U. T. War-Geared Summer Planned

Freshmen Advised 'Begin Basic Work'

Geared for war-time speed and production, the summer school will open June 4 with 450 courses offered the first term and 335 the second, which begins on July 13. Following the close of the second term, August 24, the intercession, a new three-week term which lasts until one week before the opening of the long session of 1942-43, will begin. Only twenty-five basic courses will be taught during the intercession. Purpose of this short term is to allow training in many vital fields to be started, so that students may push ahead into advanced study in fields such as physics, chemistry, engineering, and pre-medical work. One of the largest freshman groups to begin in summer school is expected this summer, since President Homer P. Rainey is urging high school students to begin their training at once. "There is not the time to waste," Dr. Rainey declared recently. "Our government is crying for trained men in certain fields, and those with ambition and ability in those lines should immediately begin work toward a day when they will be ready to offer their services in vital fields." Registrar's office workers at the University have been receiving from prospective students in high schools and junior colleges heavy mail concerning the program of war study to be conducted here.

Pollard Reveals Simpler Teaching of German

Presenting the result of six years experimentation in the teaching of German translation, C. V. Pollard, faculty member of the University German department, will speak tonight at 8 o'clock in the Physics Building Auditorium. Illustrated with slides, the lecture will be the first of two speeches explaining Pollard's simplified method of teaching German translation. The second lecture, also to be held in the Physics Building Auditorium, will be given Wednesday, April 22, at 8 o'clock.

'Pan Americanism Spirit Should Be International'

By JEANNE DOUGLAS

A dream that was born over a hundred years ago on an isle in the Caribbean Sea by Simon Bolivar came a step closer to realization Tuesday as the University's Latin-American conference terminated its first day's proceedings with a speech by Dr. Charles A. Thomson, chief of the division of cultural relations, Department of State.

Introduced by President Homer P. Rainey, Dr. Thomson declared that by cultural, scientific, commercial and agricultural cross-fertilization, the United States is expanding its program of Pan-Americanism as a "hard-headed, intelligent" development in the improvement of inter-American relations.

Dr. Thomson pointed out that while Pan-Americanism is only hemispheric in scope at the present time, its ideal should be worldwide.

"It can serve as a pattern for international society," he said.

In speaking of the work that the University has done in furthering cultural understanding between the Americas, Dr. Thomson said that the University is helping to build a Pan-American highway of spirit.

Going on to discuss the functions of his division, Dr. Thomson said that the State Department is encouraging cultural understanding because it is necessary if economic and political cooperation is to be permanent and sound.

Dr. Thomson told of the interchanges between the United States and the other American republics of art, music, and literature.

His speech was preceded by a message from Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, read by Dr. Rainey. "The policy of Pan-Americanism is based on two essential policies: recognition of the unrestricted independence of every nation and an inter-American democratic philosophy that is both national and international," he read.

Also featured on the evening's program was music from Brazil, Uruguay, Mexico, and the Argentine, provided by faculty members of the Department of Music. Thomas Gorton, pianist, and Miss Margaret Corbin, soprano, performed. Miss Charlotte DuBois was accompanist.

Wednesday's program of the conference will include a discussion of Latin-American literature by Señor Julio Jimenez Rueda, of the University of Mexico, at 10 o'clock in Texas Union 315; a discussion of economics by Dr.

By BILL TEASDALE

American art is a new cultural phenomenon that has to be understood for what it is within itself, and not merely as a degeneration of the classical forms of European culture, Señor Justino Fernandez of the Instituto de Investigaciones de Estetica told the audience at the inaugural meeting of the Conference on Latin-American Cultures Tuesday afternoon.

Señor Fernandez explained the development of the American culture by tracing the history of primitive Indian art through the colonial period of our history when it was blended with the European ideas up to the present day modernisms.

He explained that the validity of Indian art "should not be discussed in relation with the classical canons of Greek and Roman beauty, but should be studied to find in them the way they pursue the ideal of their culture—the sacrifice of the human life."

As the cultures of the Indians declined after the Twelfth Century, the art of Europe developed and was brought to this country and was merged with that of the Indians. "The result was not degenerated art, but a new artistic phenomenon, emerging from a conscience that was taking form in America," Señor Fernandez stated.

The new art was best demonstrated in the missions displaying both European and Indian architecture and in the paintings in the chapels.

The first political and economic battles of the century for revolutionary ideas were fought in Mexico, and along with these came a revolution in art. "We produced a modern painting of universal value that had not been produced in America before, an art of enormous significance because it reveals a living conscience of contemporary life expressed through American symbols," Señor Fernandez concluded.

The conference will officially begin with registration of all guests on Friday at 6:30 at the Y.M.C.A. building. An opening address by Rev. James P. Clements, discussing "The Christian Purpose," will begin the evening program at 7 o'clock. A mixer will follow the program.

Saturday will be devoted to discussion groups led by members of "Y" in Austin.

