HOUSTON TEAM ARRIVES TODAY FOR FINAL GAME

Tickets Will Be Sold in Corridors Today and Tomorrow—Preparations for Entertainment of Visitors Completed.

The Houston boys left last night over the T. & B. V. for Corsicana, where they will take the Cotton Belt for Waco and transfer to the Katy. They will arrive some time this afternoon. The Comanche team will probably arrive on the same Katy train as the Houston team, as they leave for Brownwood this morning at 4 o'clock, transferring to the Katy at Temple.

Tickets for the high school football championship game tomorrow afternoon on Clark Field are to be on sale today and tomorrow in the corridors between 11:30 and 1 o'clock. Students expecting good seats should get reserved seats before the game tomorrow, for with fair weather assured, a big crowd is sure to be present. Preparations are being perfected to give a big banquet to the two teams Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. This event, the first of its kind in the history of the University or of high school athletics, has attracted great attention, and all students are expected to form themselves into a reception committee to show the visiting high school students a good time while here.

Arrangements have been made for taking care of all the players, managers and coaches at the different fraternity houses and homes of students. The game will begin tomorrow at 3 p. m. J. B. Rix will officiate as referee, and other officials will be secured from former Texas players.

WINSONIANS EAT AND TOAST CLUB

Prof. J. P. Schlusser and Mr. Stark Young Are Among Speakers of the Evening.

Legitimation of the Winsonian Dramatic Club was formally effected at a banquet last night at the Driskill Hotel. The successful attempts of this club at presenting skits for the enlightenment of football rallies were deemed sufficient grounds for permanent organization, and this proved the real purpose of the affair last night.

Mr. Stark Young and Prof. J. P. Schlusser were the principal speakers of the evening, and outlined the possibilities of the club and the field for its future endeavor. It was generally agreed that an enlightenment of the rallies would be a distinct service to the University as well as an interesting and instructive diversion for both performers and spectators.

Mr. Marion Levy, who is an honorary member, addressed the club and gave many valuable suggestions from the standpoint of an old student who has taken an active interest in such endeavors for several years at the University of Texas. It was planned to make membership to the club open to all students, on a purely competitive basis. Competition is to begin immediately for play-writing. A short skit for each of the rallies next year is desired, and any student who can characterize any phase of University life is urged to submit his written plays to the officers of the club. From this number one for each rally will be selected; then try-outs for the various parts will be instituted.

Organization was perfected by the election of the following officers, who are to serve for one year: Adrian Levy, president; Fred Hibbard, secretary; Paul H. Brown, business manager, and Ches Adams, assistant business manager.

The banquet partook of the nature of an "after-the-show dinner," and real actor-like good fellowship prevailed. The following members responded to toasts:

"The Tide in Our Affairs," R. L. Skiles.

"The Fairy Land of Grown-up Men," H. H. Daily.

"Stern Realities," C. P. McKenzie.

"Dramatics at Michigan," Prof. Schlusser.

"Advice," Stark Young.

"The Competitive Basis," Marion Levy.

"Its Birth," Adrian Levy.

TRELEVEN TELLS OF WACO FLOODS

University Faculty Member Has Many Exciting Experiences on Recent Trip.

Mr. John E. Treleven of the school of business training has just returned from Waco and Temple, where he was delayed for five days on account of the floods. He says the accounts given in the daily papers in regard to conditions in those places were not exaggerated.

"East Waco was entirely under water," said Mr. Treleven, "and I saw 2000 people fed in the public bread line. The citizens of Waco were very prompt in coming to the assistance of those in need, and their method of relief was very efficient. They asked for no outside aid, but bore the entire burden themselves.

"There was danger not only from the water, but from disease after the water went down. The sewers backed up into many of the best residences in the city, and it was necessary to open the mains. The city was entirely cut off from any water supply for several days, and was under military patrol.

"In Temple, business was practically suspended. It took me from 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon till 8 o'clock Sunday night to get back to Austin. It was an experience that was extremely unpleasant at the time, but now that it is over with, I am glad I have been through it."

WILL GIVE MORNING GERMAN.

Students From Fort Worth Will Entertain Alumni in Westbrook Morning of Dec. 27.

In honor of the University, faculty, and alumni, the students from Fort Worth will give a morning german in the parlors of the Westbrook Hotel at Fort Worth from 9 to 1, Dec. 27. Arrangements for the affair are about completed. The committee in charge is composed of Gambrell Randle, Frank Culver, Bothwell Kane, Hughes King, Tom Mastin, and Miss Jessie Butts.

