MYRON G. BLALOCK WITHDRAWS FROM PRESIDENT'S RACE

Action Came as Distinct Surprise.
Caused by Desire to Prevent Strife in Ranks of the Party.

Myron G. Blalock, whose name has been prominently mentioned in connection with the Barb party as a candidate for president of the Students' Association, yesterday withdrew from the race. His withdrawal came as a distinct surprise to a large number of the Barbs who were active in their advocacy of his campaign. Mr. Blalock, a representative in the legislature, received his B. A. degree last year, and is now in the Law Department. When seen last night, he issued the following statement:

"With great reluctance and in violation of my personal desire, I yielded some days past to my friends in their insistent demand that I permit my name to be presented to the Barbarian Convention for nomination for president of the Students' Association. At that time I was led to believe that such nomination might serve to unite such factions as may exist among the Barbs, but I now find an element which favors the nomination of another man, and after careful consideration I have come to the conclusion that it would not be best for the Barb party nor for the University for this contest to be pushed to its ultimate conclusion.

"Unpleasantness and personal and other prejudices, which unfortunately would become more and more intense in this particular race, would permanently divide the Barbs, bring the party into disfavor and weaken it for the future work it has to do. Again, since the date of the nominating convention has been set up to May 5th, the Legislature would be upon the grounds and we would be endangering the appropriations for the University during the next two years.

"To my mind it is the duty of every student to give first consideration in such matters to the welfare of the University, and the duty of every good Barb to place the interest of the party above his personal passions and prejudices. It was with these thoughts foremost in my mind that I concluded to discontinue the race."

AGGIES BREAK UP WINNING STREAK

Varsity Drops Two Games to A. & M.
After Winning Twelve Straight.
Hitting is Light.

Texas broke its winning streak of twelve straight games Wednesday when the A. & M. team made a clean sweep of the series by taking both games, 4 to 3, and 4 to 0.

Inability to hit the Aggie pitchers was the chief cause of the defeats, as Texas made only 3 hits in the first game and but one in Thursday's contest. Edmond, Monning and Hooper each got singles in the first game, and in the second, Gambrell poled the only hit for the Longhorns.

The games were featured by ragged fielding on both sides, each team making 7 errors in the two games.

The Longhorns were scheduled to play Baylor at Waco Friday.

IMPROVEMENTS IN GYM.

The finishing touches in the new drying room in the men's gymnasium is completed. The big Westinghouse motor has been installed, and workmen yesterday were connecting the belts, the last part of the work. The drying room is the most complete of its kind in the South, and is the gift of Luther Stark of Orange.

BURGLARS CHOKE TERRIFIED CO-ED

Attempt to Burglarize Pi Phi House
Made Early Yesterday Morning by Two Men.

Another attempted burglary occurred at the Pi Phi sorority house about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when two men broke in and attempted to loot the house. One of the girls, who was alone in her room, started to scream when the men entered. Immediately the men seized her and tried to choke her, but by this time the other girls in the house had been aroused, and the chorus of screams which ensued apparently frightened the would-be burglars, for they released their grip upon the throat of the terrified girl, and fled from the house.

The police were immediately notified, and three officers responded to the call, but although they searched the premises thoroughly, they were unable to find any clue as to the identity of the burglars.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM AT BARB CAUCUS

Over Two Hundred Present at Meeting—Convention Date Set and Chairman Elected.

The largest crowd that ever attended a Barb caucus assembled Wednesday night at the first Barb caucus of the year 1915. According to old-timers in the party, more pep was shown and a larger crowd was present than at any caucus since the beginning of the Barb-Frat fight in the University of Texas. The caucus this year was nearly as large as the convention of last year, over 200 being present.

The date of the convention was set at May 5, on account of May 3 conflicting with other student activities scheduled for that night. Sam Holliday, senior academ, was elected temporary chairman of the Barb party. The permanent chairman will be selected by the convention, and the executive committee chosen.

Plans for the convention were discussed, and talks of a general nature were made.

PRIZE IS OFFERED.

