Greek Soldiers Revolt In Effort to Restore Founder of Republic

ATHENS, Greece, March 2.—(US-INS)—Greek Army detachments revolted today as seven warships of the fleet joined the rebellion and put out to sea, reportedly for the Island of Crete to return the exiled Eleutherios Venizelos, founder of the Republic, in triumph to Athens.

With bombing planes, artillery, machine guns, and immediate court-martials sentencing the rebel leaders to death the government tonight claimed to have crushed the insurrection on land with between ten and sixty killed.

Bombing Planes Pursue Ships
But the warships, among them the two most powerful vessels of the fleet, fought off pursuing bombing planes and were last reported steaming across the sea of Candia in the direction of Crete, where for the past several years the white-haired, spade-bearded Venizelos, who drove King George II from the country, has been living in exile.

The three government newspapers permitted to publish stated that Italian warships in neighboring waters had asked for instructions in view of the possibility they might steam across the path of the mutineers. The Greek government radioed a warning to the rebel ships that they will be considered pirates unless they return to Piraeus, port of Athens.

This ultimatum might place them in jeopardy of attack from the Italian warships should Premier Mussolini decide his vessels could be used legitimately against "pirates."

No Word From Venizelos

The rebel warships are the light cruisers Averoff, flagship of the fleet, built in 1910 with a displacement of 9,450 tons and a main armament of four 9.2-inch guns; and the Helle, the former Chinese warship Fei Hung, built in 1912, with a displacement of 2,115 tons and a main armament of three 6-inch guns. These are the two most powerful ships of the Greek navy.

With them are the destroyers Psara, Leon, and Niki and two submarines.

Government planes overtook the rebel fleet at sea and showered the ships with bombs and machine-gun bullets. The Averoff and Helle were reported to have been badly damaged by bombs dropped on deck from an altitude of 450 feet.

The mutineers fought off the airplanes with rifle and machine-gun fire. When the bombing squadron but back to land it showed signs of having been well peppered from the decks.

Premier Tsaldaris telegraphed Venizelos declaring he did not believe Venizelos had countenanced the revolt. No answer came from the exile in Crete.

Athens Under Martial Law

Athens was under martial law, its streets filled with troops called in from the provinces. They sang marching songs as they disarmed and swung into the city on the double-quick. They appeared fit, loyal, and ready for action, War Minister Condylis announced.

Tonight Athens was quiet with not a wheel turning. No taxi cabs were on the street. Even theaters were closed.

Three well-known members of an estimable order, RUTH CUNNINGHAM, JANE CONNOR, and CHARLOTTE MCQUISTON, just could not wait for leap-year. So they pulled a "Connolly" and crashed the open house of a male order of equal esteem.

If you should come right up to my roost and ask me, I would tell you that BILL BANTA and HUGO TRESCHWIG are a rare combination of men and gentlemen, and that you can never tell which they are going to be at any particular time.

Also that RUTH PONDRUM has more than one secret admirer that she knows not so much about. As regards CHARLEY LEON, he is a good boy in a way, but he doesn't weigh much.

BEVERLY ROCKHOLD—he's fast, and he's versatile; and he will go places in his line. In fact he is already laying plans for a trip to Kansas, where he will find somebody biting her fingernails at the depot.

ANN BENTLEY should be sternly admonished for sneezing so loud in class. It disturbs the tranquility thereof.

Spring seems to have begun March 1 as HELEN SHARP and HOWARD HARDER are going together again.

Solons Await Allred's Tax Message

Governor Scheduled To Appear in Person Before Legislature Monday Morning

By International News Service

Liquor, racing and taxes, which occupied the Legislature most of the week past, promised Saturday night to dominate the Legislative stage for still another week.

Legislators looked forward to what may well be Governor James V. Allred's most important message, outlining his program to meet a multi-million dollar deficit; and meet the increasing social security demands upon the State.

The governor has been invited to personally deliver his taxation message at 11:30 o'clock Monday morning. If the scheduled order is followed, the message will interrupt a debate in the Senate on whether Texas shall have the State monopoly system of liquor control.

Debate on Repeal Due Monday
When the Senate adjourned Friday, a hot debate was in progress on whether the repeal question should be submitted as a State monopoly plan for control of the liquor traffic—a plan described as taking the profit motive out of the traffic. This debate was scheduled to be resumed at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The prohibition also was foremost in a House committee the past week, with virtually the same plan approved. It was problematical whether the House resolution would reach the floor this week.

In floor action, the House spent most of the week on two subjects: relief bond issuance and extension of tax exemptions to small home owners.

Tax Exemption Considered
Before the House was a proposed constitutional amendment which would relieve $3,000 of the value of homesteads from all taxation. At present the exemption extends only to State taxes, admittedly the smallest part of taxes which the home owner must pay.

To this amendment was tacked on another, which would allow the Legislature to classify property for the purposes of taxation, in order to obtain assessment for taxation of property not now on tax rolls, as stocks, bonds and mortgages. It appeared this double-barreled proposal was well on the way toward approval when it was proposed to allow school districts to continue collecting taxes.

Injunction Bill Passed
This immediately threw the entire proceedings into a snarl, with members torn between supporting the schools and relieving the taxpayers. The subject will be before the House as pending business next week.

Sent to the governor was one major bill, designed to prevent "surprise" injunctions against the Railroad Commission's oil proration orders. Governor Allred planned to sign it as soon as it reached his desk. The bill requires that the State be given an opportunity to be heard before any district court authorizes the movement of any oil without a Railroad Commission permit.

After a second and tumultuous hearing, a House committee again voted out the bill to repeal See LEGISLATURE, Page 2

Curtain Club Fakes Shooting at Dance

They say it takes publicity stunts to advertise. So, last night in Gregory Gym the Curtain Club faked a shooting.

In the middle of the dance, all the lights were turned off. The sound of a pistol-shot rang out.

A girl screamed. There was danger of a riot.