An entertainment of this nature is given during the holidays by the Fort Worth students each year, the purpose being to keep enthusiasm alive among former students of the University and to promote fellowship among the students.

SPEAKERS CLUB ELECT OFFICERS.

At the last meeting of the Speakers' Club the following officers were elected to serve during the winter term: President, Raymond Myers; vice president, Pendleton Howard; secretary-treasurer, Gerome Rogers; sergeant-at-arms, Rinehart Rouer; committee-men at large, Dick Bailey and Maurice Hirsch.

RUSK ELECTS TONIGHT.

A short business meeting of the Rusk Literary Society will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Rusk Society room. The purpose of this meeting is to elect all officers for the winter term.

WEATHER REPORT.

Maximum temperature, 54; minimum temperature, 44; Forecast for today: Clear and cool.

HOLIDAY RULES AND BAD TRAVEL CAUSE TROUBLE

Students Who Depart Next Week for Home Will Have Difficulty in Making Connections—Rates and Dates Given.

The last examinations will be given on Saturday, Dec. 20. Most of the students will leave before that time. The holidays will last until Saturday, Jan. 3. While they moved the examination schedule back, enabling the students to go home two days earlier, the board of regents did not change the date of the winter term registration day. A student must register Saturday, Jan. 3, or he will have to pay a fine of $3. It is also to be observed that it is counted a breach of the honor system for one student to register for another who is out of town at the time his name is registered.

On account of the extremely bad conditions prevailing on all roads throughout the entire state, it may be difficult for a number of students to reach their home towns comfortably. The rates for the Christmas holidays will go into effect on Dec. 19. These rates are over all roads running into Austin. There will also be low rates put on for Dec. 31, lasting through Jan. 1. All holiday tickets will be honored for return passage until Jan. 6.

Mr. Robbins of the Katy states that while the road is in bad shape, they expect to be able to run on schedule time after next Sunday. The H. & T. C. is not so fortunate, and it will not be until next Tuesday that an attempt will be made to run according to schedule time. The schedule of the I. & G. N. will be the same as heretofore. All of the roads will have in effect a ticket of one and one-third the price of a straight fare.

CHRISTMAS PARTY TONIGHT.

Bible Chair to Be Scene of Festive Celebration for Students Homeward Bound.

The annual Christmas party will be given at the Bible Chair Friday evening, Dec. 12. This is one of the most unique and enjoyable affairs given by the Bible Chair during the whole year. It is designed especially for an evening of "relaxation" and "good time," just prior to examination week.

There have been several students in attendance at the Sunday morning classes whose names were not secured. This notice is especially designed to catch the above, the regular attendants who happened to be absent the past Sunday, and a general reminder to all the regular and faithful Sunday morning Bible Chair students.

NEW COURSE IN ADVERTISING.

School of Business Training Offers Course to Sophomores After Christmas Holidays.

The school of business training will offer a new course in advertising and selling after Christmas, a course that has not been announced in the catalogue. It will be open to all those of sophomore standing who are interested in the marketing end of business. The class will meet at 8:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

WALLIS ASSISTANT EDITOR.

At the last meeting of the Magazine staff, the position of assistant editor was created, and Mr. Clyde V. Wallis was appointed to fill the place. Mr. Wallis has been on the Magazine staff for two years, and his promotion came as a recognition of his excellent services in the past. The vacancy created by the promotion of Mr. Wallis was filled by the appointment of Mr. C. R. Holland.

PREXY GOES EAST.

Prexy, accompanied by Mrs. Prexy, left yesterday on a quite extended trip through the East, for the purpose of finding material to fill vacancies in the faculty. He will first visit Chicago, then Cleveland, Washington, and New York in the order named.

President and Mrs. Mezes will spend Christmas in the East, returning to Austin about Dec. 31.

TRACK MEN ARE PREDICTING AN EXCELLENT YEAR

Coach Taylor Will Meet All Candidates for Various Events in Meeting Today Held in Room 126.

In order that they may become acquainted with Coach Taylor and understand his policies, all freshmen who wish to try out for track this year are asked to attend the meeting of track men in room 126 at 1:30 p. m. today. All old men are urged to be present.

The team this year will start off with even more promising prospects than last season's victorious team. Regular men from last year's team are back for all events except the three sprints and the broad jump. However, in the sprints there are two letter men—Melasky, a member of the famous championship team of 1910, and Adams, a close rival of Hoover. Adams ran the century in 10 seconds flat at the Oklahoma meet last year, losing first place to Hoover by inches, the time being ten flat. In the broad jump are Hamilton and Littlefield, both of whom have made over twenty-one feet.

