

House Committee Opens Hearings On Fain Oath Bill

Funds for Paying
Teachers' Pensions
To Be Discussed

BY ALONZO JAMISON

Texas Capitol Correspondent

The Fain bill requiring oaths of allegiance from Texas teachers and providing for their dismissal if they "expound" certain isms, and the Morse bill for paying the State's share of teacher retirement costs will be considered by House committees Monday afternoon in public hearings.

In the Senate there may be committee consideration Monday afternoon of the Bean-Lucas bill permitting State department heads to divide full-time jobs into part-time jobs, so that University students may be employed. It is not certain, however, that a meeting of this committee will be called.

The Fain bill, which was written by Senator Clem Fain of Livingston and which passed the Senate unanimously on January 29, after it had been considered by the committee on military affairs, is before the education committee in the House.

This committee has called a public hearing for 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon on five bills, including the Fain bill and one by Representative W. W. Bridges of El Paso which would provide free Spanish textbooks for public schools. The hearing will be held in the reception room of the House of Representatives.

The hearing on the teacher retirement measure has been called by the appropriations committee for 2 o'clock in Committee Room No. 6. This bill attempts to make funds available immediately for the State's contribution to the teacher retirement fund by providing that the first $3,500,000 which the general revenue fund receives each year shall be deposited in the teacher retirement fund.

No new revenue, therefore, is provided by the proposal, but it does give the teacher retirement fund first claim to any money which now goes to the general revenue fund. This would mean that the State would start making actual payments to the retirement fund, for the first time since the retirement program was begun, but it would likewise mean a greater deficit in the general revenue fund unless new income is found.

This bill is being sponsored by Representative Emmett Morse of Houston, and has the backing of the Texas State Teachers Association.

The part-time job bill, written by Representative Woodrow Bean of Sierra Blanca and Jap Lucas of Athens, passed the House February 3 with one negative vote. In See OATH, Page 7

M. I. C. A. Will Elect Convention Queen Monday

Laying aside—temporarily—a membership drive which Sunday enters its last week, M.I.C.A. leaders will gather in Texas Union 307 Monday night for the purpose of electing a "Queen" for the National Independent Students' Association convention on the campus March 28-29.

Open only to members of the M.I.C.A. House Presidents' Council, or all presidents of M.I.C.A. houses on the campus, the meeting will be held at 7 o'clock, Bob Douglas, president, has announced. The convention is expected to attract over two hundred delegates from forty schools throughout the nation, each of which will name its own duchess for the grand ball on the night of March 28. Speakers at the two-day gathering of independent men will include Dr. Homer Price Rainey, J. Frank Dobie, and outstanding collegiate independent leaders.

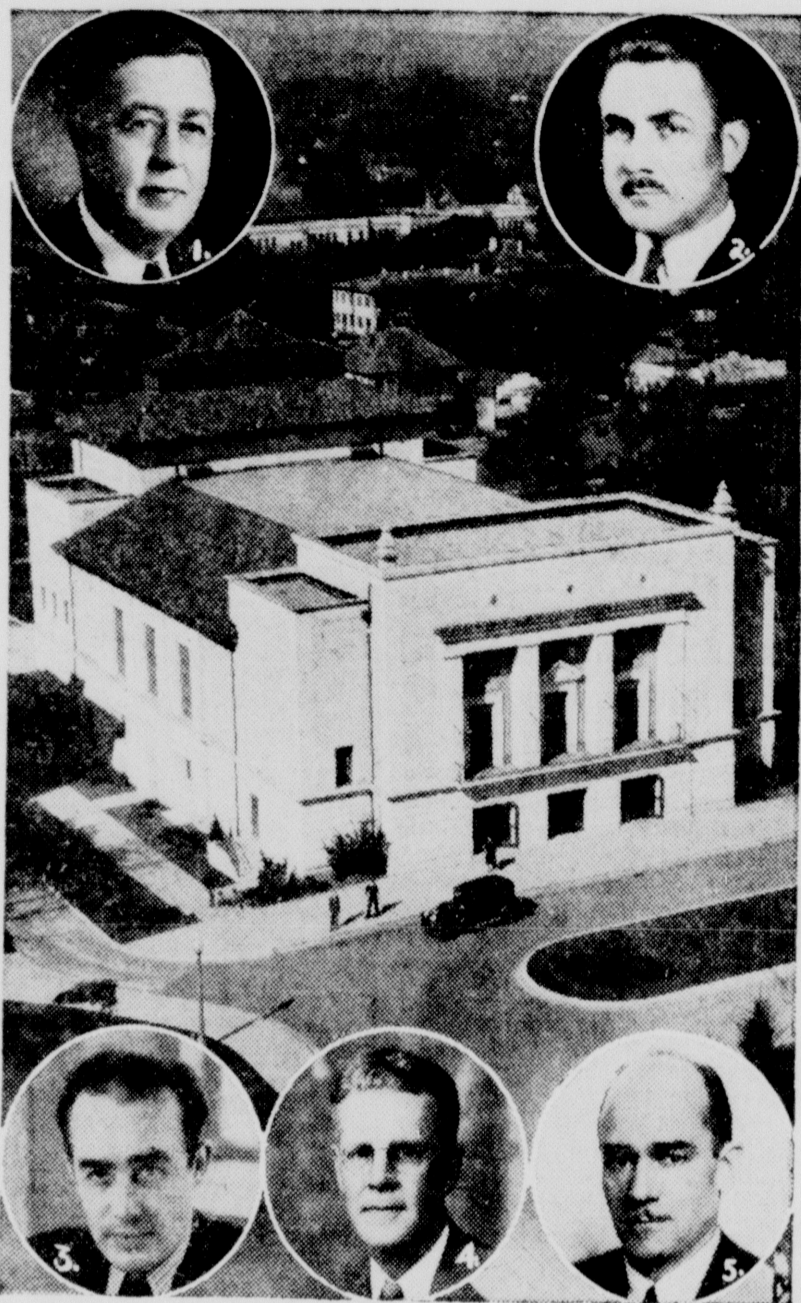

Also to be discussed at the meeting Monday night, Douglas said, was an outline of membership drive activity for the last week of the campaign which will close Saturday. Although scattered reports had not been compiled by Saturday night, M.I.C.A. is now "well over the thousand-mark," Douglas announced.

Douglas said that contacts are being made in all M.I.C.A. houses in which each member will be asked to "sell" one M.I.C.A. membership.

Talks Begin Here Tuesday

Mental Hygiene Experts To Open Hogg Foundation

Four national authorities on mental hygiene—a university president, a child psychologist, an expert on family relations, and a crack job-finder—will speak on the campus this week as the Hogg Foundation inaugurates its state-wide program of hygiene beginning Tuesday.

Designed to demonstrate the application of mental hygiene to all phases of community life from religious to legal, inaugural conferences will be held here over a three-day period.

The foundation created by the estate of the late millionaire-benefactor Will C. Hogg of Houston, several University departments, and seven state and civic agencies are cooperating in staging the campus meeting that will prepare delegates for the later more extensive educational program.

Leading speakers to appear in the public forums include Dr. Chauncey S. Boucher, Chancellor of the University of Nebraska; Dr. Frank J. O'Brien, director of New York City's bureau of child guidance; Dr. Muriel Brown, consultant in family life education with the United States Office of Education in Washington, D. C.; and Howard M. Bell, the American Youth Commission's expert on youth and jobs.

Theirs will constitute part of the forty addresses scheduled for seven subconferences and the formal inauguration program Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Hogg Auditorium.

The discussion groups will consider the application of mental hygiene to social work, guidance and public school work, college personnel, religious and community relations, law and personality relations, vocational adjustment, and home and family life.

Drs. Boucher and O'Brien will be main speakers on the formal Wednesday night program. Dr. Boucher will answer "Who Now Is the Educated Person?" and Dr. O'Brien will outline "The Personal Equation in Modern Living."

Other nationally-known authorities who will speak during the inaugural conference are Dr. George S. Stevens, director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene; Dr. E. G. Williamson, coordinator of the student personnel services at the University of Minnesota; Walker Alderton, director of student field activities at the Chicago Theological Seminary; Dr. Daniel Prescott, director of the collaboration center on child development for the Commission on Teacher Education of the University of Chicago; and Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde, specialist in parent education for the Department of Agriculture.

In addition, some thirty welfare leaders from the University and from over the State will participate in the conferences.

Although several of the meetings are to be sponsored by special groups, all are open to the public, Dr. R. L. Sutherland, director.