Then a voice boomed: "Ladies and gentlemen, you are promised that you will be entertained at the most original party ever given in this city. Come to 'The Ninth Guest,' Hogg Memorial Auditorium, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evenings at 8:15. Blanket tax holders free."

The lights went back on.

DR. BARKER WILL SPEAK

Dr. Eugene C. Barker, professor of American history, will talk to the Austin Kiwanis Club on "Independence Day," Monday afternoon at 12:15 o'clock at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel, Dr. F. L. Jewett, instructor in Bible, Texas Bible Chair, and secretary of the Kiwanis Club, announced Saturday.

They'd Been Telling Lies On Me—Hamer

Frank Hamer walked into Johns Brothers Motor Company last night and took slides depicting scenes of the Clyde Barrow-Bonnie Parker episode away from the men displaying them.

The motor company has the car in which Barrow and Miss Parker were killed now on display in the showroom.

"They'd been telling lies on me," Mr. Hamer said in a statement to The Daily Texan.

"They were telling about all the money I made from the Barrow-Parker killing. The truth is that I lost $2,400 in my chase for the elusive pair."

After having the slides taken away from him, the car-owner covered his display and refused to show it free of charge.

Nitschke Elected Head of Austin Ex-Students

Some four hundred Austin ex-students of the University joined with ex-students throughout the State last night in paying tribute to the founders of the Republic of Texas by holding a dinner in Texas Union.

Officers elected for the coming year are: Hillarie F. Nitschke, president; Carl T. Widen, vice-president; and Mrs. Ben Powell, secretary. Fred Adams was elected chairman for the Austin district.

Rev. Lawrence H. Wharton was the chief speaker at the dinner in Texas Union. The program started by calling the roll by ten-year groups, beginning with 1880 and continuing through 1930. After the invocation by the Rev. Edmund Heinsdorf, the program continued with songs by the Men's Glee Club, a story by J. Frank Dobie, a speech by Hubert Jones on the work of the Ex-Students' Association, a speech by Mr. Adams, music by a trio consisting of Miss Myra Smith, Mrs. Louis Joughin, and Mrs. M. L. Begeman.

Lay Will Speak Monday in Denton

Lay, professor of accounting and management, is representing the Texas Association of University Instructors in Accounting at a meeting of the State Board of Public Accountancy in Dallas today. Monday, he will make two addresses in Denton before the department of commerce of the North Texas State Teachers College.

Dr. Lay, under the auspices of Pi Omega Pi, national commercial education fraternity, will speak on "Effects of the New Deal on Business Philosophy and Business Practices" and "Trends of College Education in Business," at N. T. S. T. C.

The meeting of the State Board of Public Accountancy in Dallas will be in conjunction with that of the officers of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants. The combined groups will study proposed legislation directly affecting the practice of public accounting in the State.

Legislators Hear Longhorn Band

The Longhorn Band contributed marches and color to the Legislature's special observance Saturday morning of Texas Independence Day. The invitation was extended to them by Representative J. C. McConnell of the arrangements committee.

Among the speakers in the program held in the House of Representatives were Governor James V. Allred and Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University.

The meeting will be held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in Texas Union 309 instead of Tuesday night as previously announced, Holmes said.

Texas Exes Hear Benedict At Dallas

Learn University Maintains Its Rank Despite Low Cost Of Operation

Special to The Daily Texan

DALLAS, March 2.—The total income for running expenses of the University, derived from all sources, including tax money, student fees, and the University available fund, is less today than it was ten years ago notwithstanding the fact that the student body has increased 50 per cent in that period, Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University, told ex-students of Dallas County in their March 2 meeting here tonight.

President Benedict also spoke over station KRDL in Dallas, addressing ex-students of the institution who had gathered in the various cities of the State for the annual banquets.

Average Salary $2,520

State universities are costing this year from $200 to $600 per full-time student (average cost not far from $400) and The University of Texas cost is $230, President Benedict reported. The low cost of the University is due to two factors, he said.

"First, the average salary of all our teachers—about $2,520—is lower—in some cases much lower—than the average salary at the better universities. The salaries of many members of our staff are lower than or not much greater than they were ten years ago.

"We may skip as too delicate a subject the salaries paid the presidents of universities and colleges equal to or even much below the University in rank and size, but the median salary of a full professor at Texas is $3,325 as against $4,160, $4,000, and $5,100 at California, Louisiana, and Michigan, to mention only three.

15 Students Per Teacher
"Second, the student load per teacher at the University is greater than the average: 15 students per teacher as against 12½ per teacher in the 42 state universities as a group; and a little over 7 per teacher in the great private universities.

"It is quite proper, of course," President Benedict said, "for the State to provide its educational facilities as economically as possible, but there is a minimum below which further reductions vitally reduce the effectiveness of the instruction. The amount spent See BENEDICT, Page 6

Petitions Sent To State Schools

Copies of the petition signed by University students in protest against the Davison bill to increase tuition in State schools are being sent to all schools in the State which would be affected. Chris Dixie, president of the Young Democrats Club sponsoring the petition, announced Saturday night.

More than 4,000 names, all of which are being carefully certified, have been signed to the petition, Dixie said.

The resolutions committee of the club, headed by Otto Mullinax, is gathering all available data on how House Bill 627, called the Davison bill, will affect enrollments in State schools and the State's budget for schools.

One of the speakers at the next meeting of the club, which will be held some time this week, will be Representative Joe Wells of Corsicana, opponent of the bill, Dixie announced.

Special invitations will be sent to members of the House of Representatives known to be opposed to the bill.

"There are still a large number of students who have not yet signed the petition, and we want to urge all those who have not signed it to do so within the next few days," Glen Parker, member of the club, said Saturday.

"Several hundred more students have signed the petition than have ever voted in a campus election, yet there are still more than two thousand students who have not signed it. We expect a large number of these to sign up within the next day or two."