Candidates of last year's team who will be available are: In the sprints, Adams (T), Massey, and Dailey; in the distance runs, Mathis (T), Scurlock, and Griffin; in the hurdles, Littlefield (T), Hamilton (T), and Ross (T); in the broad jump, Hamilton and Littlefield; in the pole vault, Stanley (T), Wimmer, and McNew; in the hammer throw, Niblo (T), Jordan (T), and Holliday; in the shot put, E. Berry (T), Jordan (T), Goodman, and K. Berry. It is expected that some good freshman material will develop.

PRESENT DAY CLUB MEETS.

Miss White's Speech Is Feature of Meeting—Invitations Open to All.

Tuesday afternoon the Present Day Club held an unusually interesting meeting. The two special features of the program were a talk by Miss White endorsing the plans of the club to keep before the women of the University the appeal of present day affairs, and the discussion of the outline for next term's work. The study of the general subject of women's clubs as a factor in present day progress will be made of women's clubs as touching the educational, household, and political problems of today.

As a special treat for an open meeting, the club will give University women the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker soon after the holidays.

Invitations to membership in the club are still open. Women who are interested should see or write Miss Mattie Beth Morgan or Miss Myrtle Brown for information before the next meeting, Jan. 7, 1914. Letters addressed University Station will reach Miss Brown or Miss Morgan.

Today is Y. W. C. A. pay-day. All members are requested to pay their dues at a table that will be placed in the study hall.

REGENTS SELECT FIVE FACULTY COMMITTEEMEN

Members of the Faculty to Be Chosen by This Committee to Give Lectures Before Various Meetings.

At a recent meeting the regents of the University appointed a committee consisting of Dr. Campbell, Dr. Patterson, Dr. Bell, Dr. Brown, and Dr. Hildebrand to select and send faculty members to gatherings of world-wide importance. The first man that was selected was Dr. E. L. Dodd, and he was sent to the University of Missouri to the seventh regular meeting of the American Mathematical Society. Dr. Dodd will present a paper on the "Weighting of Measurements on the Basis of Their Relative Magnitudes." In this article Dr. Dodd will discuss the question as to whether the measurements themselves may not be made to yield weights of value in forming weighted means; for instance, should not the median, because of its position among the measurements, bear a heavier weight? His entire paper will soon appear in the leading mathematical magazines of the country.

Among the men who will be present at this meeting are Prof. Van der Vries of Kansas University; Prof. Roeber of Washington University; Prof. Slaughter of the University of Chicago; Prof. Davis, dean of the college of arts and sciences of the University of Nebraska; Prof. Ashton of the University of Kansas, and Prof. Ames of the University of Missouri.

During the Christmas holidays there will be at least a dozen of the faculty members present at the gatherings of professors at the various universities of the country. The committee of the University has already selected these men and will pay three-fourths of their expenses, provided they present a paper at such a meeting.

LANIER VOTES PRIZE FOR MAG.

A Prize of $25 Offered by Co-Ed Society for the Best Story in Winter Term Issues.

As a further incentive to contributions to the Magazine, the Sidney Lanier Literary Society at the regular session Wednesday afternoon decided to offer a cash prize of $25 for the best poem, essay or story contributed during the winter term. This should be a large factor in encouraging more and better contributions. In addition to this handsome offer, there are already, as announced in a previous issue of The Texan, two prizes offered by this club of the University of $10 and $5, respectively, for the best article in the February number, and the second best article in the March issue.

The Magazine has been suffering from a scarcity of meritorious material this year, and it is to overcome this lamentable condition that these loyal student organizations have decided to offer these prizes. It is hoped that from the contributions thus secured, some excellent material may be selected and the standard of the University literary production correspondingly raised.

All students aspiring to one of these prizes should lose no time in conferring with the editor of the Magazine as to rules of the competition, and other details.

EXECUTIVE BOARD DIVIDES STUDENTS INTO TWO GROUPS

To Provide for Entertainment of Men From High Schools Who Will Be in Austin Next Saturday for Game.

