

Hanna to Speak On History Of Salt Formations

Gulf Official Will Deliver Illustrated Lecture To Geologists

To Talk Friday

Lecturer Is Authority In Geological Work Cuyler Says

Through examination of the thousands of samples which came to him for identification and analysis, Dr. Marcus A. Hanna, head of the sub-surface division of the Gulf Production Company, has had opportunity to work out the nature and formation of salt domes on which he will lecture before the Southwestern Geological Society Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Geology Building auditorium.

In his lecture Dr. Hanna will summarize all pertinent information pertaining to the evolution of salt domes and will give a complete history regarding the theories of formation of these domes. He will also discuss the relationship of the domes to each other and to the type of sediments which surround them. Colored lantern slides will be used to illustrate the lecture.

"Dr. Hanna is considered an authority on the subject of salt domes and the sub-surface geology of the Gulf Coast area," Dr. Robert H. Cuyler, instructor in geology, said Wednesday. "In addition to studying Gulf Coast salt domes, Dr. Hanna has done research work all over the United States in regard to the domes," Dr. Cuyler added.

New officers of the Southwestern Geological Society will be elected after Dr. Hanna's lecture, and plans will be formulated for the annual spring picnic to be held May 12, Dr. Cuyler announced.

Dr. Hanna has written numerous articles on the subject of salt domes. His articles have appeared in the bulletin of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and the Journal of Paleontology. Dr. Hanna was one of the founders of the latter publication.

Plans have been made for a dinner to be given for Dr. Hanna by the staff of the department of geology in the University Commons Friday night. An invitation has been extended to him to accompany members of the staff on a field trip Friday afternoon.

Pittenger Receives New Dallas Office

Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the School of Education, has been placed in charge of the extension teaching center, recently established in Dallas by the University extension teaching bureau.

Weekly classes, held at the Dallas Technical High School, dealing with the organization and administration of the public school curriculum are taught by Dr. Pittenger in cooperation with Southern Methodist University.

Schedule for Final Exams Is Released by Registrar

Preliminary final examination schedule, with classes grouped according to the hour of the lecture periods, has been announced by E. J. Mathews, registrar. The usual detailed examination schedule, giving the date, time, and place of examinations, will be announced in May. Examinations will be held in the following order:

Saturday, May 26, at 9 o'clock: Group V (classes meeting MWF 10).

Saturday, May 26, at 2 o'clock: Group IV (classes meeting TTS 9).

Monday, May 28, at 9 o'clock: Group VI (classes meeting TTS 10).

Monday, May 28, at 2 o'clock: Group III (classes meeting MWF 9).

Tuesday, May 29, at 9 o'clock: Group X (classes meeting TTS 12).

Tuesday, May 29, at 2 o'clock: Group IX (classes meeting MWF 12).

Wednesday, May 30, at 9 o'clock: Group VII (classes meeting MWF 11).

Wednesday, May 30, at 2 o'clock: Groups XI and XIV (classes meeting MWF 2 and TTS 3).

Thursday, May 31, at 9 o'clock: Group VIII (classes meeting TTS 11).

Thursday, May 31, at 2 o'clock: Group I (classes meeting MWF 8).

Friday, June 1, at 9 o'clock: Group II (classes meeting TTS 8).

Friday, June 1, at 2 o'clock: Groups XII and XIII (classes meeting TTS 2 and MWF 3).

Mathews Gives New Locations Of Old Offices

Main Building Rooms Must Be Vacated by Latter Part of June

Classrooms and offices in Main Building will not be evacuated until early in June, E. J. Mathews, registrar, said in an interview Wednesday. Each of the departments now occupying offices in the building have been assigned their quota of offices in other available buildings over the campus.

It will be necessary for all of the professors, instructors, and tutors to move their offices as soon after the end of the long term as possible, Mr. Mathews stated, in order that the work of tearing down the building may be begun as soon as bids have been received and accepted. Occupation of these offices will be temporary, being used only while the Administration Building is under construction.

The department of Romance languages has assigned offices to each of the members of the department now occupying rooms in Main Building. The announcement made to the Registrar's office of assignments is as follows: In Home Economics Building—Miss Lilia Mary Casis, 123; Miss Katherine Wheatley, 107. In B. Hall—L. E. Dabney, 203; E. J. Villavaso, 205; (Continued on Page 5)

Physical Course Is Planned for Summer

Physical training for women will be offered on a voluntary basis this summer. Students and non-students may participate in this program by paying a fee of $3 per term.

Classes in swimming, tennis, archery, golf, and clog and tap dancing will be offered. There will also be a class of fundamentals and corectives.

Miss Anna Hiss, professor and director of physical training for women, will be in charge of the first term. Miss Leah J. Gregg, adjunct professor of physical training for women will teach. Miss Thelma Dillingham, instructor of physical training for women, will be in charge of the second term, and Miss Sheila O'Garra, instructor of physical training for women, will teach.

Technical Club To See Movies Friday

The Austin Technical Club will meet Friday night at 7 o'clock at the Driskill Hotel at which time dinner will be served. John A. Focht, president, announced Wednesday.

A program consisting of two moving picture films will be presented. One of the films is a sound picture on aviation, and the other is a silent film showing the construction of the Empire State Building from the laying of the foundation to the decorations of the inside hall.

Anyone desiring reservations may obtain them by notifying either J. A. Focht, professor of tax in calling BETH RYBURN Wednesday night for stop press advice on the Bluebonnet Bell situation.

Journalists Plan Benefit Matinee, Midnight Revue

'Secrets' Billed for Show By Theta Sigma Phi Friday Night

Two vaudeville numbers by Mabel Smith and Marjorie Owen will be presented as a part of the program preceding the midnight benefit show sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional journalism fraternity for women, Friday night, April 27, at the Texas Theater. Miss Smith will give a costume skit titled "My Mother Was a Lady" with guitar accompaniment. Several novelty dances will be given by Miss Owen.

Various other numbers which have not been completely decided upon will be given at this time. The vaudeville will start immediately after 11 o'clock. Grace McSpadden and Frances Mueller are in charge of the arrangements for the vaudeville.

STUDENTS TO GET WORK

Student janitors for the summer session are now being engaged, George Stephens, assistant to the Comptroller, said Wednesday. These students are employed part-time and do the same sort of work as the regular staff. Most of the places, Mr. Stephens said, will be taken by students now holding the jobs.

'Perip Parade' Presented In Auditorium Tonight

Inaugurating an innovation in student theatrical circles, "Perip Parade of 1934," a campus revue of words and music, will be presented tonight in Hogg Memorial Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock by the University Light Opera Company in conjunction with twenty-two Greek letter organizations. Tickets will be on sale Thursday morning in the rotunda of Main Building.

Five prizes will be awarded the winners. Two prizes will be awarded the men's and women's entries which in the opinion of the judges are the most humorous and the most artistic. One prize will be given the organization selling the most tickets to the revue.

Earl Toepferwein, Burdette Hancock, and Tom Currie will direct the revue. John Dubose, who served as master of ceremonies at the Junior League Walkathon, will officiate in the same capacity. Bill Erwin is executive manager of production. Orchestration is by Clara Stearns, choreography by Marjorie Owen.

Judges for the skits will be William L. McGill, manager of Texas Student Publications, Inc., Dr. L. W. Payne, professor of English, Dr. T. W. Currie, Miss Dorothy Gebauer, assistant dean of women, and Mrs. P. G. Chadwell.