Herman Wright, secretary of the club, who spoke at the ex-students' banquet last night asking the ex-students to help fight the bill, said that rumors that the Young Democrats were connected with the hanging in effigy of Representative Davison Thursday night are false.

First Candidate Files Petition For Office in Spring Campaign

'De Lawd' Stricken; Adam, Eve, Noah, Gabriel Remain Calm

NEW YORK, March 2.—(US-INS)—Heaven ceased to be heaven in the Forty-fourth Street Theater today when Richard B. Harrison, "De Lawd" of "The Green Pastures" was stricken by a heart attack. He collapsed in his dressing room while preparing for his first act entrance in the matinee.

Cactus Deadline Set for March 9; No Extra Copies

Six o'clock Saturday, March 9, is the deadline to reserve copies of the 1935 Cactus and obtain representation in the class section of the annual. Tabulation of the final sales will be made at the close of that day and certified to the printer, along with the number of pages required.

Although reservations for space in the class sections must be made by that date, photographic appointments may be made at the student's convenience. No extra copies of the Cactus will be sold after the deadline.

Orders for copies of the 1935 Cactus may be made, without a cash deposit, at Journalism Building 108 and through special representatives of the yearbook. For the benefit of students desiring to reserve a copy of the annual, a booth will be placed in front of Texas Union and reservations may be made there from 8 to 1 o'clock every day this week.

The Cactus staff is enthusiastic over the number of photographic appointments made during the past week, Markle said. A substantial increase over last year's figures for the same period of time was noted.

Because of the enormous task of compiling the annual, it is necessary that the production schedule be adhered to closely. With two-thirds of the copy in the hands of the engraver and the remainder nearing completion, all the material is expected to be sent to the printer in the near future. The $20,000 budget makes allowance for the division of the book into six main headings, University, Bluebonnet Belles, Campus Life, Athletics, Organizations, and Social Group, and these are, in turn, divided into fifteen subdivisions.

The University division comprises administrative and executive, classes, campus views and the medical unit. Following this comes the Bluebonnet Belle section which is doubled in size and then the features which comprises a forty-page pictorial impression of campus life.

State to Buy Garner's Picture

Friday afternoon the Texas Senate passed a resolution authorizing the purchase of a portrait of John Nance Garner for $500. The portrait has been hanging in the Senate Chamber the last ten days. It is a life-size portrait, 6 by 4 feet large, and was painted from life.

Two other portraits by the artist, Mrs. C. D. Rice, have already been hung in the Capitol. These are the portraits of Dan Moody and Ross Sterling, former governors of Texas. Mrs. Rice is now painting a portrait of President H. Y. Benedict.

Officers Recover Davidson's Car

Lloyd Davidson, head yell leader, whose car was stolen last Sunday night from in front of Scottish Rite Dormitory, was notified Saturday that his car had been found in Burleson, near Fort Worth. Davidson left for Burleson Saturday to bring the car back.

Officers informed Davidson that the car had been wrecked and abandoned. Damages were estimated to be about $100.

After the car was abandoned, a man was arrested in Fort Worth on the suspicion that he had stolen it, and he is now lodged in the Austin city jail. It is believed that another man was implicated, but no other arrests have been made. The man already arrested was under a five-year suspended sentence, officers said.

Wisconsin Club To Fight 'Reds'

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—(INS)—Under the banner of the American Peace Alliance, an organization of the University of Wisconsin students today mapped a vigorous offensive to combat Communism and other subversive doctrines.

The organization was formed at a rally of students aroused by asserted "Red activities" on the university campus. The students, of all political faiths, adopted a platform and declaration of principles and elected officers.

One of the major pledges taken was the advocacy of adequate military and naval defense for the United States "until the possibility of war has been permanently eliminated."

"We pledge ourselves to oppose all movements, advocating or inciting the overthrow of the United States government, all movements calling for illegal violence or disorder, and any forces contributing to and supporting such movements," read the first plank in the platform.

It is the plan of alliance, it was announced, to wage a finish fight against the National Students' League, the League for Industrial Democracy, the John Reed Club and other radical groups in the university.

German Student To Address Clubs

Dr. W. B. Stern, of the University of Wurzburg, Germany, will give a lecture to the Der Die Das Klub Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in Texas Union 316.

Dr. Stern will discuss the German school system, German universities and German student life. He is now studying international law in the University; he has also studied in the universities at Wurzburg, Munich, Berlin, and the Exeter University in England.

OIL BOARD SET UP

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—Oil Administrator Ickes today announced reestablishment of the Federal tender board, which was thrown out of office when the Supreme Court held the "hot" oil section of N.R.A. unconstitutional. The new board was created under authority of the Connally act, under which the President issued an executive order designating Ickes as the agent of the President to execute the powers of the act vested in the chief executive.

Insiders Predict Activity to Grow Throughout Week

By KENNETH HARPER

John Duke, assemblyman from the Department of Journalism, opened the annual spring political campaign by filing his petition for candidacy for associate editor of The Daily Texan at one minute past 12 o'clock Sunday morning.

The earliest time that candidates could announce was after 12 o'clock Saturday night. Inez Granau, secretary of the Students' Association, with whom petitions are filed, left for Houston Saturday. Duke, unable to reach her, filed his petition in the Students' Association offices.

Barrage Expected
A barrage of petitions is expected by the campus politicians to begin in earnest early this week. Political critics foresee an intensive campaign because of the number of cliques recently organized.

A bar-fraternity clique was organized last week. This party at its last meeting had not made any definite choice of candidates. Group leaders are expected to meet Monday night for a final endorsement of men.

Presidential candidates are increasing in numbers daily, if rumors are true. Morris Glass, Charles "Tiny" Gruneisen, Jenkins Garrett, and Joe Barton may be in the race. These men are running on a bar-fraternity platform.

