Legislative Highlights

Texan Capitol Correspondents

Search and Seizure Repeal
Preacher Legislators
Educational Advancement
Governor's Salary

Voting to refer to a sub-committee two bills relating to the repeal of search and seizure acts passed in 1923, opponents of Senator Thomas Love, Walter Woodward, and others who were favoring the repeal of the acts on the ground that they violated certain tenets of the constitution, practically killed the bills when they acted adversely.

A proposal of Col. J. Lewis Thompson of Houston to bar ministers of the gospel and priests from seats in the Legislature, governor, and lieutenant governor, was definitely defeated by vote of the House committee on constitutional amendments. B. J. Forbes and J. W. Harper, both preachers, were his chief opponents.

Bills coming before the committee on education provide better rural school aid, a more adequate Board of Education for both State and county, and a marked advance in other educational activities among which is the provision for teaching physical training in the public schools.

An amendment to the constitution that would raise the salary of the governor from $4,000 to $10,000 a year carried the House by a vote of 104-22. Various arguments were advanced in favor of the raise. Texas, the biggest state, pays its chief official less than any other state, with the exception of two, it was shown by statistics offered in favor of the bill.

George Purl of Dallas averred that with a bigger salary more capable men would be induced to run for governor. Purl also put up a stirring defense of "the boys in the forks of the creek" when allusions were made to the effect that the country people would kill the bill. An amendment was offered to the original which would decrease the amount from $10,000 to $8,000 by Snelgrove and Veatch. This was voted down after the proposer had fought for their amendment on the grounds that the people of Texas were not willing to accept such a radical change.

Independent school districts having an assessed valuation of $25,000,000 or more and having an attendance of more than 400 students in the high school can, by a vote of the qualified voters of the district, organize and maintain junior colleges, under House Bill 10 which was finally passed by the House Tuesday.

The junior colleges would teach the first and second year college courses.

The tax that could be levied for the support of such colleges would be restricted to 25 cents on the $100 valuation.

The bill brought forth considerable debate both Monday and Tuesday but was finally passed by a vote of 82 to 35.

It is estimated by the authors of the bill that approximately twenty-seven counties and twelve cities of the state could qualify under this bill to organize colleges. Of the 12 cities, eight now have some form of junior college already organized.

An amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, increasing the membership of the Supreme Court from three to nine; abolishing the present Commission of Appeals; and providing for a continuous session of the court was favored by the House of Representatives Tuesday by a vote of 119 to 6. Under the resolution, this amendment would be submitted to the people of Texas on July 16, 1929.

Recommendation that A. & M. College be allowed to accept a tract of several thousand acres of land for experiments in forestry as a gift from John M. Kirby, was included in a bill which made legal such a gift. Mineral rights were retained by the donor. The bill was reported favorably from the committee on education.

PAYNE SPEAKS AT GARRISON HALL TODAY

Lecture on Bible to Commence at 5 o'Clock

'POORLY EDITED'

Speaker Will Suggest Ways of Reading Classic

"The Bible as Literature" will be the subject of a lecture to be given by Dr. Leonidas W. Payne this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Garrison Hall Auditorium. Dr. Payne is a professor in the department of English, and has edited and written a number of books since receiving his doctor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1904.

Dr. Payne's lecture will be a consideration of the Bible from the standpoint of being a literary masterpiece as well as substance in ethical and moral teaching. From the literary point of view the Bible has been the worst printed and worst edited of all the classics, states Dr. Payne. In his lecture Dr. Payne will tell why these conditions have been true and will show how the modern approach to the Bible as literature is aiding in correcting some of the mistaken impressions of the Book. Dr. Payne says of the Bible, "It is the most widely known and least understood of all the classics."

Dr. Payne has taught Bible for many years in advanced Sunday School classes. For the past several years he has given a series of lectures on "The Bible as English Literature," and the influence of the Bible on present day English literature.

It is Dr. Payne's opinion that no one may be considered well educated without knowing the Bible and knowing it fairly well.

In his lecture Dr. Payne will suggest some ways of reading the Bible in order to best understand it, and will also suggest the best literary form of the Book at the present time.

SIGMA IOTA EPSILON HEARS TEXTILE MAN

Pool Addresses Meet Of Management Fraternity

Carl Pool, president of the Pool Manufacturing Company, Sherman, and chairman of the industrial section of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce was the honor guest at a dinner given at the Men's Faculty Club on Monday evening by Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary management fraternity.

