AMONG THOSE IN SCHOOL

By Florence Robinson

Mrs. Alice Brittain Evans who received her B.A. degree from the University of Oklahoma and her M.A. degree from the University, is attending summer school working toward her Ph.D. degree. Mrs. Evans has been on the faculty of Southwestern University, Georgetown, for the past year as French teacher. She will be a tutor in French in the University next long session, where she will continue her graduate work.

Homer Toland of Dallas, who is expected to be a regular on this year's football team in the University, is in summer school. He is taking several advanced Economics courses, including Criminology under Doctor Boothe. If Homer is as enthusiastic in his football training as he is over Criminology, he will make a star on Coach Stewart's immortal eleven.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Buckingham of Dallas are visiting friends on the campus this week. Buckingham was formerly a very popular student in the University, being managing editor of the Texan for a summer session, member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity and engaged in many campus activities. At present he is working on the Dallas Journal.

Louis O. Vogelsang who received his degree in Electrical Engineering in 1923 and his degree in Mechanical Engineering in 1924, is doing work in the engineering department this summer. Mr. Vogelsang is working with Professor Hal C. Weaver of the Mechanical Engineering Department of the University this summer on the Diesel engines for a large firm in Austin.

W. W. Clement, principal of one of the Model Elementary Schools in Kansas City, Mo., has recently made a cross-country trip from that State and is attending the University summer session. Mr. Clement was formerly the superintendent of the Temple Public Schools. He is working toward his M.A. degree this summer.

Don Peterson, who has been in the Medical School in Galveston for two years, is doing work in the University this summer toward his medical course. Mr. Peterson is doing extern work with the City Hospital this summer. He is a member of the Kappa Psi medical fraternity in Galveston.

Mrs. Cornelia Cooper, who has a private studio of music in Galveston, is attending the University this summer doing work toward her degree in music. Mrs. Cooper is very prominent in Galveston music circles. She is living in Scottish Rite Dormitory this summer.

C. E. Nesbitt, superintendent of the Mineola Public Schools, is attending the University this summer, doing work on his Master's degree.

"DOC" WEISAN HOLDS WORLD'S TITLE IN LACING NEW BALLS

Lacing a new football in fifteen minutes—a very hard task for one man, you'd say, but "Doc" Weisan, rubber doctor or conditioner of all athletic teams at Varsity and the man who perhaps pumps up and laces more footballs, basketballs and the like than any other individual in Texas or surrounding states, does not think so.

"Doc" is aided in his work by an official Spalding lacing device, which enables him to do the work in one-half or even less time than would require the ordinary person—an apparatus merely consisting of a strong smooth board about three feet in length, near each end of which is attached to clamps a strong cable or wire which may be adjusted to fit over the top of the inflated ball, holding it securely for the worker.

Approximately seventy-five footballs are used each season, according

HISTORICAL SHOW TO BE PRESENTED

"Columbus," of Chronicles of America Series, Will Be at Majestic

Dr. Eby has secured "Columbus," the first of the "Chronicles of America," an educational motion picture of the Yale Chronicle series. It was impossible to secure this show through the Visual Instruction Division but by the courtesy of Miss Hamilton, it will be shown July 4 and 5 at the Majestic Theater.

This will be the only opportunity to see this picture as the films will be placed in the vaults of Yale to be used in connection with history courses in that institution.

The familiar story of Columbus is set forth with a wealth of historical detail, in careful continuity, against backgrounds charming in their old-world atmosphere and notable for their beauty—all recorded with the perfect artistry in lighting, scenic composition, costuming, and direction such as we have come to associate with the best in the theatrical screen.

COULTER WILL TELL OF MODERN ATTITUDE ON HISTORY OF AMERICA

Visiting Professor Lectures
Tonight on Campus.

"Recent Interpretations of American History" is to be the subject of a lecture to be delivered at 7:30 at the campus theater, by Dr. E. M. Coulter, professor of History at the University of Georgia.

