

By WILLIAM (Willie) MORRIS

On safari in the Main Library today, doing a bit of research on the Fair Deal, and how it affected the lower Librarian rutabaga market...

"You know, if all these books could talk, wouldn't they have something to say?"

Sophie, Dentine and all, smiled down at my profundity. The Federalist smiled too, and replied: "Not the books, my friend. That's sheer persiflage. No, it's the author. He does the talking."

Another erudite reader near at hand contributed to the conversation. "They'd have a lot to say in this day and time, wouldn't they?" He smiled, and added: "Yes, I believe I'd enjoy talking to two or three of them. Of course I'd have to add a philosopher or two, a president..."

So there it was, in a twinkling this whole crazy idea took form. From there 't took scant effort to devise a question; to bat it around the campus; to weed out the reactive; in general, to experiment with humanity and the ages.

The question was this: If you had the opportunity to talk for an hour with any five people who ever lived, which five would you choose? UT's answer—

Dr. Lewis Hatch, professor of chemistry, research scientist with Defense Research Laboratory; Christ, Adam, Michelangelo, Paracelsus, Benjamin Franklin.

Mr. Weimer has just returned from his fourth geographical survey of Latin America. His travels have extended through all twenty countries.

"Having developed the only new black and white technique in the 20th century," Weimer is attempting to show by illustrations the progressive movements of peoples of all nations. He suggests that by doing this the peoples of the world will arrive at a better understanding of their neighbors.

His achievements have included photographing ancient Indian tribes as the Incas, Aztecs, Mayans, Cunas, Caribes, Sunas, Fuegos, and Amazonians. The perils of his work have included many adventurous experiences: 7,500 feet underground in the deepest gold mine, shot at by Indians, saved by Indians from the flesh-eating Piranha of Brazilian waters, standing before a firing squad, and hit by a boa constrictor.

Weimer is considered an authority on Latin America and was presented with an award by the Advertising Club of New York in recognition of his great work.

Survey Council Meets in Union Today at 4 p.m.

Committee to Poll Student Body On Campus Issues

John Winslow has been appointed chairman of the Campus Survey Council by Franklin Spears, president of the Students' Association.

The Council was formed by an Assembly vote at the January 8 meeting. The bill authorized a steering committee of three and also a polling committee.

Julia Beall is the Assembly representative on the steering committee. The other member to serve with Winslow and Miss Beall, a Texas Student Publications, Inc. representative, has not yet been appointed.

The steering committee will decide on the issues to be investigated. The Campus Survey Council will poll students on pertinent issues on the national, local, and campus levels.

The purpose of the Council is a wider knowledge of student opinion on issues confronting the student body. The polls will aid the Assembly in knowing the student opinion on issues, will try to take part in nation-wide surveys, and will work closely with The Daily Texan.

When polls are taken, members of the Council will be stationed at various points on campus, preferably at each building, Winslow said. Students will be interviewed in the ten-minute intervals between classes.

The Council will have its first meeting Thursday in Union 401 at 4 p.m.

Selected for the Council pending Assembly approval are Rosalyn Borg, Audrey Borgenicht, David Cornell, Tommy Davis, Same Dorfman, Kathryn Ann Esse, Sarah Lee Northington, Mary Lynn Smith, Bill Wilson, William Wolf, Mike Higgins, Nelson Green, and Dub Hicks.

3 Dominating Forces Face Man, Adler Says

By PHYLLIS ANN GREEN

Three forces seek to dominate man, said Rabbi Morris Adler at the REW Convocation Wednesday night.

Rabbi Adler, Congregation Shaarey Zedek, Detroit, Mich., and former rabbi at Buffalo and chaplain in the southwest Pacific and Japan, addressed a group of about 100 on "Which Course Teaches Truth?"

Nature is the first force which seeks to overlord man, he said.

"Nature often seeks to enslave man to her sovereign will," said Rabbi Adler. He mentioned disease, floods, storms, volcanic eruptions, and other destructive forces of nature.

Man is learning to achieve freedom from the oppression of Nature by understanding her laws, he added.

Another danger to man, he said, that has existed since primitive times is ambitious and power-ridden individuals and classes.

He mentioned the "Divine Right of Kings," which was invented as an excuse for the oppression by the ruling class.

People began to question the theories that sought to justify the tight rein of rulers, Rabbi Adler said.

Again it was discovered that the safeguard for all men against unjust individuals was—the Law, he continued.

The third tyranny and the most dangerous is man's own nature—greed, hate, selfishness, and other "legacies of his jungle past," the Rabbi said.

Freedom here, too, can come only through law, said Rabbi Adler—the spiritual law which can check man's evil inclinations.

The speaker concluded by saying, "Victories over Nature—over social authorities—will prove to be of little avail if man loses the battle with himself."

'We Can Afford Liberalism,' Says T. V. Smith to Democrats

By CARL BURGEN

Dr. T. V. Smith told an overflowing, partly-standing, and very captivated audience of Young Democrats in the Union last night that we can afford liberalism today, "if it is not too expensive."

To determine the answers to this question, he said, we must understand the meaning of the word liberalism.

The visiting professor of philosophy at the University speaking before the group of Democrats on the campus that, as its leader pointed out, is not ashamed of Harry Truman or FDR, then went on to define liberalism and three other words which are similarly tossed around.

In defining the reactionary, the radical, the conservative, and the liberal, the professor pointed out how progress might best be carried forward.

"Human enterprise," he said, "is pushed from behind and pulled from ahead."

Customs and traditions, the only tools of the reactionary, are the pushing agents, he said. Ideals, the pulling agents, are the sole concern of the radical.

But neither the radical or reactionary serve a very useful function in society, Dr. Smith said.

Then the professor explained that only when tradition and ideals are properly mixed, as they are in the conservative and the liberal, can they be well used. He said actually the conservative and the liberal were often very much alike, and what was called liberal

Jinx Holds True, Frogs Nip SMU

Ohlen Absent, TCU Still Wins, 73-65

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17 (P)—TCU's amazing "jinx" over SMU prevailed Wednesday night when the Frogs scored a 73-65 Southwest Conference basketball victory.

It was TCU's tenth straight triumph over SMU cagers.

This one was more astounding in that the Frogs' leading scorer, 6-7 Henry Ohlen, wasn't in uniform because of an ankle injury and the second-high scorer, Ray Warren, played less than a half because of a knee injury.

Great rebounding and all-around work by former reserves produced the triumph, in which TCU scored 10 points in the final 3 minutes while holding the Ponies to a pair of free throws.

TCU trailed but twice, each time by a single point, and led through most of the game. But the lead was never more than 6 points and usually less, until finally, the Mustangs tied it up for the sixth time at 63-63 with about 5 minutes left.