Seniors Are Given Opportunity to Secure Valuable Award for High Scholarship.

The following letter was received by the Secretary of the Law Department from the American Law Book Company of New York:

"In order to encourage, as well as to reward, a high standard of scholarship, we have decided to place in the hands of your faculty a complete set of Cyc with its annual annotations to date to be given as a prize to the student who, in accordance with the established standards and requirements of your school, shall take the highest scholarship honor for the period of his senior year, the detail and exact method of award to be left exclusive to your faculty for determination. The only condition we make is that the prize shall be awarded for scholarship."

As soon as the matter can be worked over the conditions and details to be considered in connection with the awarding of this prize will be announced.

Among those who will be in San Antonio this week end are: Misses Mary Sutton, Cornelia Keasbey, Laura Johns, Jeanette Haglestein, Annabelle Hilgartner, Stella Smith, Ruth Wilson, Frances McQueen and Messrs. Duval West, Russell Scott, Lucien Wright, Buford Jester, and Hal Halbert.

SAN ANTONIO TRIP SPOILED BY RAIN

Trains Could Not Be Run—Number of Students Intended Taking the Trip.

Approximately a hundred and fifty students gathered at the I. & G. N. depot Friday morning ready to board the special train for San Antonio, despite the terrific storm of Thursday night, and the downpour which continued throughout Friday morning. Late Thursday night persistent rumors were abroad that the railroad tracks were torn up and it would be impossible to get a train through to San Antonio for forty-eight hours. Numbers of students were to be seen about the depot Thursday night inquiring about the condition of the trains and the possibility of getting to San Antonio. The railroad officials could give out nothing definite, however, because the wires were down and they were unable to get into communication with San Antonio and intermediate points.

Friday morning the railroad officials were able to say that it would be impossible to get a train through to San Antonio, and promptly refunded the money to those who had previously bought tickets. A large number of co-eds were on hand, and apparently eager to take the trip, as evidenced by the disappointed looks, when they were informed that there was no possibility of getting a train through to San Antonio.

A number of students left Thursday evening, and those will be unable to get back until traffic is resumed on the railroads. Tracks had been torn up and bridges destroyed at many points south of Austin, and it was learned that it would probably take forty-eight hours to put the tracks in condition provided the rains stopped.

CONCERT TO BE REPEATED MONDAY BY SAENGERRUNDE

Proceeds Are to Be Donated to Flood Sufferers of Austin—Cast is Rehearsing for Monday
Night's Performance

Flood sufferers in Austin will receive the entire proceeds of a concert to be presented by the Austin Saengerrunde Monday night in the University auditorium. Dr. E. P. Schoch, Walter Wupperman, and Herman Bohn have been appointed as a committee to take charge of the proceeds which will be turned over to Mayor A. P. Wooldridge, who will distribute the funds among the sufferers.

The concert was presented Thursday night in the auditorium, and was a decided success. The cast have instituted rehearsals again, and the concert promises to be even better than the original one. All those in the concert are giving their services gratis, and are personally doing all they can to make the concert a success financially. Although a large number in and about the University say the Thursday night performance, it is thought the people of Austin as well as the University students will turn out in good round numbers, since the proceeds are to go to a cause which interests every resident of Austin.

The price of admission to the Monday night concert will be one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children.

FANS IN "CAF."

For the past several days warm weather preparations have been made at the Cafeteria. Carpenters have erected a shed at the entrance of the building, and a fan has been placed there. Three new fans have been placed in the dining room, and other extensive improvements are under way.

SAN MARCOS HIGH WINS.

Preliminary Debate for High School
Meet Held Yesterday.

Sam Marcos High School was the winner in the debates held here yesterday; these debates were preliminaries to the high school meet at A. & M. between various high schools of the state. The schools entered in this preliminary, Waco, Austin, and San Antonio.

The subject was: "Resolved, That a compulsory illiteracy test along the lines of the Burnett-Dillingham bill should adopted for all immigrants coming into the United States." The debates were very spirited and all of the teams showed up well, especially those from Austin, Waco and San Marcos.