In his address, Dr. Coulter will endeavor to present the modern attitude toward history, more particularly toward American History, and to show how this attitude has changed, if it has changed, during the past years. Since the close of the Great War, and with the introduction of present conveniences and institutions, people have come to look at the history of their country in a new light, which is directed by recent revelations in regard to the past development of the United States. The speaker tonight will illustrate the effect of these modern interpretations upon American history, and show how they differ from the attitude of the past.

This will be the third of a series of lectures on various historical subjects to be given during the summer session under the auspices of the Graduate History Club. The public is invited to attend.

Kindness Wins In Battle With Savage Beast

Harrassed by stray dogs and wild-eyed bustees, closed in on every side by strange animals, not so much interested in his welfare as in his misfortunes, bewildered by the odd galaxy of hostile creatures which hampered its movements and made life unspeakably troublous, a weary baby armadillo turned at length from resistance to submission this morning on the historic shores of Beck's Lake, and by this piece of strategy succeeded in accomplishing more than it had been able to do with all its wiles.

The scene was the time-honored campus pool, and the spectators were just the ordinary run of buzzards. But the baby armadillo, wandering by chance on to the scene, found what appeared to him to be a foreign foe. With consummate cunning he resorted to his store of tricks—hiding in the weeds, rolling into a ball, running away. But his tormentors would give him no peace. They insisted on dragging him about and in making life miserable generally.

Finally a kindly face appeared in the iron-visaged circle. Julian Brazzelton, known for long as chief campus humorist and editor of the Ranger, broke through the persecutors, spoke a gentle word in a tongue unknown to man, and smiled. All hostility vanished in the heart of the baby armadillo. Docilely and with proud bearing he trotted off after the mystic conqueror of nature. The heart of the untamed Texas wilderness had yielded to the heart of civilization.

English Faculty for Second Summer Term Is Announced By Law

Beside the present English faculty, there will be for the second summer session several prominent professors from other schools. Professor Pierce Butler, Dean of the Sophie Newcomb College at New Orleans, and Professor J. B. Hubbell, head of the English department of S.M.U. at Dallas, are the new members of the faculty. Dr. E. M. Clark and Dr. C. H. Heimsath, who are teaching now, will continue their work through the second term. Professor B. L. Jones from the University of Arkansas, who was offered a position for the second term, has sent in his resignation.

HILLY IN DALLAS

Judge I. P. Hildebrand, professor of Law, and acting dean of the Law School of the University, is in Dallas attending a meeting of the State Bar Association. A meeting of the directors of the Texas Law Review will also be held in Dallas at this time.

CACTUS PRINTING CONTRACT TO BE AWARDED MONDAY

Many Large Companies Are
After 1925 Year Book
Printing Job

The printing contract for the 1925 Cactus will be awarded Monday, July 7, when the Publications Board meets to consider the bids received from some of the largest year-book printing companies in the United States. Five representatives of the printing company will represent their firms when the bids are submitted, and four companies will send bids by mail. Three of the representatives have already arrived in Austin.

A committee of William L. McGill, supervising business manager of the publications; Bill Murphree, editor-in-chief of the Cactus; and Prof. J. B. Wharey of the faculty, will confer with the representatives this week in regard to their contracts.

The companies bidding on the printing are: DuBois Press, which prints the "Luck Bag"; the Hercules Press of Houston; the Reim Company of Houston; the Hugh Stephens Company of Jefferson City, Mo.; E. L. Steck Company of Austin; the Economy Printing Company of Iowa; and the Union Book Note Company of Kansas City, Mo.

On July 8, the board will begin consideration of the photo contracts for the Cactus. Many photo companies will submit bids at that time for the contract to make the pictures for the 1925 Cactus.

Bachelor's Degree Is Favored As Entrance Prerequisite To Schools of Law and Medicine

Japanese Student Is Also
Speaker Before
Hoggs

A degree of Bachelor of Arts should be made a prerequisite to entrance into the Texas School of Law and the School of Medicine, according to the results of a debate on the subject at the Hogg Debating Club last night.

Too Many Lawyers
The speakers in favor of the subject, Walter Rundell and H. H. Crain, pointed out that there are too many inefficient lawyers and doctors in the United States, and showed that a bachelor's degree would tend to make them broader-minded and enable them to be more thorough in their professions.