Both went scoreless until 2:50 was left, then center Charles Brown hit from the post. Bill Estill added a layup and two free throws to give TCU a 69-63 edge that clinched it.

Brown led the Frogs with 15, the same number as guard Art Barnes netted for the Mustangs.

Just Over-Herd There'll Be a Doctor In Tolar House Soon

From champion diver to MD. That's the changeover which JACK TOLAR is planning. Texas' great springboard artist of the '40's is now in his second year of studies at the University's Medical School in Galveston.

Jack was the first member of the Tolar family which came to Texas from San Antonio to gain fame on the Forty Acres. He was followed by JUNE, winner of numerous campus beauty honors and Aqua Carnival Queen in '49.

Next came ROGER, another ace on the Longhorn swimming team. Latest Tolar on the Orange sports scene is PAT, who lettered as a sophomore fullback last fall. . . .

CHARLEY THOMAS isn't running at full speed these days. The crack Steer sprinter injured a leg recently but will be in good shape for Texas' first track meet March 6. . . .

There's nothing like getting an early start, believes TOMMY LE BLEU. A top catching prospect this spring, the Longhorn sophomore was a member of the national semi-pro baseball champions at Sinton when he was only 16.

A top 440 candidate on the Yearling track team this spring is FRANK GLASS of Sweetwater. He is a newcomer here but Coach CLYDE LITTLEFIELD has good reason to remember his name.

For Frank's father is LELAND GLASS, winner of the Southwest Conference 880 in his senior year at Texas in '26. He also ran on the Orange's greatest distance medley relay teams of that era.

"Found him in the intramural meet during his junior year," recalls Littlefield. "He was a natural."

"FLASH" BROWN'S TWO-HEADED BROTHER

A certain Sophomore named Brown acquired the appellation "Flash," not because he was lightning on the gridiron, but just because he was never without an answer.

You'd pass him on the quadrangle and say "How's it goin', Flash?" He'd answer, "Air Express." Get the pitch?

Brown often referred to his "two-headed brother" in conversations. One day a few men in his fraternity were needing him.

"Your brother's two heads must present quite a few problems."

"Not really. The only problem was his neatness," said Flash.

"Neatness?" "Yes," answered Flash, "he worried about it. Said he couldn't find a shirt that didn't wrinkle around the collar. You see, he was often looking in two directions at once, or eating and talking on the telephone. Hard on a collar."

"What did you do?" They knew he did something about it.

"Simple. I got him the Van Heusen Century shirt with the exclusive soft collar that won't wrinkle ever! I got him different collar styles and colors. $3.95 for the white, $4.95 for the colors and superfine whites. You should have seen the grins on his faces when he saw how those collars stayed neat all day and night without starch or stays."

"I guess he can really hold his heads up now," said one.

"Yep. He figures he gets four times more wear from Century than from other shirts. Of course, he actually only gets twice the wear. He just figures in both heads."

One of the men visited Brown at Christmas, and found it was all true.

A Capital Offense?

We do a lot of talking about constitutional rights and freedoms of speech, and religion, and conviction. Lots of different kinds of people talk—those that really believe in them and those that just want to hide behind them while they attempt to destroy them. Maybe that's where our trouble comes in—we're scared to death our freedoms are going to be used to destroy freedom.

Governor Allan Shivers has recommended that a law be passed making it possible for a jury to recommend the death penalty for a man convicted of membership in the Communist Party.

Freedom of thought and expression of that thought is probably the most basic of all freedoms, because without it, all other freedoms are empty and meaningless terms. And we all believe in that freedom. But we are scared, and become willing to cut off the freedoms of some to protect freedoms of others.

Governor Shivers says that membership in the Communist Party is worse than murder. If it is true that all members of the party are dedicated to the overthrow of the American government by force and violence, he may be right. Certainly if they all get out with machine guns and start mowing us down, it's worse than murder. But they haven't. And we can't know that they ever will. But the likelihood of that is really beside the point.

As things stand now, a person's having membership in the Communist Party might mean one of several things: that he sincerely believes in the goals of communism and would like to see those goals applied to our government; that he has been duped and deceived into joining; that he advocates the violent overthrow of the government.

For the last, we have recourse in our present laws of treason.

For the second, we have recourse in education.

And for the first, any group which really believes in any set of principles of government and strives in legal ways to put them into effect must be tolerated. For only in allowing expression of every kind of belief and toleration of every kind of ideology can we preserve the freedom of thought, speech, and conviction which are the cornerstones of our way of life.

If a man can be punished by death for sincerely believing in any particular set of political views, then the door is opened for any political conviction to be condemned as a crime. And then our democracy would be dead.

Poor Aggies Have Cannons And 6,000 Football Players

By RICHARD BUSBY

"Twirp Week" which was started by Freckles of the comics a few years ago, and which means "The Woman Is Requested to Pay," has reared its head again at some of the colleges across the country.

Trinity University recently celebrated the "reversal of all humane and natural rules," as some tight-fisted co-eds have referred to it, and at Texas A&I a Twirp "Backward Dance" was held. Rules for the girls were:

1. The girl must ask for the date, provide transportation both coming and going, and walk her date to his doorstep.
2. The boy leaves his wallet at home—the girl foots all bills.
3. Girls must do all tagging, cutting in, and see that their dates are comfortable all evening.
4. She must kiss him at the entrance door or forfeit an extra 25 cents.
5. She must give her date an original corsage—anything from bottle tops to Hoover buttons.

UT males should have it so good. I don't know what I would do with a corsage of Hoover buttons, though.

Now is the time for all good T-Sips to shed a tear for the poor Aggies. Besides losing students and coaches like mad, the Aggies have a new complaint. The editor of the Battalion is pleading that for the Military Ball which is coming up in March they please keep the big cannons off the dance floor. Seems that last year the cannon took up too much room. Gosh, what some Aggies won't do to prevent University students from crashing their dances.

One interesting thing in the Battalion is usually the "Letters to the Editor" section. Remember the cute little letter which caused an Aggie to suddenly decide to transfer to Oklahoma?

Well, we now have one going in the other direction. The writer will probably get a medal—but not from the new coach, "Bear" Bryant. The author suggests that to impress the newly-acquired coach from Kentucky

"the entire Twelfth Man" (The Corps) report for practice on the opening day of the coming spring training and report to Coach Bryant that the "Twelfth Man" is always ready for action and for him to call on "him."

"It would be the biggest gesture a new coach ever got—an understatement, man!—and Aggies all over the world (overseas) would like it tremendously, too!"

"The pictures of this report for duty would be in every newspaper in USA."

"The entire Corps would march to the practice field in sweat shirts ready for action."

"Coach Bryant would never forget this great gesture..." I'll say he wouldn't. Can't you just imagine the turmoil at the scrimmage game: "All right, now you 3,000 men kick off to us 3,000 men."

