Five of the co-ed holders of scholarships in the University reside at the Woman's Building, according to Mrs. Ueil Carothers, chaperon. These girls are Elizabeth Tucker of Nacogdoches, holder of the Daughters of the American Revolution scholarship which is offered each year; Frances Ethel Wipff of Eagle Pass, who has the Texas Women's Press Association scholarship; Margaret Bracher of Fredericksburg, who has the scholarship offered by the Home Economics Club; Ruth Alexander of Dallas, holder of the scholarship given by the American College Women's Club of Dallas; Ruth Alred of Beaumont, who holds the Pan-Hellenic scholarship.

Three of the girls are seniors, Misses Tucker, Wipff, and Bracher, and two are freshmen: Misses Alexander and Alred.

Amanda Herring of Tyler, a freshman in the University, has the honor of winning second prize in a statewide contest for a piece of local history, entitled "Pioneer Days in Tyler," which she wrote during her senior year in high school. Miss Herring is a consistent student, having made five A's and one B during the fall term.

John L. "Red" McKnight of Hallettsville is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences. He graduated with highest honors from the Hallettsville High School in 1923. McKnight is now studying pre-law work and expects to take a LL.B. degree.

Alton S. Harry of Yoakum, sophomore student in the College of Arts and Sciences, came to the University in the fall of 1923, after graduating with high honors from the Yoakum High School, where he made letters in football, basketball, and baseball, and was a member of the dramatic club and debating society. He expects to take his B.B.A. degree in 1927.

MRS. FERGUSON TO NAME SEVEN OF FUTURE REGENTS

Marsh, Whaley, Wooten, and Hankamer Fail to Receive Senate Confirmation

ROYALL AND STOREY PASS

Senate Spends Over Three Hours Considering Hundreds of Names

Rejection of four members of the University Board of Regents, who were recess appointments of Gov. Pat Neff, was made by the Senate in executive session Monday.

The names rejected were: Charles B. Marsh, Austin; W. S. Whaley, Cleburne; Dr. Joe Wooten, Austin; and Earl C. Hankamer, Sour Lake. Confirmation was made of the appointments of Tucker Royall of Palestine, and R. G. Storey of Tyler.

Owing to the expiration of the terms of three members, and the rejection by the Senate of the four appointees, it will be necessary for the incoming governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson to name seven of the nine men who will compose the future board.

Confirmation of the appointment of Mr. Royall will have no bearing on the personnel of the new board, as he goes out of the office with the expiration of his term this month; unless he is reappointed by Governor Ferguson.

The term of R. G. Storey, the other appointee, will not expire until January, 1929.

Terms of H. J. Litcher Stark of Orange, H. A. Wroe of Austin, and Mr. Royall expire in January of this year. All of the remaining members with the exception of Mrs. H. J. O'Hair of Coleman, were appointed by Governor Neff.

Three hours and twenty minutes were required by the Senate to consider and discuss the hundreds of names of Governor Neff's appointees.

Members and terms of the board this year, prior to the Senate rejections have been as follows:

Expiring terms in January, 1925: Tucker Royall, Palestine; Henry J. Litcher Stark, Orange; and H. A. Wroe, Austin.

Expiring terms in January, 1927: Earl C. Hankamer, Sour Lake; Charles B. Marsh, Austin; and Mrs. H. J. O'Hair, Coleman.

Expiring terms in January, 1929: R. G. Storey, Dallas; W. S. Whaley, Dr. Joe S. Wooten.

Charles B. Marsh was appointed to succeed Sam P. Cochran, who resigned May 16, 1924.

Music Frat Brings Guion, Native Texan

DAVID W. GUION

Guion is a native of Texas, having been born and reared in Balinger. He has won a national reputation as composer and pianist, and is especially famous for his transcription of the old folk-tune, "Turkey in the Straw."

DAVID GUION TO APPEAR IN CONCERT HERE SOON

Noted Musician Comes to Austin Under Auspices of Phi Mu Alpha

Featuring his own compositions, which have won popularity throughout the United States, David W. Guion, native Texan, will appear in concert with Daisy Polk at the Junior High School auditorium, Jan. 24 at 8:15, under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia Fraternity of America.