Prerequisites Are Expensive
The negative debaters, Gilbert Pritchard and Jim Hulise, argued that this requirement was too expensive and was unnecessary. They also pointed out that many Ph. D.'s were narrow minded and attempted to show that having a B.A. degree would not be of benefit to a doctor in performing operations or help a lawyer in winning his case.

"A Study of Presidential Candidates," was discussed interestingly by David Heath.

Japanese Question Discussed
"The United States and Japan" was the subject of an address by Sterling Takehuchi, a Japanese student in the University. When he completed his address, he was given the greatest ovation accorded a speaker in the Hogg this summer.

Martin Tudyk concluded the program with Weekly Grunt.

An open house will be given next Tuesday night, according to Walter Rundell, president of the club.

Horace Walker, a student of journalism in the University, has gone to San Antonio, where he will work on the San Antonio Express. Walker has been with the Associated Press here since the first of the year. He will return to the University in the fall.

Acting President Speaks in Temple

DR. W. S. SUTTON

Dr. Sutton, acting president of the University of Texas, is in Temple this week, where he addressed the members of the Rotary Club. Dr. Sutton has been acting president of the University for more than a year, and his work as chief executive of the school has been praised by people all over the State.

TEXAS EXES ON WILD TRIP

Armed with degrees from the University of Texas, Frank Eldridge, of Fort Worth, Maurice Angly of Palestine and George Gammon of Waxahachie have reached London and will start Monday on a tour of Europe, according to a cablegram to their relatives.

The trio shipped as members of the crew of the British Premier which left Galveston soon after the commencement exercises. Gammon attended the Medical School at Galveston, while Angly and Eldridge finished at Austin.

CALHOUN GOES TO VIRGINIA TO TEACH FOR SECOND TERM

Is Leading Faculty Representative In Student Affairs

Dr. J. W. Calhoun, professor of Mathematics at the University, will teach at the University of Virginia the second term. Dr. Calhoun, who is known to most of the student body and to the former students of the University Athletic Council, is treasurer of the University Publications Board, and president of the University Co-Op.

"This year I am going to break precedent and teach both terms of summer school," stated Dr. Calhoun yesterday. He is teaching in the University summer school now.

Gives Time to Student Activities
Professor Calhoun perhaps gives more of his time to student activities than any other professor in the University. He has been an active member of the Athletic Council for several years, and is a staunch supporter of clean intercollegiate athletics. On the Publications Board, he keeps vigil over the purse and has been instrumental in putting University publications on a sound financial basis. As president of the University Co-Operative Society, he deserves much of the credit for the growth of this progressive organization.

Good After-Dinner Speaker
Dr. Calhoun always is in demand for March 2 celebrations, and has a reputation of being one of the best after-dinner speakers among the University faculty.

UNIVERSITY WAS FOUNDED TO TRAIN TEACHERS---EBY

SUMMER NUMBER OF RANGER TO BE OUT NEXT WEEK

Comic Publication to Be Sold on Campus and at the News Stands

According to Morris Midkiff, editor-in-chief, and Bob Murphree, circulation manager of the Texas Ranger, the mid-summer issue of the Texas Ranger will be out either Monday or Tuesday of next week. It is the only issue of the University comic magazine that will come out on the campus this summer. It will be as good, in substance, as any number that has heretofore been issued, if not in length. According to Frank Midkiff it will probably have more cartoons than any Ranger that has before been printed and some of the space that in other issues has been used for editorials will be cut down in this issue and used for general material.

The Ranger will be recognizable at a distance, because of its cover design which will be a Texas Ranger and a Spanish woman.

The art contributors to the mid-summer issue of the Ranger are: Mildred Conner, Howard Williams, Quintin Martin, Joe Steiner, Julian Brazzelton, Carroll Williams, and Bill Murphree. The contributors of the humorous material are: Polly Thomson, H. H. Day, Troy J. Cauley, David Miller, J. Carvel Tucker, John Sammons, and Carroll Holloway.

The Texas Ranger, according to Bob Murphree, will not, however, be issued on the blanket tax as in the long session, but will be paid for independently. The Ranger will be on sale on the campus and at the news stands in the city at 20 cents per copy. It will also be for sale at the same price on trains and on about 200 newspaper stands all over the State, which will make it convenient for students not in the University this summer to acquire a copy.