Four numbers will be presented by the University Light Opera Company. David Stitt, Billy Logan, and Glenn Martin will burlesque grand opera in "Upstart Grand." Rudolf Biele will join Stitt, Logan, and Martin in singing "Lady of Spain." Marjorie

Terrill Returns From Three-Day Teacher Meeting

A. A. U. W. Holds Meeting April 19, 20, 21 In St. Louis

Ex-Student Speaks

Women of Texas, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma Attend

"How to adjust the graduates to community service and how to keep up their morale was emphasized in branch work," stated Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women, after returning from the bi-annual meeting of the Southwest Central Section of the American Association of University Women which met at St. Louis April 19, 20, and 21. The section was composed of representatives from Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Among the discussions of the educational crisis, Miss Terrill presented an address on "The Economic Outlook of Recent College Graduates and Its Effect on Their Morale." Reports of committees were made on memberships, fellowships, national relations, and educational projects. Miss Terrill thinks that the honorable mention which the Child Welfare of the Civic Committee of the Austin branch received on its work with the Children's Clinic at Brackenridge Hospital should be of interest to the people of Austin. This honor was one of the five given for the most outstanding achievements of the local branches.

At the Fellowship Dinner Miss Edna Rowe, ex-student of the University, reported a 100 per cent contribution by the 30 Texas branches toward the Helen Marr Kirby Fellowship Fund. Nine thousand dollars was collected toward the $40,000 goal of the Texas Unit, while the other sections reported $12,000 collected toward their common goal of $40,000.

Among the ex-students of the University who represented their city or school at the convention was Mrs. E. D. Pace from Wichita Falls, sister of H. D. Damon, adjunct professor of geology; Mrs. Georgia Dingus of Texas Tech; Dr. Evelyn Carrington of Sam Houston State Teachers College who received three degrees at the University; Miss Gladys Morgan of San Antonio; Dr. Marion Grant from Baylor College at Belton; Mrs. Clay McClelland of Waco.

STEVE GARDNER TO PLAY

Steve Gardner's orchestra will furnish music for the Little Campus semi-formal dance to be given in the main ball room of Texas Union Friday night from 9 to 12 o'clock. Charles Bintliff, chairman of the dance committee, announced Wednesday. Bids and invitations have been sent out, and all plans for the affair have been made. Chaperons for the dance will be Dean H. T. Parlin and Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Shirley.

Student Workers Resolve Protest If Money Late

Committee Takes Action To Assure Payroll Before June

Questions Delay

Questionnaire Adopted For Securing Data On Employment

The permanent investigating committee of the Working Students' Association of the University reported at the meeting held in Texas Union 309 last night that there was much conflicting testimony on the reasons for the delay in payment of C. W. A. checks. It was resolved after the report that the organization would send a committee of protest to the local C. W. A. headquarters if the next checks were not sent out by May 6. This action is being taken, the report said, in order to insure that the June checks will be paid before the students leave school.

The questionnaire prepared by the group to study employment conditions of students in the University and presented by Ted Dulan was unanimously adopted. Questions concerning wages, hours, place of employment, type of work done, and methods of obtaining the jobs were incorporated in the questionnaire. Students were asked to state any grievances that they might have. Another questionnaire prepared by Bryson Martin on food, health, and housing conditions, containing questions regarding costs of food, board and particularly gas, was adopted and will be incorporated in the other paper. This will be sent to approximately one thousand and one hundred students in the University.

Ted Dulan, chairman of the employment committee, announced that work was progressing on jobs for summer school students. Miss Margaret Peck of the Y. W. C. A. has announced that she will cooperate with the organization in securing jobs for the students.

Ten new members were added to the rolls of the organization. Another meeting will be held soon after the date for the checks to be distributed is announced.

Pittenger Opens Society Meeting

Mathews, Ayer, McCurdy, Eby, Penick Speak

Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the School of Education, will speak tonight on the program of the Association of Texas Colleges and the Texas Association of Junior Colleges which is meeting at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth April 26 to 28.

Friday morning, E. J. Mathews, registrar, will speak and his speech will be followed by that of Dr. Frederick Eby, professor of classical languages. Friday afternoon Dr. Fred C. Ayer, professor of educational administration, will address the group. Addresses will be made by other University representatives, including John A. McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, and Dr. D. A. Penick, professor of classical languages.

TO REVIEW STORIES

Two short stories, one by Bret Harte and another by O. Henry, will be reviewed by Mrs. W. F. Gidley at a meeting of the Study Club at 3:30 o'clock today. The social will be held at the home of Mrs. Florence Konz, 806 West Nineteenth Street.

Wife of Filling Station Manager Freed Kidnapped Ex-Student From Three Thugs

This is the story of the kidnapping of one C. M. Kella, Jr., ex-student of the University. His abductors by now know it's a bad idea to try to barter a pistol for gasoline.

Mr. Kella was kidnapped Monday night by three thugs who jumped into his coupe when he stopped for a red light at the north end of the Jennings Avenue underpass in Fort Worth. Made to drive out of town, he was imprisoned in the turtle-back of his car, there to remain for several hours while his abductors drove towards Winfield.

At Winfield the kidnappers stopped at a filling station, where one of them offered to trade a pistol for some gasoline. When Mrs. Dock McKee, wife of the station manager, heard some one beating on the turn-back of the coupe, she grew suspicious of the trade. She armed herself with a gun, went to the coupe, raised the back, found Kella cramped in the back seat.

Seeing the pistol in her hand, the kidnapper fled with his two companions. Officers called at the scene captured two of the men in a nearby field, and took them to Mount Pleasant for safe keeping. The third, reported heavily armed, was still at large yesterday.

Shortly after he was rescued Tuesday, Mr. Kella telephoned his

Sob Story Gets Changed Grade; Prof Is Baffled

There is no telling what a student will do, Dr. Roscoe Martin, associate professor of government who enjoys a good story even if it is a tall one, believes.

"Believe it or not," Dr. Martin said Tuesday in prefacing a lecture in municipal administration, "but a student did come to me and ask to have her grade on the last quiz lowered. She made a 'B' but wanted a 'C.' She declared that some of her friends had learned of her high mark, and as a result her reputation was ruined."

Dr. Martin lowered the grade.

Rotarians Hear Professor Speak On Government

Political Fight Is Predicted By Montgomery For Coming Year

"The United States is on the eve of the bitterest political fight since the Civil War with the consummation of the New Deal program. Whether this Anglo-Saxon civilization of ours can prevent it is the big question," Dr. Robert H. Montgomery, professor of economics at the University, declared in a talk before the Austin Rotary Club Tuesday.

The campaigners are now getting their artillery ready for the fray which is to break within the next four or five months, Dr. Montgomery said. He gave his analysis of the events that are now happening in Washington to support this prediction. He stated that the New Deal contemplates a wider distribution of wealth and income in the future and that this policy of the administration will be assailed by the financiers and the investment bankers, whose cause will suffer by reason of the revision in the distribution of wealth and income.

"A lot of financiers will be sorely affected by this New Deal program, and it remains to be seen if, contrary to history, they can take it without war, Germany, France, Russia, Italy, and other European nations were able to settle their difficulties without war," continued Dr. Montgomery.

Medical Society Will Hear Gutzeit on Drug Discovery

After many months of chemical research C. L. Gutzeit, instructor in organic chemistry, in collaboration with Dr. R. P. Thomas and Mrs. Ellen S. Quillin, has discovered and perfected a drug which is proving to be of great value to the medical world.