'Co-Ops Aid Our Consumer War Problems'

3-Day Meeting Planned This Week For Student League

Campus cooperatives give practical lessons in consumer education to university and college students all over the country, a University student high-ranking in the national co-op movement, pointed out yesterday.

Powell Compere, executive secretary of the Central League of Campus Cooperatives, to convene on the campus Friday through Sunday, said co-ops are part of the answer to consumers' wartime purchasing problems.

Compere, an organizer and member of Campus Guild here, was elected to the league post at the national convention in Lawrence, Kan., last year. He is chairman for the conference this week-end, at which some two hundred campus co-op members from Canada to the Gulf are expected to attend.

"Under the impact of present economic disturbances due to the war we are all realizing that the consumer needs to do something," he said yesterday. "Cooperation is the answer."

The conference will serve as a demonstration lab in what campus groups are doing in the way of dividing up work, building their own homes, group buying, and other means of saving on their education, he said.

"It's cheaper to go to college the co-op way than to stay at home," Compere pointed out, "yet eating and living is better than in other college places."

Meetings of the conference, to be held in the Union, will be in the form of roundtable discussions, and will detail both the practical side and the spirit of the cooperative movement. At one of the meetings, H. R. Gipsom, assistant dean of student life, will tell of the University group buying plan, under which several campus organizations purchase food and other supplies collectively.

The conference will have interest to all students, Compere said. "It ought to be emphasized," he added, "that the conference is not being held exclusively for members of co-ops, but can be of tremendous importance to all future consumers."

"It's simply a matter of learning ways to protect your pocket-book." Members of the twenty University co-ops will be hosts for the conference delegates, and Friday night a University-produced film, "The Co-Op Way," will show visitors and campus people all the angles of local co-op life.

Special exhibits on meal planning and house operation will be placed in the Union, Compere said.

"They will show how scientific planning by trained members has taken the place of hit-or-miss searching for room and board, without sacrificing democratic control," he said.

Old Students' Assembly Meets For Last Time

Meeting for the last time before new officers of the Students' Association are inaugurated, the Students' Assembly will convene at 7 o'clock in Texas Union 108 tonight. The officers who will serve in their executive positions for the last time before Thursday night at the inauguration banquet are Fred Nieman, president; Liz Sutherland, vice-president; and Mary Ann Hughes, secretary.

The inauguration banquet Thursday night when the new officers will be installed, will be held at 6:30 o'clock in the Home Economics Tea House. Those who will be sworn into office are Bill Barton, president; Bill Keefe, vice-president; Virginia Barbour, secretary; and Kiel Boone, chairman of the Judiciary Council.

Guests for the banquet include members of the Students' Assembly and Judiciary Council, and new and old editors of the student publications.

Lord and Lady Halifax Arrive Today at 12:15

A British Couple In the U.S.A. — Addition to Careers

It has been said that Lord Halifax once remarked that he would rather have and hunt a pack of fox hounds than be prime minister of England.

But born in 1881, the British ambassador to the United States sums up his long and useful career in his motto of public service without thought for personal advancement. His greatest desire is to live in the country on his farm in Yorkshire, and to devote his spare time to reading and studying.

Almost immediately after leaving the University of Oxford, of which he is now chancellor, Lord Halifax entered the House of Commons. Since then, practically his whole life has been devoted to public work. In 1914, he joined the British army and fought in France during World War I.

At the conclusion of the war, still a member of Parliament, he held many ministerial positions such as secretary of education, secretary for the colonies, and other important posts. In 1926 he was made viceroy of India. He held the position of secretary for foreign affairs until his appointment of ambassador and is still a member of the British War Cabinet.

Lady Halifax is tall and slender. Her gray-blue eyes are topped by heavy dark brows. She wears her dark hair, which is graying and bobbed, parted slightly off right center and turned up in a roll at back. She wears but a touch of makeup.

There is about her a quiet reserve rather than formality. Her expressive face reflects interest in people and in events—and hers has been a story-book life. Before her marriage in 1909, she was Lady Dorothy Onslow.

She was born in London but spent three years of her childhood in New Zealand, where her father was governor. Her family long was prominent in Britain's government. She is proud that among her forebears have been three speakers of the House of Commons.

She and Lord Halifax, then Edward Wood, met at the home of friends a year before their marriage. Of their four children, three sons are in the military service, and their daughter's husband also is on duty. The youngest boy, Richard, recently received his commission in the 60th Rifles after coming up through the ranks.

Lady Halifax has addressed several women's groups since arriving in America with her husband in January, 1940. She writes her own speeches, and a bit nervous as she begins, she delivers them in a simple, earnest manner without oratorical flourish. In personal conversation she is witty and kindly. Humor has helped her make the stiff British embassy more homelike.

Rubber Situation

Do We or Don't We? O'Daniel Says U.S. Chemists Coming

The Schoch synthetic rubber balloon received another inflation Monday as Senator W. Lee O'Daniel announced in Dallas that government chemists would soon visit the Forty Acres to inspect the new pilot plant of the University's Bureau of Industrial Chemistry.