'Sorority Work Trains Leaders,' Speakers Say

Panhellenic Group
Hears Pointers
On Rushing Rules

BY ELIZABETH WHARTON

Texas Society Editor

Letting Panhellenic prepare the co-eds of today to be democratic leaders in the world of tomorrow was the theme of the two discussions and closing speech of the Panhellenic Regional Conference held on the University campus Friday and Saturday.

Speaking before 600 guests at the closing banquet, Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, past grand president of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, told the representative sorority girls that if they will always remember to be true to their ideals they will be prepared for a democratic way of life after college.

Panhellenic pictures will be found on page 6.

"Today's college leaders will be the community leaders of tomorrow," Mrs. Perkins added, "and if you use as a standard in your future life the perfection seen here at college, you will be ready to shoulder the responsibility of making a clean community, a safe community, a sane community."

Saturday morning's meeting was taken up with discussions of various sorority problems. Mrs. Robert C. Cralle, speaking on rushing, said that the sorority was in the main looking for ready-made material and externals rather than going deeper to discover potentialities in seemingly unattractive rushes.

Mrs. Harold Helper, national president of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, said in her discussion of limitations that every prospective rusher must be educated to see the value of sorority life both in college and out. She added that a sorority should play down the size, and play up accomplishments.

Other discussions included financial, led by Mrs. G. M. Simonson; publicity, Mrs. Richard B. Rutledge; cultural programs, Miss Margaret Peck; personal guidance, Mrs. William Spice; and fraternity standards, Mrs. C. E. Granger.

Saturday afternoon the convention was divided into two groups for a discussion. Mrs. Helper led the college group in discussing scholarship, pledge training, activities and training. See DELEGATES, Page 6

Life Saving Class Opens in Gym Monday

The men's section of the Red Cross Life Saving and Water Training Course, offered free to University students, will begin Monday night with a class from 8 to 9 o'clock in Gregory Gymnasium pool, C. J. Alderson of the Department of Physical Training, has announced.

Classes will be held nightly through Friday, and will be directed by Raul Papich and William Choniski.

French Publicity Stunt Misnamed 'Latin-America'