RUMOR REGARDING TEACHERS DENIED

Dr. Eby Chairman Teachers Committee Denies that Five Per Cent
Commission Charged.

Refuting a rumor which has been going the rounds of the University, Dr. Frederick Eby, chairman on the committee of Teachers has given out the following statement:

"Persistent rumors have come to the office of the Committee on Teachers to the effect that the committee is charging five per cent commission of those students whom it locates. The committee desires to be emphatic in the denial of such statements. The only charges by the committee under any conditions whatsoever, are the charge of a fee of one dollar and the expense of long distance telephone messages or telegrams in case the committee decides it is for the candidate's best interest to phone or wire him or for him. The committee is a committee of the faculty and the excuse for its existence is the service it can render to the schools and to University students and experienced teachers in securing them positions to teach.

"There are many teachers' agencies in Texas and in other states, and since they are private institutions they naturally desire some remuneration for their services. The most usual charge is a registration fee of three dollars and five or ten per cent of the first year's salary. The Committee on Teachers of the University does not desire to compete in any way, nor does it desire to be of any expense to those upon its list. It is co-operative, giving willingly its services to those upon its lists, requesting co-operation from those whom it seeks to benefit.

"Another statement which the committee wishes to make is this: That it often recommends the same student to several vacancies within a short period of time. It is not necessary for a student to hear from one place before they can be recommended for another.

"We earnestly request of those who are on our list or who may be contemplating placing their names with us, that they inquire of us concerning the truth of any unusual statement, such as we have attempted above to refute. It is the committee's sole desire to give the most efficient service."

Misses Julian Hoard, Rubye Jane Knight, Annie English, and Agnes Doran will be in College Station this week to attend the Ross Volunteer dance and other class dances.

COMPANION WINS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Searchers Work All Day and Far
Into the Night—Dragging Bee Creek.

George Whittington of Houston, a senior in the Academic Department is believed to have been caught and drowned when he and Ed Price, a fraternity brother, were compelled by fast rising water to plunge from a cave, in which they were spending the night, into a dangerous torrent which swept down Bee Creek into Lake Austin night before last.

A party of friends searched all day yesterday and last night in the vicinity of the cave and creek. The creek was systematically dragged by men in boats with large hooks and lines from the cave to the Lake, a distance of several hundred yards, without success.

Ed Price, with whom George Whittington went at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon to the creek on a fishing and outing expedition, reached town at nine o'clock yesterday morning after spending a harrowing night. His body was badly bruised all over, and he was nearly exhausted.

Price says that he and his companion with their lunch and blankets entered the cave in the steep bank of Bee Creek Thursday evening. They built a fire and ate supper. When talking they were suddenly alarmed by the mad rush of the waters about 11 o'clock. In the darkness they could tell that the water was entering the cave, and they endeavored to seek safety by climbing the bank into which the small cave, a veritable death trap, opened. Their efforts, however, proved futile, the bank rising precipitously probably two hundred feet. Spurred by absolute necessity they turned then to the raging avalanche. Price slipped as he felt his way into the water, and was submerged. When he came to the top he cried to George, but was unanswered, and probably unheard, so loud was the roar of the water. He was dashed against the huge rocks in the narrow channel, but with unusual skill in swimming, was able to reach the opposite bank, a gradual slope. Whittington, being a less skillful swimmer, was undoubtedly hurled by the terrific force of the water against the boulders, stunned and drowned.

Ed Price after escaping from the stream, searched a long time for Whittington, and finally exhausted and helpless, trudged in the dark to a shanty west of the dam occupied by an old Confederate soldier named Gotier. There he was taken in and kept until morning.

Yesterday morning, the searching party found a can opener, a newspaper dated April 20, and blankets in the cave, and could smell away back in the cave the smoke of the fire. Elmo Omera, while dragging in the creek yesterday afternoon, brought to the surface Ed Price's coat, which had been swept at least two hundred yards.

The work of dragging the river was slow because of the heavy layer of debris on top of the water, the hooks being caught in this frequently. Diving was impossible.