GYM DANCE TO BE THURSDAY NIGHT

Regular Dance for Saturday
Night Will Not Be Held
This Week

Because Friday and Saturday of this week are holidays, Kent Hunt, the manager of the All-University dance, has announced that the regular Saturday night dance will be given on Thursday of this week. The blanket tax will admit students to this dance as has been the case of the dances given on Saturday night.

Gym Dances Are Popular
The dances this year have proven to be very popular among the students, according to the manager. There has been an average attendance of over 200 couples every night. The barn dance given on last week-end drew the largest attendance with over 300 couples (including stags) present.

Electric Fans Installed
The installation of ten electric fans in the Women's Gym has made it one of the coolest halls in Austin for dancers. The Night Owls have been working on some of the latest dance music and have new pieces for the dancers every night. The dance given this week and the one to be given next week will conclude the series of dances to be given on the campus this term.

CLOUGH LEAVES
Kenneth Clough of Orange, student in the Engineering Department, will leave in a few days for his home. He has just recovered from a severe attack of illness, and will recuperate at Orange before returning to the University next fall.

Eby Speaks on Subject of the Aims and Place of the University

JAMES RESIGNS OFFICE

Mrs. Kate Wakefield Elected President; Fred Rand as Vice-President

"The primary object and chief function of the University when it was established in 1883 was to train teachers," said Dr. Frederick Eby, director of the summer session, in his address to the University Students Educational Association, last night at the Cafeteria. Before that year, Sam Houston Normal Institute was the only institution of higher learning in the State. After the establishment of the University, however, a new interest was taken in education. Many high schools were established and by 1885 they began to be affiliated with the University. Then, education meant more than the training of teachers.

500 Per Cent Increase
Education has become so popular that several other institutions have been established by the State since 1900. During the last twenty years there has been a gain of 580 per cent in attendance at schools while the population of the State has increased only 53 per cent. "Such an increase in attendance will soon lead to mass education," according to Dr. Eby. Then classes will be limited to hundreds of students instead of thirty.

Common Board for Schools
Dr. Eby thinks that there is not enough unity in our educational system and that there is too much competition between the same kinds of schools. The institutions should be more carefully established as to location and functions. Nearly all the higher institutions try to do the same thing and there is not enough differentiation of functions in the different localities. All the higher institutions of the State should be put under one management. The only way to produce harmony and efficiency is to have one board to make the general policies and committees of that board to work out the details for each institution.

James Resigns
The address was closed with an appeal to the students to advertise the University and to help build up the strongest graduate school in the South. Dr. Eby advocates ample scholarships and other inducements for graduate students to come to the University.

At the close of the address the resignation of W. E. James as president of the association was accepted and Mrs. Kate Q. Wakefield was elected president. Fred G. Rand was chosen vice president. After the meeting of next week, the association will meet once every two weeks.

RICE TO STUDY ABROAD

Dr. C. D. Rice, professor of Applied Mathematics, has secured leave of absence for one year, during which time he will do research work in mathematics. He will probably go abroad, and Mrs. Rice will accompany him on the trip.

Dr. Rice has not decided where he will pursue his study as yet, but it is understood that it will be Germany. He will leave the latter part of July.

Dr. Rice is a Vanderbilt graduate, having received his M. S. degree from there in 1892, after which he did additional graduate work at the University of Chicago. Dr. Rice has instructed in mathematics for the past twenty-four years, during which time he has seen the University grow from the small attendance of 600 students to one of the greatest in the South.

UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL TO BE EVEN BETTER NEXT YEAR

The summer school at the University of Texas this year has a 100 increase in attendance, but the attendance next summer is expected to be much larger. The 1925 summer school will be better in every way, especially in regard to faculty members and variety of courses offered.

For the past several years the summer school has been under the direction of Dr. Frederick Eby. Under his leadership, the school has grown rapidly and the standards have been higher each summer. He has proved a most capable director, despite the fact he has been handicapped in expenditures by a lack of adequate funds. However, next year Dr. Eby states the summer school will have all of the money it will need.