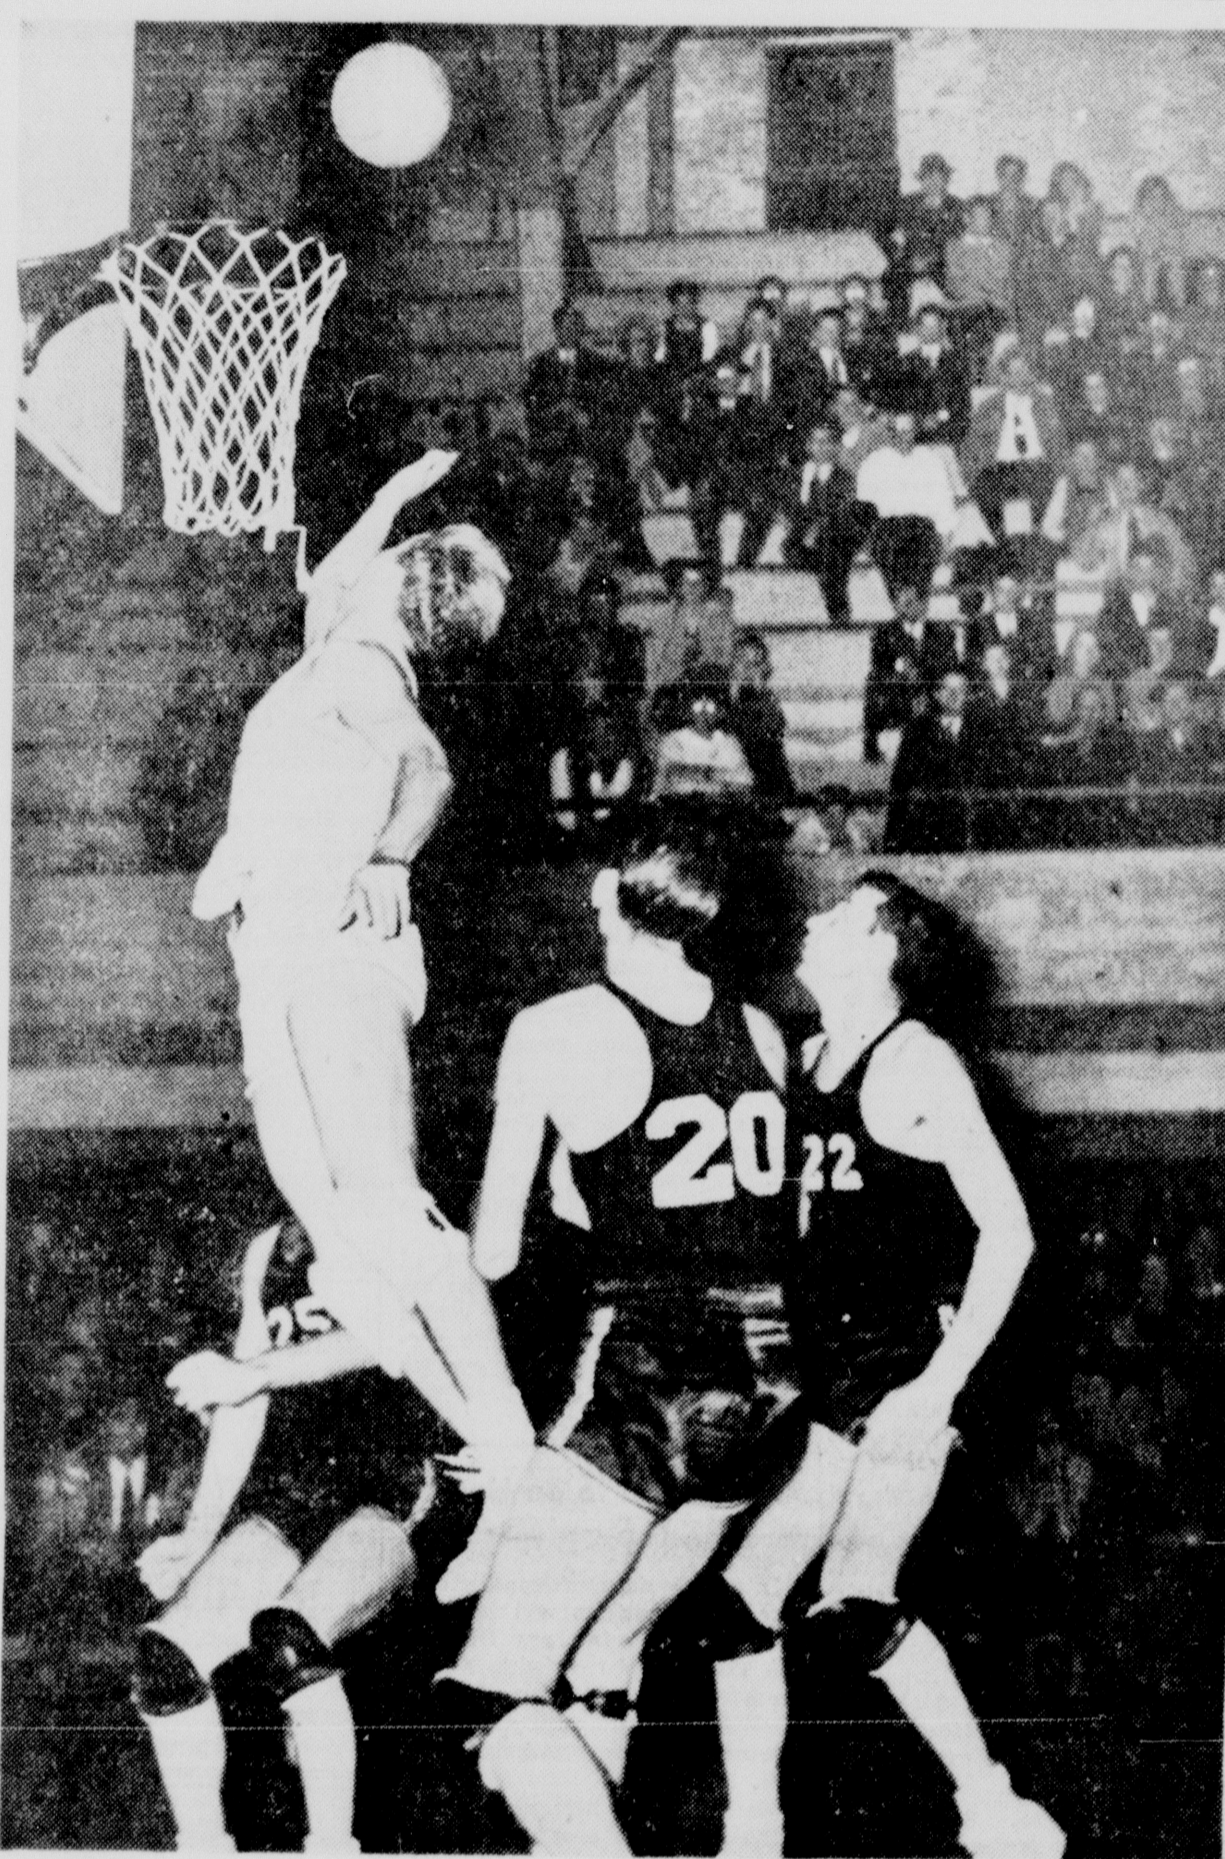

What do you think is wrong with the term "Latin-America"? Why nothing, would likely be your answer. But Dr. C. M. Montgomery, chairman of Romance languages, has a different opinion. "It is just as wrong to refer to those people living south of us as Latin-Americans as it would be to call ourselves Germanic-Americans," the language professor said.

This fact is true because all of those countries south of us have been misnamed. The term "Latin-America" is wrong, he said. These countries have received no civilization from Italy, but the term would lead us to believe this, he explained.

"If we want to be correct in naming our southern neighbors, we should refer to them as Hispanic-Americans," he said. Hispanic is the name given to Spain and Portugal by the Romans themselves, and these two countries were the only mother countries of the Southern part of the Western Hemisphere had.

True, he said, the Spanish

Regents Gaining Hospital Control

Special to the Texan
GALVESTON, Feb. 8.—Mayor Brantly Harris has received from President Homer P. Rainey copies of a new contract providing abrogation of the present agreement between the University Board of Regents and the City of Galveston and placing entire control of John Sealy Hospital under the Regents.

Dr. Rainey asked Mayor Harris, in a letter accompanying the contract, to submit it to members of the board of city commissioners for study and said that if any material changes are necessary, a second conference will be arranged.

A Cappella Choir To Present Story Of Choral Music

The North Texas State Teachers College A Cappella Choir, one of the outstanding a cappella choirs in the Southwest, will present a concert at the Austin High School Monday night, February 17, at 8 o'clock.

Few choral organizations have won such instant recognition as has the A Cappella Choir from Denton. The organization was founded by its present conductor, Dr. Winfred C. Bain, who yearly selects forty-five superior singers in open competition from a student body of three thousand.

The secret of the choir's success lies in the rigid discipline that the conductor imposes during the long hours of rehearsal and in the intense concentration he requires during the performance itself.

A picture of the North Texas State Teachers College A Cappella Choir will be found on page 8.

Many of the compositions are sacred music, since much of the finest a cappella music has been written for the church. But the concert program is designed to give a panoramic view of choral music from the time of Palestrina to the present.

Included on the program are "Tenebrae Factae Sunt" by Giovanni da Palestrina; "On the Plains" by Thomas Weelkes; "Poor Wayfaring Stranger" by E. J. Gattwood; "The Pharisee and the Publican" by Heinrich Schuetz; "Create In Me" by Brahms; "Credo" by Gretchaninoff; "De Gospel Train" by Noble Cain; "The Song of Mary" by Franz Fischer; "O! Man River" by Kern-O'Hara; "Built on a Rock" by F. Melius Christiansen; "A Clear Midnight" by Healey Willan and "Whose Offspring Praise" by F. Melius Christiansen.

Alliance Francaise Backs de Gaulle

Support of the "Free French" movement by the local Alliance Francaise was revealed Saturday as the group announced it was bringing Lieutenant de Vilmorin, a former French army officer, here to discuss General Charles de Gaulle and his cause Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Texas Federated Women's Club Building.

Dr. Roland Myers, president, said that the group has voted to withdraw from the allegedly pro-Vichy National Federation of Alliance Francaise and to join the France Quand Meme organization, whose sympathies are with the "Free France" movement. De Vilmorin, who escaped from France with General de Gaulle after his nation's surrender to Germany, is a close friend of Richard de Roussy de Sales, a leader from New York of "free France" activities in the United States. De Sales was formerly French consul at Dallas.

On his way to California for a lecture tour, de Vilmorin will arrive in Austin by plane Monday night at 6:45 o'clock. The lecture Tuesday night will be open to anyone, Dr. Myers explained.

Explaining the recent action of the Alliance, Dr. Myers commented, "The local chapter's sympathies are with those Frenchmen who refuse to accept German domination."

Dr. Frederick Named Journal Associate Editor

Dr. John H. Frederick, professor of transportation and industry, has been appointed associate editor of the American Marketing Journal, Dr. James A. Fitzgerald, dean of the School of Business Administration, said Wednesday.

Before coming to the University, Dr. Frederick was the managing editor of the Wholesalers' Salesman in New York.

Nelms, Cooley Sink Most Goals

Quick-Break Crips
Make Texas Points

BY TOM DAVISON

Texas Sports Staff

Flashing vastly superior team play and shot-making, Jack Gray's Longhorns coasted to a 58-39 rout of T.C.U. in Gregory Gym Saturday night.

Some well-precisioned passing that sent Orange and White players into the clear time and again for fast-breaking crip shots enabled Texas to accumulate as many points during the opening twenty minutes as the Fort Worth crew scored during the entire game.

The half-time count was 39-16, chiefly due to four quick-break crips by Captain Ches Granville and four more goals by Denton Cooley.

But the Longhorns cooled off almost to a T.C.U. level during the second half when the clash was more a track meet than a basketball game.

The Toads led only on one occasion, that in the opening minutes of play when Monroe dropped one from outside the foul circle to make the tally, 2-1.

Then Messrs. Nelms, Cooley, and Granville initiated a demoralizing offensive splurge that had hoisted the count to 21-8 after ten minutes of play.

So heavy was the U. T. rally that the Christians had begun letting go with mid-court "hope" heaves midway in the first half in a vain effort to get back in the game.

Jack Billingsley's three quick field shots spearheaded a mild Texas Christian spurt during the second half's first five minutes that put them back within shouting distance, 28-44. But little Tommy Nelms, who led scoring with 11 points, put the Longhorns on the go again with a trio of well-aimed goals from deep court.

Hull and Cooley chipped in with a goal apiece midway in the second half to make the score, 54-29, and then the Steers suffered a scoring lapse that left them with only one field goal during the last ten minutes, that being Leslie Croucher's last-second toss from near the center stripe.

Texas set the pace in every department except in fouling. In a very rough game, the Frogs and Steers were each assessed fourteen times. Speedy Hout and Pie Sander alternated in controlling the ball off the backboard after frequent Frog field tries went astray.

Jan Garber's Band To Lead Spring Dance Schedule

Jan Garber—"The Idol of the Air-lanes"—and his orchestra, will play in Gregory Gymnasium next Friday night as the Texas Union inaugurates an extensive program of bringing "big name" bands here for all-University dances.

Other musical organizations already slated to appear here during the second semester, John ("Dub") Singleton, dance manager of the Union, announced Saturday afternoon, are those led by Bernie Cummins and by Jimmie Lunceford.

At the same time, Singleton said that the dance last Friday night at which Bobby Hammack and his local orchestra played was a "howling success." Net profits were more than $200, he pointed out, and 446 tickets were sold.

No word has been heard yet from the F. W. Fitch Company concerning the chances of Hammack's group appearing on that firm's Sunday night "Band Wagon" program, Singleton added. Petitions carrying more than two thousand names were sent to the company office in Des Moines, Ia., last Thursday.

Lunceford's band will play in the Union Friday night, February 28, and Cummins' in the Union Friday, March 7. Dances have been set for March 14 and March 21, Singleton explained, but orchestras have not been selected yet.

Admission to the Garber dance will be $1.25 stag or couple.

Boxing Team Fights Draw With Academy

Eng Is KO'd By Menchaca In Third Round

BY BILLY CUNNINGHAM

The Longhorn Boxing Club drew with Allen Academy, 2-2, in four bouts after the T. C. U. University basketball game, when Dick Menchaca, Golden Gloves national bantamweight champion won a three round technical knockout from Phillip Eng of the University.