The new pilot plant recently completed for testing the extraction of acetylene from natural gas was termed by the senator as being ideal for a conclusive test.

The process was developed by Dr. E. P. Schoch, director of the Bureau and professor of chemical engineering.

Reporting that he had seen the new plant last Friday, Senator O'Daniel declared that he was convinced that the Schoch process would be cheaper and more efficient than any other method.

O'Daniel said his information was based upon a telephone call to Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones in Washington asking that government chemists be sent for the inspection. He said he had been assured that Secretary Jones would take the matter up immediately.

HALIFAX

British Will Greet English in Famed Rare Books Rooms

A former subordinate of Lord Halifax's and a World War 1 soldier who was decorated by King George V will be among approximately fifty guests invited to have tea with Lord and Lady Halifax in the Rare Books Rooms at the University this afternoon.

Victoria, a composer, who was formerly inspector of schools in London while Lord Halifax was president of the Board of Education in the British cabinet, and Mrs. Tatton will be among the guests.

Another guest will be George Alexander Latham of Taylor, who was with the Liverpool Scottish in 1914, received the D.C.M. from King George in 1917, and was commissioned in the machine gun corps in 1917. Mr. Latham will attend with his wife and eight-year-old child.

With few exceptions, the invitation list is confined to past or present British subjects and their families. Two former students of Oxford University of which Lord Halifax is chancellor, will attend—Dr. T. W. Riker, University historian, and Terrell Sledge of Kyle, former Rhodes scholar from The University of Texas.

Lord and Lady Halifax will be shown through the Rare Book Collections, which rank first among state-owned college libraries and third among colleges of this country, surpassed only by Harvard and Yale. They are among the eight or ten rare book collections in the world.

Special exhibits arranged for the occasion of the Halifax visit include items that most strongly link British and American cultures, including the first printed Chaucer, the first folio Shakespeare, first Bacon's Essays, first King James' Bible, Gray's Elegy, Byron manuscripts and Victoria and Elizabeth autographs.

All-Afternoon Program Ready

Ambassador to Speak At Late Luncheon

The Forty Acres' finest welcome mat of greenery and bluebonnets is out today for a real show of Texan hospitality for the reception of Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and Lady Halifax, due to arrive at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon.

"Another milestone in a long history of amicable British-Texas relations," Governor Coke Stevenson has termed the visit of the British ambassador to Texas.

The distinguished party arrived in the State Saturday for a week's visit, coming principally as holiday visitors and secondarily as official travelers seeking information on the contributions Texans are making to the united war effort.

The group will be met at the Austin airport by the central committee headed by Governor Stevenson, Mayor Tom Miller and President Homer P. Rainey. Lady Halifax and her company, however, will arrive by car and go directly to the Governor's Mansion where they will be welcomed by Mrs. Coke Stevenson Jr., Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Rainey.

The official party will leave the Governor's Mansion at 12:45 o'clock for the Main Lounge of the Texas Union for an informal luncheon which will be open to the public.

The sale of tickets to the luncheon, costing $1, will be closed at 10 o'clock this morning. They are on sale at the Texas Union.

At the noon affair, President Rainey will preside and music will be furnished by the Longhorn Band under the direction of Colonel George Hurt. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Charles A. Sumners, rector of the St. David's Church; guests will be introduced, and a welcome address delivered by Mayor Miller.

A group from the University Light Opera Company will sing "He Is an Englishman" from their current production of "H.M.S. Pinafore." Lord Halifax will then be presented by the Governor, after which he will make an informal address.

At 2:45 o'clock Lord Halifax, Major Leslie B. Dufton and Colonel Angus McDonnell, will hold a press conference in the Governor's office.

During the afternoon, Lady Halifax and Mrs. Dufton, accompanied by Mrs. Stevenson Jr., Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Rainey will make a brief call at Bundles for Britain headquarters, followed by a short tour of a residential section of the city.

Tea, to be attended by present and past subjects of Great Britain, Oxford students, and the official party, will be held at 4:30 o'clock in the Rare Books Rooms.

At 5 o'clock a public meeting will be held in front of the Main Building with President Rainey again presiding. The band will play a twenty-minute concert before the Halifax party arrives. The party is composed of Lord and Lady Halifax; Major Leslie B. Dufton, H. B. M., acting consul, Houston, and Mrs. Dufton; Colonel Angus McDonnell; Governor Stevenson; Mr. and Mrs. Coke Stevenson Jr.; Mayor and Mrs. Miller; and President and Mrs. Rainey.

After a guard of honor is formed by 150 members of the Naval R.O.T.C. unit as the ambassador and party arrive on the terrace, the crowd will join in the singing of "God Save the King" and "The Star-Spangled Banner." After an informal talk by the Governor, Lord Halifax will speak upon his introduction by Mayor Miller. The program will close with the singing of "The Eyes of Texas."