Ever wondered about the origin of the noble art of pinning? The University of Georgia Signal gives this version:

"Pinning is relatively new to the college scene and is slowly but surely replacing another quaint romantic courtship custom known as 'bundling.' The idea got started about 40 years ago in a small Eastern co-educational college. It seems that one evening a winsome young lass named Ima Eastie loaded herself quite heavily with cotton padding. Later, when she was out on a date, this undue strain caused one of her shoulder straps to break, whereupon she began to cry. Her date, guessing her trouble, offered his fraternity pin as a possible means of repairing the broken strap. Ima immediately accepted it, pinned the strap to her sweater, and a new custom was born. (Note: Ima's method is still in use today with varying degrees of success...)"

Assembly Paved Way For Reviving Debate

By SHIRLEY STRUM
News Editor

When the Assembly passed a bill to set up a committee to investigate admittance into the National Student Association at their last meeting, they paved the way for reviving an issue that has caused some of the hottest political debates on the University campus in recent years.

Past fights for and against membership have occasioned campus debates, violent reactions from leaders on both sides, and mud-slinging.

The National Student Association was begun in 1946 when 25 students, returning from the World Student Congress in Prague, Czechoslovakia, conceived the idea of forming a United States National Student Association. Delegates from 300 colleges met at an organizational meeting in Chicago and made plans for a constitutional convention in 1947.

Among the delegates at this constitutional convention were UT students serving as vice-chairman of international affairs, chairman of the Texas-Oklahoma region, and member of the convention's steering committee.

Jim Smith, an ex-president of the Student Association, had resigned to be chairman of the national continuations committee of the organizational meeting.

But when the issue of whether or not to join the association came up at UT in 1948, it was turned down by a vote of 2,533 to 1,874. An outspoken Anti-NSA Committee fought vigorously against the issue that year.

Again in 1951 the issue rose, and again feeling on both sides was violent and loud. And again the issue was downed, this time by an Assembly vote of 13-5.

One of the goals of the NSA is to remove discrimination because of race, religion, sex, national origin, economic circumstances, or political beliefs which don't reject the sovereignty of the United States Constitution.

It was this part of the NSA's policy that was pounced on by those opposing the issue in previous campus votes as tending toward communism.

Robert Kelly, president of NSA in 1950, said in a speech at UT in that year that there were actual Communists in NSA. But, he added, to control the organization they would have to "control every campus in the U.S." However, since NSA is a member of the National Committee of UNESCO, its members are screened by the FBI.

One of the prime factors favoring NSA in previous years was the fact that the University would be represented in a group with such schools as Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, UCLA, and so on. However, on the other hand, SMU, TCU, and other nearby schools have not joined the association.

One of the big questions that will come up is from what source the money to join will come. In previous years, Blanket Tax money was suggested as the solution. The costs should come to about two cents per student.

One of the anti-NSA arguments at UT in the past was that it is too expensive for the benefits that the campus can gain from membership.

announcement. Denouncement has no place in these United States.

PAUL CRAWFORD

To the Editor:

The controversy of a new auditorium has been prevalent in the current topics of debate around the University. This subject has been so dominant in news recently that even Tripod must be well versed on the matter. However, the heated discussion over the much needed new auditorium has neglected the fact that the audience has a certain number of courtesies due to the few cultural entertainments that do come to the University despite the lack of accommodations for their productions. A prime prerequisite for a good auditorium should be a well-mannered audience to enjoy and deserve it. Unfortunately this is not always the case at the University.

The most recent example of rudeness and discourtesy glared at the recent presentation by the Ballet Theater. At the close of the final dance sequence the audience immediately jumped from their seats and scurried for the nearest exit without the least consideration for the performers who were trying to give a curtain call. I have no doubt this was the first curtain call given by these performers to the backs of an audience. One who didn't know that one of the foremost ballet troupes in the country had just performed might have mistaken the audience for a crowd at the last few seconds of a lopsided football game.

Since the purpose of a new auditorium at the University would be for the accommodation of better productions, as well as the audience, it would be advisable for the audience to learn to show their appreciation of good entertainment.

This letter is in no way meant as an insult to the audience, but only an endeavor to keep the audience from insulting our guests. I do not mean to condemn audiences as a whole, as I am grateful and can appreciate now, more than ever, the fine audience which attended TSO.

Oh, yes, since I mentioned Tripod earlier, I would like to say that I am very happy that he didn't attend the Ballet Theater production as he might have gotten trampled awaiting the proper moment to leave.

Firing Line

To the Editor:

As a citizen of these United States I am indeed proud of the fact that we can and do have the prerogative to criticize our government and the people who are elected by the people to see to its administration as best they can. I am also glad that under our Constitution a two-party system can exist. It is only natural that when two political parties exist a certain amount of competition and criticism of each other should take place; however, such criticism should be constructive and not smearing. This sort of smear tactics is and has been, to me, quite "unbecomable."

I am indeed sorry that people of college age and supposedly of the maturing age are taking part in such childish methods, such ratty methods. The University Young Democratic Club is circulating a letter saying they need "... You," and in this letter they refer to "... the Mess that Ike's millionaires are making." Is this a club that people would like to enter and be proud of participating in? I personally would not join it because to me these are the same tactics that the Communist Party uses. This is not criticism, it's den-

CHALLENGE. By Naiad Key. Published by Pageant Press. New York. 131 pp. $3.

Once upon a time I used to dabble in poetry, which gives me a sort of proprietary feeling toward every poem that happens to come my way. Not so long ago, Naiad Key's "Challenge" came my way, and I want to speak here a few words in her favor.

"Challenge" is written in unrhymed verse. Basically, it retells the Bible story of the Fall and the murder of Abel by Cain. Like Byron's "Cain," the main figure of the poem is Cain, but "Challenge" is quite different—from the Byronic version of the same story, or for that matter, quite different from anything Byronic.

From my early dallings with poetry, I finally worked out a theory for good poetry. A poem, to be good in my sight, must be able to create images in the mind; it must express a thought, or contain an idea that, so to speak, opens a trap-door in your mind and lets a new light shine in on old thoughts or ideas. In other words, to simplify greatly, a good poem should be one that offers you a new sensation, a new experience.

That is what "Challenge" did

'Red Ball' to Roll At Campus Guild

Costume Party Is Commie Take-off

Campus Guild Co-op for men will stage its annual "Red Ball" Saturday at 8 p.m. in its house at 2804 Whitis, Russell Sharp, social chairman, announced Wednesday.

A take-off on Communism, the ball is a costume affair which pokes fun at the Commies. Last year's event brought out red-uniformed generals, peasants, prison guards, prisoners and "party" members clad in red flannels.