Although losing, Eng put up the best fight of the program, after being hit hard in the first round. Menchaca came out of his corner slugging and carried the fighting the whole way. Eng took three sieges of right hooks, right uppercuts, and left jabs and then went down. However, he got up and kept on fighting.

Still continuing his buzz-saw tactics, Menchaca rushed Eng out of the ropes in the second round. Eng crawled back in and slowed Menchaca down with a straight right to the jaw, followed by a left to the same spot. Menchaca's stiff uppercuts, thrown from any position, kept the Longhorn boxer off balance.

In the third round Eng came close to victory when he planted a straight to Menchaca's chin. Menchaca turned his back momentarily and Eng was unable to follow up. Then Menchaca bored in again and did not stop until Eng went down. When Eng got up again, Menchaca was on him again, throwing punches to the jaw until Eng fell through the ropes. Despite Eng's momentary protest, Bob McKinley, referee then halted the fight.

Showing more improvement with each trip out, Ray Wallis pounded out a decision over Moe Hair, 228-pound Temple district Golden Gloves champion from the Academy. Wallis carried the fighting the whole way, while Hair retreated, fighting in a semi-crouch.

Wallis started off the first round with a left to the jaw and another left to the body. Hair got in his best punches in the second round, but Wallis's body blows and rights in the clinches offset Hair's hitting. The third round was all Wallis, as the Longhorn fighter connected with a right cross and followed it up with hard punches in the ribs and to the face.

Ed Scarbrough blasted H. B. Crowder with hard rights to the ribs to give the Longhorns their other decision of the night. Crowder danced all around Scarbrough in the first round, although the Longhorn did slip across some hard rights, with one right hook to the jaw hurting the Allen fighter.

The second round was more even with Crowder mixing it up more. In the third round, Crowder carried the fighting, but Scarbrough slammed in rights to the

Tough Start:

U. T. Didn't Give Pugh This Misery

FORT WORTH, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Marion Pugh, the Texas Aggies' star football quarterback, and his bride, the former Helen Ruth Braselton, were honeymooning "somewhere in Texas" today after a few anxious moments spent at Fort Worth police headquarters as "car-theft suspects."

Classmates of Pugh and members of the police force cooperated in the gag. The sober-faced officers who waved Mr. and Mrs. Pugh to the curb refused to accept the evidence of his drivers' license and maintained that if he was Pugh, they were John Kimbrough and Bronko Nagurski.

After taking the couple to the station and questioning them closely, the police finally confessed it was all a frame-up and permitted the embarrassed pair to continue on their way.

side of the body to slow him down and earn the decision.

Taking punch after punch, Fred Green, Longhorn middleweight, kept coming into Roy Fisher, Temple Golden Gloves champion from Allen, but Fisher won the unanimous decision. Fisher used a right cross in the first round which connected often but did not stop Green.

Fisher jabbed Green's face with a left continually but was slowed down when Green connected with a stiff right to the face. The third round went to Fisher who connected with several flurries of punching, although he did stop a hard right at the close.

Judges for the bout were Dr. Sandi Esquivel, Dewey Bradford, and Mack Hull. Bob McKinley, ex-Longhorn boxer, refereed.

Guessers Say Rice's Morgan To Texas Tech

Jennings Is Logical Choice as Raider Athletic Director

WACO, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Virtual certainty among the Southwest's sports guessers that Dell Morgan, Rice line coach, would become head football coach at Texas Tech today swung the spotlight of speculation to Baylor University's vacant chair.

Morley Jennings, who had the longest term of service at one college in the current Southwest Conference record, turned in his resignation Thursday as Baylor's head coach. It was generally granted that he will become athletic director at Texas Tech.

Today the names of Tiny Thornhill, once coach at Stanford in the Pacific Coast Conference, and Francis Schmidt, resigned as coach at Ohio State, were being circulated as possible candidates to succeed Jennings.

However, the favorite for the post continued to be Jack Sisco, former Baylor star who has been unusually successful in his coaching work at North Texas State Teachers' College.

For the opening at Rice, head coach Jess Neely said that he expected Joe Davis, now end coach, would become line coach to succeed Morgan "if Morgan goes to Tech." No new end coach will be hired, Neely said.

Flyin' Fred Sets New Record; Steals Spotlight from Stars

Bettors 9 Year Penn A. C. Mark

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Fred Wolcott, blond Rice Institute hurdler, held practically unchallenged sway today as 1941's outstanding track star after smashing his second world record in a week at the Fourth Annual Penn A. C. meet in Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

The amazing Texan demolished a nine-year-old standard set by Ohio State's Jack Keller by twice negotiating the 50-yard high hurdles in 6.1 seconds—a full second better than the old mark. Four timers officially clicked off the world mark in the finals.

The rangy Rice timber-topper hung up his first international standard of the season when he swept the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.2 seconds.

Still Another

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Fred Wolcott smashed the world's indoor record for the 45-yard high hurdles tonight, with a mark of 5 and 6/10 seconds.

Wolcott set the new mark before a crowd of 15,000 in the opening event of the 52nd annual Boston Athletic Association games in Boston Garden. The old mark of 5.7 was often tied.

Eddie Dugger, of Tufts, one of the four recognized holders of the old mark, was second to the flying Texan and Allan Tolmich of Detroit was third.

Tyler J. C. Swamps Frosh, 73-40; East Texans' Overall Bags 31 Points

Best Prep Team Ever in Gregory

Wright Stands Out For U. T. Yearlings

BY BILL WHITMORE
Texas Sports Staff

The classy Apaches of Tyler Junior College handed the Texas freshmen a 73-40 trouncing at Gregory Gym last night in a preliminary game to the Texas-T.C.U. clash.

But the Yearlings shouldn't feel too bad about their defeat, for they were beaten by one of the best basketball teams in Texas—junior college or otherwise. Friday night the Apaches trounced Lon Morris by a top-heavy score, and they just kept going last night to hand the freshmen their first defeat of the season.

The individual star of the game was easy to pick—slim Buck Overall, former Cushing High School star, who led the Apaches with 31 points, the largest number of points any player has scored in Gregory Gym in a long, long time.

But Overall wasn't the only stand-out for Tyler. "Lanky" Williams, 6-foot, 6-inch center, looked an excellent senior college prospect as he scored 9 points and played a fine floor game. Bernard Clayton and A. C. Cannaday also dealt the Yearlings a lot of misery as they scored 12 and 15 points respectively. Tyler's other starter, Foster Bullock, made only 2 points, but the speedy Indian from Livingston, proved his value as a floor general by some sensational passing and ball-handling.

Dudley Wright, the Yearling's clever guard from Houston, played good ball for the losers, showing more hustle than the other first year men. Jack Fitzgerald, the husky forward from Crowell, led the Yearlings in scoring with 10 points, making most of them on pivot shots and long one-handers. John Hargis, who has been high point man all season for the freshmen, fouled out early in the second half after scoring 5 points.

The Yearlings fought the Apaches tooth-and-nail the second half and for the last twenty minutes the score was only 34-30 in favor of Tyler. But the 39-10 lead the visitors had amassed in the first half gave them a safe lead.

The scoring was pretty well divided among the Apache starters in the first half, but the sharp-shooting Overall was the show in the second half as he made 19 of his 31 points.

Syndicate Might Buy Boston Bees

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—(INS)—President Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees today greeted a report from New York that Max Meyer, Brooklyn manufacturer, had joined manager Casey Stengel in helping Quinn purchase the National League Baseball Club with the remark:

"There is nothing more to that than to any other stories that the Bees are being sold. He is not buying the club. I only wish he were."

"Last fall," Quinn said, "Meyer told Stengel that he would be willing to go in with a syndicate if we could get the right group. I haven't seen or heard from him since that time."

"If Casey wants to go in on purchasing the club, I believe Meyer will go in with us."