Pool is a graduate of the University, having graduated before there was a separate school of business on the campus.

In the discussion which followed the dinner, he gave his reasons for believing that Texas has a great future in the manufacturing field; not only in textile manufacturing, but also in other branches. Differences in labor conditions and in costs of living constitute the chief advantages possessed by Texas in his opinion.

Mr. Pool expressed his conclusions on the position and opportunities of the college-trained man in manufacturing. He thinks that this outlook is very promising, but issued the warning that the college man's greatest obstacle is his tendency to over-estimate his own ability, and his value to the firm whose employ he enters on leaving school.

POWER GIVEN COMMISSIONER IN LAND SALE

Bill Granting Control To Regents Is Refused

TEN CENT RENTAL

Representative Coke Writes Substitute Proposal

Branding as unsatisfactory the Senate bill by which the Board of Regents would be given control of sale of oil and mineral rights on University lands, the House committee on public lands voted Tuesday night to amend the bill so that the enacting clause was the only part which remained the same. The power of sale would be given back to the land commissioner, under the substitute, which will be reported favorably. Another substitute measure, which would place the power in the hands of a board consisting of two regents and the land commissioner, was voted down.

The new bill provides that in place of the $1 per acre rental minimum prescribed, that the minimum be ten cents per acre. The minimum royalty would remain at one-eighth, with the land commissioner retaining the right to reject any and all bids.

An entire section is devoted to what shall constitute the better bid, where there is a bonus offered and the amount of royalty stated. The new provision is that each additional one-eighth royalty offered over the minimum royalty of one-eighth, shall be equal to the highest cash bonus offered.

Representative Coke Stephenson of Junction, author of the substitute, explained that with this provision, all discretion as to which was the better bid would be taken from the land commissioner.

Any penalty that might be assessed against those who lease the lands, would be paid into the available fund of the University, instead of the permanent fund.

The bill provides that the Board of Regents shall hire a mineralogist, and geologist, who shall keep both the land commissioner and the Board of Regents posted as to the value of the lands. The men would be paid salaries not to exceed $6,000.

The usual provisions for survey, and the keeping of the records in the office of the land commissioner, were included.

LONGHORNS SETTLE DOWN FOR PORKER FRAYS

SPORT TALK

By BOB CANTRELL
TEXAN SPORTS EDITOR

CONFERENCE	STANDING	P	W	L	Pct.
Arkansas	6	6	0	1.000
Texas	5	4	1	.800
A. & M.	5	3	2	.600
S. M. U.	6	3	3	.500
Baylor	4	1	3	.250
Rice	5	1	4	.200
T. C. U.	7	1	6	.143

Pete Cawthon and Ziggy Sears had a great time calling fouls in the Texas-S. M. U. game Monday night, according to all reports. Three men were banished from each club by the officials for excessive personal, and in the long run it was personal which lost the game for the Steers.

Newspaper reports have blamed Jake Looney with committing the foul which lost the game. One can't blame Jake too much, as the Steer guard had been playing a whale of a game all the way, and was attempting to break up a dribble by Brooks when the latter bumped into him, and Cawthon called the foul on Looney.

A place on this 1929 Steer baseball nine is going to be hard to make. That much has been demonstrated with two or more good men reporting for each position, and with each man showing up well. The infield has some ten or twelve stars on hand, while the outfield boasts of six men capable of making any club in the loop. The hurling staff will carry a full quota of southpaws besides the small army of right-handers who have reported for service. Three capable catchers have appeared on the scene.

Big Bob Carr found the range of the right field fence yesterday afternoon and blasted a drive over the fence. Tommie Hughes did his best to knock two or three boards off the same wall with a drive that lacked inches of clearing the palisade. The drive bounded back into the infield before it stopped rolling.

The University of Florida has signified its intention of entering the fifth annual Texas Relays, and has asked Ox Higgins for further information concerning the carnival. The 'Gators are the first team east of the Mississippi that has answered the notices sent out by the relay officials a short time ago. The University of Wisconsin also has definitely stated that they will have a relay team at the meet.

Van Lamm and Nono Rees, members of Walker's cage squad, were out looking the baseballers over yesterday afternoon. Rees was especially interested, as Big Foot Lewis, Big Bob Carr, and Bob Williams are all getting the jump on him for the backstop position. Van Lamm will probably be in the outfield, and took several cuts at the ball yesterday. Lamm comes down from Michigan, where he has been hitting everything that has been thrown him the last four years.