The Horsley-Morgan Band will play for dancing, while Sharp and Don Gregory will fill up the intermissions with hillbilly songs, mandolin and guitar instrumentals.

The Inter-Co-Op Council will meet Thursday at 7:15 p.m. at Oak Grove. A new secretary will be elected.

Thirty students attended the first meeting of the Brazosport Club Tuesday night.

Artist Weimer To Talk Today

By WILLIAM (Willie) MORRIS

On safari in the Main Library today, doing a bit of research on the Fair Deal, and how it affected the lower Liberian rutabaga market . . . I guess it must've been all-knowing old Sophocles (somebody had deposited a generous helping of second-hand Dentine on his big toe) looking disdainfully down, or the endless shelves of books spreading in all directions; for something prompted me to mutter, half to myself, half to a bespectacled thesis-worker reading "The Federalist":

"You know, if all these books could talk, wouldn't they have something to say?"

Sophie, Dentine and all, smiled down at my profundity. The Federalist smiled too, and replied: "Not the books, my friend. That's sheer persiflage. No, it's the author. He does the talking."

Another erudite reader near at hand contributed to the conversation. "They'd have a lot to say in this day and time, wouldn't they?" He smiled, and added: "Yes, I believe I'd enjoy talking to two or three of them. Of course I'd have to add a philosopher or two, a president . . ."

So there it was, in a twinkling this whole crazy idea took form. From there it took scant effort to devise a question; to bat it around the campus; to weed out the reactive; in general, to experiment with humanity and the ages.

The question was this: If you had the opportunity to talk for an hour with any five people who ever lived, which five would you choose? UT's answer—

Dr. Lewis Hatch, professor of chemistry, research scientist with Defense Research Laboratory; Christ, Adam, Michelangelo, Paracelsus, Benjamin Franklin.

Srinil Vasan, exchange student from India; Christ, Adam, Charles Darwin, Alexander the Great, Harum-Al-Rashid.

Dr. Horace B. Carroll, professor of history, director of research in Texas history; Cardinal Newman, Aristotle, Sam Houston, Alexander Hamilton, George Wilkins Kendall.

Ed Price, head football coach; Christ, Sam Houston, Napoleon, Churchill, my mother.

Mr. Weimer has just returned from his fourth geographical survey of Latin America. His travels have extended through all twenty countries.

"Having developed the only new black and white technique in the 20th century," Weimer is attempting to show by illustrations the progressive movements of peoples of all nations. He suggests that by doing this the peoples of the world will arrive at a better understanding of their neighbors.

His achievements have included photographing ancient Indian tribes as the Incas, Aztecs, Mayans, Cunas, Caribes, Sunas, Fuegos, and Amazonians. The perils of his work have included many adventurous experiences: 7,500 feet underground in the deepest gold mine, shot at by Indians, saved by Indians from the flesh-eating Piranha of Brazilian waters, standing before a firing squad, and hit by a boa constrictor.

Weimer is considered an authority on Latin America and was presented with an award by the Advertising Club of New York in recognition of his great work.

Navy Interviews Through Friday

Students Needed In Basic Research

Interviews by the Navy Department will continue Thursday and Friday in Engineering Building 102 for seniors and graduate students for jobs as scientists and engineers.

Dr. W. M. Simpson and Harry McPherson, scientific and engineering representatives of the Naval Ordnance Test Station, China Lake and Pasadena, Calif., and the Naval Civil Engineering Research and Evaluation Laboratory, Port Hueneme, Calif., are interviewing the students.

Career opportunities in almost all fields related to the research and development of guided missiles, rockets, radar, electronic equipment, and many other areas of weapon development and basic scientific research are open.

Information on the Navy Department's policy on promotions, educational opportunities, military deferment, retirement, and leave benefits will be given to interested students. The Central Round-Up Committee will meet each Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in the Texas Union from now until Round-Up, it was decided at the committee's meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Survey Council Meets in Union Today at 4 p.m.

Committee to Poll Student Body On Campus Issues

John Winslow has been appointed chairman of the Campus Survey Council by Franklin Spears, president of the Students' Association.

The Council was formed by an Assembly vote at the January 8 meeting. The bill authorized a steering committee of three and also a polling committee.

Julia Beall is the Assembly representative on the steering committee. The other member to serve with Winslow and Miss Beall, a Texas Student Publications, Inc. representative, has not yet been appointed.

The steering committee will decide on the issues to be investigated. The Campus Survey Council will poll students on pertinent issues on the national, local, and campus levels.

The purpose of the Council is a wider knowledge of student opinion on issues confronting the student body. The polls will aid the Assembly in knowing the student opinion on issues, will try to take part in nation-wide surveys, and will work closely with The Daily Texan.

When polls are taken, members of the Council will be stationed at various points on campus, preferably at each building. Winslow said. Students will be interviewed in the ten-minute intervals between classes.

The Council will have its first meeting Thursday in Union 401 at 4 p.m.

Selected for the Council pending Assembly approval are Rosalyn Borg, Audrey Borgenicht, David Cornell, Tommy Davis, Same Dorfman, Kathryn Ann Esse, Sarah Lee Northington, Mary Lynn Smith, Bill Wilson, William Wolf, Mike Higgins, Nelson Green, and Dub Hicks.

3 Dominating Forces Face Man, Adler Says

By PHYLLIS ANN GREEN

Three forces seek to dominate man, said Rabbi Morris Adler at the REW Convocation Wednesday night.

Rabbi Adler, Congregation Shalom, Detroit, Mich., and former rabbi at Buffalo and chaplain in the southwest Pacific and Japan, addressed a group of about 100 on "Which Course Teaches Truth?"

Nature is the first force which seeks to overlord man, he said.

"Nature often seeks to enslave man to her sovereign will," said Rabbi Adler. He mentioned disease, floods, storms, volcanic eruptions, and other destructive forces of nature.

Man is learning to achieve freedom from the oppression of Nature by understanding her laws, he added.

Another danger to man, he said, that has existed since primitive times is ambitious and power-ridden individuals and classes.

He mentioned the "Divine Right of Kings," which was invented as an excuse for the oppression by the ruling class.

People began to question the theories that sought to justify the tight rein of rulers, Rabbi Adler said.

Again it was discovered that the safeguard for all men against unjust individuals was—the Law, he continued.

The third tyranny and the most dangerous is man's own nature—greed, hate, selfishness, and other "legacies of his jungle past," the Rabbi said.

Freedom here, too, can come only through law, said Rabbi Adler—the spiritual law which can check man's evil inclinations.

The speaker concluded by saying, "Victories over Nature—over social authorities—will prove to be of little avail if man loses the battle with himself."