Whittington's fraternity brothers, together with a number of others worked all day and last night at the creek. Among them was Arthur Uhl, his roommate and close friend. Ed Price worked with the party last

THE PROFESSIONAL RAINBOW.

The following is taken from the Chicago University Maroon, would their comment hold true for this institution?

The last issue of The New Republic contains some interesting remarks on the professional lowbrow. As in other walks of life, this species makes its appearance at our universities, and it is particularly noticeable here because it is a species exactly contrary to our professed sin. Some of the remarks bear repetition:

"Let him enjoy 'Tristan' with the other highbrows, or reflect upon the quality of his own soul, and before long he will be wearing a wrist-watch, spats, and a monocle, gazing intently upon blue china and carrying lilies as he strolls down Piccadilly. His humor is too biting for such a calamity. . . . He is afraid of a number of things; afraid to be distinctive and, therefore, lonely; afraid, above all, of his appreciations.

"There is no disgrace in ignorance and vulgarity, but the cult of them is surely the most absurd of all the modern cults. . . . We try new religions, dance madly for a season or two, watch baseball instead of playing it, expect the rich to furnish us with intrigue and excitement, study the human anatomy at the Winter Garden, clutter shops and devastate industry by the most fickle and expensive fashions. Upon this quality of our lives the deliberate lowbrow makes his stand. This helter-skelter he mistakes for humanity and democracy, good red blood and being a regular fellow. He imagines that the overtones of Broadway, the tingle of the lobster press, are the genuine life of humanity."

Four students here are proving that it costs only ten cents a day to go through college. They pay only sixty cents a week for their room and do their own washing and cooking. "Fifteen cents will buy a soup bone and vegetables for a week," said one of them.—Ohio Daily Lantern.

DELEGATES TO BE ENTERTAINED HERE

Campaign to Raise Fund for Entertainment of Preparatory Students Started.

According to Mr. Rinson, who has charge of the Interscholastic meet to be held on Clark Field next month, preparations for the entertainment of the delegates are taking a substantial aspect. Work is now being done to raise the required amount of money that will be needed by the committee on entertainment.

In regard to this fund Mr. Robinson said:

"The campaign has started to raise $800 as an entertainment fund for the delegates and contestants that will attend the Interscholastic meet at the University May 7-8 next. The annual Interscholastic meet is one affair which heretofore has been inadequately supported from the standpoint of entertainment and accommodations for the hundreds of high school boys from every part of Texas. These boys receive their impression of the University from the way they are treated during their two days' stay at the annual meet. If this impression is favorable Varsity will receive the benefit in years to come by getting a large percentage of these best athletes and champion debaters from the strongest schools of Texas. If the impression is unfavorable the boys will go elsewhere and Varsity will suffer. Now it is up to the student body, the faculty and also the business men of Austin to look after the entertainment of the contestants and delegates. What are we going to do about it? Last year between $400 and $500 were raised by contributions on the part of students, business men and members of the faculty. That was not more than half what we needed last year in order to handle the meet properly. It is, therefore, absolutely necessary that we raise $800 within the next two weeks if the meet to be held here May 7-8 is to be a success. A campaign as was said above has been started, to give every student, every member of the faculty and every other person in Austin an opportunity to contribute to this fund. Committees are now at work and every one is urged to do what he can so that the burden will not fall upon a few. A list of the contributors will be published in the Daily Texan each day divided into three classes, students, faculty, and business men. In this way it will be seen how the fund grows from day to day."

"In addition to contributing to the entertainment fund any one able to furnish board or lodging, or both, to one or more contestant during the two days of the meet should report the fact to the chairman of the committee.

COMPLAINT COMES FROM LIBRARIAN

J. E. Goodwin Says Students Marking and Clipping Magazines and Papers Unlawfully.

Reports from the library indicate that some students have been mutilating, and clipping magazines. Speaking of the matter Mr. J. E. Goodwin, librarian, says:

There are some users of the library who do not hesitate to clip from our magazines and newspapers such portions as seem to meet their special need. The result is that we have many bound volumes of magazines that are badly mutilated, and it is not at all uncommon for us to find current numbers with illustrations, paragraphs, single pages, or whole articles cut or torn away. The marking of books and magazines with pen or pencil is an offense second only in degree to the cutting and tearing of pages.