Rice has set a good example for T. C. U. to follow. Within three days after Claude Rothgeb had told the Owls that he was through, Jack Meagher had been signed by the Owl officials. There were no long drawn-out arguments over whether a man was good enough for the job or not. Meagher is a good coach, and will make the Houston institution a great mentor, and will build a powerful club for the rest of the conference members to look over.

The Ponies probably set a conference record for holding the ball in their game with Texas Monday night when they kept the sphere for three minutes without getting rid of it. Numerous times during the game, a Pony would get the ball and stand in one place without moving. It was this stalling game that threw the Steers off their balance for the fray, and won the game for the Ponies.

It is reported that Francis Schmidt scouted the Steers in their clash with T. C. U. in Fort Worth Saturday night, and he took down everything that the Texas five did. If it was Schmidt, he probably found out a lot before the night was over.

When the Porkers invade Austin this week-end, they will bring a club that has averaged 49 points per game, and that has done the greatest amount of damage in the last 15 minutes of play.

Steers Lay off Court After Return to Austin

By BOB CANTRELL
Texan Sports Editor

Disappointed and upset, the Steers returned from Dallas yesterday morning, and took a full day of complete rest before jumping into a two-day practice session for the Porker games. Sore in mind and body, the Longhorns were offering no alibis for their defeat, but were swearing to wreck ruin and disaster upon the Porkers when they hit town Friday and Saturday.

The game with the Ponies was the roughest game that the Steer five has engaged in this year. Three members of the club were chased for excessive personal, while three members of the Mustang quint were given the air for the same reason. Brock was wearing a couple of badly skinned knees Tuesday, and other members of the club were feeling sore from bumps and falls.

The loss to S. M. U. makes imperative the winning of the two Arkansas games, here this week-end, and the winning of all the other scheduled games this season. A split with the Porkers would erase all chances that the Steers have of ousting the Hogs from their stronghold on the conference cage title which they have held for the last three years, and which they seem well on their way to coping again.

Texas' chances for coping either of the games will be null and void if the rumor that was circulated on the campus during the day yesterday that Big 'Un Rose and James Fomby were ineligible is true. With both of these men out of the game, the Longhorns will find themselves minus a stellar center.

Sug Camp and Holly Brock, the Steer's scoring twins, will be rarin' to go in both clashes, and these two little but fast forwards will give the Porkers plenty of trouble. Big Red Wray, Nono Rees, and Jake Looney will hold down the guard positions, with the big men getting the call before the midgets.

Hog Forwards Fighting for High Point Honors

Special to The Daily Texan.

FAYETTEVILLE, Feb. 5.—At the same time Francis A. Schmidt's six-footers are fighting for their fourth successive title in what they term their hardest assignment of the season against the Texas Longhorns, a merry battle will be going on within the Porkers' own camp.

This scrap will have the eyes of Arkansas on Texas that night for native sons are anxiously watching the result of the "Pickell vs. Schoonover" race for high scoring honors.

The lanky Pickell, who stands barely six feet, will go into the game with a four-point margin over his brunette rival. Pickell is topping the circuit with 91 points.

Once and only once did Schoonover ever temporarily hold the leadership, and that was for less than 24 hours in the Baylor series. On the opening night Schoonover chalked up 26 points. However, on the following night Pickell came right back to resume his crown with 22 points, while the Bruin defense centered around Schoonover.

It is calculated now that Pickell will only have to average eight points and Schoonover nine points in their remaining six conference games to shatter the Big Ten individual scoring record established by Johnny Miner, of Ohio State, who made 133 points for a season's play in 1925.

Found Porkers On Mud Courts; Now Champs

Special to The Daily Texan.

FAYETTEVILLE, Feb. 5.—Truth may be stranger than fiction but this one is hard to believe. But believe it or not, it's so.

Francis A. Schmidt, the man has taken the mere "kids" for the last three years and re-vamped them into champion basketball players of the Southwest Conference, never once played a varsity game of this sport in his life.

A graduate of the Nebraska Cornhusker school, Schmidt had other things to do besides play or even try to play varsity basketball. But he got the fundamentals in his head, and they stuck. Seemingly, he got just the right amount of "corn" from the Cornhusker school to feed his Hogs the proper diet.

Six years ago when Schmidt came to the Ozark hills, the Porkers were playing basketball on a mud court. He didn't know the game, according to Hoyle, or Schmidt either. But that's where Francis came in.