Saturday night after the Comanche-Houston high school championship football game, the members and coaches of both teams will be tendered a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. by the students of the University. In order to raise the necessary funds to cover the expenses of this banquet, the student body has been divided into two groups, those from North Texas and those from South Texas. The following committees have been named by the executive committee of the University Interscholastic League to solicit subscriptions from the students:

North Texas committee: R. E. Rouer, Mark Callaway, F. W. Wozencraft, Chas. L. Francis, C. V. Wallis, Jerry Fowler, Dexter Scurlock, Pendleton Howard, Bob Knight, Joe Russell, W. S. Hunnicutt, Hubert Jones, Alex Spence, A. Garland Adair, M. L. Peterson.

South Texas committee: R. Scott, Theo Gatchell, Dick Fleming, T. B. Reese, Claxton Parks, Thad Scott, W. Carter, Adrian Levy, E. F. Ries, Frank Lyons, C. R. Holland, Bob Simmons, Carlton Bailey, S. G. Baggett, C. F. Richards.

Each committee is to raise a fund of $25 for the purpose of entertaining the team from its section. The department of extension has no available fund for such an entertainment, and it is necessary to raise the money from the student body at large in this manner. Each member of these committees should turn in the money he has collected to Prof. Shurter, at room 10, I Hall, not later than 6 o'clock this afternoon. Every member that succeeds in raising as much as $2.50 will be entitled to attend the banquet free of charge.

EXPLOSION IN CHEMISTRY LAB CAUSES A FIRE

Destructive Conflagration Brings to Attention of Spectators the Danger to Students From Inferior Buildings.

Damage amounting to approximately $300 resulted from a fire in the Chemistry Building, caused by the explosion of xylol solution. The explosion took place in the laboratory room of the Chemistry Building. It happened while about ten students were in the room engaged in experimental work. One of the experiments involved the testing of salt in a bath of xylol solution. For some cause not easily explained, the vessel containing the solution was allowed to boil over. The contents of the vessel became ignited, and the flames spread about the laboratory rapidly.

Mr. Duncan of the school of chemistry immediately turned in an alarm to the Austin fire department and a quick run was made to the University campus. A hose was at once secured from the big fire truck, which was the first wagon to arrive on the scene. The fire was easily extinguished.

While the damage done to the walls of the building in which the fire occurred was slight, the damage done to the apparatus of the laboratory amounts to hundreds of dollars. Many expensive test tubes and containing vessels were broken. On the shelves near the table where the explosion took place were rows of bottles containing alcohol, inflammable oils, and other explosives. The heat from the burning xylol caused these bottles to break, which brought about new explosions and resulted in the building being filled with dense clouds of smoke and pungent gases.

Mr. Duncan in commenting upon the danger of the explosion, said:

"If the flames had eaten their way through the floor of the laboratory room and had come in contact with the chemicals in the basement below, there is no telling to what extent the fire might have gone. There are chemicals enough in the basement of the Chemistry Building to spread conflagration to every building upon the campus."

One of the first men to arrive upon the scene of trouble was Business Manager I. P. Lochridge. Mr. Lochridge, after investigating the source of the fire, said:

"The prompt response of the fire department and the immediate extinguishing of the flames was all that prevented a serious catastrophe."

The explosion brought to the notice of everyone the unfortunate lack of proper equipment and suitable buildings. It is highly probable that if the flames had reached the store of chemicals in the basement, there would have been a sudden and terrible explosion, resulting in certain loss of life to all students and teachers in the building at the time.

The need of a fireproof storehouse for the Chemistry Building is very apparent. A cheap frame construction has just been added to the chemistry lecture room, where, owing to the lack of sufficient funds, chemistry students are forced to perform their experiments. Because of the inflammable material used in the construction of these temporary constructions, those who perform their work there are necessarily placed in constant danger from a sudden fire. The University management has done all in its power to provide for the increasing number of students, and the fault is certainly not one of theirs.

QUESTIONABLE NEWS.

The editor of the Michigan Daily, one of the best edited college dailies, is a man of conviction and courage. In a recent issue we find him printing in his news columns the names of three students who were under indictment for rioting, and the name of another student who had been suspended from school on a charge of intoxication. He told the news, the bare, cold facts. He justifies his editorial policy with the following plausible reasoning:

The question is constantly arising as to what is and what is not news. There are as many opinions as there are persons.

News, on a broad basis, is anything that interests, anything that acquaints a reader with a new circumstance, a new fact or a new condition.

The break comes when we attempt to settle the merit of a particular happening. Many here would take into consideration the cause and effect of printing a particular happening, on the grounds that it would be detrimental to the particular individual or the particular institution.

The Michigan Daily is constantly being confronted with student arrests, student expulsions, student riots. Is it news? From the theoretical standpoint, yes. From the standpoint that the stories will be carried by the outside papers, regardless of the Daily's action, yes.