The official party will leave the campus for the airport at 6 o'clock via Congress Avenue and the Capitol grounds where they will board a chartered plane for Fort Worth and Dallas.

IN A SCENE FROM "H.M.S. Pinafore" opening for a four-day run at 8 o'clock tonight at Hogg Auditorium, ardent Sir Joseph Porter, played by Louie Worthing, woos Betty Belle Lauder as Josephine, while match-maker Buttercup, played by Suzanne Rieker, looks on. With Peter Hansen as music director and James Moll as dramatic director, "Pinafore" has a double cast of principals, each of which will play two nights. Other leading members of the casts are: O. G. Wellborn and Frank Gardner who play the part of Ralph Rackstraw; Betty Merriman, Martin Clark, Frances Brown, and Fred Akin. Prices are: 55 cents general admission, 28 cents with blanket tax. Service men will be admitted free.

'Regulars' Win Intrasquad Tilt

Baseballers Meet Bears Next; Deutsch May Be Drafted

By BILL WHITMORE

Texas Sports Editor

The Steers went through a long fourteen-inning intrasquad game at Clark Field yesterday in preparation for their two-game series with Baylor on Friday and Saturday. The "Regulars" defeated the "Reserves" in the extended battle, 5 to 3.

Bill Dumke pitched eleven innings for the "Regulars" and the tall Wisconsin lad allowed only one hit and two runs. He showed no effects of the finger injury that contributed to his downfall against S.M.U. last Saturday. Neil Hector was one of the lads who had a pretty good day at the plate, collecting three base blows.

The Steers are doing a fair share of worrying about the Baylor series. The Bruins have already been knocked down three times in conference battles, but they still cannot be fully counted out of the championship running. The Steers will have to face the ace sophomore twirler in the conference in the Bear youngsters, Manuel Garcia and Harold Wafer. If the Steers can get past these two chunkers without a defeat, they'll be back in line for the championship.

Uncle Sam said the word for Wilson Deutsch yesterday, and it now appears the Texas Longhorns will lose their senior catcher and one of the four lettermen on the squad in a very short while.

Deutsch, a physical education major from Caldwell, received his orders from his draft board to report for immediate induction. He left for home yesterday morning to seek a deferment until June, but the odds are that he will not be able to stay in school until then.

If Deutsch does have to leave before the Longhorn season is over in mid-May, then the entire catching duties will fall on sophomore Jack O'Reagan, the husky young giant from Galveston. Thus far, O'Reagan hasn't done bad at all while dividing the work with Deutsch. He is hitting an even .500 in the conference standing.

Wiren Hits at Record In Track Practice Dash

By GEORGE RABORN

Texas Sports Staff

Apparently in excellent shape after last week's thrilling triumph over Rice and L.S.U., the Longhorn tracksters sped through another hard workout yesterday afternoon, with emphasis being placed in practice on slightly over-distance runs.

Highlight of yesterday's practice was Jean Wiren's blazing 300-yard dash, which he streaked in the near-world's record time of 30.8 seconds. The world's record in this event is 30.4 seconds, and the bespectacled Wiren covered the distance in the fastest time ever turned in on the Memorial Stadium track.

5 Co-Ed Teams Begin Preliminaries In Sorority Bowling

Preliminaries in the sorority league bowling tournament began Tuesday with five teams already entered and perhaps one more entry, Jack Wessler, manager of the Longhorn Bowling Alleys, has announced. The entries to date are Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Phi Mu, and Klip Klub, while Zeta Tau Alpha is only tentative.

The actual play-off will not begin until next week when all the teams have entered and played. From these preliminary games the two leagues are determined, each league having four teams with five girls on each team.

The tournament is scheduled for a period of six weeks, during which each team plays once a week. Flight sheets are arranged so as to give a team two games with its competitor. The two league winners will enter the finals to decide the championship.

To the winner of the tournament will go a gold statue of a woman bowler, mounted on a pedestal, which is on display at the bowling alleys.

18 Smallpox Cases in Texas

There are eighteen smallpox cases, making up an incipient epidemic in Texas, and recorded in the State Health Department. Reports of new cases are still coming in.

Steer Golfers to Play Aggie Linksmen Here

The University of Texas golfers will meet Texas A.M. here at the Country Club in their third pre-conference match of the season. This time the Longhorns will only use five men since the number six slot is open as Bill Roden has dropped out because of defense work he is doing.

In their pre-conference match last week with the Baylor Bruins the Texas linksmen dropped only one match. In their last meet with the Aggies, although the number one and two men dropped their matches, Texas won, 4-2. Although none of last year's men will be back the Steers are still rated as the favorite with these five men playing: Ed Brady, Ernest Fortner, Bill Russell, Claude Wild and Ted Roden.

The last sport on the docket is track, for which entries must be in the intramural office by next Thursday, April 23, so team managers should hustle and see that their men are practicing for the intramural cinder event.