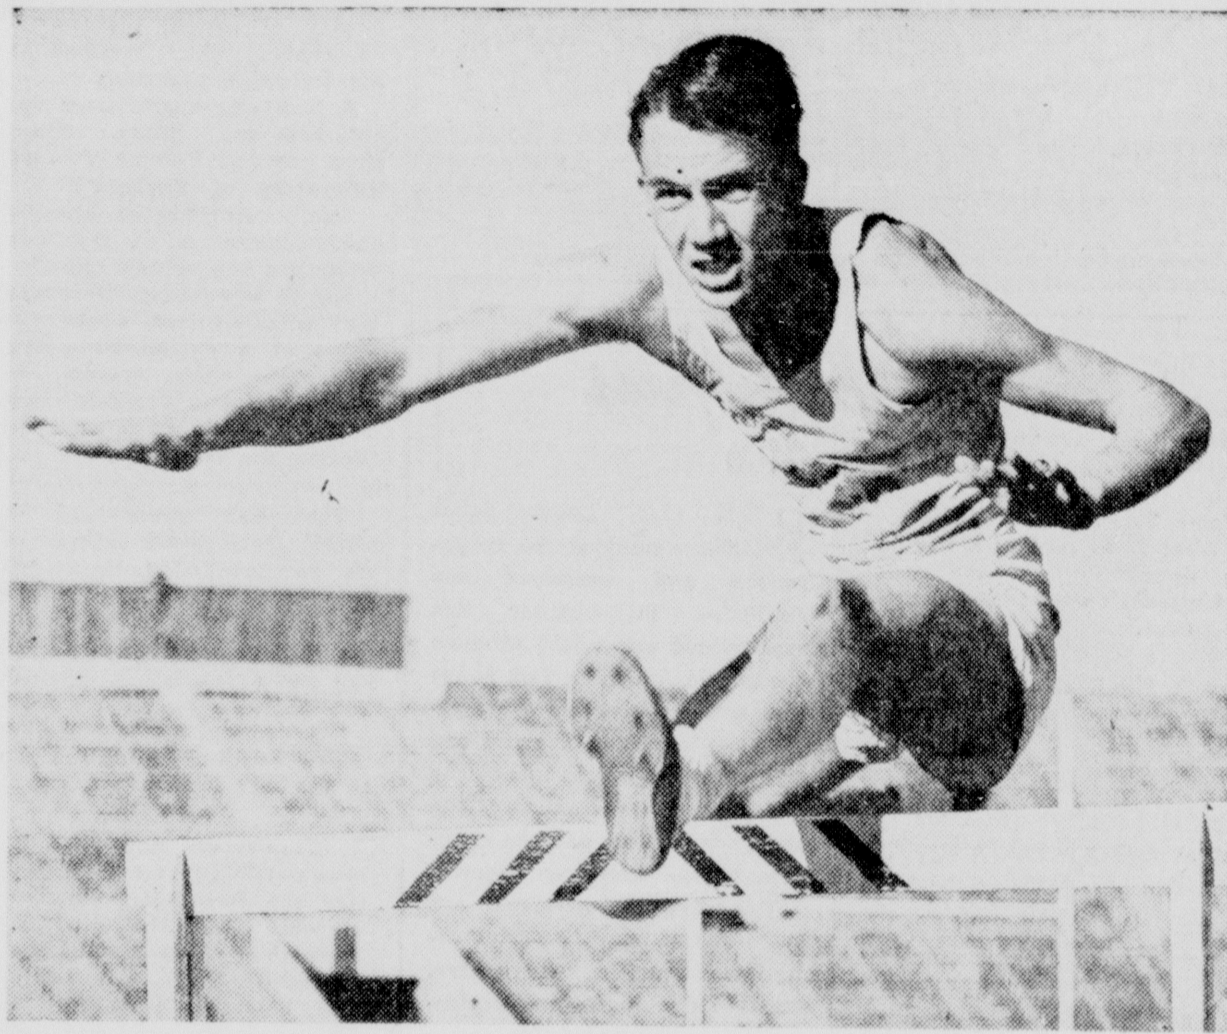

Well-informed circles place the selling price of the Bees at $350,000.

The New York report had Stengel putting up $50,000, with Meyer contributing $40,000.

Former Olympic Team Coach Will Referee Texas Relays

Wolcott, Gatewood Vie Again in Meet

The Fourteenth Annual Texas Relays began to take definite form with two headline announcements from Director Clyde Littlefield Saturday.

The first was that famed Lawson Robertson, Olympic and University of Pennsylvania track coach and one of the sports' officials heads, would be here on April 5 to referee the big meet, the South's outstanding track and field carnival.

The other announcement was of the meet's special event, a 120-yard high hurdles event for every great hurdler in the nation. All ready three of 1940's greatest stars have been signed, including National Champion Fred Wolcott, Texas' Boyce Gatewood who pushed Wolcott to his championship, and Marsh Farmer, the one-armed wonder from Texas Tech who captured the A.A.U. junior national championship a year back.

With that field assured, the event will certainly be the finest hurdle race of the year, excluding only the national meet.

The acceptance of Robertson to come here to act as referee will bring one of the greatest track authorities in the world to mind over the expected thousand or more entries.

He has coached the past three Olympic teams to world championships for the United States.

Notices went out this week from Littlefield's office to colleges and universities all over the nation with entry blanks for the Relays. Identical forms were sent to all Texas high schools.

The letter included all information concerning the one-day meet that will climax Round-Up week-end, including everything from Relay records to hotel facilities in Austin.

Sports Notices

TRYOUTS for the Turtle Club were held Wednesday night at 7:15 o'clock in the Women's Gymnasium. Second tryouts will be held next Wednesday night, announced Peggy Hilliard, vice-leader.

RUTH NICHOLSON, leader of the Canter Club, has announced that try-outs for new members will be held on Wednesday afternoon, February 12, at 4 o'clock at the Hobby Horse Stables. All members are asked to be present.

TEXAS Tumbling Club will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 in the gym.

Northwestern To Play 1942 U. T. Gridders

1941 Steers Divided Into Four Teams For Spring Games

Northwestern University is on the Longhorns' football schedule in 1942, Coach Dana X. Bible announced Saturday, as the 1941 went through its third practice edition of the Texas gridders session of the spring.

The Wildcats, perennial Big Ten title contenders, will meet the Longhorns October 3, 1942, in Evanston, Ill. Bible said upon completing arrangements with K. L. "Tug" Wilson, Northwestern athletic director. This will be the first meeting in the history of the two teams.

The four teams who will meet each other in four weekly regulation games on successive Saturdays the remainder of the spring practice season were announced by Coach Bible, following a drill that included a light scrimmage.

Plays to be operated from a single wingback position were given to team members and will be practiced for about two weeks.

Walter Heap, an outstanding passer who rated no better than the third team a year ago, was shifted to a blocking back to provide the only big change from last season. His first efforts at this position were remarkable good.

Faces missing from the four elevens are Charley Richardson, taken by the draft, R. B. Patrick and Freshman Jackie Vaughn, out with scholastic difficulties, and V. D. Basey, out of school but eligible next year.

Back in the lineup after a year's layoff are Don Weedon and Jack Freeman.

The first team, known as the Longhorns, includes many familiar names in last year's starting lineups. Flanagan and Hawthorne are listed at ends, Mauldin and Cohenour at tackles, Buddy Jungmichel and Daniel at guards, and Goodwin at center, while Crain, Layden, Martin, and Doss comprise the backfield.

The Steers also include several occasional starters of a year ago, with Seale and West at ends, Conolly and Garrett at tackles, Weedon and Freeman at guards, Henry Harkins at center, and Sanders, Park, Heap, and R. L. Harkins in the backfield.

Most of the Bovines are lesser known Varsity men of a year ago and freshmen. Scott and Coffee, a freshman, will hold down the terminal posts, with Watkins and Paveto at tackles, Johnson and Candler, a freshman, at guards, Thayer at center, and Roberts, a freshman, McKay, Ivers, and Lohpries (with Bostick as a substitute) in the backfield.

An excellent freshman team makes up the fourth eleven, the Mavericks. Paced by Parker at an end, Sachse at center, and Collins at a blocking back, the team includes King, end; Charley Jungmichel and Harris, tackles; Gill and Fischer, guards; and Fiedls, Mayne, and Minor, backs.

Amateur Tennis Code Strengthened

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(INS)—The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association voted to take the racket out of the racket game Saturday as its sixtieth annual meeting being held in New York.

Officials of the association adopted a new rule which, in effect, will prohibit amateur players from receiving traveling and living expenses except in stipulated cases.

The ruling will permit players to receive expense money only when participating in eight sanctioned tournaments or team matches exclusive of the national championships and their own sectional championships or when they are selected by the U.S.L.T.A. to compete in other championships.

The ruling set out, further, that reception of hospitality in private homes would be considered in the same category as furnished expenses.

Other legislation adopted included a prohibition against amateurs employed by sporting goods concerns participating in any but club championships and a refusal to allow amateurs to accept any subsidies, such as racquets, from sporting goods houses except through permission of the U.S.L.T.A. executive committee.