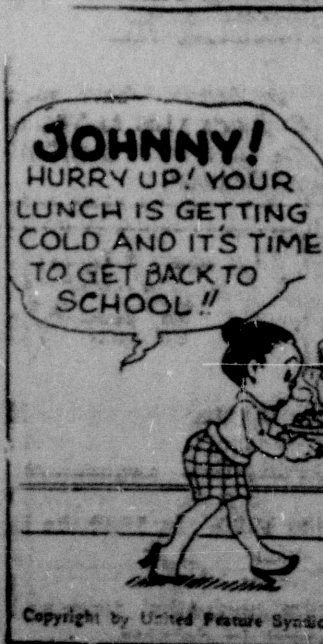

Yet, despite the fact that this man has never dressed in varsity basketball togs, he was given national recognition by being named on the national rules committee at New Orleans. And his "kid" team, the members of which are all in their teens, is well on the way for a fourth successive title, provided the Longhorns don't bump them out of the race.

TICKETS TO PORKER FRAYS READY FOR STUDES AT 9

Tickets for the Arkansas games will be ready this morning at 9 o'clock at the offices of the Athletic Council in Z Hall, according to Wiley Glaze. Tickets for both games will be handed out beginning at this hour; but persons may secure tickets only for the night on which their division is scheduled.

Persons whose names begin with M, N, O, or P will be able to secure tickets for the first game Friday night, while those whose names begin with F, G, or H will get ducats for the second clash Saturday night. Blanket tickets may be exchanged, but only persons with last names beginning with one of the seven letters will be able to secure a ticket for either game.

LARIA MUGGS

Steers Add Infield Work Second Day Out

The second day of baseball practice found a slight taste of infield work-out added to the program of pepper games and batting practice, which gave the men a chance to test the throwing ability of their arms. Coach W. J. Disch was ordering the men to take it easy, and not cut loose with anything. In batting practice, the men were taking good healthy cuts at the ball, and lashing drives deep into the outfield.

One club, with Walker on first, Hopkins on second, Rhoads on third, Watson at Short, Hughes, Davis and Ford in the outfield, and Big Bob Carr behind the bat, was on the field for about thirty minutes going through a fast infield and outfield practice. Another club took over the diamond after Disch sent the other club to the showers. The old-timers were looking like a million dollars, and for a rookie to break into the line-up, he will certainly have to get in there and fight. Minto White at short for the rookies, looked the best of the newcomers, while Doc Leach, at first, didn't look so bad.

Big Bob Carr contributed a high one over the fence, when he lashed a drive beyond the right field palisade, and Tex Hughes sent one crashing into the fence a few inches from the top of the same wall. Big Foot Lewis, rookie catcher, cracked one to the cliffs in left.

Bib Falk and Patsy Allen were out again, and will continue to report for work with the Steers until ordered to their respective training camps. The squad was augmented by the reporting of Allen Ingram, a rookie right-hander, while a number of fresh hurlers reported for batting practice and pitching.

STEERS MAY GET GAME WITH IRISH

Plans for beautifying the entrance to Clark Field and for the ratification of the schedule for the non-conference baseball games will be the chief considerations at the regular meeting of the Athletic Council this Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A.

Games with the Yanks, Giants, Northwestern, and the Osaka Japanese club have been scheduled definitely. The Notre Dame club may be on the card, since the club is making a tour of Texas this spring.

An invitation from Tulane to the University asking for a dual tennis meet will be considered by the council. Freshman cross-country numeral awards also will be considered.

way for a fourth successive title, provided the Longhorns don't bump them out of the race.

Florida Requests Meagher Goes To Rice as Head Grid Coach

Special to The Daily Texan.

HOUSTON, Feb. 5.—John F. (Jack) Meagher, head football coach at St. Edwards University, Austin, has been named to succeed Claude Rothgeb as head football coach at Rice Institute, according to an announcement made today by J. T. McVants, chairman of the Rice athletic council. It is expected that Meagher will report to the Houston institution around February 20.

Meagher was mentioned as a successor to Rothgeb when the latter retired a few days ago, and today's announcement that Meagher had been picked to succeed Rothgeb came as no surprise to close followers of athletic affairs at Rice.

Meagher, a former student and football star at Notre Dame, will bring many of the Notre Dame tricks to Rice, and the rest of the conference clubs will have path stars from the Southern association to compete in the carnival.