The first improvement Dr. Eby expects to make in the summer school is to secure a dozen or more additional professors of national reputation. He intends to increase the standard of the faculty. The added faculty members are expected to cause the attendance to increase several hundred.

Dr. Eby hopes to build up the graduate department, and plans to have many more students here doing graduate work. There will be enough capable professors to teach these classes and to assist the students with their theses. There will be no need of Texas students going to Harvard or other Eastern and Northern schools to do their graduate work.

Dr. Eby also plans to offer a number of courses that heretofore have not been taught in the summer school. He expects to give a course in pageantry and similar courses that should prove very valuable. More money will be expended in furnishing entertainments for the summer students. In short, the summer school will be better in every manner, and will compare favorably with the summer sessions of the leading universities of the United States.

Statistics show that the students can go to school at the University of Texas more cheaply than in the Eastern schools. Many summer school students are deeply concerned with the expense item. From the point of view of economy, Texas University will have another advantage.

The University of Texas is proud of its summer school, and the news of the many improvements for next summer's session will be welcomed by the people of Texas. Texas school teachers should go to school in Texas, and next summer the University can offer as much as any other similar institution.

ORATORY IS NOT A LOST ART AT THE UNIVERSITY

There are nine literary societies at the University of Texas, and also an honorary literary society fraternity, Alpha Phi Epsilon. Prizes are given for freshman declamation contests among both boys and girls, for the best extempore speakers, and for the foremost orators. In the debate tryouts, often as many as 150 students attempt to make the intercollegiate team. Oratory certainly is not a lost art at the University. The fact that so many students are interested in public speaking bespeaks the character of students who attend the University. It shows that most of the students devote much of their spare time to worthwhile activities.

The University literary societies are well attended and have interesting and instructive programs. Future Lincolns, Wilsons, Grads and Bryans are being developed in our literary society organizations. The University has more good public speakers now than it had in the days of Morris Sheppard and Pat Neff. The extempore speaking contests last winter revealed that the University had many boys and girls who could speak fluently and effectively without preparation.

The University debating teams have met and defeated Columbia and other large universities in the United States. In recent years, the University has had such debaters as Judson Francis, Robert Fields, and Jack Blalock. These three speakers rank among the best debaters any American University has produced in the past ten years.

Time given to practice in public speaking is well spent. It pays big future dividends. Oratory will always be popular in America. When Demosthenes was asked what was the first part of oratory, he answered, "Action"; and what was the second, he replied, "Action"; and which was the third, he still answered "Action." The American people relish action.

The University of Texas pays tribute to its great athletic teams, but it is just as proud of the honors its students have won in oratory. In fact, time spent in a literary society is worth more to the individual than time spent on the athletic field. The world wants leaders—ability to speak in public is one of the essentials of leadership.

MAKING WORTH WHILE MEN

A special from College Station a few days ago carried the information that out of about 2500 registered students over 800 had paid their way through A. & M. in large part by their own labor.

It was further stated that of approximately $100,000 loaned A. & M. students every dollar had been repaid, and what was cause for even greater pride out of 119 honor students 80 had earned their own way through college. No man worthy to be a Texan can read these figures without feeling emotions of pride and confidence.

He will be proud because Texas youths manifest such laudable ambition and maintain such exalted standards, and will feel confident that in the future Texas will be in large measure in the hands of men worth while, who have been made by a Texas educational institution. Many of the men who have guided the destinies of this nation and filled the gubernatorial chairs of the several states have been men of the same mould as of the young A. & M. students who have done themselves and their State such high honor.

Their example is of great value just as is the example of every man who by reason of courage and ambition and honor and adherence to principle wins success.

Such achievement is essentially characteristic of America, and there is a present example which should encourage the young A. & M. graduates. It is worthy to be cited.

SERVICE FOR YOUR WATCH

Men's watches require lubrication at least once a year—small bracelet watches every six to eight months. Such service keeps a watch running accurately with the minimum of wear, making it last many additional years.

You'll find our expert work on this care a watch should have, and on repairs when these are needed through accident or neglect of lubrication, service that is mighty good for your watch and your pocketbook.

Always bring your watch here for service of any character.