Cliques Slow
Fraternity cliques seem a little slow in organizing this year. Their hesitancy, political insiders say, is based on the disastrous results experienced by the R. S. C. last year. Meetings, however, have been held in the last two or three days. Definite action is expected by this group before the end of next week.

Curtis Bishop, editor of the Ranger, is expected to furnish the main opposition to Pope in the Cactus race.

Fred Husbands and Bill Erwin are rumored to be likely candidates for associate editor of the 1936 Cactus.

As the time for actual campaigning starts, Joe Stern seems to be unopposed in his race for editor of The Daily Texan. Sid Pletzsch and Fred Ward are the only known prospects for the editorial offices of the Ranger.

Vice-president and chairman of the Judiciary Council are two offices that few politicians seem to want. Bryson Martin, president of the Dallas Club, has intimated his desire to run for the judiciary office.

Candidates intending to file for office should comply with the following laws of the Students' Association.

Rules Given
All candidates for offices in the Students' Association of The University of Texas shall file with the secretary of the said Association at least ten days, and not more than thirty days, prior to the date of the election the following papers, to wit: A petition announcing the intention to run for the office desired, stating that the candidate is a bona fide student of The University of Texas; said petition being signed personally by at least fifty students of the university.

A statement signed or countersigned by the Registrar of the University stating that the candidate is at the time of filing said petition registered for at least twelve hours of scholastic work in The University of Texas, and that he or she during the last semester in which he or she was registered in the University passed at least nine hours of scholastic work with a grade of at least C average in the nine hours.

'The Drunkard' To Be Revived Monday Night

By SADIE MEADOWS

Authentic even to sawdust on the floor and mugs of beer for the audience to cry into will be the Little Theatre of Austin's revival of that perennial success and op'ry house masterpiece, "The Drunkard," to be presented Monday through Saturday nights at 8:15 o'clock in Saengergrunde Hall.

Reservations may be had for any night by calling Mrs. Will T. Caswell at 7264. The audience will be seated at barroom tables and a limited number can be accommodated each night. First night play-goers are asked to dress in costume appropriate to the middle eighteenth-century, when "The Drunkard" was first produced by P. T. Barnum at his New York American Museum.

Junior Leaguers of Austin will serve as barmaids and dispense beer and sandwiches to the audience during the play. Community singing, a stupendous enter-act-vaudeville program arranged by Burt Dyke, true barroom atmosphere, the final triumph of virtue over evil and the hissing of the villain are expected to divert the audiences—and of course there will be the play.

Rogers McClelland, director, has gone to great lengths to produce the moral drama precisely as originally performed at the Barnum music hall. Costumes, properties and the stupendous sets carry out the Barnum motif and the op'ry house feeling.

The assemblage of talented thespians for the revival of this morality play has been described as nothing short of stupendous. Bill Erwin, whose comedy talents have been seen in a number of campus productions in the past two years, has one of his most humorous roles, that of "honest William." Horton Smith utilizes his talents to portray the deep-dyed villain, Lawyer Cribbs.

Mrs. Dalton Richardson has the role of the mother who spends all her time on the stage either weeping or dying, while Patricia McClelland is Mary, the girl who trusts a man and keeps faith with him.

Mrs. Ernest G. Keller impersonates little Julia, the trusting child, whose voice pipes the immortal lines, "Oh, mother, dear mother, we will find him, won't we?"

Dewey Bradford has the title role, that of the drunkard, H. L. Fitzpatrick and H. L. Hay play, respectively, Arden Rencelaw and Stevens.

Joe Muenster, Sr., will be the landlord who tends bar and Kelly Smith has the part of the messenger boy.

Mrs. C. C. Westerfeld, wife of the senator from Dallas, has the part of the "other woman," Miss Spindle, who sets her cap for Edward Middleton, the drunkard.

Completing the extraordinary cast are Herbert Mason, Carl Stautz, Don Moffat and William Thomas Scott Kretz III.

Philharmonic Radio Programs Continue

The Philharmonic Symphony broadcast will be received by radio in the Home Economics auditorium this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This afternoon's program will commemorate the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of J. S. Bach, the composer.

Hans Lange will conduct the program, and Remo Bonoloni will present a violin solo.

Admission will be free. Students and faculty members are invited.

PLEDGE SERVICE HELD

Gamma Phi Beta sorority held formal pledge service for Mona Parkinson and Clara Mae Driscoll, both of Austin at the chapter house Thursday afternoon. Affiliation service was held for Sue Smith of Dallas.

Eddie Cantor's fifth annual screen musical extravaganza presents the pop-eyed comedian as a boy Cinderella who falls heir to a fortune in buried treasure in the land of the pyramids. With him are Ann Sothern, with her lovely face and soft clear singing voice; Ethel Merman, who puts pep and rhythm in her songs; and George Murphy, who doesn't make a hit at first, but grows on you as the picture unfolds. He has a nice voice that blends well with that of Miss Sothern in several duets.

Snatches of funny dialogue expertly carried off by Mr. Cantor, a group of truly beautiful Goldwyn girls, extravagant and original settings, and the "above-the-belt" atmosphere are virtues, but they are somewhat offset by an artificial effect produced by Cantor's evident attempt to soft-soap the public by putting in scenes that appeal to children to offset numerous naughty cracks. It is hard to explain the feeling, but it is there.

The technicolor ice cream fantasy which closes the picture is original, clever, and beautiful—an elaborate presentation of a poor boy's dream come true. There is a sameness with Cantor's other pictures, but "Kid Millions" has a quality of light entertainment that is worth your money.

Texas Ex to Give Piano Recital

The Texas School of Fine Arts will present Mrs. Ruth Penick Pickard, former student in the University, in a piano recital at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, in the crystal ball room of the Driskill Hotel. She is the daughter of Dr. D. A. Penick, tennis coach of the University.

Mrs. Pickard is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University, a former pupil of Miriam Gordon Landrum of Austin, a graduate with highest honors of the New York Institute of Musical Art, and she once held a scholarship in the Juillard Music School. She has also studied with Dr. Carl Friedberg, artist teacher, in Baden Baden, Germany.