The most famous of Mr. Guion's works is his inimitable transcription of "Turkey in the Straw," a typical American folk-song. Mr. Guion has done a real piece of artistic and lasting work in his transcriptions of the darkey spirituals, which the critics say are the only typically American music. The compositions of Mr. Guion are played and sung on the programs of all the leading concert artists of America today, including Galli-Curci, Sousa, Seagle, Gluck, Gates, and Percy Grainger.

Miss Polk, since finishing study in New York, has appeared with unqualified success in church and concert work in the East and South. She will sing the songs that have made Guion famous, among them "Mary Alone," "De Ol' Ark's a Moverin'," "Hopi Indian Cradle Song," and "Nobody Knows de Trouble I Sees."

This is Mr. Guion's first appearance in Austin, though he is a native Texan and now lives in Dallas. Phi Mu Alpha is fortunate in being able to obtain this date, for Guion is in demand on the concert stage in the leading cities of America, according to Royall Calder, president of the fraternity.

"Tennis on Sunday" Will Be Subject at Hogg Debating Club

"Resolved, That the playing of tennis should be permitted on Sunday on the University of Texas courts," will be the subject for debate at the Hogg Debating Club tonight. The meeting will be at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

The affirmative side will be represented by White and Clarence Trager, and the negative by S. P. Hurley and Brandenburg.

"Heard in the Lobbies of the Legislature," will be discussed by Dudley Wynn. Dwight Johnson will talk on "Ma's Inaugural Ball," and Howell Hagg will give the weekly grunt. Visitors are invited.

MUSTANGS WIN FROM LONGHORNS ON S. M. U. COURT MONDAY, 31-26

Defeat Places Texas in Fifth Position on Conference Standing

CONFERENCE	STANDING	W. L. Pct.
Okl. A. & M.	2 0	1.000
Arkansas	3 1	.750
Texas A. & M.	2 1	.667
S. M. U.	1 2	.333
Texas	1 3	.250
Baylor	0 2	.000
Rice	0 1	.000

Texas dropped to fifth place in the conference standing, when the S. M. U. Mustangs defeated them last night, at Dallas, 31-26.

This is the third straight loss for the Longhorns. The Oklahoma Aggies took two games from the Steers last Friday and Saturday, and the Mustangs did the unexpected and defeated Doc Stewart's quintet. The crippled Longhorns put up a stubborn fight, but their weakness combined with the determined fight of the Mustangs, caused the Steers' third loss.

Coach Bridges' Bears will be the next team that Texas plays here Jan. 31, and, from the present outlook, the Longhorns will have to be at top form in order to defeat the Baylor Bears.

Miss Gearing Will Speak About London

Toasts and stunts will make up the remainder of the program for the dinner.

Lomax Will Address Rusk Society Tonight

John A. Lomax, an ex-member of Rusk Literary Society and prominent ex-student of the University, will address the society at its regular meeting tonight at 7:15 in the basement of the Law Building. The question, "Resolved, That the 18th Amendment should be repealed" will be debated, with Fry and Wise upholding the affirmative, and Crawford and Collins arguing the negative.

Tonight's program promises to be one of the best of the year for the society. All members are urged to attend and visitors are invited.

Small Fire Put Out at Woman's Building

Fire of undetermined origin last night partially destroyed approximately 50 chairs and a box of magazines in the basement of the Woman's Building. Firemen answered the call at 8:50 o'clock, and completed their work in twenty minutes amidst the advising yells of a large crowd of students.

"That place is a regular fire trap," commented Fire Chief D. L. Woodward, after the fire. "It seems strange that $250,000 should be spent for a building without more precaution against fire being provided."

FAITH

Joy of living is proportional to man's faith in those about him. How miserable is the man who has allowed a single disillusionment to destroy his trust! Bitterness characterizes his attitude toward others. He watches his friends, hurt by his distrust and indifference, grow cold. He views this loss without concern, however, for in losing faith in them, he loses love for them. Gradually, there comes a growing distrust of himself, which leads to the very depth of despair.