ZOO PROF. BITTEN BY UNRULY SNAKE

Lab Specimen Turns on Examiner in Effort to Do Damage

Deluz Hamlett, instructor in Zoology at the University, and specialist in snakes, recently narrowly escaped a serious accident when he was bitten by one of the reptiles he was examining.

Hamlett is engaged this summer in making a series of slides of Texas snakes and their habitats for the Visual Instruction Division of the University, and has been making trips into the chaparral region of South Texas particularly to secure specimens and pictures. He was bitten by a cotton-mouth poisonous water moccasin, but was given immediate treatment and, except for an unpleasant wound on his finger, escaped serious effects.

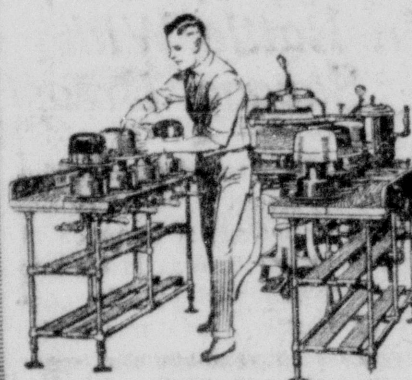

Hamlett has been interested in snakes for several years, and has attracted much attention for extracting the poison from rattlesnakes for the purpose of analysis. He usually has four or five snakes under examination at his office or home, but has never been bitten before this summer.

Necessarily, he always carries first-aid treatment with him on his snake-hunting trips as a precautionary measure.

Gymnasium Privileges Are Popular With Men

Over seventy-five men students of the summer session have lockers in the Men's Physical Training shack, with special privileges of using the handball courts, wrestling mat and other "exercisers," and shower baths. There are five handball courts, and these are crowded from 10 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the afternoons, it is said.

Hancock to Show "A Girl Of the Limberlost"

"A Girl of the Limberlost," the latest of the releases of the Film Booking Offices, is to be the featured number of the program which is to be shown at the Hancock Theater, beginning Thursday.

The second of Mrs. Porter's books to reach the screen, "A Girl of the Limberlost," is a most vivid story of a girl's efforts to secure an education and of a mother's mistaken infatuation for the memory of a worthless man, who forgetful of his bride of but a few months, met a horrible death in the quagmire of a swamp as he hurried over an unfamiliar path in an effort to hasten home from a clandestine meeting with another woman. One of the tremendous scenes of the production is that taken in the midst of a swamp and showing the father slowly sinking in the pitiless grasp of the unseeing slimy mire. A wonderful bit of acting is done in this by Arthur Currier, the father in the story. Emily Fitzroy brings to the role of the mother a wonderful understanding that makes the character of gripping sympathy to the audience.

Mystic China Again Shown on Screen

Mystic China! Elaborate, colorful settings! Pretentious costumery! Excitement! Drama! Romance! All these and more in "Thundergate," a First National picture, which is showing today and Thursday at the Majestic Theater.

The story deals with an American who, through the duplicity of the girl to whom he is engaged, abetted by her lover, sinks to degradation in China. Through circumstances he is forced to masquerade as a Chinese over-lord and then meets romance in the shape of a white girl, who had been reared as Chinese.

The girl is brought to him as a slave-wife. He learns she is white and then a conflict begins to save her from the Chinese and at the same time expose the duplicity of his former associates.

"Thundergate" is described as a swiftly moving drama replete with thrills. Owen Moore, one of the screen's most popular players, enacts the leading role. Virginia Brown Faire plays the part of the slave wife. Other film celebrities in the cast are Sylvia Breamer, Tully Marshall, Robert McKim, Richard Cummings and Ynez Seabury.

"Why Men Leave Home" Coming to Queen

"A little stenographer is a dangerous thing."

For proof of this perverted proverb we direct your attention to "Why Men Leave Home," a First National picture, produced by John M. Stahl, which is scheduled to open a 3-day engagement at the Queen Theater on Thursday.

The cast of the production is a sterling one, including such popular players as Lewis Stone, Helene Chadwick, Mary Carr, Alma Bennett, William V. Mong, Hedda Hopper, Sidney Bruce, Lila Leslie, E. H. Calvert, Howard Truesdale.