'We Can Afford Liberalism,' Says T. V. Smith to Democrats

By CARL BURGESS

Dr. T. V. Smith told an overflowing, partly-standing, and very captivated audience of Young Democrats in the Union last night that we can afford liberalism today, "if it is not too expensive."

To determine the answers to this question, he said, we must understand the meaning of the word liberalism.

The visiting professor of philosophy at the University speaking before the group of Democrats on the campus that, as its leader pointed out, is not ashamed of Harry Truman or FDR, then went on to define liberalism and three other words which are similarly tossed around.

In defining the reactionary, the radical, the conservative, and the liberal, the professor pointed out how progress might best be carried forward.

"Human enterprise," he said, "is pushed from behind and pulled from ahead."

Customs and traditions, the only tools of the reactionary, are the pushing agents, he said. Ideals, the pulling agents, are the sole concern of the radical.

But neither the radical or reactionary serve a very useful function in society, Dr. Smith said.

Then the professor explained that only when tradition and ideals are properly mixed, as they are in the conservative and the liberal, can they be well used. He said actually the conservative and the liberal were often very much alike, and what was called liberal at one time might be called conservative at another, depending on the comparative respectability of the terms at the time.

"Both types of men are completely imperative to a democratic society," he concluded.

Rabbi Wessel Guest of Hillel

To Speak Feb. 19 At Evening Service

Rabbi Harvey E. Wessel of Tyler, one of the visiting campus speakers for Religious Emphasis Week, will be the guest of Hillel Foundation at its coffee hours on Thursday and Friday of this week.

He will also be the speaker at Hillel's Friday evening services at 7:30 p.m.

Rabbi Wessel was born in Chicago and received his bachelor and master of arts from the University of Cincinnati in 1916 and 1917. He was ordained by the Hebrew Union College in 1920. After having served as rabbi in North Carolina, California, Illinois, and Minnesota, he moved to Tyler. He has served Congregation Beth-El there since 1939.

During the summers of the four war years, Rabbi Wessel was the representative of the Jewish Welfare Board and the auxiliary chaplain in military encampments of the West and Southwest.

Braisted Speaks On Asian Problem

Indo-China: the springboard to southeastern Asia, was the topic of Dr. William R. Braisted to the Students for Democratic Action.

"A choice between evils" is occurring there—French exploitation or Communist tyranny, said the assistant professor of history.

The burden of the Indo-China war is limiting France's contribution to NATO, and two-thirds of the cost of that war is now being carried by the United States, he said. "An all-in or all-out" policy would perhaps bring the Indo-China problem out of the stalemate, Dr. Braisted concluded.

Replying to questions from the audience, Dr. Braisted added that the myth that the US might benefit from recognizing Red China should be shattered.

A possible topic for SDA's March 2 meeting is the current state of the American economy.

'T' Party to Choose Candidates Today

"T" Party candidates for the spring election will be chosen at a party meeting Thursday in Texas Union 315 at 7:30 p.m.

The legislative branch of the party selects the candidates. Since each legislator has one vote and no proxies are allowed, everyone attending the meeting will have equal power in nominating and selecting candidates.

Other business on the agenda is the formation of a platform, a discussion on ways to increase student voting, the filling of committees, and an election to fill the one remaining executive position. A legislative committee to investigate what individual party members can do to aid the candidates will also be organized.

Co-Ed Assembly Council To Meet Thursday at 5

The Co-Ed Assembly Council will hold a meeting Thursday at 5 p.m. in the Dean of Women's office. A member of the Student Assembly will be present to discuss the proposed Student Activities Handbook with the group, and individual members will be assigned to contribute sections for the book.

A report on the Council's recent Orientation Program for freshmen will also be given. Members who are unable to attend the meeting are asked to contact Margaret Ann Schmitz, president, at 8-8595.

All A&S juniors with 75 hours credit should apply for their degree plans by March 1.

Ex-Students Okay Round-Up Floats

Ideas for Round-Up parade floats are now being accepted in the Ex-Students' Association office.

The Ex-Students' office, acting as a clearing house to prevent duplication of ideas, has had a number of duplicated ideas. One fraternity last week did not strike an original idea until its third try.

All organizations planning to sponsor a float must clear through the office as soon as possible. Although a deadline date has not been set, the Central Round-Up Committee will probably decide upon it at its meeting next week.

Lt. Gen. White Observes UT ROTC Cadet Units

Lt. Gen. I. D. White visited the Army ROTC units at the University Wednesday and observed the cadets during their drill period. Although a parade was not held, the General had a chance to see the men drilling in small units. He also observed the Rangers, the drill team, in action.

General White, commander of the Fourth Army, is stationed at San Antonio. He formerly headed the Tenth Corps in Korea, where he received the Presidential Unit Citation by the Republic of Korea.

Prayer Vigil All Day Friday In 56 Countries

The Universal Day of Prayer will be observed Friday at the University as a climax to Religious Emphasis Week. The day of prayer will be held simultaneously with colleges in the 56 countries represented in the World Student Christian Federation, which is sponsoring the plan.

At the University, All-Saints' Chapel will be the scene of a prayer vigil from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. At 7 p.m., directly following the last period in the twelve hour prayer vigil, an ecumenical service for all University Christian students will be held in the chapel.

The Army ROTC stopped Dorm F-G-H, behind the scoring of Randy Beisenbach. Beisenbach racked up 14 points to give the Army the victory and a spot in the League I finals.

Dorm F-G-H will meet Campus Guild next in losers bracket competition. Both Dorm F-G-H and Campus Guild suffered their only defeat at the hands of the Army. The Guild handed Twin Pines a 26-24 setback behind the offensive play of John Schell and Bob Vaughn. Schell scored 8 points and Vaughn chipped in 7. Clint Citzler was high point man, however, as he poured 11 points through the nets for Twin Pines.

McCracken copped the League F semi-final contest with a close 30-28 triumph over the SRD Darkhorses. Leo Aalund pushed in 13 points to lead McCracken to the victory. Joe Foster led the losers with 10 points.

AIME powered their way into the league finals with a convincing 26-19 drubbing of BSU. Bob Feaster led the Engineers with 13 points for high point man honors. Tommy Hudspeth chipped in 8 counters for the losing BSU team.

Frank Brock and Wilton Lock led the Air ROTC past Newman Club in a hard-fought game, 19-18. The Lock-Brock duo combined to net 12 points, six each, in the victory. Bill Greve netted 6 points to pace the Newman Club.

Wesley Foundation pushed past Cliff Courts, 22-17. Bob Wilpitts scored 9 points to lead his Wesley mates to the victory. Stanley Phipps hit for 6 points for the Courts.

Ray Frady led McCracken to an exciting 20-18 victory over the Monahan Housecats in one of the feature Class B games of the evening. Frady netted 11 points in the victory. Karl Brown scored 8 points for Monahan.