There will be three big track days for the intramural track boys, the first being on Tuesday, April 28, when the preliminary meet for all running events will be held. On the same day, less than two weeks away, divisional and intramural finals for the shot put and the high jump will also be run off.

Thursday, April 30, is the second important afternoon for the last sport of the year. On this day there will be divisional finals for all the running events which go through the preliminary stage on April 28. The last day in April will also see the finals, divisional and intramural, for the javelin and broad jump.

The field day for 'mural trackmen is Monday, May 4, for on this date the intramural championship meet is scheduled. Finalists of the divisional meet for the running events will have their last fling then.

For each event in the little Relays, five points will be awarded to the first place winner, three points to the second place finisher, and one point to the winner of fourth position. In relay events the points are scored eight, six, four, and two for the four places.

Low Scores Mark Tuesday's Mural Baseball Contests

In two league playoffs in intramural hardball Tuesday afternoon, the Phi Delta Theta's eased out the Phi Kappa Sigma's by a score of 2 to 0, and the Sigma Phi Epsilon's edged past the Kappa Sig's by the narrow margin of 1-0 behind the steady hurling of Bill Gossett.

Buddy Hemingson pitched for the Phi Delta Theta's and subdued the Phi Kappa Sigma's by allowing only six hits. His pitching opponent, Curtis Klaerner, who last week twirled a two-hitter, allowed only six hits also, but lost the tight affair.

John MacSeay caught for the Thetas, and Ed Winn backstopped for the Sigs. Grady Jordan for the Phi Delta Theta nine rapped out two hits in three tries to aid the Thetas cause.

Bill Gossett of the Sigma Phi Epsilon allowed the Kappa Sigs only three hits to win 1 to 0, with Don Kirk behind the plate for the S.P.E.'s. David Belew hooked up with Gossett in a second pitcher's duel of the day, and allowed but four hits. His batterymate was Jack Browder.

The Phi Delta Thetas and the Sigma Phi Epsilon will play for the fraternity championship this

Famous Rider to Judge Horse Show Saturday

Kay Abernathy, sweetheart of the University, will present one of the $5 books of defense stamps as a first prize at the Bit and Spur Horse Show at 2 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock Saturday, April 25, at Camp Mabry. Mrs. Gladys Henderson, director of the Union and sponsor of the club, will also present one of the prizes.

Mr. Temple Stephens of Moberly, Mo., nationally known rider of three and five gaited saddle horses, will be one of the judges at the show. An army man will act as the other judge.

Mr. Stephens has judged such shows in Texas as the Houston and Wichita Falls Horse Shows. He is also owner of Easter Serenade, chosen the champion five-gaited horse at the American Royal Horse Show at Kansas City.

The afternoon show will be of special interest to those interested in jumping and thoroughbred horses while the night classes will be exclusively given over to saddle horses.

The Bit and Spur show is one of the few shows to have a hunter course set up outside the ring. This course is in plain view of the grandstand and consists of natural type barriers that will be spread out around the adjoining polo field. The hunt team class, in which three horses are jumped in consecutive order, and the pair jumping classes, in which two horses jump abreast, will use this course.

In a third hard-hitting softball encounter, the Alleycats nosed out the Vel War's by the close score of 10 to 9, as David Bissett hit a home run in the last inning of play with the score tied to win the game for the Alleycats.

NAVY ANNOUNCEMENT TO COLLEGE FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES 17 THRU 19

You want to serve your country! Why not serve where your college training will do the most good?

Under the Navy's newest plan, you can enlist now and continue in college. If you make a good record, you may qualify within two years to become a Naval Officer—on the sea or in the air.

Who may qualify

80,000 men per year will be accepted under this new plan. If you are between the ages of 17 and 19 inclusive and can meet Navy physical standards, you can enlist now as an Apprentice Seaman in the Naval Reserve. You will be in the Navy. But until you have finished two calendar years, you will remain in college, taking regular college courses under your own professors. Your studies will emphasize mathematics, physics and physical training.

After you have successfully completed 1½ calendar years of work, you will be given a written examination prepared by the Navy. This examination is competitive. It is designed to select the best men for training as Naval Officers.

How to become an Officer

If you rank sufficiently high in the examination and can meet the physical standards, you will have your choice of two courses—each leading to an officer's commission:

1. You may volunteer for training as an Aviation Officer. In this case you will be permitted to finish at least the second calendar year of your college work, after which you will be ordered to active duty for training to become an officer-pilot. Approximately 20,000 men a year will be accepted for Naval Aviation.

2. Or you will be selected for training as a Deck or Engineering Officer. In this case you will be allowed to continue your college work until you have received your degree.

After graduation you will be ordered to active duty for training to become a Deck or Engineering Officer. Approximately 15,000 men a year will be accepted.

If you do not qualify for special officer's training, you will be allowed to finish the second calendar year of college, after which you will be ordered to active duty at a Naval Training Station as Apprentice Seaman.