But what about the effect on Michigan and the Michigan student body? Are faults best corrected by making a candid admission of the facts and thus seeking a reform? Or by refusing to admit the existence of the fault? Is not this much like trying to put out fire with fire? Is it better to save the particular individual and make a bad precedent, or to clear our decks entirely? To have no skeletons in the closet?

Education, of course, is the Twentieth century method of reform. But what is to be done, when education fails? Some punishment is possibly necessary to help make education effective.

Severe punishment of a few, at the start, will save future punishment of tenfold the few.

In seeking reform, the results are the first consideration. The second consideration is to accomplish reform with as little suffering as possible.

It has been the policy of The Texan to suppress all questionable news, to spare the feelings of unfortunate individuals, and to make friends of all, enemies of none. In this policy it has but voiced the student opinion.

The University of Texas has always countenanced and encouraged this policy of suppression. In the matter of making public the names of those who fail to pass in their courses, we have seen this policy plainly shown. There was a slight departure from the rule last year, we believe, when the deans posted the names of those who failed to make their courses in the college of arts. One noticeable exception to the rule is found in the law department in the custom of posting all grades on the bulletin boards.

The Students' Council has always suppressed the names of students who were reprimanded, suspended, or expelled for breaches of the honor system. After a trial and conviction we are advised that a first-year student, "a member of the sophomore class," or some other student, whose name we never learn, has been found guilty.

The students would be shocked to read in their own paper a story that tells the name of one of their number who has brought dishonor upon himself and discredited upon the institution. We would be severely criticised for such unjust publicity.

Not long ago we brought upon our heads the censure of the students by publishing the names of the members of our staff who had been found falling below the standard in their work. We believed then that we were justified. The men had been elected on merit; the students had been advised that these men were elected on merit; and when the advisory board found that they were not keeping up the standard, we felt that the students deserved to be advised of that, too. We still believe we were right.

The policy of telling the good and suppressing the bad is out of place in a student body of 2000 men and women. As has been truly said, "The suppression of one crime breeds a thousand more."

What are you going to say when you read in your morning paper that your classmate, John Doe, has been expelled for cheating; and that your chum, Richard Roe, was reprimanded for getting drunk? We do not say that we will adopt this policy, but we are seriously considering it, and if the Students' Council will furnish us with the names we are now firmly of the opinion that we will publish them.

THE FIRING LINE

Fire! Fire! Fire! Wake up! Wake up, management! Get us some. We need it. Yes, in the shacks. You must have gone to sleep on your post. Too bad your offices, instead of being located in a place as comfy as a steam-heated library, are not located in the shacks. Then, perhaps, this rude awakening would not have been necessary. Something else would have told you the shacks need heating.

We are not making the common error of criticising without showing a way to improvement. Here is the solution of this problem: There is a coon in the employ of the University who spends many an hour of the day trying to find something to sweep off the new pavements. Simply detail this official to keep the coal boxes in the shacks filled. There are plenty of officious freshmen who will put the coal in the fire. We only ask for coal. Grant us that and we will have a warm place in our hearts for you. Refuse it, and this will be impossible.

GERMANIA MAKES CHOICE OF PLAY FOR THIS YEAR

Prof. Muenzinger Elected Coach and
E. H. Lange Chosen for Manager.
"Die Goldene Spinne"
Is the Play.

The Germania Literary Society have very nearly completed the arrangements for their play to be given in the spring. At the meeting last night Prof. Muenzinger of the German department was elected coach for this year, and Edward H. Lange of San Antonio was elected business manager of the play.

The play to be given this year is "Die Goldene Spinne" (The Golden Spider), by Franz von Schoenthan. The play is one of considerable literary merit in the German language and has a very interesting plot which promises to open an opportunity for some new "stars" in the stage field among the members of the society.

Mr. Lange will make arrangement for the spring trip to include the towns of New Braunfels, Seguin, Comfort, Fredericksburg, and possibly the play will be given in San Antonio if the arrangements can be made. The success of the Germania for the past years gives it assurance of another profitable year and success in its play.

The program last night was of a Christmas nature, consisting of songs and prepared speeches by the members.

Misses Edith Harris and Louise Allen will spend the holidays here.

Miss Mary Gibbons of Dallas is still a guest at the Tri Delta house.

Miss Clara McCormick of San Antonio has been visiting at the Alpha Delta Phi house.