Recently returned from a tour in several eastern states as accompanist for Reinald Werrenrath and Louise Bernhardt, Mrs. Pickard is giving a series of recitals in Texas cities and towns, such as Houston, Dallas, Belton, Georgetown, San Marcos and Nacogdoches. Throughout her tour she has distinguished herself as a brilliant pianist.

Legislature --

Texas's law legalizing horse race gambling. But friends of gambling had two aces up their sleeves. The first was a newly introduced bill which allows local option—those communities wanting gambling may have it. They hoped to get this up ahead of the outright repeal bill, thus preventing a final vote on repeal.

The second ace was taking in some of the aspects of a joker. It was tacked on to the State relief bond bill, to retire relief bonds by a higher tax on racing. At the week-end House and Senate conferees on the bond bill were wrangling over the proposal and appeared near a deadlock.

A notable measure which came out of committee was the administration utility bill. As reported after revision by the committee, it sets up a State utilities regulation board with original jurisdiction in all rate making.

This is expected to be resisted by cities now having adequate regulation of their utilities. It was not in the original bill drawn by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics in the University.

Allred Against Local Option Racing Bill

Firm opposition to the bill by Representative Traylor Russell of Mount Pleasant to permit local option elections on race meetings was expressed Saturday by Governor James V. Allred.

Governor Allred declared that he believed it unconstitutional to permit gambling in one part of the State and outlaw it in another. He called for a vote on the racing law "squarely, without any further tactical maneuvering."

Former Governor James E. Ferguson was one of the speakers for the Russell bill before the House committee on State affairs, which reported the bill favorably.

"I should like to see the Legislature crack down and settle this question immediately so that we can get on to other important measures for the relief of the people," Governor Allred declared.

Rice, S. M. U., and Arkansas Share 1935 Southwestern Basketball Championship

Basketball Trophy to Be Awarded

Students to Name Most Valuable 1935 Player

Introducing a new award for University of Texas basketball players, the Co-Op will present a silver trophy to Longhorn player adjudged the most valuable for the 1935 season. Through a ballot printed on the sport page of The Daily Texan a vote will be taken of the student body and the player receiving the most votes will be awarded the trophy.

The trophy, a beautiful nineteen-inch statuette of a basketball player posed in a shooting position, will be presented by V. L. Moore, dean of student life, Wednesday night at Gregory Gym immediately following the Steer-Aggie basketball game.

All students in the University are eligible to vote and are urged to send in their choices as soon as possible, as the ballots will have to be counted before 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

The winner will have a permanent possession of the trophy as a new one will be given every year. Marty Karow, Steer coach, stated Saturday he thought it was a noble gesture on the part of the donors and hoped the students would enter into the voting wholeheartedly.

Brownies and 'B's' To Meet Fite-Nite

The Brownies "B" league team and the "B's" "A" league team last night gained the right to participate in the Fite-Nite celebration by defeating the Dekes and the Griffith House respectively. The Brownies, led by Lester Springer with 13 points, amassed a total of 23 points while the Dekes annexed 22. The contest was in doubt until the last minute when Lee made the deciding goal for the winners.

The "B's" downed the Griffiths 28 to 19 with Ravey leading the scoring for the victors.

The favored Urban-Sturban "A" team easily defeated the Czechs, 26 to 13, to annex the club championship, but must meet the Kappa Sigs to determine the Fite-Nite participant.

KIRBY TO HOLD VESPER

Frances Butts will be leader of Kirby Hall Vesper Service which will be held at Kirby Hall this afternoon at 5 o'clock, and will give a talk, "Sunshine and Shadow." Mary Elizabeth Browder will sing "Ave Maria." Others on the program are Katherine Counts, Margaret Childress, and the Kirby Hall chorus.

Billy Ruth Young and Miss Mildred Basford are visiting in Corsicana this week-end.

Mary Campbell is spending Saturday and Sunday in Houston.

Owls Trample Baylor Bear Cagers, 36-26

WACO, March 2.—(INS)—Rice Institute jumped into a three-way tie for the southwest basketball championship here tonight by running roughshod over the Baylor Bears, 36 to 26.

The guarding of Orr and Eaton of the Owls was a feature of the game while Alford, Bear forward, with 15 points, was high scorer for the evening and kept his position among high-scoring players in the conference.

Rice took an early lead but Baylor managed to creep ahead to lead by a score of 16 to 15 at the half.

Girls' Basketball Race to Begin

Intramural Basketball Tournament between sororities, dormitories, and independent groups will start Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and will continue every Tuesday and Friday afternoon at that time throughout March except for next Friday, the day of the Inter-class Hockey Tournament. The three games played each afternoon will go on simultaneously, one in each of the three courts. It is to be an elimination tournament, with the points counted as usual on the charts.

Each unit may have any number of teams, but there may be only twelve girls on each team. The only regulation is that the girls have a health grade of A.

At least one of the courts will be open for practice every day from 8 to 9, from 12 to 1, and from 2 to 6 o'clock. Monday and Thursday nights the courts will be open from 6 to 9 o'clock, and Tuesday and Wednesday nights they will be open by special appointments, to be made with Mrs. Frances McCallum before 6 o'clock.

The next tryouts will be held Monday, March 4, Miss Forsythe announced.

DOPE on the Steers

By WILBUR EVANS
Texan Sports Staff

THE INDIVIDUAL scoring race may not be settled until next week, but apparently Jack Gray has won his third Southwest individual scoring title. He is the first cager in the history of the conference to turn the trick. Others have won the title for two seasons, but never for three.

In addition Gray holds the record for the most points scored in one game. Gray scored 32 points against the Aggies his sophomore year. Until that time the record was held by Clyde Littlefield, who scored 29 points against Baylor here in 1915. Gray made thirteen field goals and six free tosses for his total. Littlefield made one less of each. It was generally accepted that the individual scoring record per game was held by Wear Schoonover and Adolph Dietzel, who scored 26 points, but in compiling records for all time, we learned that Littlefield held the record. In another game against the Bears Littlefield scored 28 points.