Those who fail to pass their college work at any time may be ordered to active duty at once as Apprentice Seamen.

Your pay starts with active duty. Here's a real opportunity. A chance to enlist in your country's service now without giving up your college training... a chance to prove by that same training that you are qualified to be an officer in the Navy.

8 Forums to Study Defense At Panhellenic Workshops

By JANE HARKRIDER

The tire shortage has turned another convention into a purely local affair. Panhellenic, national intersorority organization, accepted the suggestion of the National Panhellenic Congress to have a local Workshop Day instead of the usual Regional Conference.

Sorority women's part in the national defense program will be the center of interest Thursday when the University's nineteen sororities take part in the city-wide Workshop Day.

The purpose of this day-long meeting of sorority members and alumnae is four-fold: to discuss rush rules and make plans for the future, to increase the efficiency of the sororities on the campus, to increase their ability to function together, and to find the part the sororities should play in national defense.

President Homer Price Rainey will be the principal speaker at the luncheon in the Junior Ballroom at the Union Building from 1 to 2:30 o'clock. Renee Wolfe, chairman of Panhellenic's Workshop Committee, will preside at the luncheon.

Eight officers forums to discuss various sorority problems have been scheduled under the direction of Margaret Wendlandt, a member of the Workshop Committee, for Thursday afternoon from 4:45 to 5:45 o'clock.

The Presidents and Standards Chairmen of the sororities will meet at the Gamma Phi Beta house with Miss Dorothy Gebauer, dean of women, as leader. The vice-presidents and pledge trainers will meet at the Alpha Epsilon house under the leadership of Mrs. Kathleen Bland, assistant dean of women. Mrs. Clarence E. Crooke, grand vice-president of Alpha Gamma Delta from Lincoln, Neb., will work with Mrs. Bland.

Dean Gipson, assistant to the dean of student life, Martha Kennard, and Anna Munger will lead the forum for treasurers and house managers at the Delta Gamma house. The forum for recording and corresponding secretaries at the Delta Delta Delta house will be led by Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men, and Miss Lorena Drummond of the Public Relations Office.

The intramural managers' forum, under the leadership of Mrs. Frances Seybolt, director of girls' intramurals, will be held at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

Scholarship chairmen will meet at the Pi Beta Phi house under the leadership of V. I. Moore, dean of men, and Mrs. Charles Clark. Leader of the activity and social chairmen's forum at the Alpha Gamma Delta house will be Miss Alma Widen.

Defense chairmen will meet at the Alpha Chi Omega house. Their forum will be led by Miss Margaret Peck, social director of all University dormitories.

The day's activities will end in a compulsory meeting from 7 until 8:30 o'clock in the Union ballroom for all sorority members (except seniors), unless excused by the chapter president, to discuss rush rules.

All alumnae members of every sorority are urged to attend the alumnae conference Thursday morning from 11 until 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Roger M. Busfield, province director for Alpha Gamma Delta, will direct the forum.

Ex-members of the association are especially invited, Kiblinger said. All are requested to wear costumes. In deference to those who wish to attend other functions, however, that hay seed look is not compulsory. Any attire will be admitted.

Ex U.T. Boles Plays Singer at Queen

Chickens always come home to roost and John Boles, in staging his movie comeback, has roosted in the Queen Theater for the two day showing of "Road to Happiness."

Boles, who was an ex-student of the University, has played opposite practically every glamorous girl in Hollywood, but this time he slips and plays against Mona Barrie, but with Billy Lee. Billy, the 11-year-old wonder of Filmland turns in a very, very good performance, but we can't say much for Miss Barrie.

It is the old, old story of the well-deserving but poor papa who comes back from years of voice study in Europe only to find that his once-upon-a-time wife has divorced him, is remarried and has placed his son (and hers) in a fancy military academy. Things come, things go, and in the end everything turns out all right.

Boles, who has one of the loveliest baritone voices we've ever heard, sings to perfection in the picture. These scenes are really the only worthwhile ones because the others are either so gushy or melodramatic that they become tiresome far too early for any decent scene.

The beginning comes very near to ruining the whole thing. Scene is that of an ocean liner coming into New York port. The first thing shown is young Lady Liberty. This is a very good chance for some "good down-to-earth" patriotism, but John Boles begins singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and somehow or other the whole thing looks like something out of Ziegfeld instead of a bit of the heart. This could have been improved.

Hands Across the Ocean —

A Handclasp Engenders Confidence

There's a bit of trite verse which reads: "I'm sure that we would differ less,

And clasp our hands in friendliness;
Our thoughts would pleasantly agree,
If I knew you and you knew me."

Today, Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and Lady Halifax will pay an informal visit to the Forty Acres.

That means that we, as students, will have the signal opportunity to meet and talk with the chief representative of a country that so many Americans, spurred on to a great extent by Axis propaganda, have so often criticized and mistrusted, especially since our entry into the war.