Lawson Little Fires Amazing 62 Rounds To Lead Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Pushed ahead by a record-cracking 62, nine strokes under par for San Antonio's Willow Springs Course, National Open Champion Lawson Little took a commanding lead at the halfway mark in the Texas Open Saturday.

The San Franciscoan's 31-31 round, which bettered the course record and tied the P.G.A. mark for open competition, resulted from nine pars and nine birdies.

Little hit every green in regulation and his nine one-putts were all for birdies. He had only one really long putt, a 40-footer on the sixteenth hole, and missed two eight-foot efforts. He also one-putted the third, fourth, fifth, seventh, and ninth going out and the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth coming in.

With the 74 he shot Friday, Little's 62 gave him a 36-hole total of 136.

In second place was little Ben Hogan, the former Texan now playing from White Plains, N. Y. Ben fired a one-under 70 to go with his opening 69 for 139. Four under par going to the fifteenth, Hogan dropped two strokes there because of a ball lost in the tall grass.

Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., had a 68 today for 140, and Johnny Dawson, of Hollywood, Calif., who led the first day's play with a 68, added a 72 today for another 140.

Dawson made the best showing among the amateurs, his closest competitor in this class being John Barnum, entered from Chicago, with a 147.

Also in the running were Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill., with a 141, and Byron Nelson, P.G.A. champion from Toledo, repeated his Friday 71 for a 142 total.

There were fourteen other swingers grouped at 144 and 145.

Today's round started in a driving snowfall and when it cleared up around noon the white flakes melted to turn the course into a sea of mud. The conditions were just to Little's liking, however.

The low 60 pros and low ten amateurs will enter Sunday's final 36-hole round.

BREAKS STREAK

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Allen Hall of Chicago moved into third place in the World's Championship Three-Cushion Billiards Tournament today by defeating Art Rubin of Brooklyn 50-35 in 54 innings. The victory broke Hall's three game losing streak and left him with a record of 9 won, 3 lost. Rubin, in fifth place now, has a 9-4 record.

Sigma Alpha Mu, also turned in a good scoring performance with seventeen of his team's twenty-three points as they defeated Phi Kappa Sigma, 23-11.

Chicago Cubs Buy Interest in Tulsa

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(INS)—James T. Gallagher, general manager of the Chicago Cubs' baseball team, announced Saturday night that arrangements had been made for the Cubs to buy a minority share of the Tulsa baseball club of the Texas League.

The Cubs have had a working agreement with Tulsa for several years. Don Stewart, one of the owners of the Tulsa organization, and Gallagher completed the deal Saturday. Stewart and Art Griggs bought the Tulsa club in 1935.

for leadership, and choosing the chapter officers.

Mrs. E. M. Pooley led the alumnae group in a discussion of the purpose of city Panhellenics, the duties of alumna advisers, and the relationship between alumnae and active chapters.

At the meeting Saturday afternoon, delegates from Oklahoma University extended an invitation to the conference to meet on the Oklahoma campus in Norman in 1943.

After the meeting, the representatives were conducted on a tour of the campus and were guests at open houses given by Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Delta Delta, and Zeta Tau Alpha sororities.

The speaker's table at the banquet was decorated in a Grecian style, with gold and green swags caught in loops with calla lilies. The centerpiece was a miniature Greek temple with a modernistic arrangement of the lilies. The banquet tables were also decorated in green and gold, with yellow tapers and calla lilies.

Mrs. O. D. Weeks, province president of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, was toastmistress, and Dr. Archie Jones, from the faculty of the fine arts school, sang. He was accompanied by Miss Charlotte DuBois. A string quartet played for dinner music.

With "Challenging Responsibilities in a Changing World" as her subject, Mrs. Perkins concluded her talk and the convention with the thought that "the blackness of the night only serves to emphasize the beauty of the stars. Our stars are the responsibilities and challenges for a new brilliancy of life to emerge from the darkness of the world today."

College panhellenics represented at the convention were the University of Mexico with Miss Lena Claude, dean of women; the University of Oklahoma, with Miss Margaret Stephenson; New Mexico A.M., Mrs. Berdine Jackman; Oklahoma A.M., Miss Julia E. Stout; University of Tulsa, Miss Mary Clay Williams; Southern Methodist University, Miss Lide Spragins; Southwestern University, Mrs. Ruth Ferguson; Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, Miss Norma Egg; and the University of Texas, Miss Dorothy Gebauer and Mrs. Kathleen Bland.

It's All Greek to Them

Delegates at the Panhellenic Conference registration desk

Sociallights

By Elizabeth Wharton

Texas Society Editor

WITH THE CLOSE of the Panhellenic Conference at the banquet last night, there are several points I would like to bring out regarding the meeting. In the first place, I think that the idea of a Panhellenic Conference is a good one. The speakers were excellent, on the whole, and it is always a good idea just to get together and discuss mutual problems with persons from another school.

BUT! At the discussion Friday night, a main topic was that of improving relations between sorority girls and "independents." The main thing I want to say is that the idea that there are "relations"—with its bad connotation—between sorority and non-sorority girls is an inexcusable fantasy. In my opinion, the barrier between the two groups exists only in the minds of those who like to think themselves superior. The ridiculous belief that the sorority-independent relations are non-democratic is the only thing that is non-democratic about the whole system.

I am not a sorority girl. When I entered the University, I felt that I could have just as good a time without belonging to a sorority and that I could put that money to a better use. But I do think that sororities are fine things. For a student who has money to spare, the sorority system offers a very lovely and attractive side of college life. But it is only one phase of college life, and I believe that it is over-emphasized.

Some of my closest friends are members of sororities, and it doesn't cut any ice with me at all, and I don't believe it does with them. WHEN I AM around a sorority girl, I don't think to myself, "Oh, heavens. She is a sorority member. I must be on my toes to impress her." Maybe that does sound like a far-fetched example, but it is no more silly than for the sorority girl to think, "Oh my goodness. She is an independent. I must remember to be democratic."

BESIDES BEING on a much larger scale and more expensive, the sorority is not essentially different from any other organization on the campus. If you are a member of the Freshman Fellowship Club or the Austin Club, do you struggle to be democratic toward students who are not members of these organizations?

The delegates wanted to know how to be more democratic. I would say just to forget about it. It is all the talk and thought about being non-democratic that is non-democratic. It is an attitude that need not and should not exist.

GIRL OF the week is JESSIE LOUISE SNEED, senior student from Austin who is president of Panhellenic. It was mostly through her efforts that the convention was successful. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Belden-Nash Wedding Held Saturday Night

Miss Engenia Nash of Dallas, archives assistant in the library, was married to Joseph Belden, of Monterrey, Mex., night supervisor of The Daily Texan, Saturday night at the Dallas home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Cleve C. Nash.

Both are ex-students of the University, and Belden was associate editor of the Texan in 1937-38. He is now editor of the Student Opinion Surveys of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Belden will return to Austin Tuesday and will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Whiteman of 4830 Tremont Street, Dallas, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Martha, to Morris R. Morrow, son of Mrs. Lydia A. Morrow of San Antonio.

The wedding will take place March 14 at the First Methodist Church in Dallas.

Miss Whiteman will receive her bachelor of journalism degree from the University in June. She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity for women. Mr. Morrow received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering and his masters degree in chemistry in 1940. He is a member of Tau fraternity; Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemistry fraternity, and Sigma Xi, honorary science fraternity.

Miss Martha Word, former University of Texas student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Word of Houston, became the bride of Edward Rohrbough at the Presbyterian Church in London, Ontario, on Wednesday, at 5 o'clock.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rohrbough left for a two-weeks' visit in Toronto. On their return they will live in London where Mr. Rohrbough, who is enlisted in the Kent Regiment of the Canadian Active Service Force, is stationed.

Both Coach Jack Gray and Mike Brumbelow used substitutes frequently, twelve players seeing service for Texas and ten performing for T.C.U.

Besides Nelms's 11 points, U. T. offensive leaders were Granville and Cooley with 10 each. All of Granville's markers came in the opening half. Dennis Tankersley's seven points was high for Texas Christian.

Friday night's success was Texas's third conference victory as compared with a like number of setbacks. Next Friday they engage Baylor in Waco before meeting Southern Methodist in Gregory Gym, February 22.

Late World News

'Suicide Attacks' Launched by Italians

The central and coastal areas of Albania have become a place of slaughter for Italian "suicide attackers," who are attempting to throw Greek forces back from the strategic fort of Tepelini, Greek sources reported Saturday.