In another close contest, the Robinson Rebels edged Amery House, 24-21.

J. W. Hinton scored 12 points to lead the victorious Rebels. Dan Gist netted 10 for the losers.

Jinx Holds True, Frogs Nip SMU

Ohlen Absent, TCU Still Wins, 73-65

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17 (AP)—TCU's amazing "jinx" over SMU prevailed Wednesday night when the Frogs scored a 73-65 Southwest Conference basketball victory.

It was TCU's tenth straight triumph over SMU cagers.

This one was more astounding in that the Frogs' leading scorer, 6-7 Henry Ohlen, wasn't in uniform because of an ankle injury and the second-high scorer, Ray Warren, played less than a half because of a knee injury.

Great rebounding and all-around work by former reserves produced the triumph, in which TCU scored 10 points in the final 3 minutes while holding the Mustangs to a pair of free throws.

TCU trailed but twice, each time by a single point, and led through most of the game. But the lead was never more than 6 points and usually less, until finally, the Mustangs tied it up for the sixth time at 63-63 with about 5 minutes left.

Both went scoreless until 2:50 was left, then center Charles Brown hit from the post. Bill Estill added a layup and two free throws to give TCU a 69-63 edge that clinched it.

Brown led the Frogs with 15, the same number as guard Art Barnes netted for the Mustangs.

Just Over-Herd There'll Be a Doctor In Tolar House Soon

From champion diver to MD. That's the changeover which JACK TOLAR is planning. Texas' great springboard artist of the '40's is now in his second year of studies at the University's Medical School in Galveston.

Jack was the first member of the Tolar family which came to Texas from San Antonio to gain fame on the Forty Acres. He was followed by JUNE, winner of numerous campus beauty honors and Aqua Carnival Queen in '49.

Next came ROGER, another ace on the Longhorn swimming team. Latest Tolar on the Orange sports scene is PAT, who lettered as a sophomore fullback last fall.

CHARLEY THOMAS isn't running at full speed these days. The crack Steer sprinter injured a leg recently but will be in good shape for Texas' first track meet March 6.

There's nothing like getting an early start, believes TOMMY LE BLEU. A top catching prospect this spring, the Longhorn sophomore was a member of the national semi-pro baseball champions at Sinton when he was only 16.

A top 440 candidate on the Yearling track team this spring is FRANK GLASS of Sweetwater. He is a newcomer here but Coach CLYDE LITTLEFIELD has good reason to remember his name.

For Frank's father is LELAND GLASS, winner of the Southwest Conference 880 in his senior year at Texas in '26. He also ran on the Orange's great distance medley relay teams of that era.

"Found him in the intramural meet during his junior year," recalls Littlefield. "He was a natural."

PAT TOLAR ... an MD in the family soon

Watson Heads For Open Spaces
John Watson, a portside hitter, is a catcher by trade. This spring, however, Coach Bibb Falk of the Texas baseball Steers is testing him in right field.

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason . . . enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better . . . always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

"FLASH" BROWN'S TWO-HEADED BROTHER

A certain Sophomore named Brown acquired the appellation "Flash," not because he was lightning on the gridiron, but just because he was never without an answer.

You'd pass him on the quad and say "How's it goin', Flash?" He'd answer, "Air Express." Get the pitch?

Brown often referred to his "two-headed brother" in conversations. One day a few men in his fraternity were needing him.

"Your brother's two heads must present quite a few problems."

"Not really. The only problem was his neatness," said Flash.

"Neatness?" "Yes," answered Flash. "He worried about it. Said he couldn't find a shirt that didn't wrinkle around the collar. You see, he was often looking in two directions at once, or eating and talking on the telephone. Hard on a collar."

"What did you do?" They knew he did something about it.

"Simple. I got him the Van Heusen Century shirt with the exclusive soft collar that won't wrinkle ever! I got him different collar styles and colors. $4.95 for the white. $4.95 for the colors and superfine whites. You should have seen the grins on his faces when he saw how those collars stayed neat all day and night without starch or stays."

"I guess he can really hold his heads up now," said one.

"Yep. He figures he gets four times more wear from Century than from other shirts. Of course, he actually only gets twice the wear. He just figures in both heads."

One of the men visited Brown at Christmas, and found it was all true.

A Capital Offense?

We do a lot of talking about constitutional rights and freedoms of speech, and religion, and conviction. Lots of different kinds of people talk—those that really believe in them and those that just want to hide behind them while they attempt to destroy them. Maybe that's where our trouble comes in—we're scared to death our freedoms are going to be used to destroy freedom.

Governor Allan Shivers has recommended that a law be passed making it possible for a jury to recommend the death penalty for a man convicted of membership in the Communist Party.

Freedom of thought and expression of that thought is probably the most basic of all freedoms, because without it, all other freedoms are empty and meaningless terms. And we all believe in that freedom. But we are scared, and become willing to cut off the freedoms of some to protect freedoms of others.

Governor Shivers says that membership in the Communist Party is worse than murder. If it is true that all members of the party are dedicated to the overthrow of the American government by force and violence, he may be right. Certainly if they all get out with machine guns and start mowing us down, it's worse than murder. But they haven't. And we can't know that they ever will. But the likelihood of that is really beside the point.

As things stand now, a person's having membership in the Communist Party might mean one of several things: that he sincerely believes in the goals of communism and would like to see those goals applied to our government; that he has been duped and deceived into joining; that he advocates the violent overthrow of the government.

For the last, we have recourse in our present laws of treason.

For the second, we have recourse in education.

And for the first, any group which really believes in any set of principles of government and strives in legal ways to put them into effect must be tolerated. For only in allowing expression of every kind of belief and toleration of every kind of ideology can we preserve the freedom of thought, speech, and conviction which are the cornerstones of our way of life.

If a man can be punished by death for sincerely believing in any particular set of political views, then the door is opened for any political conviction to be condemned as a crime. And then our democracy would be dead.

Assembly Paved Way For Reviving Debate

By SHIRLEY STRUM
News Editor

When the Assembly passed a bill to set up a committee to investigate admission into the National Student Association at their last meeting, they paved the way for reviving an issue that has caused some of the hottest political debates on the University campus in recent years.

Past fights for and against membership have occasioned campus debates, violent reactions from leaders on both sides, and mud-slinging.

The National Student Association was begun in 1946 when 25 students, returning from the World Student Congress in Prague, Czechoslovakia, conceived the idea of forming a United States National Student Association. Delegates from 300 colleges met at an organizational meeting in Chicago and made plans for a constitutional convention in 1947.

Among the delegates at this constitutional convention were UT students serving as vice-chairman of international affairs, chairman of the Texas-Oklahoma region, and member of the convention's steering committee.