Too often we misunderstand and misinterpret the actions of individuals and nations because of incorrect stereotypes built up in our minds from cartoons we see and from one-sided arguments we hear and accept without questioning either their source or authenticity.

How many instances can you recall when you thoroughly disliked a person whom you later discovered to be a genuine friend sharing a common ideal and aim?

Here today is a man, holding a British position second in importance probably only to Prime Minister Churchill, who has the capacity to dispell the doubts of many Texans who like their information straight from the shoulder.

He can tell you, as he recently stated in a Washington address, that the British Army is not sitting at home behind its bayonets as Nazi propagandists insist, but that over 70 per cent of casualties suffered by the armies of the British Commonwealth to the end of 1941 were sustained by troops from Great Britain.

He can inform you that the English are not just sipping tea, making fortunes and waiting for America to win the war. He can explain that it is all but impossible for anyone in Great Britain today to enjoy an income larger than $25,000 after the tax has been paid; that British war expenditure in 1941 had risen to near 60 per cent of the national income; that up to the end of 1941, 43,357 British men, women, and children were killed and slightly under 50,000 seriously injured.

He can tell you that between September, 1939, and February of this year 8,754 German and Italian planes were brought down by the RAF and by Dominion and Allied squadrons operating with them, or by British anti-aircraft fire; that together with the RAF, the navy has destroyed or damaged five and a quarter million tons of the enemy's merchant ships.

If we can clasp his hand in common friendliness, we can feel greater confidence, and assurance in these words from Lord Halifax's speech:

"During the darkest days we held the fort and we kept the faith. I think we justified the confidence that our friends—and you especially—showed in us. The impression I have in my mind, and the one I have tried to convey to you, is that the British really are a people stripped for action. With you and other United Nations, we are gathering our strength for the final day of reckoning—and may it come soon!"—J. E. P.

China Looks to Us
For Help and Hope

America and China are partners dedicated to the smashing of a common enemy. For us it is a new war with newer and sharper realities every day. For China the war in all its devastating aspects has entered its fifth year. During these long bitter years China has looked to America for friendship, for help, and for hope.

China's example of resistance has been an inspiration to all the freedom-loving peoples of the world. Now that we are at war, she must be allowed to continue that resistance. We must help her to continue so that Japan will be harried on the home front and will be free to do as little damage as possible to the United Nations on other fronts.

Said President Franklin Roosevelt on February 7 in a message to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek: "The tenacity of the Chinese people, both armed and unarmed, in the face of tremendous odds in carrying on for almost five years a resolute defense against an enemy far superior in equipment is an inspiration to the fighting men and all the peoples of the other United Nations."

"I extend to you across land and sea the hand of comradeship for the common good, the common goal, the common victory that shall be ours."

This is United China Relief Week throughout the United States. Contributions of medical supplies, food, and clothing will be bought with funds received and sent to homeless Chinese refugees. Plans for receiving contributions on the University campus will be announced later.

During the last five cruel years China has looked to America for friendship, for help, and for hope. We must keep alive that hope by showing the people of China that the people of America are their friends.

When we help China, we are helping the C power of the United States and the United Nations.—B. O.

America 1st, But We've
More to Fight For

AMERICA FIRST.

One does not have to think back far to recall the committee which bore that name and the arguments which that committee put before the nation.

The members and followers of that talkative organization tried to tell the American public that if it would lie still and do nothing, Hitler and Mussolini and the rest of their friends would pay no attention to the United States or even to the Western Hemisphere.

Maybe so, if the United States had not long ago decided to become a part of the family of nations.

Pearl Harbor and events and statements since then have well proven that America's part in the world conflict was not going to be wholly up to her to plot.

It became evident that America occupied too important a position—geographically, economically, politically—to be left alone while the world changed about her.

The philosophy of America First was pretty conclusively shown to be wishful thinking.

But during the month since Pearl Harbor certain phrases and arguments have crept into our national thinking which smack very much of the America First thought.

An average Sunday afternoon's radio programs will produce a peck of these statements.

The idea is dwelt upon that we are to go out and belt the Japs and the Germans, presumably just to PROTECT our shores and our "way of life."

It makes fine fighting talk, but let it not be the sole significance of this conflict in the minds and thoughts of the intelligent person who is attending this University.

The America Firsters were the persons who sabotaged the good that might have come of World War I.

In our country, they were the Congressmen and other leaders who kept the United States out of the League of Nations and the World Court where she might have been the difference between failure and success of the international movement.

Also in this country and in others, too, they were the leaders who put personal and national interests above unselfish and international interests.

Wars among nations result from clashing aims and goals; so it must be apparent that wars will continue so long as intense nationalism is allowed to drive certain countries and their leaders to climb higher than their neighbors.

It may not be for this generation to see, but only when all the peoples of the world are striving together will international conflicts with all their useless bloodshed be gone.

Let men of the United States go to war to preserve the American way, yes, but let them also see a greater, an international responsibility.—J. H.