Adolph Dietzel holds the individual record for a season with 191 points, but the best game average record is held by Littlefield. The Texas track mentor scored 96 points in 1915 in five games which gives him a game average of 19.2. Dietzel scored his 191 in twelve games. Another point to his total would only give him an average of 16, which is 3.2 points behind Littlefield. It is true that Littlefield made all of his points at a time when the best goal tosser on the team was allowed to take all the free tosses, but his average was not increased much because teamed with him at the other forward post was Bob Blaine, who took at least half of the foul shots.

WE HAVE HEARD of many basketball games being won in the last second, but a Baylor victory over Oklahoma A. & M. in 1923 is the most unusual one that we know about. With less than five minutes to play the Bears were leading, 16 to 11. Through the work of Dean, Oklahoma captain, the Aggies caught the Bears and took the lead, 17 to 16. With five seconds to go, Higgins's, Oklahoma guard's, shoe came untied. He called for time, not knowing that the game was near the end. It was too many times out for the Aggies; so the Bears were given a free toss as a result of this technical foul. The try was successful and the game went into an extra period. The Bears won the game 20 to 17.

ACCORDING to present indications, championships in all the spring sports will be divided between Texas, Rice, and A. & M., with a possibility that the Steers will win all of them.

The Texas tracksters made an auspicious start in the Border Olympics last week. Heading the list of trackmen are a host of dashmen who are apt to set a mark in record-smashing this season. Chink Wallender, H. V. Reeves, Tiny Grueneisen, and Beverly Rockhold are all capable of running the century in 10 flat or less. All are good in the 220-yard dash too, which means that 440-relay and 880-relay records about the country are destined to have a few tenths of seconds removed. Grueneisen is also a valuable cog

Poole Leads Hogs In Rally to Beat Aggies, 51-31

Special to The Daily Texan

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., March 2.—Staging a dazzling last half rally, the University of Arkansas defeated the Texas Aggies here tonight, 51 to 31, to make a clean sweep of the two-game series and win at least a share of the conference title. The Razorbacks won Friday nights nip and tuck affair, 45 to 41.

Spotting the Aggies a 20 to 15 lead early in the second half, the Razorbacks went on a scoring spree with Ike Poole, center, leading the parade. Poole scored 19 points in the last half to give him a total for the game of 26. The air tight defense of the Razorbacks held the Farmers to a lone field goal in the last half.

Taft Moody, ace Arkansas forward and captain, left a hospital cot to encourage his teammates from the sidelines. He has been in the hospital since he received a hip injury in the Texas series at Austin.

Davis, Aggie forward, was second in scoring with 11 points and Newby, Arkansas forward, made 10. Jim Lee Howell, giant Arkansas guard, held Hutto, Aggie forward who paced the field last night, to one field goal.

DISCH ILL AT HOME

William J. Disch, baseball coach, is confined to his home with a slight illness but will probably be able to return to his coaching duties early this week. During Mr. Disch's absence, practice is going on under the direction of Marty Karow, assisted by Tim Moynihan and Bib Falk.

in the mile relay team which is Clyde Littlefield's favorite event.

Bob Anderson and Jack Vickery give Texas the best high jumpers since Garland Shepherd and Rufus Haggard set records in the conference and at national intercollegiate meets. Buren Edwards, captain, is the Steers' half-mile hope and is also a member of the relay team. Jeff Austin is the ace quarter-mile, and George Nance should be among the leading pole vaulters in the circuit. George Wilson should win points in both distance races. Osborne Hodges, Frank Hubbell, and Jay Arnold should take care of the weight events. There is Forrest Wilson and Jack Collins, a pair of excellent hurdlers.

A FLOCK of sophomores will have to deliver if Texas is to have hopes in winning the baseball title. There are several outstanding lettermen, but hardly enough to give the Steers an equal chance against the champion Aggies. The Longhorns will have a veteran hard hitting outfield in Buster Baebe, captain, Del January and Mel Preibisch. The only veteran in the infield will be Bohn Hilliard. Hilliard pitched and played in the outer garden last year, but he has had a great deal of infield experience in amateur baseball.

The pitching burden falls on the shoulders of Red Branch and Morris Midkiff. Both are highly capable and have the essential experience. The receiving duties will be divided between Jimmy Phipps and Joe Fitzsimmons. Fitzsimmons is a newcomer of promise, while Phipps, although he has never lettered, is a promising diamond prospect.

Morris Ruggles, Luke Winburn, Aubrey Graham, and Lloyd Rigby are sophomores who are expected to finish out the infield. Morris Sands will report to baseball as soon as basketball is over, and is likely to gain a post at first base or in the outfield.

Texas, A. & M. to Decide Second Place Wednesday

The 1935 Southwest Conference basketball championship crown will be shared three ways by Rice Institute, Southern Methodist University, and the University of Arkansas as a result of their victories last night over Baylor, T. C. U., and Texas A. & M., respectively. Each has won nine games and lost three.

Steer Swimmers Defeat Aggies In Meet, 62 to 31

Special to The Daily Texan

COLLEGE STATION, March 2.

Clark Allen, Steer captain, bettered Southwest Conference marks in the 400 and 200-yard free style races and helped better another in the 400-yard relay as the University of Texas Longhorns splashed their way to a 62-31 victory over the Aggies in a dual swimming meet Saturday night. His efforts won him scoring honors with 12 points.

The Longhorns won 7 of 10 first places. Hill Sinclair, Aggie captain, bettered the record time in the breast stroke. The Aggies won 6 to 4, in an exhibition Aggie-Steer water polo game.

