobbler's daughter, who becomes a Duchess. The scenes are laid in the little village of d'Enville, at the fashionable resort on the Riviera, and Monte Carlo.

MAJESTIC

In "The Man Who Found Himself," starring Thomas Meighan at the Majestic Theater today, Paramount promises a high powered story of the kind that Meighan fans like best—full of drama and romance and comedy.

Morgan is a rival banker of Meighan in a small Hudson River town. He railroaded the star to prison when he discovers that Tom's younger brother has been plunging in Wall Street, lost a lot of money and has borrowed bank funds to "cover up." Tom is shipped to Sing Sing when the brother refuses to admit his guilt. While in jail, he learns his fiancée is going to marry the man who put him behind the bars through trickery. He makes his escape and returns to the home town. With the help of two former convicts, he plants a clever trap whereby the crooked banker is killed by a night watchman at the bank while he is trying to make a getaway with the contents of the vault. Tom and the girl make up, this time for keeps.

It's the finest Meighan story to date, developing situations of genuine humor and drama.

Virginia Valli, John Harrington, Norman Trevor, Charles Stevenson, Julia Hoyt, and Lynn Fontanne appear in the cast.

QUEEN

In "The Golden Princess," now current at the Queen, Betty Bronson—the lovable, adorable "Peter Pan"—establishes conclusively the right to stardom. You will agree that Paramount made no mistake in promoting her when you see her in this powerful melo-romance of California in the golden days of '49.

For the realization that this is her first starring vehicle has prompted Betty to call forth every ounce of talent that she possesses, with the result that she registers with a resounding bang! She is by turns tender and wistful, prankish and mischievous, fightin' mad and deliriously glad—one minute, a teasing, laughing, romping tomboy, unbelievably lovely in her rough mining outfit, the next, a tearful, woeful, grief-stricken girl, crying as if her heart will break. It's Betty at her supreme best—sweeter, more fascinating than ever.

INTEREST IN BASKET BALL INCREASES AS 20 TEAMS ENTER AS INDEPENDENTS

PICKETT EXPECTS 35 CONTESTANTS

Copeland's Boarding House Victor Last Year; Season Opens in January

By Barry Bishop

Competition in the independent basket ball circles is showing signs of being more intense this year than ever before, since the time that this phase of University athletic activities was taken under the wing of athletic officials in the University. According to C. A. Pickett, manager of intramural athletics this year, twenty managers have signed up for their basket ball teams in the independent league, and within the next two weeks, the total is expected to increase to at least 35. Teams composed of members of boarding houses around the University—students residing in B. Hall and in the Y. M. C. A. are eligible for participation in this league.

Last year only two leagues were formed out of the eight teams that were entered, and elimination was somewhat simple. However, with nearly 30 teams to narrow down to one, this year's matters are a little more complicated and some exciting games are being looked forward to. Last year, the team of the Copeland boarding house won the independent league title, after noosing out dangerous contenders from the Craddock and Hunt strongholds.

The boarding house team played to hard luck, however, against the Engineers and were nosed out 18-16. The Engineers making their winning points in the last few seconds of play. However, the strong team of the Beta Theta Pi's, interfraternity champs, downed the Alets for the all-University title.

Actual elimination among the independent teams will not start until after the Christmas holidays. That these teams are working may be seen by the fact that he boarding houses are purchasing their own balls this year from the University Athletic Department.

Through the courtesy of this department, the balls are being purchased for $6, a price quite a bit lower than wholesale. The winning team will be awarded jerseys, and will then be eligible for further playing towards all-University title.

Each departmental team winning a title in either basket ball, baseball or track, wins thirty-six points towards the Gill Trophy, awarded at the end of the year to the team scoring the highest number of points. A cup is awarded to the fraternity team finishing in first rank at the end of the season.

Intramural basketball teams will be eliminated in race by means of a Round Robin tournament. That is each of the six teams entering will be matched with the other five teams listed. The winner of the Intramural and Independent contest will be pitted against the leading fraternity team to decide the all-University champs in basket ball.