Contemptuous Affairs

BY EDDIE GRIFFIN

We were ducking out of the Library's reserve room, the other evening, wondering how to pay for a misplaced book which would never do anyone any good anyway, when someone tapped us on the shoulder with the tenderness of an octopus.

It was Prudence, our small, fantastic co-ed acquaintance. Hello she says and are you busy? We said yes because we had to buy some flowers to send to Liz Sutherland on account of she is being such a nice, quiet little girl lately.

Prudence says yes but you can spare a minute can't you. And anyway, she says, that's what I want to talk to you about. We said what. Politics, she says. There is something I want you should know. We shuddered at the word and glanced around. Several smokers were glaring at us. We said hush hush, Prudence, and please don't bring up matters which are dead and buried—at least for this year.

She says but it ain't dead. She says this is something personal, and your brotherly advice is needed. We said what is wrong and relaxed in a resigned manner.

You remember how I campaigned on election day for Mister Bob Owens who wanted to edit the Texan Prudence says. We said yes. She says well, I would stand around over there in the Law Building and pass out handbills and request all the lawyers to vote for Mister Owens. I wore my most seductive dress, she says.

What does that explain, we said.

Prudence says I'm getting to that, and ever since election day some of those lawyers have been phoning me and saying they want to be my big brother and don't I want to go out with them.

And don't you, we says. She says no. She says they are all nice people, maybe, but I thought especially lawyers knew that anything goes during politics which don't mean anything in normal times.

We said oh. We said aren't you happy to get so many phone calls and be so popular. Prudence says well but I'm a very busy little girl as it is, and I haven't got time to keep turning down all those nice lawyers who think I meant what I said on election day.

We said you're very busy, huh? She says yes. We said what are you doing. Prudence says I'm planning my campaign for the secretary's race next year.

We said oh.

Washington Round-Up

F.D.R. Predicts
3 Years of WarG. E.-Krupp Alliance
Blamed for Slow-Up

From I.N.S. Reports

In Washington, President Roosevelt estimates that it may take three years for the United Nations to achieve victory over the Axis. The Chief Executive furnished this forecast to the heads of Latin American diplomatic missions in the capital and suggested that World War II should be called the "Survival War." Mr. Roosevelt promised the diplomats that Latin America will have a voice in the peace conference after warning them that we wouldn't live the same kind of lives if Germany dominates any part of the Western Hemisphere.

Aid to France May End

The delicate diplomatic thread that still binds the United States and the Vichy government is being strained close to the breaking point. Congress is alarmed by the implication of Laval's return to power and is demanding that America reply with a show of force to Marshal Petain's latest capitulation to Hitler.

Many members of the House are opposed to further American appeasement of the Vichy regime. Demands were voiced that the United States seize by force any French possessions deemed vital to the prosecution of the war. But both the White House and the State Department are delaying enunciation of the strategy to be pursued by the American Government. Officials are awaiting a full report from American Ambassador William Leahy at Vichy. Nevertheless this government already is prepared to suspend immediately all American economic assistance to France.

Patent Agreement Scored

Meanwhile, the Justice Department is blaming a patent agreement between General Electric Company and Germany's Krupp Works for America's unpreparedness in the vital machine tool field. John Henry Lewin, of the department's anti-trust division, told a Senate committee that General Electric, in cooperation with Krupp has retarded production and sale of tungsten carbide. This material is necessary in production of better-type machine tools. Lewin said General Electric's purpose was to gain complete control over the American market for cemented tungsten carbide and that the German firm cooperated in this endeavor.

War In Brief

Vichy Threat
To Allies Grows

From I.N.S. Reports

Adolf Hitler scored a diplomatic victory in Vichy Tuesday night with the return of Pierre Laval to power in the French Government.

In a climax to constant Nazi diplomatic pressure, the champion of increased collaboration between Vichy France and Germany, was reportedly named "chief of government." While Petain still carried the title of "chief of state" after the cabinet shakeup, information received from Vichy at a late hour made it clear Laval will be the dominating figure in the Vichy government.

Throughout a day of hectic developments in the capital of unoccupied France, it was evident that the Nazis had given the strings between Berlin and Vichy a determined jerk with the hope of laying hands on the French fleet and French bases in West Africa.

Nipponese Strike at Upper Burma Oil Fields

The picture in Burma remained grave. Imperial and Chinese troops bitterly contested a triple-pronged Japanese drive aimed at the oil riches of upper Burma. While a Japanese column was attempting to divide the British and Chinese forces fighting in the eastern and western portions of the embattled country, a British communique disclosed that the enemy had occupied Migyung in western Burma. The village is only twenty miles south of Magwe, gateway to the oil fields in the upper Irrawaddy Valley.

In the Australian theater of war, United Nations bombers continued to pound Japanese bases on the string of islands north of the "Down Under" continent. Nearly sixty Japanese planes have been knocked out of action in this area since Friday.