Special to The Daily Texan

FORT WORTH, March 2.—The S. M. U. Mustangs earned a share of the 1935 Southwest Conference cage title here Saturday night by defeating the T. C. U. Horned Frogs, 41-24. It was the final game of the season for both teams and left the Mustangs tied with Rice and Arkansas for the lead.

The Frogs gave the Ponies a torrid battle for the first 20 minutes Saturday night. With Darrell Lester controlling the tip easily, the Frogs led all the way until just before the half when a crip by Whitey Baccus put the Ponies in front for the first time, 20-19. The last half belonged to the winners, the Frogs making only five more points.

White led the Mustangs with 14 points while Baccus and Haren got 12.

This store is the property of the student body of The University of Texas. Every reader of this advertisement who is a student in the University is a part owner of the business.

Students who deposit a dollar during the early part of the year receive rebates based on the amount of their purchases during the year. The dollar deposit is returned too. For the past ten years these student members have received each year a ten per cent cash rebate on their purchases.

Students who are not members benefit too, because they enjoy lower prices for books and supplies wherever they make their purchases. The Co-Op has consistently kept down the prices of books and supplies. University of Texas students enjoy prices about ten per cent lower than prices in most other college communities.

NO STOCKHOLDERS

The owners of the store benefit in the above-mentioned ways. BUT THERE ARE NO STOCKHOLDERS. No one draws any dividends after the rebates have been paid to the student members. Profits in excess of the rebates are held in trust by the Board of Directors as a capital fund on which to operate the business. If the business is ever dissolved, the assets will be turned over to the University.

Very little profits have been put into the capital funds during the past few years—about 1% of sales during the last three years. The store no longer has to accumulate as much profit as it did in the years when it did not have a building and a stock of goods. The Society owes no indebtedness on the store and its contents. It was never in better position in its history to serve the student at low prices than it is at this time.

Laissez Faire in Education

Adam Smith has come to be known most widely as the author of the "laissez-faire" theory of economics. This same theory, as regards the use of competition for getting the best quality of production, he also applied in his principles of higher education.

The "laissez-faire" theory of economics is fast losing ground as a means of regulating industry today. The world has become too complex since 1776 to any longer provide for it a practical application. But in the field of education Smith's theory would work even today.

The observant Scotchman pointed out that teachers who were paid regular salaries and for whom there was not provided any means of removal in case of deficiency had no incentive to improve their lectures to keep the students from failing to attend class. "The diligence of public teachers," he said, "is more or less corrupted by the circumstances which render them more or less independent of their success and reputation in their particular professions. Their salaries, too, put the private teacher, who would pretend to come into competition with them, in the same state with a merchant who attempts to trade without a bounty in competition with those who trade with a considerable one."

It is an ordinary thing these days to find students sleeping, window gazing, or playing "tit-tat-toe" in class, and to have even the most attentive pupil say that he is getting nothing whatsoever out of a course. The lack of incentive, if not ability, on the part of some teachers to make their courses interesting or to treat the subject adequately, is just as prevalent, and perhaps more sinful.

"Oh," says some professor, "there are always those who have come to college just to have a good time, anyhow, and those are the ones whose snores I hear." Not so. It would be a revelation to some teachers to know that the very ones who protest most loudly against dull and useless courses are the ones who most desire an education, and who are undergoing privation to secure one.

Education is not something to be forced down a person's throat. The really educated person has either absorbed his knowledge or has deliberately gone out on his own hook to seek it. As Smith observed, "When a young man goes to a fencing or dancing school, he seldom fails to learn to fence or dance." But he did not find this same principle to hold true in the case of universities, where competition among teachers did not exist, and where the student was restricted in his attendance to, and his choice of, classes. Here "education" was dished out with little regard to its ability to appease, and consequently in many cases it was not consumed. To a large extent, is this not still true?

Doing away with attendance restrictions and degree requirements would scarcely help the matter—unless at the same time a system could be set up whereby the professor whose more intelligent students abhor his classes could be forced to make his courses more interesting or be replaced by someone who could. And still there would be some highly attended classes in which the instructors got their following by making nothing more than clowns of themselves. For, as Barnum said, and he made a low estimate, "There is one born every minute."

Too many professors are given jobs that will be theirs so long as they can talk—even after they have ceased to be able to make themselves heard beyond the first row. These grand old men—admirable men they are—but inefficient teachers, have too often fallen into an abandoned pedagogical rut from which they have no idea nor necessity of returning. Is not this lamentable? Suppose a dancing master would teach nothing but the "Charleston" while his potential patrons wanted to learn the "Continental." He'd starve to death.

And the question is still before us—what's to be done? There is one thing that would be an enormous help if it could somehow be brought about. That is, the application of the theory of laissez-faire to education. There is no other field in existence which could profit more by the principle of freedom and flexibility than that of education.

Let the professor be retained who can do the best work—who can offer the most valuable service, and who can give young men and women not only what he thinks they should have, but also what they want and what the world is demanding they have knowledge of.

But before such a situation can be brought about there must be instituted some means of intelligently grading the worth of professors and the value of the course they teach, together with some practical means of removing and replacing them if they prove unsatisfactory.

By JOHN DUKE

Students do strange things to get a college education. A girl, pre-medical student at Kent State College, works her way through school operating her own shoe repair shop. But "you ain't heard nothin' yet." A Butler University freshman is earning his way through school digging graves.

Interesting sidelights about Kenyon College (ever heard of it before?) It was founded in Gambier, Ohio, in 1824. Enrollment is limited to 250 men. The first fraternity lodge in America was built there in 1852 by Delta Kappa Epsilon. In 1829 students paid $1.75 for tuition, board, room, heat and light. Kenyon boasts a larger percentage of distinguished alumni on its rolls than any other college in the country. President Rutherford B. Hayes is a graduate of Kenyon.

Mrs. William G. Owens at the age of 74 received an A. B. degree last June from Bucknell University. This fall she is back studying for her master's. Mrs. Owens, mother of four Bucknell graduates and the wife of a professor, was initiated into the Pi Beta Phi sorority last year.