The newly discovered drug has aroused interest in medical associations, and the Bexar County Medical Association has invited Mr. Gutzeit to deliver a paper on the discovery. Mr. Gutzeit will go to San Antonio and address the meeting of the association tonight. The drug, which has not been

of a native Texas plant. Mrs. Quillin, who was at one time a botany instructor in the University, has been in charge of the botanical side of the research and experimental work. It is her duty to cultivate the plants, the name of which has not yet been revealed, and prepare them for Mr. Gutzeit, who then carries on his work in extraction and purification of the drug.

Dr. Thomas, an ex-student of the University, is a San Antonio doctor. He receives the refined drug from Mr. Gutzeit and applies it to all clinical tests. After a long period of scientific tests Dr. Thomas has found that the drug is a cure for diabetic gangrene, which until the time of this discovery has been virtually impossible to cure. In addition to this use it has been found in the treatment of many other chronic infections.

This discovery is valuable from a medical as well as a chemical point of view, because its effect is produced purely through a physiological reaction, Mr. Gutzeit said.

Convention to Be Held Under Direction Of State Education Department And University Group

Peek to Open First Activities

100 High Schools Submit Projects For Household Decoration, Art, And Costumes Exhibits

The State Department of Education, with the cooperation of the department of home economics of the University, under the direction of Miss Lillian Peek, state director of home economics, will open this morning the first day of the Texas Homemaking Rally.

The exhibits of household decorations, art, costumes, and home economics projects of the high schools taking part in the rally will be arranged in the east room on the mezzanine floor and the room in the Stephen F. Austin Hotel. Entries have been made from more than 100 high schools of Texas. The arrangements will be made Thursday morning at 8 o'clock under the direction of district supervisors.

At 9 o'clock the State meeting of the home economics clubs of the various high schools registered for the rally will be held with Margaret Bracater of Laredo High School, state chairman of Home Economics Clubs, presiding. Greetings to the high school representatives will be extended by Mrs. Noyes D. Smith, vice president of the State Board of Education. The welcome will be given by the Austin Home Economics Club representatives, and the response by Laredo High School club representatives. The report of club work in over twenty club districts in the State will be presented and discussed. The music for the program will be presented by the University Glee Club.

Mallory Presents Speakers

The speakers for the occasion will be presented by Bernice Mallory, coordinator of home economics in Austin public schools. Miss Lela A. Tomlinson, state chairman of the home economics clubs of Louisiana, will present an address entitled "Activities Stimulating the Growth of the Club and Its Members." Miss Lillian Peek, state director of home-making education of the State Department of Education, will speak on the subject, "Shall We Change Our Names?" The meeting will be brought to a close with "The Eyes of Texas" by the entire group.

The judging of household decoration and furnishings exhibits in the Austin and Driskill hotels and the Home Economics Building at the University will be begun this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The following judges from the University will participate: Bess Hefflin, professor of home economics; Elizabeth Tarpley, adjunct professor of home economics; Lucy Rathbone, adjunct professor of home economics; Margaret Quay Batjer, instructor, and Bernice Mallory, coordinator of home economics work in Austin public schools and the University High School.

Judges Announced

Judges from other colleges in the State are as follows: C. I. A., Clara Tucker, Doris Buchanan; North Texas State Teachers College, Ruth Lehman; Texas Tech, Vivian Johnson and Mabel Ervin; Southwest Texas State Teachers College, Cora Lay and one other; Stephen F. Porter Praises Graduate Work

Former Students Now Hold Position in East

"I doubt if the record of the Graduate School of the University of Texas has been surpassed by any other graduate school in the country, considering the short time in which the school has operated," Dr. M. B. Porter, professor of pure mathematics, said recently in discussing the function and importance of graduate instruction as carried on by the universities and colleges throughout the United States.

As evidence of the far-reaching influence of the Graduate School of the University, he called attention to some of its doctors of philosophy now holding professional positions in Johns Hopkins, University of Michigan, University of California, Duke University, and Buffalo University. There are others, he said, holding instructional positions at Harvard, Yale, Chicago, and Northwestern University. On the staff of our Graduate School, he continued, are two members of the National Academy, these constituting about half of the scholars so honored south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Dr. Porter said that the installation of the McDonald Observatory by the University would increase the importance of the graduate work here. "President H. Y. Benedict's happy solution to the problem of the McDonald Observatory will give Texas one of the great observatories of the world, directed by one of America's foremost astronomers. In a few years its work will attract world-wide attention," Dr. Porter said in commenting on the establishment of the observatory.

Benedict to Attend Texas Science Meet

President H. Y. Benedict will be among the representatives from The University of Texas who will attend and participate in the meeting of the three scientific societies of Texas beginning April 27 and lasting through May 2.

Dr. Benedict will accompany F. B. Plummer, professor of petroleum engineering, J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology, Dr. F. H. Sellards, professor of geology, Dr. F. M. Bullard, associate professor of geology and mineralogy, to the Texas Academy of Science meeting at Brownwood Friday and Saturday.

FRED GARDNER TO PLAY

Fred Gardner and his orchestra will play for the All-University Dance Saturday night. This will be the second dance that he has played for this year. Charles Zivley, manager of Texas Union, said Wednesday. Three more dances are scheduled for the year. They will be held May 5, May 12, and May 19. The dance committee has not decided upon the orchestra that will play for these last dances.

Longhorns Beat Lockhart Nine, 3-0, in Exhibition Tilt

Sports On Parade

The success of Leo Brady and Carl Smalley as a doubles combination has just about made definite the No. 3 and No. 4 positions on Dr. Penick's varsity net squad. The two Texas youngsters were paired together for the first time in the Houston invitational tournament, and staged a major upset to defeat Karl Kamrath and Sterling Williams, finalists in the 1933 national intercollegiate tournament, in the quarterfinal round.

Following this victory Dr. Penick placed Brady at No. 3 and Smalley at No. 4 on the four-man squad that met Rice, S. M. U., and Oklahoma in rapid-fire order, and both delivered with impressive singles victories without the loss of a single set and continued to play excellent doubles games.

The experiment followed the poor showing of Gordon Pease in the dual meet with Tulane. The San Antonio sophomore was holding the No. 3 berth, but lost his singles match to Charley Hume of the Greenies 6-3, 9-7 and then teamed with Brady to lose to Hospel and Hume in the No. 2 doubles match.

Both Brady, who formerly held the State interscholastic singles and doubles championships, and Smalley, who last summer captured the State municipal singles crown, are hard-hitters. The former, although of slight stature, has a terrific service—one of the hardest in intercollegiate tennis, and backs his delivery up with a smashing offensive style of play. Smalley is little behind Brady in speed and power.

Either of the two might even become a member of Texas' ranking doubles combination, for it is no secret that "the Good Gray Doctor" is not at all pleased with the play of Captain Buxby on the No. 1 pair. Buxby, although a great singles player, a marvelous competitor, and a cool performer, is the weaker of the Buxby-Weltens combination. The Longhorn captain, for one thing, does not possess a powerful overhead, one of the most essential of strokes in doubles play, and at times, for another, displays a tendency to be erratic at the net.

Weltens, a junior, bids fair to be one of the best doubles players in the collegiate world.

Another feature of this season's squad is the failure of any member of the 1933 freshman team to make a serious threat for a varsity position. Jack Taylor and George Dennis, two of the ranking luminaries on last year's frosh line-up, are finding themselves hard-put to stay in the first twelve, as Dick West, Alex Pope, C. M. Cain, and Bruce Baxter, squadmen last year, are displaying improved games to retain the lower positions on the varsity ladder.

Baxter is ranked No. 6, just below Gordon Pease, while Pope, West, Cain, Taylor, Dennis, Baker, Nelson, Walker, Loney, and Rogers follow in the order named.