Members of Rusk to Discuss Mitchell's Plans at Meeting

Four of the Rusk Literary Society aspirants for a place on Varsity's debate team will discuss Colonel Billy Mitchell's plan for three coordinate branches of national defense at the regular weekly meeting of the Rusk Saturday night at 7:15 p. m. in Rusk Hall, Room 2 of the Law Building. The affirmative side of the question will be upheld by Warren (Rip) Collins and Mr. Fox, while S. A. Crowley and Leslie Byrd will uphold the negative side. Open forum will follow the debate.

Any student desirous of participating in forensic activities is invited to visit and those desiring to become members will be given an opportunity to try for membership in the society. Many students find that the Rusk meetings on Saturdays from 7:15 to 8:30 do not interfere with their studies and the attendance at the past meetings has been very encouraging, said Morris Wise, president.

McLaurin Society Elects New Members

McLaurin Law Society elected Ben Greenwood as an active member at the meeting held Tuesday evening. Other business disposed of at the meeting was the election of Daniel Schlanger and Charles Bell to represent the society in the inter-society case with the Hildebrand Law Society next week. Two alternates were also chosen.

Book by Member of Faculty Receives Favorable Comment

"The Commonweal," October 21, 1925, carried a story on a recent book written by Dorothy Schons, a member of the faculty of the University. It says:

"An excellent brochure on a personality all too little regarded in our American literature is the study on Sister Juana Ines de la Cruz, the Tenth Muse, as her scholarly admirers in Mexico and Spain were accustomed to call her. Miss Schons has modestly entitled her work as 'Some Bibliographical Notes,' but her survey of the question amounts to much more than that, presenting the best findings of the Poetess' previous biographers, noting the paucity of their investigations and the unsatisfactory incompleteness of the editions of Sister Juana Ines' works.

"Miss Schons also gives us reprints of rare copies of original poems, some of them from the Garcia Library now housed at the University of Texas in Austin. We must await in patience the proper collection of Sister Juana Ines' works, which Mr. Pedro Henriquez Urena, or some of the other Mexican scholars and literary men should not delay to provide, as Sister Juana Ines, aside from her high literary merit, is a figure of outstanding importance as the first original poetess of the new world."

Member of Faculty Comments on Monthly Government Magazine

Articles of especial interest to city officials and those interested in city government make up the October number of "Texas Municipalities," the monthly magazine of the Texas League of Municipalities, according to R. D. Jackson of the University division of government research and secretary of the League.

TURTLE CLUB PLANS TO BREAK ICE ON POOL FOR EXHIBITION IN JANUARY

Despite the fact that it is not so easy to break the ice on the Y.M.C.A. swimming pool in January, the Turtle Club is planning an exhibition to be given there in the winter term. Throughout the fall and winter terms the Turtles will swim every Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Turtle Club in the University this year is made up of thirty girls who have in the tryouts evidenced such interest and skill in swimming and diving as to make them eligible to become turtles. Those less fortunate and not so accomplished swimmers who did not make the Turtle Club, yet who made a fairly good average compose the Turtleettes. There are about forty Turtleettes this year, and they have adopted a new constitution and are having regular practices.

The exhibition to be given in the winter term by the Turtle Club is to be an invitation affair, and the faculty will probably make up the audience.

The annual exhibition will be given at Deep Eddy in the spring and elaborate plans are being made for this event. The club is sending all over the country to get materials that will be used in this water carnival. The money made from this exhibition will go on the swimming pool fund. The club does not plan to build a pool with this money, but they intend to purchase a filtering system to be used in the prospective University swimming pool. Plans for a gymnasium to include a large swimming pool have been drawn up and the girls have hopes of getting a University swimming pool within the next few years.

Jean Holland is president of the Turtle Club for this year, and the following girls are members: Ruth Alexander, Evelyn Abshear, Gilberta Burroughs, Edwina Barnes, Rosalie Agness, Anna Caswell, Margaret Chamness, Freda Dabbs, Bernard Frank, Mildred Goff, Gene Hammond, Irma Hander, May Hander, Janet Lipscomb, Ruth Mantor, Bess Nichols, Sara Penn, Marion Penn, Helen Roberts, Lois Rutherford, Fay Sappington, Juliet Pagenstecher, Helen Schaeffer, Helen Hart, Helen White, Rosalie Wilcox, Eugenia Dilworth, Frances Geschnay, Helen Sandel.