The 'Gators are the first track team east of the Mississippi to enter the relays, and will bring some of the outstanding cinder nival.

ST. EDWARDS COACH HAS SUCCESSFUL RECORD

The news that Jack Meagher has been named head football coach at Rice was no surprise to his friends here in Austin, as they knew that Meagher was being mentioned for the post. Meagher has had a very successful career while coaching at St. Edwards. Starting there in 1916, he has put powerful clubs in every conference in which St. Edwards has participated since he has been coaching there.

One of the reasons why he was signed by Rice was the 31-0 trouncing his Saints handed the Owls last year. Another reason was a 26-0 licking handed Simmons. Meagher's clubs have won 75 per cent of their games since entering the Texas Conference, and have always had a fair degree of success against Southwestern Conference teams.

Late Tuesday afternoon, no move had been made by the St. Edwards authorities to replace Meagher.

"Such popularity must be deserved!"

Down deep in the Kongo the native sons believe that anybody who has an explorer for dinner will absorb all the brains, courage and other success-assuring virtues of the unfortunate victim.

We wish we could say the same of Chesterfields—that all their popularity is conferred upon whosoever smokes them. Frankly, however, this is not invariably true. Several Chesterfield smokers have recently been discovered who are not ambassadors, steel kings, or even bank presidents.

But—since Chesterfields are so satisfying, mild and different—we'll all of us continue to enjoy them for these sound smoke-virtues alone.

Popularity? Six million smokers are enjoying 'em today. Such popularity must be deserved. Make it six million and one?

SELF-CONFIDENCE.

An expression one often hears is that "the world takes you at your own valuation." In modern times this statement is especially true; for in the scurrying rush of the business world too many contacts are made in the course of the day to admit of a close study of each character met.

Confidence in one's own abilities, therefore, is more necessary now than ever before. It is the chief prerequisite for success in any undertaking which requires the co-operation of others for securing a good job when applicants are numerous. Self-confidence and the assured bearing born of it, coupled with a fair amount of skill, impress employers and fellow workers as no ordinary show of ability could do. There are, of course, in the world a great many people who have this quality in an excessive degree; but even these, it seems, somehow accomplish more than their more modest brethren.

The breeding of this confidence, then, the awakening of a feeling that whatever problem presents itself will be dealt with adequately, is one of the principal ways in which the University benefits its students. The graduate may be engaged in some kind of work not touched upon in the slightest degree by his University training; yet he feels that he is able to solve any problem that comes before him.

Ex-students feel, somehow, the pressure of the University behind them, urging them on to success; and with such a bulwark to protect them they feel that they cannot fail.—F. R. M.

What Do You Know About—

By J. C. WATKINS

1. Texan flies?
2. Senate votes?
3. Shakespeare's golf?
4. Washington rumor?

As this is being written a Texas flier is speeding across the continent at 180 miles an hour, on a non-stop coast-to-coast flight.

Captain Frank M. Hawks of Houston is the latest to attempt to better the record of 18 hours and 58 minutes set by Art Goebel. He took off from Los Angeles Monday night at 5:30 o'clock, flying an improved model Lockheed ship. A new type of motor cowl on the plane is claimed to increase the speed 20 miles an hour.

Turning thumbs down on pacifist pleas, the Senate votes in the time clause on the cruiser bill, which provides for construction on the 1st ships to begin before 1931. In so doing the body overrides President Coolidge's express wishes, who favored the elimination of the clause. This elimination, it is said, would create nothing more than "paper" ships.

Party lines went to smash on the proposition, Democrats and Republicans combining on both sides of the issue. And it might interest you to know that the Democratic Senators Mayfield and Sheppard of Texas voted to eliminate the time clause.

Now it is discovered that Shakespeare knew his golf.

An English journalist, proving that the Bard of Avon was equally good with pen or putter, discloses a few of Shakespeare's remarks on this fascinating pastime of following the gutta-percha. The Bard states:

"Cursed be the hand that made these fatal holes," Richard III.

"Uneven is the course, I like it not," Romeo and Juliet.

And the caddy must have said: "A plague upon the tyrant that I serve. I'll bear him no more sticks," The Tempest.

Here is some trouble in a sand trap.

"Aye, my good lord, safe in a ditch he bides with twenty trenched gashes on his head."

The dub who fans the air cries: "A fourth! Start eyes! What! Will the line stretch out till the crack of doom? Another yet? A seventh. I'll see no more."