Greek artillery and planes have been instrumental in destroying the Italians' lines and equipment, and the attacks have resulted in extremely heavy losses for the Italians, the Greeks say. These counter-movements usually result in a rout, with Greek artillery and infantry pushing the Italians back beyond their original starting point. Many prisoners have been taken, the report said, including numerous officers.

In the northeast of Albania weather conditions restrict the action, but the Greek positions have been "improved," they say.

House Nonchalantly Passes Lend-Lease Bill

Contrary to the dramatic episodes occurring in the cinema, the House of Representatives calmly departed from their chamber late Saturday afternoon after passing the much-argued bill providing for the leasing of goods and materials to Britain for the duration of the war.

Squired through the House by Sol Bloom, a Democrat from New York, and chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and by Luther Johnson, Democrat from Texas, the bill underwent six grueling days of haggling and debate before it finally came to a vote.

Petaín Refuses to Readmit Laval to Cabinet

German pressure was brought to bear on the government of Marshall Philippe Petaín as the aged head of the French government refused to take Pierre Laval back into his cabinet. In addition to this, it was reported Foreign Minister Flandin resigned from his post Saturday night.

The crisis was precipitated two months ago with the ejection of Laval from his position a vice premier and foreign minister. Petaín proposed that Laval be admitted as a minister without portfolio, which would strip him of any specific power, but Laval refused to consider the proposition.

Greeks Move Troops to Border

Greece was reported early Sunday to be massing large forces of troops along her northeastern Thracian frontier facing Bulgaria, which has been moving reinforcements into that area to match similar Turkish military measures.

This has further enhanced the tension in the Balkans, following as it did a prediction by a Budapest German Nazi newspaper that Bulgaria will shortly join the Italo-German-Japanese alliance, coupled with a hint that Germany may move troops through Bulgaria to attack Greece.

tor of the foundation, said Saturday. The series of conferences will open Tuesday morning in the Home Economics Building at 9 o'clock with the home and family life meeting, and will close Thursday night with a summary on mental hygiene in education beginning at 8 o'clock in Hogg Memorial Auditorium.

Co-sponsors with eight branches of the University are the Texas Society for Mental Hygiene, Texas Social Welfare Association, University Christians Associations and Religious Workers' Associations, Austin Bureau of Child Guidance, the State Employment Service, and the State Departments of Health and Education.

the Senate it was referred to the committee on departments and institutions, headed by Senator John Lee Smith of Throckmorton. Senator Smith said he would probably call a meeting of his committee for Monday afternoon if other committees of which he is a member do not meet at that time.

Although there may be some opposition to the bill in the Senate, it was believed Saturday that the measure will probably pass that body, as Senators were known to be hearing from their student constituents and from House advocates of the measure. Opposition apparently is based on a rumor that the Texas railroad Commission is secretly backing the bill in an effort to increase the patronage which it can offer to legislators, so that the lawmakers will be less inclined to disturb the commission's present organization and functions. It has been proposed in this Legislature that the Commission's power to regulate gas and oil be given to a new body. The House members who wrote the part-time job bill deny that there is any connection between their bill and the proposal to reduce the commission's jurisdiction.

To divide full-time jobs into part-time jobs was a practice in State departments for several years, but was largely discontinued after Attorney-General Gerald Mann ruled in August, 1939, that the appropriations bill for the present biennium omitted a provision which had previously permitted it.

Amendments are certain to be offered in the House to the Fair "loyalty oath" bill. It is expected that the education committee will recommend to the House that it pass the bill, and that the amendments will be offered from the floor.

Representative Duncan Hughes of Georgetown has already prepared two amendments, which he will offer from the floor after the education committee has reported to the House. He is not a member of that committee, but of the military affairs committee, to which the bill was first referred in the House.

One of his amendments attempts to meet the main objection which has been urged against the bill: making teachers liable for dismissal when they "expound" objectionable doctrines. His amendment would change the ground for dismissal to: "Openly advocating doctrines which seek to undermine or overthrow by force or violence the republican or democratic forms of government in the United States, or which in any way seek to establish a government that does not rest upon the consent of the governed."

The other amendment by Mr. Hughes would require teachers to declare their approval of a "system of free public education" instead of "our educational system" as stated in the bill.

Several other bills directly affecting the University have been introduced in the House, but committees have not indicated when they will be considered. The education committee has the following: Manning bill to reduce University tuition (H.B. 225); Hardeman bill for army R.O.T.C. (H.B. 98); Bell bill for compulsory union fee (H.B. 182); and Stanford bill for memorizing portions of the national constitution (H.B. 155). The bill to exempt graduates of approved law schools, including that of the University, from taking the Texas bar exams (H.B. 226) awaits action in the judiciary committee.

Dr. C. W. Hall, director of the Wesley Bible Chair, left Saturday for Wichita Falls. Ed Onstot will teach Dr. Hall's class during his absence.

Robert B. Newman, tutor in physics, left Saturday morning to accept a research position in the Radio Corporation of America laboratories in Camden, New Jersey.

Mrs. Zuljeka Hicks, public welfare worker, will speak at a meeting of SUNDAY CLUB Sunday night at 8:30 o'clock in Gregg House on the problems facing welfare efforts.

Highlighting the Daily Texan of the Air broadcasts over station KNOX this week will be the interview Monday night with a local boy who made good in the big time—Jimmie Valentine, ex-student and featured vocalist with Will "Scrub Me Mamma" Bradley's orchestra. Jimmie, as you no doubt will recall, sang a request number with Bradley's band when it was here last year. Later, when Bradley needed a singer, he remembered Jimmie and gave him the job. Jimmie will also sing on the program.

Tuesday night the Cowboys, men's service organization, will be spotlighted through interviews with Jimmie Watson, foreman, and John "Dub" Singleton, treasurer. The popular Wednesday night program, "Co-Ed in the News," conducted by Elsie Holmes, will center around Virginia Vaughan, senior from Houston, who is president of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, a member of Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa. "Co-Ed in the News," written by Mary Ruth Huntington and Kay Hamblin, presents an outstanding co-ed each week.

Bill Whitmore's Sportscast will occupy the Thursday night spot when Bill gives news, views, and predictions on the University's sports.

A review of the Cowboy Minstrel Show to be held February 17 and 18 will be given through an interview with Bob Alterman, author of this year's show, on Friday night.

Monday through Friday nights at 10:15 the latest campus news is given in addition to special features, and on Friday night news of the week will be summarized.

Visitor to Speak At Vesper Tonight

Dr. Wallace M. Alston, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Charleston, West Virginia, and for three years director of young people's work in the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, will speak at the University Presbyterian Church today at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Alston will be the guest of the Student Fellowship and speak at the Sunday night vesper service. The students will also have their weekly fellowship supper.

For secretary and treasurer, Bob Dekker of Fort Wayne, Indiana was elected, and Bradley Bourland of Fort Worth, former president of the Association, was elected intramural manager.

'Back Street' Futile Love Points a Moral; Holds Attention

BY FELIX McGIVNEY

UNLIKE THE CUSTOMARY picture that fails unless it can center around a comparatively small number of well-knit incidents, "Back Street" overlooks half a life-time never once losing its perspective and thereby achieves a real distinctiveness.

When Fannie Hurst created the sensitive character of Ray Smith, she was thinking more of the ideal than the practical, which is a point to be remembered if one begins to doubt how a woman could continue to stay with a man, knowing there was no future for them together.

"BACK STREET." At the Paramount. Screen play by Bruce Manning and Felix Jackson. Based on the novel by Fannie Hurst. Photographed by William Daniels. Produced by Bruce Manning. Directed by Robert Stevenson. Released by Universal. The cast follows: Walter Saxe, Charles Boyer, Ray Smith, Margaret Sullivan, Ed Porter, Richard Carlson, Richard Saxe, Frank McHugh, Felix Darren, Tim Holt, Samuel S. Hinds.

The hopeless, almost futile, love to be found in "Back Street" is the picture's distinguishing quality. It is so impressively developed that admiration for the artistic technique itself is almost enough to suspend any moral argument which might arise regarding the undercover relationship between Ray Smith and Walter Saxe.

The weighty decisions of the film are made by Ray Smith. It is her problem to determine whether she should form a liaison with a man she loves but is not able to marry. Deciding this matter with no great qualms of conscience, she is then faced with the prospect of living under a cloud for the rest of her life.