The story covers a little more than a year in the married life of the John Emersons, during which the male portion of the team turned from an attentive love into a disagreeable "old wretch." However, at the office he displayed such a pleasant nature that his pretty stenographer began to lay covetous eyes upon him. Thus, aided by a series of unfortunate circumstances, fate gave John Emerson another wife—and a whole lot of trouble.

Emerson got rid of the new wife in a hurry and was happy to return to the old love.

taken by man, is the Paramount picture, "Around the World In the Speejacks," which will be shown at the Texas Theater today.

This absorbing film is a marvel for realism. Everyone has heard of the "Speejacks," and here is their chance to see the famous craft and sail with it throughout the voyage of 39,000 miles and to experience with Commodore and Mrs. Gowen the thrills and hardships they experienced—for there were hardships, if sleeping on the ground with field mice and ants for bed-fellows mean anything.

The route taken by the "Speejacks" upon its sailing from New York harbor on August 21, 1921, was due south to Panama where the trip through the canal was made and the long wearisome trek across the Pacific begun. Tahiti was the first stopping place, followed by Samoa, the Fiji Islands and New Caledonia. Then came Sydney, Australia, New Guinea, the Celebes Islands, Java, Singapore, Sumatra, Ceylon, Egypt, Crete, Greece, Sicily, Naples, Marseilles, Barcelona, Gibraltar, Cape Verde Islands, Porto Rico, Miami, Norfolk and return to New York.

ICY WATER OF POOL MAKES IT A PARADISE FOR SUMMER CAMPERS

Hamilton Pool, 30 Miles
From Austin, Visited
By Many Tourists

(By HORACE WALKER)

A fathomless lake of icy water, fed by a never-ending cataract leaping from a rock bluff 100 feet above, attracts tourists from every corner of America and Europe to this section in the summer time. This cold body of water is surrounded by natural scenery not to be equaled in North America, and many foreign visitors declare it to be more beautiful than anything in Europe. Hamilton Pool is located 30 miles west of Austin, in Travis county. It is reached by automobile over a scenic loop, one of the most beautiful sections of the state.

Hanging Stalactites

Extending back under a high semicircular precipice, part of the pool is rarely touched by sunlight. Great moss-covered stalactites point down from the roof of this half-moon shaped cave all the way across the broad entrance, some 200 yards in width. Water drops from these great limestone formations on the roof of the overhanging cliff in continuous streams, adding to the road of the great cascade which enters one side of the pool from the stream above and runs out of the lake a winding brook beneath great cypress trees in a little valley shut in by high cliffs.

Campers' Paradise

But stalactites are not the only formations on the "ceiling" of the precipice. The only swallows in Texas are to be found here, according to Henry Reimers, owner of the pool. These little birds live in mud-plastered houses on the under side of the roof of the cliff. They subsist upon mosquitoes. A sign reads: "Swallows swallow mosquitoes," requesting that visitors to the pool do not shoot the birds. Absence of mosquitoes, with the ideal fishing and swimming and beautiful scenery, make this place a camper's paradise.

Mr. Reimers, owner of a 3,000-acre ranch upon which Hamilton Pool is located, has erected steps leading down the walls of the cliffs, in order that visitors may descend in safety to the pool below. Two elevators containing big baskets are used to lower luggage of campers.

Conveniences Provided

Under the great sycamore and cypress trees that abound in the vicinity of the sandy beach of the pool are tables and benches, furnaces for camp fires and other conveniences for those who wish to spend the night or camp for a week.

In a little fenced-in area is a strawberry patch which, according to Mr. Reimers, produces every year more than enough strawberries for his family and those of his two sons who live on the ranch near the pool. Canna and other flowers bloom profusely amid the jungle-like foliage of the natural surroundings.

Unfathomable Depth

Basin creek, which feeds the waterfall into Hamilton Pool, has never been known to go dry in the driest of years, and the falls have never ceased flowing into the pool in the 80 years which have passed since the pioneer Hamilton first discovered the beautiful lake. No one has yet been able to find the depth of the pool, it is said.