Illness has kept Paschall Walshall, State high school champion last year, from taking much part in the activities of the frosh squad this spring. "Bub" has not been able all year to defeat George Dullig, San Antonio, for the No. 1 position and was kept off the courts several weeks by an attack of influenza. Dullig incidentally won the junior championship at the Houston tourney.

The University of Texas tennis squad will meet Rice Saturday, April 28, in Houston; and Texas Christian University in Austin, May 5, Dr. D. A. Penick, tennis coach, said Wednesday. These games will be played preparatory to the conference meet to be held in Waco May 10, 11, 12, he said.

STUDENTS GIVE BLOOD

Charles Langford and Robert Gardner, University students, gave blood transfusions Friday and Saturday to Mrs. Gordon Worley of Austin, who is ill at Brackenridge Hospital. Mrs. Worley is the mother of Kathleen and Gordon Worley, students in the University, and Willie Dee Worley, a former student of the University.

Branch Earns Win With Excellent Hurling

Ankenman Gets Five Hits in Five Trips

More than 500 fans who turned out for the opening game of the Lockhart home season saw young Norman Branch, sophomore moundsman, hurl the Texas Longhorn baseball team to a 3-0 victory over their independent club.

Pat Ankenman, with five hits for a perfect day at the bat, led the Longhorn attack, but it was Clyde McDowell, Steer second baseman, who won the ball game for the Dischmen. With Ankenman and Sikes on base and two men down, McDowell doubled with a long drive to center field. Ankenman and Sikes scored standing up. Viebig beat out a short hit which Pinckney, Lockhart second baseman, muffed, allowing McDowell to score the concluding run.

Agricola, the independent pitcher, kept the Longhorns mystified with his underhand curves and drops. Lockhart's moundsman managed to keep the blows so scattered that the Dischmen were not able to score until the seventh inning.

In the field the Longhorns played errorless ball handling all their chances perfectly. Ankenman brought the crowd to its feet when he made a circus catch on the end of his glove of what seemed a sure Texas Leaguer, and started a double play which ended the only Lockhart threat of the contest in the sixth stanza when the Independents loaded the bases and had only one out chalked against them.

Spot Falk, former big leaguer, who went straight to the big show from Austin High School and who is the brother of Bib Falk, one of the greatest players Coach Disch ever developed, played center field for the Independents.

Warning Sounded To Mural Swim Entrants

Entries in the annual swimming meet close today, and the meet will be held on Tuesday, May 6. Swimming is the next to the last sport on the intramural calendar and a record entry is expected in all events. The B's won the University championship last year with a team composed of Lanier, Bowling, Warren, Saxon, and Mallett. The Dekes won the fraternity championship, while Pharmacy and Little Campus won their respective divisions.

A team may enter as many men as it desires in each event except the relays. An individual is limited to entering three events. The team winning the championship in each division will receive 75 victory points.

The events which are included in the meet are as follows: medley relay, 300-foot free style, 100-foot breast stroke, 100-foot free style, 100-foot back stroke, 400-foot free style relay, and 10-foot springboard dive. Intramural champions will receive medals in each event, and will be determined by the best time.

HEFLIN TO LEAVE

Miss Bess Heflin, professor of home economics in the University, will leave Sunday for Memphis, Tenn., to attend the annual southern regional conference of state supervisors and teacher trainers in vocational home economics and agriculture. This meeting is called each year by the vocational education division of the Federal Office of Education in Washington, D. C.

Penick Appointed to Five National Tennis Committees

The National Open Tennis Association has recently appointed Dr. D. A. Penick, University tennis coach, on five of its committees: tennis education, junior tennis development, junior ranking, standard court for tournament play, and intercollegiate Golden Jubilee.

"These appointments were made," Dr. Penick said, "in recognition of the important part Texas has played in the tennis world."

The special committee on the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the intercollegiate association is planning a meeting of all the old intercollegiate winners at Haverford, Penn., the latter part of June. Dr. Penick hopes that Berkeley Bell, singles champion of 1929; Karl Kamrath and Bruce Barnes, doubles winners of 1931; Wilmer Allison, singles of 1927; and Lewis White and Louis Thalheimer, doubles players of 1923 and 1924, will be able to attend the meeting. He has not made his personal plans yet.

Nine Teams Enter Mural Baseball Playoffs

With the largest field in the history of intramural baseball at The University of Texas entered, intramural baseball elimination began several weeks ago. Forty-nine teams were entered, among which were many strong teams. Playing three games a day for at least three days a week, weather permitting, the field was soon narrowed down. At the present time there are nine teams, each one a finalist in his own league. Among these are Delta Kappa Epsilon, last year's fraternity champions, Lambda Chi Alpha, Beta Theta Pi, Pi Kappa Alpha. These four teams are scheduled to fight it out for the fraternity championship. In the other divisions, there are the Tinkhorns, Schooler House, and the House of Griffith, who will have to decide the independent crown among themselves.

House of Griffith are out for their second consecutive University championship. The club and departmental champions have already been decided. The Engineers had little trouble in annexing the departmental crown, while the Czech Club won the laurels in their division for the second time in as many years.

This year intramural baseball has been conducted under greatly improved conditions. Due to the efforts of the intramural office, three ideal baseball diamonds were erected. The games have been umpired by four former Longhorn athletes, namely Harrison Stafford, Ronald Fagan, Bill Smith, and Bill DuBose.

The semi-finals in the fraternity and independent divisions will be played today, and the finals will be held Monday, April 30. Since there is only one team left in both the departmental and club divisions, there will be no play there until the fraternity and independent champions are decided. Playoffs among the four divisions will be run off during the first week in May, and the University championship game will be played during the latter part of the same week.

Heretofore, the games have been limited to seven innings, but the play-off games will be played in the regulation nine innings. The University championship team will be awarded sweaters.

Skill Games Draw Largest Woman Enrollment

Golf, tennis, and archery received the largest enrollments of all spring sports for the last quarter of physical training for women. Miss Anna Hiss, associate professor of physical training for women, said Wednesday. Some thirteen hundred women students are enrolled in sports for the last quarter.

Recreational sports also have large enrollments for the spring, Miss Hiss said. Deck tennis tournaments are being held, and much interest has been aroused in the sport.

Courses are also held in sleeping and walking. Students who are physically unable to take any activity and have received a "D" health grade take sleeping and must go to the gymnasium five times a week and take an hour's rest each time. Walking is a course held only for girls working their way through school.

Frosh and Varsity Trackmen Train For Meets

By JOE STORM

While Coach Alderson is doing his best to bring about a varsity track victory over the Rice Owls in Houston Saturday, Bill Cohen, assistant freshman coach, will head a determined Texas freshman team against their perennial foes—the Schreiner Institute Hill Billies—in Memorial Stadium. The meet starting at 3 o'clock will be run off according to a regular time schedule and admission will be free.

A close contest is expected when Coach Bully Gilstrap closes his official track season here Saturday. At the first meeting of the two teams this year the Kerrville boys won by an easy margin, five junior college state records falling that day. Hall, weight man, and Vickery, high jumper, both of the freshmen, broke the existing records in their respective events, while Reeves of Schreiner set new marks in the 100-yard dash and the broad jump, and ran anchor on the record-breaking 440-yard relay team. The distance was covered in the excellent time of 42.8 seconds.

Reeves has run the hundred under 9.6 this season. Weltens, the fastest man the freshmen have to offer, has run the hundred in 9.8 and is expected to give the Schreiner sprinters a good race.