And the nineteenth hole:

"A garish flag, to be the aim of every dangerous shot," Richard III.

Washington rumor suggests:

That Henry L. Stimson will be the next Secretary of State.

That Harlan F. Stone will be Attorney-General.

That Ray Lyman Wilbur will be Secretary of Interior.

Meanwhile Hoover, vacationing in Florida, refuses to affirm or deny the rumors.

Collegial:

There is a rumor that President Coolidge may be offered the presidency of the University of Michigan.

Cramming for an examination unbalanced the mind of a New York student, and he hanged himself Monday.

Williamette University, a theological school, is now advocating a revocation of dancing in order to stop "necking" and "show-going."

The University of California announces that R. A. Storton, curator of the museum of paleontology, has set out on an expedition along the Canadian river in northern Texas in search of fossil remains of animals supposed to have ranged the hills and dales of the Lone Star State 7,500,000 years ago.

Bunk opines as how he would rather pay the piper than the judge. He says the judge is too well versed in the "fine" points of the law.

MARY AND JIM A Story of Idyllic Love

SYNOPSIS—

Jim starts for home after making his fortune in the city whither he went when he learned that his girl friend and fiancée, Mary, loved another. This other, Percy the traveling man, turns out to be a married man, much to the neighbors' glee and Mary's chagrin. Jim is on his way home to claim the hand of his affianced bride.

Chapter XII.—With the Spring Came Jim.

The spring with the little lovebirds twittering in the trees had come to Podunk Center and everything was blooming, even the village idiot who was slightly more blooming than ever. Cowslips were the order of the day and romance was in the air or thereabouts. And with the spring came Jim in all his city finery.

He was dressed much better than Percy had been; he had seen to that, and as he strolled jauntily up the avenue he swung his cane leisurely against his spats in order that attention might be called to them, not that it was necessary, for everybody had noticed them when he stepped off the train.

He was going to see Mary and he was so tickled.

As he came up the walk from the front gate, Mary ran out to meet him and sobbed out her joy at seeing him. She flung herself into his arms with ladylike abandon. He handed her the bag of gold to pay the mortgage and kissed her a symbolic three on the forehead. Then, he picked her up and carried her over the threshold.

KRISHNAMURTI EXPLAINED BY D. RAJAGOPAL

Religions of Mankind Discussed by Scholar

The message of the Hindu leader, Krishnamurti, stressing the need for the individual to search out the greatest enjoyment of life as derived from his own inner spiritual harmony and unity, was explained at the Driskill Hotel ballroom Tuesday evening by his friend and follower, D. Rajagopal, who appeared in Austin under the auspices of the Order of the Star, local philosophical organization.

Many of the religions of mankind defeat the very purpose for which they were initiated, it was pointed out by Rajagopal, who is a graduate of Cambridge University and a student of all types of religions as they affect the individual.

"Christ, Buddha, and other great spiritual teachers had the right religion within themselves, but today we often find religion a cause of dissension, division,

Saturday night, Mr. Baker said.

The day is being sponsored by the Student Council of the Wesley Foundation, a national organization with organizations at many state and non-denominational colleges and universities. Miss Viola Kellum is president of the University of Texas council.

M. G. BURNSIDE ELECTED TO INTERNATIONAL MEET

The experience of being elected student representative of the colleges of the United States for a conference with leading European universities at London on the subject of "International Relations" is one which has fallen to at least one University student, M. G. Burnside, a student in the Graduate School, and past president of the local International Relations Club.

At the time of his election in 1923, to represent American colleges abroad, Burnside was a senior at Furman University at Greenville, South Carolina. Since that time, he has represented his Alma Mater on the cinder path as sprint man, and as member of the boxing squad in intercollegiate competition.

Before leaving the South Carolina school, he was elected to the chairmanship of the honor council. Furman was the second university in the United States to adopt the honor system and it misconception and misunderstanding. "Prejudice, of which every man is a bundle, is the principal inhibitory force in the gaining of a serene outlook on life," the scholar pointed out.

The teachings of Krishnamurti deal with freedom from prejudice, and the development of peace within the individual. It is said by Rajagopal that Krishnamurti desires no recognition as a religious leader; the principal idea of the Hindu leader being that each individual has his own religion within himself.

The speaker was introduced by Frank L. Reed, who was professor of music at the University for 12 years.

has always worked there, says Burnside.

Burnside is at present preparing for the United States diplomatic service by obtaining a doctor's degree in government.