When Alexander the Great made his memorable invasion of the Persian Empire, he was stricken with a stubborn fever. The doctors were puzzled, and it was feared that the great and beloved leader might die. One of the physicians, who was also a very good friend of Alexander, heard of a drink, prepared with certain herbs, that was used in the East and he determined to try it in the case of his master. While the physician prepared the medicine by the sick king's bedside, a messenger came in with a note for Alexander. The note warned the sick man that his friend physician was in a plot against him, and that the medicine offered was really poison. Alexander handed the note to the physician to read, took the cup of medicine, and drank it all without a moment's hesitation. The drink did its work, and the Macedonian king was restored to health. Faith in his friend had thwarted an attempt to prevent his recovery.

Where there is true and tender love, there is faith. A mother loves and trusts her children, even though they are not deserving. Often her implicit and unquestioning faith makes them strive to be more deserving. Everywhere is the evidence of what faith can do. Self-confidence, which is faith in oneself, lies at the foundation of any worthwhile accomplishment. Physicians strive first for the confidence of their patients; then feel more sure of their chances for success. Lawyers endeavor to gain the faith of their clients, and in proving themselves worthy of their patron's trust find renewed inspiration and enthusiasm. The whole business world wants and advertises for the faith of the public. Physicians strive first for the confidence of their patients; then feel more sure of their chance for success. The Great Physician brought the dead back to life, and gave the blind their sight through Faith.

To love is to trust, and to love is to be happy. Faith in his Creator, in his loved ones, and in himself is man's greatest privilege.—Jewell Pridgen.

HOW MANY FRIENDS HAVE YOU?

Said a man the other day: "I have very few friends. Of course I have a lot of acquaintances. I know lots of people, but they are not what I should call friends."

"And," he went on, "if I were to die today there is hardly anyone on the otherside—that has gone on ahead of me—that I would look forward to meeting with any degree of pleasure."

"Oh, of course, there is So and So, and So and So,—they were friends. And there is Such and Such, and Such and Such—they were friends." And he went on until he had named half a hundred.

"But here in the flesh," he argued, "there are not that many."

"Now, if I were dead and on the other side looking this way, I could count on the fingers of one hand the folks whose coming I would await with any degree of eagerness. There is So and So, and So and So—they are friends. And there is Such and Such, and Such and Such—they are friends." And he went on until he had named a hundred.

And thus that man, who had declared that he had scarcely a friend living or dead, found under analysis that he had a hundred and fifty friends.

And that is the way it is. Off-hand we may think there are very few people who care very much about us. And we may think that there are very few people we care very much about. But when it came to a show-down the results would surprise us.

Get sick or get into trouble and watch people come to your assistance—people whom you never dreamed thought of you twice.

And on the other hand let other people get into difficulty and watch yourself go to their assistance—people who never dreamed that you thought of them twice.

When we consider the basis on which this world is set up—when we consider how people must strive and fight for existence—and for the things they want—it is really wonderful that as much fellowship exists as does exist. It shows that underlying all, man has a great fundamental love for man.

And when the time comes that we shuck these mortal bodies and mortal problems that go with them—and when we can get a clearer vision of realities—then that foundation love that man has for man will manifest itself in all its splendid strength and purity.—Denton Record-Chronicle.

TEXAN ADS PAY

The 5,000 Are Here

Registration at the University of Texas has just passed the 5,000 mark, breaking all attendance records.

Five thousand population (including men, women, and children) is "right smart" for a community anywhere. But think of a group of 5,000, every member of which is a potential buyer, an individual with separate resources and requirements. What better field could a business man desire?

And add to that 1,000 home represented by Austin students; 500 families represented by faculty members and University officials; 300 families represented by boarding and rooming house proprietors; every business concern in the business section of the city; and a large miscellaneous list of local patrons.