Hugh Wolfe, freshman star, was absent when the Shortorns lost their first meet to Schreiner. With Wolfe among the ranks Saturday, the score is expected to be much closer if not somewhat reversed. Wolfe performs well in the shot put, discus throw, high jump, and

Handball Champ Enters Dallas Tournament

Lester Springer, intramural singles champion in handball, will leave today for Dallas where Friday and Saturday he will represent The University of Texas in the Dallas invitation handball tournament.

Drawings for the tournament, which is to be conducted by the downtown branch of the Dallas Y. M. C. A., will take place this afternoon. Some of the best handball players in the United States will compete in the tournament. Nearly all the large cities of Texas are expected to send representatives. Out-of-State players will come from Denver, Tulsa, New Orleans, and Nashville, Tenn.

Sam Atchinson, national champion of the Y. M. C. A. for the past two years, will be the Nashville representative.

He can also run a good lap on either relay if the necessity arises.

Other Texas freshmen who are expected to gather in points are Hall and Mollenbruch in the weights; Captain Joe Ballard, Vannoy, and Bohls in the quarter; Thomas, Stark, and Fields in the 880; Lee and Wise in the mile; Weltens, Hebert, Wiginton, and Morrow in the dashes; Collins, Vannoy, Dehnisch, and Holderman in the hurdles; Ramsey, E. B. Evans, Clinton Evans, and Heard in the broad jump; and Lynn Storm in the pole vault.

Coach Gilstrap's boys are expected to run away with the 440-yard relay, while the mile relay is at present a toss-up. The frosh team with the fighting Thomas as the anchor man won by inches over the Schreiner team in their last meeting. Coach Cohen said that his relay would be picked from Ballard, Thomas, Stark, Lee, Bohls, and Wolfe. Vannoy would probably run except that the low hurdle race, his long suit, comes just before the final event.

Helen Randle, Madelyne McCarty, Elizabeth Cameron, and Louise Powers spent the weekend in San Antonio.

BERT WELTENS, Longhorn tennis star, began his tennis career seven years ago when a friend, because Bert was so adapted to other forms of athletic games, dared him to enter a high school tournament. Bert practiced a week and entered the tournament. The game fascinated him just as it has so many others, and now he is one of the games most devoted players.

Standing 6 feet, 1 inch tall, Weltens, with his 165 pounds, is ideally built for tennis. He is 22 years old, having entered the University three years ago, after attending high school and junior college in San Antonio, his home town.

While on the court, Bert uses a Bancroft Winner racquet . . . enjoys doubles matches more than singles . . . likes a grass court . . . got his biggest thrill when he came within two points of beating Lester Stoefer . . . never likes to lead his opponent, 5-2, in last game of set; that's a jinx to him . . . in fact, he has lost about 40 matches with such a count. In his opinion Wilmer Allison of Austin is the world's outstanding player today . . . Rice will be the hardest conference school to beat in singles, S. M. U. in doubles . . . best player he has played, Francis X. Shields . . . America's Davis Cup chances depend on whether Allison and Lott can win the doubles matches . . . a good tennis player has to have brains . . . Texas should win next cup put up for college players, because the Steers have a bright future with plenty of good players.

When Weltens is not at Penick Courts, he is usually playing contract bridge at the Union to sharpen his wits so that he might be better prepared to outguess his opponents in tennis . . . likes to swim . . . thinks bowling is a grand game, and at 15 he was considered the world's youngest player to bowl a perfect 300 game . . . played baseball for St. Mary's Academy of San Antonio. He likes to study in the library, because he goes to sleep if he tackles the books at his residence . . . chums around with his kid brother who is quite an athlete himself, having won a place on the freshman track team . . . tries to dance twice a week to improve his balance.

His most famous nickname is "Applecheeks." His friends enjoy teasing him about the time a certain Mexican woman journalist compared him with a famous movie star. Weltens is classified as a junior B. A. student . . . plans to enter insurance business after graduating . . . intends to keep playing tennis, and his greatest ambition is to become a great figure in the game.

Vegetable War Marks Anti-war Meetings

While a national newspaper chain continued its "exposés" of the asserted rise of Communism in colleges and universities throughout the country, student anti-war leaders on many camps this week pointed with pride to their successful efforts to draw attention to their peace movement by means of counter-militaristic demonstrations.

Some of the demonstrations were not taken very seriously, particularly in those cases where such excessive articles as tomatoes, eggs, and grapefruit flying through the air added zest to the occasion, but all in all, according to the leaders, the anti-war meetings were successful—particularly in that they served further to worry what were described as the "rabid militarists."

Strike in New York

In New York, several thousand students, including large groups from Columbia University, and New York City College, enjoyed brief strikes, which consisted of walking out of classes and participating in anti-war meetings.

Harvard's "demonstration" at Cambridge, Mass., was raucous and tumultuous, an anti-war meeting being notable principally for the battle which took place—a battle of vegetables and fruit, thrown by students failing to sympathize with the policies of the National Student League, sponsor of the meeting.

Similarly, at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, a student peace meeting was virtually broken up by hecklers and vegetable tossers. The meeting was held in an assembly hall on the campus, and during the height of the disturbance which accompanied efforts of speakers to present their views, a hose was inserted through a window, drenching those on the platform and many in the audience.

Elsewhere more peaceful "demonstrations" were held, including one at the University of California at Los Angeles, where Provost Earnest Carroll Moore himself presided over a peace meeting after stating that he would not condone a student strike.

Nazi in Los Angeles

Meanwhile, at the Los Angeles Junior College, where the National Student League has been active, circulation of Nazi swastika handbills seriously complicated the endeavors of those in charge of a student strike to draw attention to their anti-war efforts. The handbills appeared mysteriously during the demonstration, and the strike leaders denounced their appearance as a "gag."

Light touches of humor were injected into the junior college strike by the introduction of competitive slogans, such as "Light a Murad Instead of a Cannon" and "What Would Our Women Do Without a Navy?" These somewhat offset the effectiveness of official banners, which stated that "We Won't Be Cannon Fodder" and demanded "All War Funds for the Unemployed and Education," but local student league members pronounced the meeting a "progressive step" in the national student movement against war.

In all instances, National Student League officials denied they were dominated by Communist theories and ridiculed the idea that they might be receiving support from Moscow.

New York Teacher Attacks 'Sissy Code'

NEW YORK, April 25.—Dr. John Carr Duff of New York University this week derided what he called the "sissy code" required for school teachers by hypocritical school boards.

"If American teachers are sissies, it is not from choice," he declared. "They have become sissified in conformity to the public demand that they act in a way that is too good to be true."

"This is more true in the small towns than in the cities. In the villages and rural districts, they have to live up to a moral standard which would put a strain on a 32nd degree saint."

Dr. Duff said he did not object especially to requirements that a school teacher should be a paragon of virtue while in the classroom.

"It is required of him all the time," he said. "In many districts a teacher is not employed until he has given his word of honor that he does not smoke or drink or use strong language or stay out late at night."

"And the first time he slips up, he is railroaded."

TRYOUTS POSTPONED

Tryouts for Orchestras which were to take place the last of April have been postponed until after the Orchestras program is given May 9, Miss Mary McKee, faculty sponsor, announced. All those who are interested in trying out for the club are requested to report at Junior Orchestras which meets every Wednesday at 5 o'clock.

'Roosevelt Has Three Brain Trusts'—Moley

NEW YORK, April 25.—If people are going to persist in talking about "Brain Trusts," they should know that there are actually only three brain trusts serving President Roosevelt, according to Professor Raymond Moley.