Ted Shawn and his swirling dervishes who so intrigued the campus socialites last year is again making the circle of colleges and important cities with his troupe of trained men dancers. No word has been heard as yet as to whether he will appear in Austin this year.

Dumbness on the part of some people is inherent. For example, a University of Kentucky student attended a geology class two weeks before he discovered it was a German class. (You believe it?)

Meet the typical Boston University girl. She is not clothes conscious; she has a good complexion; she may flirt if she chooses; and she may diet, sensibly, of course.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 2. — (INS) — Mr. Roosevelt is puzzling the "boys" on Capitol Hill by his tactics in the work-relief deadlock. They suspect he has something up his sleeve, but just what they don't know.

They do know, however, that Mr. Roosevelt is pursuing a course in this controversy utterly different from his past performances.

The administration was licked on the prevailing wage amendment by a single vote. Eighteen months ago, White House pressure would immediately have been exerted to switch that extra vote. But in this case, the pressure has not been applied. The administration meekly let the bill be referred back to committee, and there it rests.

Despite the fact that relief funds are exhausted, ten days have been allowed to elapse with no administration action to coax the bill from committee.

The "boys" on the hill don't know what to make of it all.

get something for nothing out of Biological Laboratory 21, Tuesday night, March 5, at 7:30 o'clock. As new members will be elected, all active members are urged to be present.

CHARLES H. HERNDON, secretary.

MONDAY at 5 o'clock will be the last time for tryouts for the Racquet Club. Membership is open to second-semester freshmen and all upper classmen. Tryouts will be held at the courts.

ELIZABETH FORSYTHE, leader.

THE AMERICAN Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineering will hold a meeting Monday night, March 4, being hosts to two representatives of the General Electric Company, one of whom will talk on "Engineering Progress in 1934." All engineers are urged to attend.

PHILIP KALMAN, vice-president.

Radio wave lengths will link the United States and Ireland on St. Patrick's Day. Genial Michael MacWhite, the Irish minister, will journey to New York to participate in a radio broadcast to Ireland, in which Mayor La Guardia and Cardinal Hayes also will take part. Then the witty Michael will go down to Philadelphia to tell some stories to the friendly sons of St. Patrick. His stories are worth listening to.

MacWhite is one of the very few diplomats in Washington to this government.

He persuaded the government to reduce the tariff on Irish stout and Irish whiskey by 50 per cent. He argued the more sold in this country would result in Ireland's buying more American agricultural products, since these Irish beverages are made entirely of American grains.

The National Federation of Federal Employees has instituted a new and unique service.

If you work for the government and desire a change of scene, the N.F.F.E. will attempt to consummate a job-swap with another government worker who wants to get away from it all to a different section of the country.

Huey Long has gone super-ambitious.

After Huey indicated he was seriously entertaining the notion of "running" for governor of Louisiana, he was asked: "Does that mean you'd rather be governor than run for President?"

"I could run for President and governor both," returned the unquenchable Kingfish. "Jack Garner did it. He ran for Vice-President and Congress in the same election and was elected to both offices the same day."

"If he could, I could."

Benedict —

per student at Texas has declined about one-third during the past seven years. During the same period the amount per student supplied out of the general revenue or tax money has declined about 70 per cent or over two-thirds. Texas cannot long maintain even its present relative standing unless its support is increased."

Face Danger

He expressed pride in the standing of the University, notwithstanding the declining resources of a financial nature which are available to it. "The chief glory of the University lies in the fact that it is ranked among the best state universities in quality, among the lowest in running expenses. From this glory arises a great and immediate danger: the University cannot continue to give first-class service on a fourth-rate basis."

First evidence of high ranking, as pointed out by President Benedict, was the fact that only two other universities in the South are members of the exclusive Association of American Universities, which has only thirty-two members in all. This association is the highest ranking organization of universities in America, and the degrees of its member institutions are recognized throughout the world.

Tenth in Graduate Work

Last year, he said, the American Council on Education ranked the University tenth among the forty-two state universities in graduate work, twenty-first among the universities of the United States. Several of the departments of the University rank still higher among their sister departments in other universities, he said.

"To provide and maintain for the people of Texas a 'University of the first class,'" Dr. Benedict said, "the State appropriation must be increased, though not to the point of wastefulness, the student fees must be kept low enough to admit worthy students of limited means, and the entrance requirements must be high enough to exclude those not qualified to profit measurably by the training offered."

Summer Cost Lower

Commenting upon the summer session, Dr. Benedict pointed out that this service is provided at an even lower cost per unit of instruction than the long session work. "Provision for the 1935 Summer Session should be made at once, and appropriations for future summer sessions should be included in the regular appropriation bill," he said.

Continuing his discussion of the operation of the University, he said:

"University funds are being handled in accord with State law. Complete statements of financial transactions are published annually, and an independent audit by outside certified public accountants is made each year. Since its beginning the University has been a public institution publicly conducted.

"An efficient University requires not only ample funds but wise control. Wise control is best secured by placing full responsibility, and authority to carry out that responsibility, on a capable governing board. The Legislature should allow the Regents sufficient latitude for meeting the complex problems arising from size, growth, and change, and should hold them accountable for the results. The caliber of men and women on the Board, past and present, is ample assurance of the proper discharge of such an obligation.

"In particular the extreme itemization of appropriations has interfered with the most judicious use of the funds made available. Nearly all state legislatures make appropriations for higher educational institutions under four or five general headings and leave to the governing boards the tasks of making detailed budgets.

"The governing boards of Texas institutions are certainly not less competent, honest, and diligent than those of other states. They should be given fuller responsibility coupled with the requirement of making full printed reports. 'Pitiless publicity' is the best guarantee of the proper discharge of a public trust. The University of Texas advocates and attempts to practice the doctrine of 'pitiless publicity' as to all of its activities."