Miss Blake Gibbs has returned to Navasota after a delightful visit at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

succeeded Mr. Faust, and Mr. Will C. Hogg of Houston succeeded Governor Sayers.

In your reply to question 11, you say Bugbee was a member of the first faculty. This is error. Mr. Bugbee entered the University about 1886 or 1887; he was a B. Lit. in the class of 1892, taking his Master's degree in 1893, and as to whether or not he was ever a member of the faculty I am not prepared to say, but an examination of the records will show.

The publication of such information is useful, but it goes without saying that its use is largely proportionate to its accuracy. Very respectfully,
WM. H. BURGESS.

What I want to speak on is the honor system of the University of Texas in its connection with the faculty. If I am not mistaken, Judge Townes, in an address in the University Auditorium, said that the students of the University of Texas had more control or power with the system than of any other institution. These are not his words, but are the thoughts which he conveyed to my mind. I can refute his statement on personal knowledge of the Texas University and of colleges in Virginia. The power of the "honor committee" in a certain Virginia college is absolute. For instance, a young man was expelled from that institution for false official statement. He asked for a trial before the honor committee, was tried, and acquitted. The honor committee went to the head of the school and said: "We find this man is honorable; he shall be reinstated." And he was.

Some of the teachers at Texas seem to be suspicious of the students. In some of my classes, the teachers tell us what honor is, and define the honor system, and probably add, just before a quiz, "Of course, you know that we have the honor system here, and it is unnecessary to state the consequences of any bad action," etc. The honor system is the students' business, and not the teachers, and the more suspicion a teacher exhibits, the less honor there will be. Many students can remember, no doubt, the high school days when the teachers were very suspicious, and generally had several teachers watching at exams, and there was much cheating.

At a certain "exam" which will be given here, the teacher states that all quiz books will be taken up as you enter, and returned when the bell rings, and then the "exam" will be held. No doubt this is to see if the books have any writing in them; if not, what?

I ask, why should we have an honor system, if the teachers are to dabble in it? There is no half-way in this—it is all the teacher's business or none of the teacher's business. And as it's the students' business, by a polite process of reduction I say that it is none of the teacher's business.

COLLEGE NOTES

Wisconsin is agitating for a blanket athletic tax of $500, similar to that in force at Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Princeton.

Kansas University is having trouble with the tango. The best way to dispose of it would be to make it a required study.—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology has recently received $600,000 from two anonymous donors. This makes a total of $3,150,000 which this institution has received from such sources.

The University of Washington could furnish an entire regiment of 1500 soldiers with its complement of fifty-one officers for immediate service in Mexico, if President Wilson should issue a call for volunteers.

Harvard's football team cost her $35,000 to develop this year. The appearance of a team of well groomed and conditioned players on the field against Princeton and Yale represents an outlay of more than $1000 per man.

CHAPEL NOTICES

Dr. Eby made a most helpful talk on "Doubt." He made the point that atheists for the most part were made by certain untoward conditions of training or of existing social or religious stress, and should be pitied rather than condemned.

1. Doubt is common to practically every man at some time in his development.

2. Doubt is normal. It is the effort of the mind and soul to adjust the blind, unreasoning faith of the child to the matured, rational faith of the man. To doubt is not a sign that the man is bad, provided the doubt is an honest one. Practically all strong Christians have had their doubts.

3. The occasion for doubt is often trifling. A young man often thinks that he succeeds more in things that he does not pray for than in those for which he prays; he therefore doubts prayer and God. The cause of doubt, however, as explained above, lies deeper. It is that effort for readjustment which every man must face.

4. What shall a man do with his doubts? Do not neglect them. Do not harbor them. Face them. Master them. If necessary, call for help, for help abounds.

Today.

The splendid talks of the week will be continued by Dr. Manning.

AVOID ACCIDENTS

Every week, in fact almost daily, accidents occur which could be averted by the exercise of just a little care. Many of these result in injuries—some of which are permanent, others less serious though painful—and in some instances, death occurs.

It is with the hope of lessening these accidents that we have undertaken the organization of the Austin Safety League, of which you are counted a member. You should remember that you are always exposed to and may have an accident when you least expect it, and at times and under circumstances over which you have absolutely no control. You should, therefore, always be on the alert and avoid every possibility of an accident that you can. Just a little forethought and just a little care may save much suffering and many heartaches. The good work along this line should not be confined to protecting one's self. The times frequently occur when you can warn others of danger and save them, and you should take advantage of every opportunity and WARN THEM. Let your slogan be Safety, First, Last and Always.