He declared that the first group includes such men as Professors George Warren, Irving Fisher, and James Harvey Rogers, "who believe that the economic betterment of the people depends upon an inflationary or reflationary monetary policy."

The second group, he said, includes Professor Felix Frankfurter, Thomas G. Corcoran, James M. Landis, and Benjamin V. Cohen, "who believe in the strict regulation of business, the protection of the small unit, the enforcement of the anti-trust laws and the formulation of new regulatory measures, such as the Securities Act and the stock exchange bill."

The group, which includes General Hugh S. Johnson, Professor A. A. Berle and Professor Rexford G. Tugwell, he said, believes that the "government ought to go beyond the negative process of telling business what it ought not to do, and sit down with business and agriculture and attempt to provide a cooperative means of solving their problems."

Professor Moley's statements were made in his magazine, "Today."

News Behind News Studied at Wesleyan

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., April 25.—An experiment in teaching government by studying the news behind the headlines in one's morning paper this week was described as a success by former Congressman Frederick M. Daventport, who has completed a visiting professorship at Wesleyan University.

Fireside discussions with students of current national policies and current events were found to be an effective method of studying the practical problems of government, he said. He said that during the course he made frequent trips to Washington for first-hand observations which were incorporated in the discussions.

Nanine Simmons spent the week-end at her home in Mexico.

Lucille Watson was in San Antonio for the week-end.

ARCHITECTS TO HOLD ANNUAL WIND-UP MAY 8

"Return of Ptah," patron saint of architecture, is the theme to be used at the Architectural Wind-Up banquet to be given by associate student architects as the final yearly formal of the department of architecture at the Driskill Hotel May 8. C. R. Dawson has been selected as toastmaster for the occasion. During the banquet awards will be made by honorary architecture fraternities, classes and faculty.

The contest for the selection of a program cover design to be used at the banquet was won by Gustavo Otero, sophomore architecture student. All senior, junior, and sophomore architecture students participated in this contest, and although freshmen were not required to enter, several took part.

Tau Sigma Delta, honorary architecture fraternity, will make its award for the student who has proved his interest and ability in service, sketching and painting. All work for this contest had to be entered before April 20. The winner is chosen by a committee selected from the members of the fraternity.

The Sphinx award is given to the student outstanding in scholastic achievement, fellowship, and interest shown in the department, chosen by a committee of members of the Sphinx Club.

The faculty award is made in recognition of the outstanding student selected by a committee composed of Goldwin G. Goldsmith, Walter Thomas Rolfe, Raymond Everett and Samuel Edward Gideon.

Alpha Alpha Gamma will present its award to the freshman girl submitting the most outstanding design. Alpha Rho Chi makes its award to the senior of greatest promise of success and ability in leadership. American Institute of Architects gives an award to the student making the highest grades. The awards are to be donated by Austin merchants.

PHYSICS GROUP HAS PICNIC

The annual spring picnic of the Physics Colloquium will be held Saturday, C. W. Macune, secretary of the organization, announced Wednesday. All members will pay 25 cents for the picnic and can invite as many visitors as they wish, provided they pay for each guest. The party will leave the Physics Building at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. All members with cars are urged to bring them.

KAPPA DELTA DINNER MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Kappa Delta sorority celebrated the anniversary of the founding of their local chapter with a banquet Tuesday night at the Driskill Hotel. Grace Jones presided as toastmaster at a table decorated with spring flowers and candles.

Sigma Epsilon, the local chapter, was founded at the University April 24, 1921. The Austin alumnae present for the function were Misses Frances Poe, Dora Jones, Thelma Dillingham, and Mrs. Betty Rolfe.

EX-STUDENTS TO MEET

Ex-students of North Texas State Teachers College will meet today at 4:30 o'clock in Garrison Hall 101 to plan club activities for the remainder of the year. W. P. Boyd, sponsor of the group, announced Wednesday.

RUSH TEAS PLANNED BY THREE SORORITIES

Three sororities will take advantage of the last opportunity for rushing ineligible girls by entertaining with teas at the chapter houses Friday from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Alpha Xi Delta will have a sports tea carrying out the theme in the refreshments and in the miniature playground which will serve as a centerpiece for the table.

Kappa Delta will entertain with their traditional white rose tea. White roses and ferns will form the centerpiece for the tea table, and green and white candles will be used.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will use spring flowers to decorate the chapter house for their tea.

SWIMMING TEAM HAS BANQUET TUESDAY

A banquet at the end of each swimming season honoring members of the University swimming team who have completed their eligibility will be an annual affair, the University swimming team decided Tuesday night at a banquet held in University Commons.

The banquet Tuesday night was held in honor of Captain Nolan Simmons, Stuart Delgado, Roger Ledbetter, Hal McQuiston, Ernest McDaniel, Chester Nagel, and Robert Nall, members of the team who completed their eligibility this year. Coach C. J. Alderson and all last year men were called on for short talks by Captain Nolan Simmons, toastmaster.

RUSK OFFICERS ELECTED

Election of the officers for the fall semester of next year was held at the meeting of Rusk Literary Society Tuesday at 7:15 o'clock in Law Building 7. The new president is Thurmond Krueger; vice president, Lem C. Davis; secretary, C. D. Speck; reporter, Bill Platt; parliamentarian, Tilden Edwards, and sergeant-at-arms, Billy Goldberg. The new officers will be installed at the next meeting.

BASTROP STUDENTS VISIT

The civics class of Bastrop High School visited the University campus Wednesday. Led by their teacher, Miss Esther Anderson, the members of the class visited the Capitol, Land Office, and other interesting buildings in Austin. This is done, Miss Anderson said, to give the students a better conception of the State government and its institutions.

ATHENAEUM PLANS SPRING OPEN HOUSE

The spring open house of the Athenaeum Literary Society will be held at Gregg House Tuesday, May 7, at 8 o'clock, Jesse Villarreal, president, announced Wednesday. The affair is an annual one and is open to members of the society and their dates.

A feature of the program will be an extemporaneous speaking contest. R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman and former member of the society, offers each year $25 in prizes to the winners in the contest. Members should make their reservations early with Villarreal or Sam Householder, chairman of the program committee.

They will meet at Littlefield Memorial Fountain at 6 o'clock. Each of the members may bring one guest. Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Boyesen and Dr. Lee M. Hollander will act as chaperons.

SORORITY TO INITIATE

Alpha Xi Delta will hold initiation Monday night for Lorraine Bettencourt, Helen Dorsey, Gracie Etta Williams, and Helen Crawford.

SOCIETY PLANS PICNIC

The Scandinavian Society will have its annual picnic this afternoon at Zilker Park, Ivy Anderson, president, said Wednesday.

KAPPA DELTA INITIATES

Kappa Delta sorority held initiation Sunday night for Beryl Moore of Waco, Bernice Kennedy of Fort Clark, Miriam Mollberg of Austin, and Dorothy Jamerson of Donna.

"SECRETS" with Mary Pickford and Leslie Howard will be presented by Theta Sigma Phi in a midnight show beginning at 11 o'clock at the Texas Theater Friday night. A stage show will also be given.

The Screen in Review

WONDER BAR.—At the Paramount. Based on a play by Geza Herczeg, Carl Farkas, and Robert Katscher. Numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. A First National and Vitaphone production. Released by Warner Brothers.

Al Jolson, Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Dolores Del Rio, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee, Hugh Herbert, Ruth Donnelly, Louise Fazenda, Robert Barrat.