Basin creek, after leaving Hamilton Pool, runs into the Pedernales river, a mile below. The Pedernales flows into the Colorado several miles above the Lake Austin dam, west of town.

The swallows which habitate the surroundings of the pool only come to this place in the summer time, according to the owner of the land.

"I have never seen a swallow before in Texas," said Mr. Reimers, "but they don't stay in winter time. They go south, coming back to the pool at the beginning of Spring."

Good Fishing

Hamilton Pool is full of perch and catfish—so full that they jump out of the water after fisherman's bait like game fish. The same pool is used for swimming, and a spring-board is located under the cliff for divers, dressing rooms for men and women bathers being situated back in the cavern-like opening. Numerous springs flow out into the pool, where the best of drinking water may be obtained.

An admission fee of 20 cents is charged by the owner of the pool, visitors being allowed to stay 24 hours for this price. Campers wishing to stay for longer periods are charged an additional fee of 10 cents a day, Mr. Reimers said.

Last July 4, 299 people visited the pool, according to the old proprietor, who has now passed his 74th birthday. Mr. Reimers has owned the land, including Hamilton pool and vicinity, the last 33 years.

"In a little less than two years," he said, "I have sold 7,000 admission tickets to the pool. If I was located a little nearer Austin, my business with tourists would be bigger, but I make considerable money off the place as it is."

Good Roads to Pool

The road to Hamilton Pool is one of the best dirt roads in Travis county. It traverses the purple crowned hills for which the Capital City is widely known, and descends into the valley of the Colorado river, running through a country where nothing but trees, hills, valleys and great distances can be seen. Very little farming is done in this section, and as a result it is one of the wildest native haunts in Texas.

Out of the entire 3,019 acres of Mr. Reimer's ranch, only 150 acres are devoted to agriculture, and these are cut up in patches located in various places. Cotton, corn, oats and sugarcane are raised on the Reimer farm. On the great expanse of grass land he has hundreds of head of horses, cattle and mules, a few sheep are also being raised.

Big Caves

In the little valley of Basin creek, as it flows from Hamilton Pool to the Pedernales, several cavern-like tunnels and big caves are located.

These were evidently formed ages ago by an eruption of the earth's surface, throwing up great masses of rock which have fallen together in such a way as to leave these big caves where, as Mr. Reimers says, "the Indians used to hide from the white men."

Ladders lead over rocks and obstructions in the caves and out through holes in the roofs of the tunnels to vantage points where one can see for great distances.

Mr. Reimers has turned the business of the farm and ranch over to his two sons, and all his own time is devoted to the upkeep of Hamilton Pool and the scenery in the vicinity. Automobile campers' grounds have been prepared on the tableland above the pool in the last two weeks, and tables and benches are located in several park-like areas, shaded by trees and swept by cool breezes. These places are also open to tourists.

'Y' AND 'YW' HOLD RECEPTION FOR SUMMER STUDENTS

Henry Libermann, Blind Musician and Composer, Plays His Own Compositions

Summer school students renewed old acquaintances or made new ones at the Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. reception held Tuesday evening in the parlors of the "Y." Approximately one hundred students and faculty members were present.

The following varied and pleasing musical program formed the diversion in the reading room:

Piano solo: (1) Valse Chromatique, Godard; (2) Liebesfreud, Kreisler—Lillian Augspurger.
Violin solo: (1) Souvenir, Drdla; (2) Madrigal, Simonetti—Darthula Davis.

Vocal solo: (1) Rain, Pearl Curran; (2) Haunt of the Witches, Cora Cassard—Mrs. W. E. Long.

Piano solo: (1) Spring Song, Libermann; (2) Slumber Song, Libermann—Henry Libermann.

Piano solo: Juba Dance, Dett—Ruth Penick.

Vocal solo: Yesterday and Today, Spross—Norma Chatham.

Vocal solo: Wake Up, Montague Phillips—Mrs. Henry Libermann.

Vocal solo: Gypsy Trail, Galloway—Edleen Begg.

The feature of the musical program was the performance of Henry Libermann, the blind musician and composer of state-wide fame. The compositions that he played were his own, having been composed some years ago for the convention of the federated music clubs of the State. Following the musical program punch was served on the front porch.