The student who does this kind of work violates one of the laws of the state of Texas. He is also guilty of a selfish and cowardly act which he could scarcely attempt to defend were he accused and convicted.

Let us get a proper perspective of our personal relation to these books and magazines. They do not belong to the librarian nor his assistants; nor do they belong to the president of the University nor the faculty; and the Board of Regents would hardly claim them as their possession. On the other hand, they are certainly not the property of the present student body. They are the property of the state of Texas. A large part of the books and magazines in the library have been collected and conserved by our predecessors for the use of the present college generation. Will not the present generation of students recognize their responsibility for conveying intact to the next generation the books and magazines which they now have the privilege of using.

This is not an appeal to your neighbor: it is an appeal to you.

1911 CLAS TO CONVEVE.

The law class of 1911 has announced its intention of meeting again during commencement on the campus. It has been their custom since graduation to meet every year, erecting a tent on the campus for their housing. Last year they were forced to rent a tent which, proved very uncomfortable. In the letter from the class secretary was asked that this accident should not be allowed to happen again.

"REPS" ON CLARK FIELD.

Leaguers will occupy the lime light tomorrow when the Austin "Reps" cross bats with the "Governors" of Temple on Clark Field, in a double header commencing at 3:30 p. m. In the absence of the Longhorns the Athletic authorities extended the courtesy of permission to play on Clark Field to the "Reps," whose grounds have been temporarily put out of commission by the heavy rains. An admission price of 25 cents will be charged.

PICTURES IN ALCALDE.

In the next Alcalde a page will be devoted to pictures of sons of the University alumni, who are named after their fathers, and a page or more in each number to follow will be devoted to the same feature.

"In the recent review of the Alcalde," said Mr. John Lomax, "the complaint was made that the magazine was lacking in striking features. This page full of youngsters ought to be soul satisfying." He pulled a half dozen pictures out of his drawer and displayed them. He felt sure that they were an interesting set of boys, and that the rest of them that were coming in would be equally attractive.

VARSITY TO ENTERTAINMENT.

Invitation Extended Texas By Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

An invitation has been received by the Athletic Council asking the University to enter teams in the tennis meet of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association to be held in New Orleans at an early date. This matter will be acted on in the near future by the Athletic Council and it is thought very probable that Texas will participate in the meet. It is also very probable that Texas will enter a team in the track meet of this association, but nothing definite has as yet been done about this matter.

SEARCH PARTY FAILS TO FIND WHITTINGTON

night, despite his painful bruises. Dr. H. T. Parlin was with the party all afternoon. Superintendent Read of the Carmichael Company, constructors of the dam, a member of Whittington's fraternity, directed the work of the party at night. A huge bon fire on the bank lighted the workers last night. The stream late yesterday afternoon and night, which the night before had been a wild cataract, was calm, hardly a ripple stirring the water, save when an oarsman forced his boat forward.

The water as it passes the cave, roars along over the huge rocks, rolling off of falls here and there, resembling a mountain stream. Within two hundred yards it turns at right angle, and runs with only a slight turn about four hundred yards to the Lake. The bank opposite the cave stretches gradually from a great height to the bed of the stream, affording an expansive water shed. The scenery surrounding the cave is beautiful, and the spot ideal for an outing.

George Whittington was a very likable fellow, having a large number of friends in school. He would have taken his bachelor's degree in June at the end of his third year in University. During the past year he has been one of the most important and one of the most useful members of the Cactus staff. He was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He will be remembered as a man of medium height and good build. He was about twenty years old.

Mr. Whittington's father is vice president and general manager of the International and Great Northern railroad.

It was reported late last night that a special I. & G. N. train has been made up and sent to Valley Junction to meet Mr. Whittington and bring him to Austin. He will probably reach the city this morning.