Al Jolson comes to the front again in an entirely different sort of role in "Wonder Bar," musical extravaganza current at the Paramount. He plays the part of Al Wonder, proprietor and master of ceremonies at one of Paris' most popular night spots, "Wonder Bar," and this time he is not so much the jolly clown hiding his secret sorrow under a mask of grins and light raillery. There is a touch of the tragic in his characterizations (for he loves the dancer, Inez, in vain), but not so much as in his former roles. His splendid voice is effectively displayed in two new song hit numbers—"Vive la France" and "Goin' to Heaven on a Mule," the latter of which is unique in setting and arrangement on the screen, though it is obviously based on the theme of "Green Pastures."

A spectacle of some magnificence is a ballet ensemble number consisting of more than a hundred couples. It is called "Don't Say Goodnight" which is sung by Dick Powell with the assistance of a chorus. The master craftsmanship of Busby Berkeley is evident in this creation, set on a revolving stage and encircled by gigantic pillars, which seem to glide magically across the floor, and encircled by huge mirrors which make the set look many times its size and seem to increase the number of dancers fourfold. The design formations when viewed from above are perfect and make one sigh to think of the amount of rehearsing such an achievement must have required.

Kay Francis is the wife of a French financier who takes a fancy to the night club dancer, Harry (Ricardo Cortez). She gives him a diamond necklace in payment for dancing lessons he has given her unknown to her husband, and almost gets into trouble when she tells her husband she has lost it and the insurance company detectives get on her trail and Harry's. Dolores Del Rio is Harry's dancing partner, Inez, who loves him so desperately that, when he repulses her attention, she stabs him on the dance floor. Their interpretation of the Gauchito is skillfully presented, but Miss Del Rio's usual exotic loveliness is spoiled by an over-application of makeup in closeup shots.

Robert Barratt and Jolson take the acting honors in the production. Barratt, as the part of the army officer who drives his auto over a cliff and unconsciously covers up the murder of Harry, whose body Al has placed in his car hoping that just such a thing would happen.

Guy Kibbee and Hugh Herbert play the two American tourists with Ruth Donnelly and Louise Fazenda as their wives, all important comedy and character roles.

The usual discrepancy of the settings being far too big in proportion to the setting possibilities of a night club stage is apparent in the picture, but it is a technical error that can easily be overlooked in view of the otherwise splendid entertainment offered in the show. Watch for the few nifty wisecracks.

Tintype of Claire Trevor

She can shatter clay pipes at 100 yards with a 22... knows how to roll her own cigarettes... learned all this for pictures... was born in New York and attended Columbia... played in "Whistling in the Dark" with Ernest Truex for more than a year... wears only brass jewelry and uses a scent made especially for her by a Florida grapefruit grower... it is "Nuit de Grapefruit"... can whistle in two keys at once... had more doorknobs as a child than any kid on her block... does fine French embroidery in the American manner... dislikes crooners...

Studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and then appeared with Robert Henderson's Repertory Players at Ann Arbor... later toured in a stock company in which were Wallace Ford and Lyle Talbot... loves garlic if she doesn't have to work with anyone the next day... appeared on Broadway in "The Party's Over" and then was sent to Hollywood for Fox... her newest picture is "Hold That Girl" in which she appears opposite Jimmy Dunn...

Adores partridges stuffed with pate de foie gras... will not eat tripe... is a natural blonde but would just as well be a brunette... never rode a horse until she came to Hollywood... then George O'Brien taught her to ride and now she can pick up a handkerchief from the saddle... collects fine examples of old Tudor tapestries and tries to decipher the inscriptions... hasn't yet found out anything... her personal stationery is water-marked with her monogram... for her complexion drinks a gill of pure honey before retiring...

When discovered in the Broadway play, "The Party's Over," scouts mentioned her as "a sophisticated Mae West"... but Hollywood has since learned different... in her next picture, "Hold That Girl" she will be seen as a "wise guy" lady reporter who steals all the thunder from the original "wise guy" James Dunn... likes roles requiring that she eat during the picture because she says her diet keeps her from eating between meals...

Has invented a game called Whoozit?... people are supposed to recognize whoozit... she was last recognized as Perry saying: "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes"... fond of Zuzu crackers with cheddar cheese... can cube root any reasonable sum... likes venison...

Once when she applied for an acting job she lied about her experience... said she had appeared in "The Ivory Door"... the man she was talking to said he had cast "The Ivory Door" and couldn't remember her... Claire just blushed... but the producer gave her a chance to read lines... she was so embarrassed she read like a rank amateur... that was her last lie... would like to retire to Dixie... but doesn't know where it is... once owned a zebra for a day when a circus owner put it in her name to avoid an attachment... she didn't know about it until later...

Opening Today

YOU WILL find straight entertainment of the lively comedy-drama type in Claire Trevor and James Dunn's latest bit of clever wise-cracking called "Hold That Girl," which begins a three-day run on the screen at the Queen Theater today. These two can always be counted upon to furnish a lot of good laughs by their only half-serious and fully zestful "quarreling." Those of us who saw them in "Jimmy and Sally" during the Christmas holidays will know just what to expect and most probably will want to see more of the same; those of us who did not have a treat in store for us.

This reviewer would not try to lead you astray by telling you that "Hold That Girl" is going to be outstanding moving-picture fare because he knows that it will, in all likelihood, be only somewhat above average clever romantic comedy wherein a young and very Irish detective and a very quick-thinking young lady reporter meet, fall in love, go through hair-raising and tenderly romantic experiences and clinch at the finish—but he will add this: Claire Trevor is his favorite among all the rising young actresses of the day; he would walk miles through snow to see her in a five-minute sequence; she has just that combination of whatever-it-is that he has imagined he would see personified some time or other; the woman has been convincingly natural in many moods on the

Club to Sponsor Power Exhibit

Students, Faculties From Out of Town Invited

Phi Lambda Upsilon, national honorary chemical society, is sponsoring the chemistry exhibit of the 1934 Power Show, which is to be presented May 4 and 5. The exhibit is to occupy one room of the Engineering Building.

On display in the exhibition will be "Suicide Row," which will include the most frequently used suicide chemicals. Among these will be the deadly hydrogen cyanide which for a number of years has been known as "the chemist's way out." A safely controlled demonstration of the spontaneous explosion of nitrogen trichloride will be made.

The phenomenon of surface combustion will be demonstrated by an empty platinum crucible, which when placed in a stream of hydrogen gas becomes red hot without apparent presence of flame. Other demonstration experiments will be "Smoke Rings from Phosphine" and "Liquid Air."

"The engineers are preparing to put the big pot in the little one for the 1934 Power Show," Dean T. U. Taylor stated Wednesday.

Invitations have been extended to high school students and faculties of Bastrop, Hays, Burnett, and Williamson counties. The following towns are included: Austin, Bastrop, Elgin, Smithville, Taylor, Round Rock, Hutto, Rockdale, Giddings, Luling, Georgetown, Marble Falls, Burnett, Kyle, San Marcos, Leander, Lockhart, Fentress, and Seguin.

Students Return From Exposition

Latest Types of Oil Field Equipment Shown

The petroleum engineering students from The University of Texas who took active part in the exposition of oil companies and oil well supply houses of Texas held in the Convention Hall at Houston during the past week have returned.

The exposition displayed the latest types of oil field equipment. Charles McCarter had charge of the Bureau of Economic Geology booth and display. Joe Barber was captain of the first aid team of the Humble Oil Company, and gave an exhibition of the daily practical oil field work in first aid. William Todd had charge of the National Tanks Company installations and display showing a complete miniature installation of oil well tanks and oil well separators. Don L. Hailan officiated at the Texas Company booth.