That is what the DAILY TEXAN has to offer at this time—complete coverage in the University field that cannot be touched by any other daily medium; and general distribution in the city of Austin, reaching thousands of Austin families.

Ask other publications to analyze their distribution.

"Painted People" a Laugh Producer

"Painted People," a First National picture featuring Colleen Moore and directed by Clarence Badger, which is now playing at the Texas Theater, is declared to be one of the most humorous photoplays ever seen on the local screen. It is from the pen of Richard Connell, noted humorist, and was published serially in Collier's Weekly, where it appeared under the title of the "Swamp Angel."

Miss Moore is seen as the "tom-boy" daughter of humble parents, who can play baseball as good as any "kid" in the neighborhood, and who is in great demand for the big games. It is a difficult role for any actress, but Miss Moore carries it off with honors, even if, during the rehearsals and the actual filming, she split a couple of finger nails and was nearly knocked out by a pitched ball.

Majestic Showing "Peter Pan"

There is hardly a man, woman or child in the land who doesn't know and love "Peter Pan," the boy who wouldn't grow up.

For the past twenty years this J. M. Barrie play has been nothing short of a sensation on the legitimate stage.

In the Herbert Brenon production for Paramount of the Barrie masterpiece, with Betty Bronson, Ernest Torrence, Cyril Chadwick, Virginia Brown Faire, Anna May Wong, and others in the all star cast, the underground home of the Little Lost Boys, Never Never Land itself, the Indians, fairies and pirates all have been produced with amazing fidelity on the screen.

"Peter Pan," which opened Monday at the Majestic Theater, is a scene for scene picturization of the story as the author wrote it.

VAUDEVILLE BILL STRONG THIS WEEK

"Doc" Baker Offers "Protean Revue" as Leading Act

"Doc" Baker offers his "Protean Revue" as the leading act on the vaudeville program at the Hancock this week. The lightning change artist has a bevy of beautiful girls with him this season, and the act is a combination of artistic costumes, graceful dancing, rollicking wit, harmonious songs, and sparkling dimples.

Lillian Harlein, who is playing her initial season on the vaudeville stage, has a popular act. Lowell B. Drew and Ruth Valle present a comedy skit, "At the Drug Store."

Wood and White give a combination of eccentric dance and humorous songs. They form one of the leading comedy acts on the bill.

Wire walking artists make their appearance on the Hancock bill in the act of Sylvia Loyall and her troupe. Trained pigeons and French dogs are another novel feature of this act.

Humorous dialect forms the inspiration for the act of Frank Farron who draws his songs and laughs from the Southern negro.

Bessie Love and Glenn Hunter at Queen

Bessie Love and Glenn Hunter are the featured players in "The Silent Watcher," an adaptation of Mary Roberts Rinehart's story, "The Altar on the Hill," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. The picture was made by Frank Lloyd, producer of "The Sea Hawk," and is the First National's offering at the Queen Theater for the first three days of the week.

"The Silent Watcher" pictorially relates the story of Joe Roberts, secretary to John Steele, famous lawyer and senatorial candidate, and their respective family and business affairs.

Hunter, in interpreting the role of Joe Roberts, is reported to have given one of the finest dramatic performances the screen has ever seen. Hobart Bosworth, veteran stage with the politician. Gertrude Astor, and screen actor, plays the senatorial candidate, John Steele, and Alma Bennett is cast as Lily Elliott, a flirtatious soubrette who falls in love with the politician. DeWitt Jennings, and others are in the supporting cast.

ACACIA, PATTERSONS AND COPELANDS VICTORIOUS

Acacia fraternity, Patersons, and Copelands were victorious over Delta Chi fraternity, Cradocks, and the Cafeteria, respectively, in three hard-fought basketball games played last night in the Men's Gym.

In the first encounter between Patersons and Cradocks of the Independent League, the former defeated the latter 9-7.

Continuing their winning streak, Copelands beat Cafeteria 11-6 in the second game of the evening.

Acacia swamped Delta Chi 18-2 in a postponed fraternity game. The losers put up a good fight and had several opportunities at easy shots, but failed. Bryan of the winners