IT'S HERE TONIGHT!

'HIT THE DECK' STRIKES AT THE HANCOCK TONIGHT WITH MUSICAL MARVEL COMPANY

This is a cardinal date in the local theatrical calendar for tonight the widely acclaimed international success, "Hit the Deck," Vincent Youman's new musical comedy, comes to the Hancock Wednesday and Thursday, February 6 and 7, with matinee Thursday.

"Hit the Deck" brings with it a tang of the deep salt sea, and with it two famous tunes, "Hallelujah" and "Sometimes I'm Happy," now familiar everywhere, this sensational musical comedy of America's youngest composer-producer comes in all its nautical jauntness.

But these by no means are the high lights for song hits as the score boasts of twenty odd alluring numbers, among which are "Join the Navy," "What a Kiss Among Friends," "Harbor of My Heart," "Loo-loo," "Nothing Could Be Sweeter," and "If He'll Come Back to Me."

The Youman's piece has been the outstanding rage in New York for over a year, as well as six months each in Chicago and Boston, also a solid year in London, where it was acclaimed as the best musical comedy that has ever crossed the seas.

Vincent Youman's is the young man who composed the music for "No, No, Nanette," in which he introduced "I Want to Be Happy" and "Tea for Three." "Hit the Deck" is his favorite musical child and he has assumed responsibility for the production. Fortune is again smiling upon him as a theatrical producer. He is only 28 years of age, a genius of song, and as it appears, a genius also of showmanship.

The production which Mr. Youman is sending here is replete in every particular, being an exact replica of the New York company.

There will be an augmented orchestra to play Mr. Youman's specially instrumented score.

A large male chorus of "gobs" will make life aboard the U. S. S. Nebraska a reality, and Broadway standards have been maintained in the selection of a chorus of exceptional beauty, charm, and grace.

For local presentation of "Hit the Deck," Mr. Youman has provided a production which is an exact duplicate of the original Broadway Company. There will be a cast of notable favorites headed by Miriam Crosby, and including Edward Garr, Hope Dale, Katherine Gingham, Ernie Mack, Betty Benton, Rita Carita, John Robb, The Mannequin four, Lois Landis, Dan DeReo, Butler Middleton, with a double male octette, and a singing and dancing chorus of Broadway splendor. An augmented orchestra is carried by the company to assure music lovers of a worth while musical comedy presentation.

'LEOPARD LADY' AT THE TEXAS

Said to be one of the most dramatic De Mille Studio productions of the year, "The Leopard Lady," a novel and absorbing story of circus life in Austria, featuring Jacqueline Logan, Alan Hale and Robert Armstrong, will have its premier showing at the Texas theater today.

There is no denying the popularity of Jacqueline Logan. Her artistry has swept her to new and unquestionable heights of public favor.

For the first time since "The Covered Wagon," in which she achieved distinct success, Alan Hale is playing a leering, despicable heavy in "The Leopard Lady."—P. A. R. C.

HOBBLED MAN AT CRESCENT

"The Man in Hobbles" playing at the Crescent for the last times today, treats that old favorite concerning the newly married couple and the wife's relations with a deft and frivolous touch. Or maybe they intended for the picture to be serious—but anyway, it's deft and frivolous, so you may as well hush!

Pretty good but emphatically nothing to fall under the seat about. Down at the Crescent today only. So if you ever liked Lila Lee, this is a pretty good time to renew your acquaintance. —B. D.

CALIFORNIA TEAM PRAISE U. OF TEXAS

By J. T. JUDD

"We firmly oppose judge's decision in intercollegiate debating," said John Arthur Reynolds and Sanford Goldner, the visiting debaters from the University of California. They went on to explain that they believed the decision should be given by the audience since, in this way, it gave the debaters a better chance to pick his own latitude in what he says and how he says it. "Sometimes," they continued, "in the way the proposition is stated it is practically impossible to expound on the question fully when, in the back of his mind, the debater knows he must direct his speech to the judges."

Texas was the last school team debated against before returning to California. Last Friday night they debated Baylor at Waco. This was the first time they have stopped in Texas, either at a school or in a town. "The University of Texas," they both said, "is the best school we have ever visited. We like it, even as much as our Alma Mater, California. It combines the best qualities of the Old South and the New West into a type of excellence that we have not found in either the north or east."

Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Goldner have both debated for the University of California before, though this is the last year that they will represent that school. They graduate in June.