E. C. H. Bantel, professor of civil engineering, J. A. Focht, professor of highway engineering, and F. E. Plummer, professor of petroleum production engineering, also attended the exposition.

Other engineering students who attended from the University were Ernest Cockrell, Gabriel Lee, Joe Morris, William Murray, Robert McDaniel, Robert Korn, Whitfield Daniels, Oliver McClellan, and John Pedigo.

Taylor to Present Watch Fobs in June

The traditional watch fobs will be handed out to the senior engineers by Dean T. U. Taylor of the College of Engineering sometime senior week. The fobs carry the old engineers' yell imprinted on them. The yell was composed by Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University and a former pupil of Dean Taylor. It runs, "T-y-Taylor, T-y, Ty, X2-Y2, 2-X-Y, engineers!" The "Ty" seemed to give the engineers an opportunity to express their objection to the "tough" grading and teaching they were subjected to.

Dean Taylor has distributed this gift to members of the engineering school each year since 1913. He sat in his buggy on the site of the new Engineering Building that year and gave the watch fobs to the engineers as they walked by.

WALLING WILL SPEAK

H. C. Walling, research accountant in the Bureau of Business Research, will speak on "Statistics for the Accountant" before members of Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity, at a meeting of the group tonight at 6:15 o'clock in the University Commons. Brady Stevens, president of the fraternity, announced Wednesday. Plans for the final banquet of the semester, together with other business of the club, will be discussed during the meeting.

CLICK TO SPEAK

"Books of the Southwest and Their Makers" will be discussed by Dr. L. L. Click, professor of English, at the Texas Day program of the Book Trainers' Club. The club will meet today at 3:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. L. A. Colwell.

Newest Things in Rain Coats

Two of the latest models in spring raincoats for college men are pictured above. The checked version has a lining in larger checks, five leather buttons, and a short military convertible collar. Light in weight, ideal for summer wear, and similar in style is the white model also shown in the drawing.

find an issue for the last six months that will appeal to the people; now the battle is evident for this fall in order to prevent these groups getting such a stronghold in governmental affairs," Dr. Montgomery said.

"The issue that Dr. Wirt tried to make recently in Washington is the one on which the fight will hinge. It will depend for its success on the astuteness of the groups behind Dr. Wirt and on what Congress does in the next six weeks. The Roosevelt administration is not putting over a communistic deal," Dr. Montgomery asserted.

BANTEL TO LECTURE

Professor E. C. H. Bantel will give an illustrated lecture on the manufacturing of iron and steel at the A. S. C. E. meeting at 7 o'clock tonight.

Architects Sponsor Goldsmith Lecture

Goldwin Goldsmith, professor of architecture, will speak on "Domestic Architecture" tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Architecture Building. The lecture is being sponsored by the Association of Student Architects.

This talk is one of the series given by Mr. Goldsmith on his recent tour of southwestern colleges under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects.

The regular business meeting of the association will be held following the lecture. All members are urged to be present as plans for the annual architectural banquet will be discussed, and officers for next year will be elected.

MITCHELL SELECTED

The local chapter of Alpha Phi will be represented by Sally Mitchell in the national convention, June 25 to 30 at Estes Park, Colo.

Two Exes Write For Law Review

E. O. Mather, Gus Hodges Contribute Articles

E. O. Mather and Gus Hodges, Jr., ex-students of the University School of Law, are among the contributors to the spring quarterly of the Texas Law Review which was released recently.

Mr. Mather, who was graduated from the University School of Law and studied at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar, is now a practicing lawyer in Fort Worth. His article, "Life Insurance Contracts in Texas," sets forth problems involving rules which may be applied in life insurance cases.

Mr. Hodges is the author of an article, "The Automobile Guests Statutes," J. Emmett Sebree, technical assistant to the United States Board of Tax Appeals, gives a detailed account of statutory variations in a discussion entitled "Federal Taxations of Community Property."

Contributions to "Comments and Case Notes" were made by John Carroll Hinsley, Mary Kate Parker, Ray Howard Odom, W. C. Petricolas, Philip Brin, John Statton, Walter Ely, Allen Wood, H. J. Cureton, W. E. Cureton, Henry Simon, Ewell Muse, Harry Harrington, Lucian Morehead, Milton Mehl, Earl Amerman, Kraft Eidman, and William S. Harris.

Weeks Will Address Austin Woman's Club

"Dictatorship and Democracy" will be the title of a lecture to be given by Dr. O. D. Weeks, professor of government, today at the Austin Woman's Club.

Dr. Weeks will include in his discussion the dictatorships which have arisen in Europe in recent years and of the tendency toward arbitrary government in other European countries.

Math Professors Release Bulletin

Batchelder, Decherd Edit Teachers' Pamphlet

The Texas Mathematics Teachers' Bulletin, edited by Dr. P. M. Batchelder, associate professor of pure mathematics, and Miss Mary E. Decherd, adjunct professor of pure mathematics, is now being circulated.

The first of the articles which appears in the bulletin is "Suggestions for a Minimum High School Mathematics Course," written by Warren A. Rees, ex-student of the University, who is now teaching at Houston Junior College. This particular article is in the nature of a report on experiments which Mr. Rees and a number of other professors have made in the field of mathematics.

"Psychological Principles Applied to the Learning Process and to Testing in Mathematics" is the title of the material submitted by B. R. Reinsch, formerly of Southern Methodist University, and at present a teacher of mathematics in Florida University. Both Mr. Rees and Mr. Reinsch emphasized the necessity of real research in effective methods of teaching.

Nat Edmondson, Jr., teacher of mathematics at Texas A. & M. College, wrote the third article for the bulletin. "Some Fundamental Developments in Mathematics" is the title of his article, dealing not with the teaching of mathematics, but with its subject matter. Mr. Edmondson selected four topics to discuss: The arithmetic definition of the irrational number; the Non-Euclidean geometries; the group concept; analysis situs.

"Does the Present High School Curriculum in Mathematics Prepare Students for College?" was written by Charles R. Sherer, teacher of mathematics at Texas Christian University. In suggesting several ways in which secondary education might become more efficient, Mr. Sherer concluded with the statement that a closer cooperation should be established between secondary and college teachers, because if one of them has a serious problem, it automatically affects the other.

A report on the Brown University Prize examination given in October, 1933, in which the prize winners were George Chesnut of Dallas, Jerry McAfee of Port Arthur, and Frank L. Woodbury of Fort Worth was made in the bulletin.

Moore and Nowotny Will Attend Meeting

V. I. Moore, dean of student life, and Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men, will attend the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Deans and Advisers of Men in Fort Worth on the T. C. U. campus today, Friday, and Saturday.

The association includes deans of every institution of higher learning in the State. Matters of mutual concern will be discussed at the meeting. Dean Moore is a former president and also secretary of the association.

Reynard Discussed For French Group

Olin W. McMillan, University student, spoke on Reynard, the French writer, at the meeting of Le Cercle Paul Claudel Tuesday night in Texas Union at 7:30 o'clock.

Following McMillan's talk, Naomi Schuchman, president, asked that all those eligible and interested to become members of Beta Pi Theta, honorary French fraternity, to come to Texas Union 315 today between 12:30 and 1:30 o'clock and sign application blanks.

The club's next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 8.

MONTGOMERY TO SPEAK

Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics, will deliver the last of the series of public lectures Wednesday, May 2, at 5 o'clock in Garrison Hall auditorium. Dr. O. Douglas Weeks, committee chairman, announced Wednesday. Dr. Montgomery will speak on "Public Utilities."
