AIR AFFAIRS FLASH

It is learned in London that the Renault works at Billancourt in the German-occupied portion of France were bombed by the Royal Air Force last night.

The works are very large, and are situated on the bend of the Seine to the south-west of Paris.

Renault is a household word in France, and the Renault works have become the outstanding symbol of collaboration with Germany. The company is known to have been engaged in making and repairing transport vehicles, tanks, and aero engines for Germany.