Jim Smith, an ex-president of the Student Association, had resigned to be chairman of the national continuation committee of the organizational meeting.

But when the issue of whether or not to join the association came up at UT in 1948, it was turned down by a vote of 2,533 to 1,874. An outspoken Anti-NSA Committee fought vigorously against the issue that year.

Again in 1951 the issue rose, and again feeling on both sides was violent and loud. And again the issue was downed, this time by an Assembly vote of 13-5.

One of the goals of the NSA is to remove discrimination because of race, religion, sex, national origin, economic circumstances, or political beliefs which don't reject the sovereignty of the United States Constitution.

It was this part of the NSA's policy that was pounced on by those opposing the issue in previous campus votes as tending toward communism.

Robert Kelly, president of NSA in 1950, said in a speech at UT in that year that there were actual Communists in NSA. But, he added, to control the organization they would have to "control every campus in the U.S." However, since NSA is a member of the National Committee of UNESCO, its members are screened by the FBI.

One of the prime factors favoring NSA in previous years was the fact that the University would be represented in a group with such schools as Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, UCLA, and so on. However, on the other hand, SMU, TCU, and other nearby schools have not joined the association.

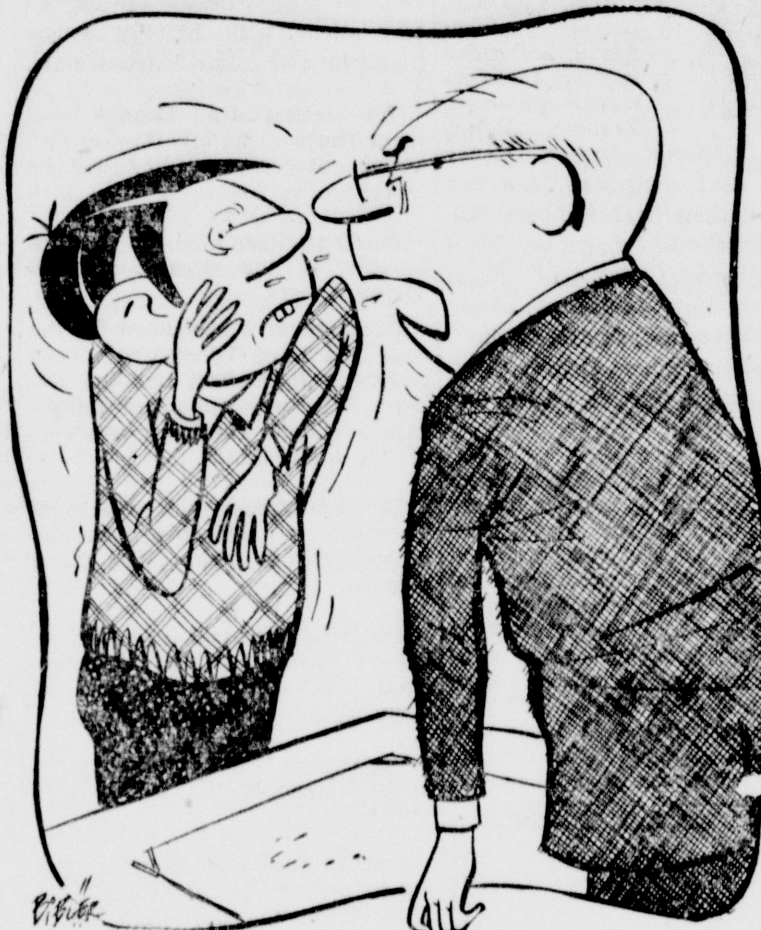

One of the big questions that will come up is from what source the money to join will come. In previous years, Blanket Tax money was suggested as the solution. The costs should come to about two cents per student.

One of the anti-NSA arguments at UT in the past was that it is too expensive for the benefits that the campus can gain from membership.

Little Man on the Campus

"The only reason I'm giving you a barely passing mark is that I can't bear the thought of having you in my class another year."

Firing Line

To the Editor:

As a citizen of these United States I am indeed proud of the fact that we can and do have the prerogative to criticize our government and the people who are elected by the people to see to its administration as best they can. I am also glad that under our Constitution a two-party system can exist. It is only natural that when two political parties exist a certain amount of competition and criticism of each other should take place; however, such criticism should be constructive and not smearing. This sort of smear tactics is and has been, to me, quite "un-American."

I am indeed sorry that people of college age and supposedly of the maturing age are taking part in such childish methods, such ratty methods. The University Young Democratic Club is circulating a letter saying they need "... You," and in this letter they refer to "... the Mess that Ike's millionaires are making." Is this a club that people would like to enter and be proud of participating in? I personally would not join it because to me these are the same tactics that the Communist Party uses. This is not criticism, it's denunciation. Denunciation has no place in these United States.

PAUL CRAWFORD

To the Editor:

The controversy of a new auditorium has been prevalent in the current topics of debate around the University. This subject has been so dominant in news recently that even Tripod must be well versed on the matter. However, the heated discussion over the much needed new auditorium has neglected the fact that the audience has a certain number of courtesies due to the few cultural entertainments that do come to the University despite the lack of accommodations for their productions. A prime prerequisite for a good auditorium should be a well-mannered audience to enjoy and deserve it. Unfortunately this is not always the case at the University.

The most recent example of rudeness and discourtesy glared at the recent presentation by the Ballet Theater. At the close of the final dance sequence the audience immediately jumped from their seats and scurried for the nearest exit without the least consideration for the performers who were trying to give a curtain call. I have no doubt this was the first curtain call given by these performers to the backs of an audience. One who didn't know that one of the foremost ballet troupes in the country had just performed might have mistaken the audience for a crowd at the last few seconds of a lopsided football game.

Since the purpose of a new auditorium at the University would be for the accommodation of better productions, as well as the audience, it would be advisable for the audience to learn to show their appreciation of good entertainment.

This letter is in no way meant as an insult to the audience, but only an endeavor to keep the audience from insulting our guests. I do not mean to condemn audiences as a whole, as I am grateful and can appreciate now, more than ever, the fine audience which attended TSO.

Oh, yes, since I mentioned Tripod earlier, I would like to say that I am very happy that he didn't attend the Ballet Theater production as he might have gotten trampled awaiting the proper moment to leave.

Poor Aggies Have Cannons And 6,000 Football Players

By RICHARD BUSBY

"Twirp Week" which was started by Freckles of the comics a few years ago, and which means "The Woman Is Requested to Pay," has reared its head again at some of the colleges across the country.