To me it seems that Ray Smith is throwing away her best opportunities for a love that could never be fully realized. As a result, I did not receive the satisfaction usually to be gotten from a picture that adds to the standards we live by rather than taking something away.

Regardless of any criticism as to the ethics involved, "Back Street" has been produced and directed on a much higher plane than the average film. Margaret Sullivan is perhaps a little more outstanding in her role than Charles Boyer, but the acting of both merits the attention of every movie-goer.

Drama Critic Brown To Speak at Varsity

John Mason Brown, widely quoted drama critic of the New York Post, who will speak in Austin February 21 on the Broadway theater of the past few seasons, will appear at the Varsity Theater at 4:30 o'clock instead of at Hogg Auditorium as previously scheduled. He will come directly from New York to Austin, where his address will be sponsored by the Curtain Club and the Department of Drama of the University. General admission will be $1; students and faculty, 50 cents.

'Here Comes Navy' Good for Recruiting

"HERE COMES THE NAVY." At the Queen. From a story by Ben Markson. Screen play by Ben Markson and Earl Baldwin. Photographed by Arthur Edson. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Released by Warner Brothers. The cast follows: Cheery, James Cagney, Biff, Pat O'Brien, Dorothy, Gloria Stuart, Droopy, Frank McHugh, Commander Denny, Robert Barrat.

"Here Comes the Navy" is a timely morality play. Grand, gold-braided Commander Denny gives the moral: "There's one thing no one can do—and that's whip the Navy!"

Back in 1934, when the film was first released, it started a series of pictures about a feud between James Cagney and Pat O'Brien. For eighty-six minutes they push one another's noses, maul heads, steal girls. They scrap mostly about a sartorial anachronism, Gloria Stuart.

When Gloria is piped over the side, complete with a hat that looks like a football helmet, a daring dress which sweeps her toenails, and a '34 hair-do, it is humorous indeed.

Best in the picture is a song "simple as a hit tune, deep as our valleys." Over a newsreel-like background of ships in battle line, big guns booming, and maneuvering fleets are heard time and again the stirring halcyon rhythms of "Anchors Aweigh." It is fine for the recruiting office, and for the soul. In fact, "Here Comes the Navy" has about everything the Navy Department could want, except maybe a two-ocean fleet.

Good shot: Cracked-voice Maude Eburne singing "Oh Promise Me," reading from verses tattooed front and back of droopy, bumbling Frank McHugh.

—ELGIN WILLIAMS.

Show the Yanks; Buy Tickets to Ex's Party

BY JEANNE DOUGLAS

Now, by dialing a phone number and spending 50 cents, students of the University have a chance to prove their loyalty to an ex-student who badly needs their help and an opportunity to show these Yankees that Southern kindness is not dead.

For Prentice David Hill, who was one of the first three to be graduated from the College of Fine Arts in 1940, lies in a cast in a New York hospital and must lie there for the next two months.

To help defray his expenses, a group of New Yorkers will give a cocktail party next Friday on the stage of the Cort Theater. To this party, the Department of Drama is selling subscriptions, without attendance.

Friends, acquaintances, and any generous student may buy a subscription by calling the Department of Drama, 218 (campus line) or going to the office in the Modern Language Building 208.

Hill, a scenic designer, had designed sets for the Curtain Club for several years before going to New York. Hill, with John Young and Pat O'Keefe, was the first student ever to be graduated from the College of Fine Arts.

"If New Yorkers, who have known Prentice for only seven months, are doing this for him, cannot we Texans, who have known him for nearly seven years, do as much by buying absentee subscriptions to the party?" asks Mrs. Cleora Rorhough, of the Department of Drama.

The subscription card reads, "Inasmuch as you will probably have cocktails this evening anyway, why not have a drink in a good cause? The proceeds from this party will help to defray the expenses of a young scenic designer who must lie in a hospital for the next two months."

Coming Visitors From Denton

Lab Theater to Try Three Class Plays

With the success of "Mañana Is Another Day," the Experimental Theater changed production plans to give three one act plays written by students in Dr. E. P. Conkle playwrighting class. The plays are E. P. Conkle's "Gold Is Not Where You Find It," Edward Rorhough's "Viva Chihuahua," and Sally Quinn's "This Is the Way a World Ends," and will be given February 18.

The success of Dr. Conkle's class has already been proven by "Mañana" which was presented here by the Curtain Club, and by the Pasadena Playhouse in California. Rorhough and Sally Quinn were both members of his classes also.

Dr. Conkle's works are not new to the campus since "Johnny Appleseed" was presented by the Curtain Club last year. Two of his plays were presented on Broadway in 1937, "200 Were Chosen," and "Prologue to Glory," which was chosen by Burns Mantale as one of the ten best plays in 1937-38. The first play was given at the Forty-Eighth Street Theater in New York City, and later was given at the Maxine Elliot Theater in New York City.

"Gold Is Where You Don't Find It" is written with apologies to J. Frank Dobie, and concerns a prospector who has been looking for gold many a year. After finally discovering some, he is persuaded by his donkey not to take the money because they will be separated.

Edward Rorhough who wrote "Viva Chihuahua" is now a member of the intelligence staff of the Kent Regiment at London, Ontario, Canada. The play is about a Mexican general who pictures himself as a second Villa, and goes about the country killing and

Humans As They Really Are—A Courageous Author—Joyce

BY JACK ADKINS

The comparatively well-read person was shocked a few weeks ago when he learned of the death of James Joyce, near-blind, refugee author of such famed books as "Ulysses," and "Finnegans Wake."

Newspapers gave only small play to the death of the author. In stories played up, the stress was put on "Ulysses," which caused something of an international furor when it first appeared in 1926.

It required a court decision in the United States to allow the book to be distributed, and even then moral groups and churches were violently against it, claiming that it was obscene and indecent.

An acquaintance once described James Joyce's works as a symphony with various themes coming in throughout the work. Probably the greatest question brought up about Joyce is his abandonment of periods, and other marks of punctuation.

Many of the biting attacks on Joyce sprang from moralists who were against his great frankness in dealing with sex, in all forms and fashions, Paul Rosenfield, commenting on "Ulysses," in his book, "Men Seen," hails Joyce as a pioneer in exposing the human as he really was.

Joyce's works, like most complicated things, requires knowledge for appreciation. The lay reader invariably requires some advanced knowledge of what the author is intending to do, to be able to understand and appreciate Joyce's efforts.

The value and significance of Joyce is, at the present, somewhat nebulous. Generally he is looked on with awe, as a "deep" writer, many appreciate him very much; most none at all. Truly, time bears the answer to all things. We'll know in fifty years. Perhaps it should be said of him as Longfellow said of the shoemaker-poet, Hans Sachs:

"Emigratis is the inscription on the tombstone where he lies;

He is not dead, just departed, for the artist never dies."

We wish to offer our earnest congratulations to Art Kramer for the fine show he put on in the 1941 presentation of "Time Stagers On." The shows are improving greatly each year, and it is our hope that sometime they will come to the point where they receive national recognition, and are taken on tours, such as the Mask and Wig shows at the University of Pennsylvania are.

plundering in the name of Mexico. The main action of the play is centered about the killing of some Americans who he thinks are enemies.

The last play written by Sally Quinn, also a member of Conkle's class, is entitled "This Is the Way a World Ends." The author is in the School of Education, and has had experience in the Curtain Club. The play tells of the reactions of different types of people who experience an air raid together.

New Choir Seeks Wide Recognition

Today's Debut Ends Fall Term's Work

Fifty singers under the direction of Dr. Archie Jones, professor of music education, will take the stage of Hogg Auditorium Sunday afternoon in the debut performance of the youngest musical organization on the campus, the University A Cappella Choir. The concert will mark the culmination of a semester-long rehearsal period.

The A Cappella Choir is sponsored by the College of Fine Arts and was organized to give the campus a group that would ultimately be among the top choirs in the nation. Dr. Jones came to Texas after acquiring a wide reputation as a choral director at the University of Minnesota and the University of Idaho. Bernard Fitzgerald, assistant professor of music education, has acted as associate director.

Officers of the group are Milton Page, president; Helen Crowell, vice-president; Margaret Martin, secretary-treasurer; William Matthews, business manager; and Miss Charlotte DuBois, accompanist.

Membership is composed of both fine arts majors and students selected from other divisions.

Dr. Jones is enthusiastic about possibilities for such a choir in Texas and believes that talent and interest in music in this state is