Trinity University recently celebrated the "reversal of all humane and natural rules," as some tight-fisted co-eds have referred to it, and at Texas A&I a Twirp "Backward Dance" was held. Rules for the girls were:

1. The girl must ask for the date, provide transportation both coming and going, and walk her date to his doorstep.
2. The boy leaves his wallet at home—the girl foots all bills.
3. Girls must do all tagging, cutting in, and see that their dates are comfortable all evening.
4. She must kiss him at the entrance door or forfeit an extra 25 cents.
5. She must give her date an original corsage—anything from bottle tops to Hoover buttons.

UT males should have it so good. I don't know what I would do with a corsage of Hoover buttons, though.

Now is the time for all good T-Sips to shed a tear for the poor Aggies. Besides losing students and coaches like mad, the Aggies have a new complaint. The editor of the Battalion is pleading that for the Military Ball which is coming up in March they please keep the big cannons off the dance floor. Seems that last year the cannon took up too much room. Gosh, what some Aggies won't do to prevent University students from crashing their dances.

One interesting thing in the Battalion is usually the "Letters to the Editor" section. Remember the cute little letter which caused an Aggie to suddenly decide to transfer to Oklahoma?

Well, we now have one going in the other direction. The writer will probably get a medal—but not from the new coach, "Bear" Bryant. The author suggests that to impress the newly-acquired coach from Kentucky "the entire Twelfth Man" (The Corps) report for practice on the opening day of the coming spring training and report to Coach Bryant that the Twelfth Man is always ready for action and for him to call on "him."

"It would be the biggest gesture a new coach ever got—an understatement, man!"—and Aggies all over the world (overseas) would like it tremendously, too!

"The pictures of this report for duty would be in every newspaper in USA."

"The entire Corps would march to the practice field in sweat shirts ready for action."

"Coach Bryant would never forget this great gesture..."

"I'll say he wouldn't. Can't you just imagine the turmoil at the scrimmage game: 'All right, now you 3,000 men kick off to us 3,000 men.'"

Ever wondered about the origin of the noble art of pinning? The University of Georgia Signal gives this version:

"Pinning is relatively new to the college scene and is slowly but surely replacing another quaint romantic courtship custom known as 'bundling.' The idea got started about 40 years ago in a small Eastern co-educational college. It seems that one evening a winsome young lass named Ima Eastie loaded herself quite heavily with cotton padding. Later, when she was out on a date, this undue strain caused one of her shoulder straps to break, whereupon she began to cry. Her date, guessing her trouble, offered his fraternity pin as a possible means of repairing the broken strap. Ima immediately accepted it, pinned the strap to her sweater, and a new custom was born. (Note: Ima's method is still in use today with varying degrees of success...)"

CHALLENGE. By Naiad Key. Published by Pageant Press. New York. 131 pp. $3.

Once upon a time I used to dabble in poetry, which gives me a sort of proprietary feeling toward every poem that happens to come my way. Not so long ago, Naiad Key's "Challenge" came my way, and I want to speak here a few words in her favor.

"Challenge" is written in unrhymed verse. Basically, it retells the Bible story of the Fall and the murder of Abel by Cain. Like Byron's "Cain," the main figure of the poem is Cain, but "Challenge" is quite different—from the Byronic version of the same story, or for that matter, quite different from anything Byronic.

From my early dabbings with poetry, I finally worked out a theory for good poetry. A poem, to be good in my sight, must be able to create images in the mind; it must express a thought, or contain an idea that, so to speak, opens a trap-door in your mind and lets a new light shine in on old thoughts or ideas. In other words, to simplify greatly, a good poem should be one that offers you a new sensation, a new experience.

That is what "Challenge" did for me. The little blurb on the inside of the dust jacket says that it "explores the rough terrain of the birth of the spirit and of man's struggle to find God."

"Challenge" also gives the reader some new attitudes and ideas that make it doubly worthwhile. —BOBBY JONES

A TEXAN'S ANTI-DOTES. By Fred J. Tarrant. Illustrated. The Naylor Company. San Antonio. 121 pp. $2.50.

A Californian bet Fred J. Tarrant he could not write a series of Texas stories without exaggeration, contending that it would be impossible for a Texan to do so.

This was just a literary excuse for writing "A Texan's Anti-Dotes," and any Texan would have been offended if Mr. Tarrant had not exaggerated and lost his bet. While the book bursts at the seams with far-fetched tales, its humor does not come off.

It is not in the author's choice of "anti-dotes" that injures the book. The situations lend themselves well to humor. But in his method of telling them, by hammering home "the point," Mr. Tarrant leaves little to the reader's imagination.

Perhaps I have read too many books by Dickens, Thackeray, Jane Austen, and Sinclair Lewis, all of whom mastered the art of literary humor. Their books are filled with exaggeration, beautifully controlled.

You may enjoy this collection. There is Aunt Bertha who, "by shaving all the hair off of them and claiming they were octopuses," trained tarantulas for the circus. Maybe you're one of the University boys to whom Aunt Bertha sold a rattlesnake, so you could tease the girl friend with it.

In "Buck Up—the Reds Are on the Run," the author's cousin Leo and his pet 50-foot buzzard, disguised as "Leovich" and "Silovich," break through the Iron Curtain and give the late Premier a rough time, even getting the Russians to sing "The Eyes of Texas."

"Watch Your Horse's Imagination" is a tale of a young colt Lucius who, trying to emulate his grandfather's exploits as a fire horse, set fire to the author's barn.

It is probably asking too much for a book of Texas tall tales that would contain the rich flavor of the Paul Bunyan stories. But unless one of our authors comes up soon with a comparable volume, we may have to concede our unique place in exaggerated folklore to Rhode Island.

MARIO BRAGGIOTTI

The Student Cultural Entertainment Committee will present three outstanding soloists and the Gershwin Concert Orchestra at the Gershwin Festival February 26 at 8:15 p. m. in Gregory Gymnasium.

Mario Braggiotti will appear as piano soloist. The internationally known pianist was once with the two-piano team of Fray and Braggiotti. He teamed up with Fray after Gershwin, whom he met while a student in Paris, had helped him get his first professional job.

Appearing as soprano soloist will be Miss Elizabeth Doubleday, RCA-Victor recording artist. Miss Doubleday was soloist with the University of Pennsylvania Choral Societies, sang on her own radio program, and became the protege of Harl Macdonald, manager of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Calvin Marsh, winner of the American Theater Wing Concert Award, will be presented as baritone soloist at the festival.

The Gershwin Concert Orchestra has been organized with the approval of the late composer's family, and its program has been set up by Ira Gershwin, lyricist for many of his brother's songs.

The program will include George Gershwin's "Concerto in F for Piano and Orchestra," selections from Gershwin's folk opera "Porgy and Bess," "An American in Paris," "Cuban Overture," "The Man I Love," "Love Walked In," and "Rhapsody in Blue."

Festival tickets are free to Blanket Tax and season ticket holders. The single admission price is $2.
