LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS TO MEET MONDAY

25 Bills Are Before House to Be Considered

NEW PAROLE BILL

New Substitute Prison Measure Is Drafted

With the Senate gone for the week-end on a tour over prospective prison sites in Huntsville and other South Texas towns, and the House having adjourned without a quorum Friday, after a 20 minute session until Monday at 10 o'clock, the called session of the Forty-first Legislature ended its first week with little more accomplished than organization.

Some 25 bills have been introduced in the House to date, and are in the hands of the committees. The measures are in line with the program laid out by Governor Dan Moody, and deal with prison concentration, education, and institution of a system of civil service that would place state offices on the merit basis.

After being defeated in their effort to leave the selection of a prison site open, the administration forces, led in the House by Representative Harry N. Graves, drafted a new bill that would limit the prison to Walker County, near the old prison system at Huntsville. The administration also has a parole bill, and a bill that would increase the pay of guards from $60 to $75, both of which are now in the hands of the committee.

The Senate has shown more willingness to line up with Governor Moody in his program than has the House. An indication that the Senators favored consideration of his measures was made when they refused to consider appropriation bills in preference to administration bills at the first of the week.

Governor Moody left at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning for San Antonio to participate in the Battle of Flowers parade.

REHN ATTENDS MEET OF MILL EXECUTIVES

Professor Henry J. Rehn, research accountant in the Bureau of Business Research, left this week to attend a meeting of textile mill executives held in New Orleans Friday.

Professor Rehn is going from New Orleans to Greenville, South Carolina, where he will spend a week studying the cost accounting system of textile mills. He will check the cost accounting systems of the eastern mills against those of the Texas mills.

Professor Rehn will be gone about ten days, according to Professor C. F. Lay of the School of Business Administration.

PHI DELTA PHI MEETS

Phi Delta Phi will meet this Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in the Cactus Tea Room, it was announced Friday by Arthur Haddaway, manager.

LLOYD D. MANN

MANN ENTERED IN RACE FOR YELL LEADER

Candidacy Based on Experience in School

The friends of Lloyd D. Mann announce his candidacy for yell leader on the basis of personality and sportsmanship.

Mann was high school yell leader two years and freshman yell leader in '26.

Mann has been a leader among his associates both in high school and in the University. And he does not fear to take the initiative.

His personality is one of his most important attributes. He is engaging, sincere, and thorough. Lloyd stands for the highest and truest sportsmanship and the spirit embodied in "For Texas I Will."

Lloyd, his friends believe, is the Mann for the job.

STATE LEAGUE MEETS MAY 2, 3, AND 4 HERE

Students to Assist in Entertaining Visitors

NAME COMMITTEES

Registration Begins Wednesday at YMCA

"Lodgings for Interscholastic League contestants have been actively solicited for three weeks past, and still we are some eight hundred lodgings short," said Roy Bedichek, Chief of the League Bureau, yesterday afternoon.

"We are very grateful to the Pre-Med Society for relinquishing the Woman's Gymnasium for their dance to make room for 150 cots which will be installed to help take care of girl contestants. Although this function had already suffered one postponement, Leland Evans, and his committee, generously agreed to a second postponement in order that the guests of the University during the meet may be taken care of."

Approximately two thousand contestants and delegates are expected to attend the state tournament to be held at the University May 2, 3, and 4, according to Mr. Bedichek.

The contestants are due to start arriving about Wednesday. Dean V. I. Moore, chairman of the reception committee, has announced that the Orange Jackets, headed by Antonette Bracher, and the Cowboys, headed by Jake Looney, will be on duty for the meet. The Y. M. C. A. will be headquarters for registration, according to Ruth McMillan, head of the registration committee. Some 30 students have been asked to help both on this committee and on the reception committee.

Accommodations for the delegates are being taken care of by Coty M. Mouser. He reported that approximately 700 lodgings have been secured by student solicitors. The Women's Gymnasium will be utilized. Mrs. Beulah Hill has charge of assigning girls to lodgings.

Transportation for contestants will be furnished by a committee headed by Alfred Rose.

Ellwood Griscom, Jr., associate professor of public speaking, is chairman of the committee that will have charge of boys' and girls' declamation, extemporaneous speaking, and boys' and girls' debating. Dr. Clarence Trueman Grey of the department of education will be in charge of the 3-R contests, while Samuel E. Gideon will have charge of the committee on art contests.

Dr. D. A. Penick, who has handled the Interscholastic League tennis matches for the last 17 years, will again be in charge of the boys' and girls' tennis tournament. Dr. Penick will use his entire tennis squad as officials for the matches.

Morton Brown, director of the Curtin Club, will have charge of the one-act play contests, and Miss Florence Stulken will be chairman of the committee on typewriting contests.

Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the Interscholastic League, will have charge of all track and field events. Some seventy-five officials will assist him.

CANDIDATE

ARRINGTON IS CANDIDATE FOR SECRETARY

Attendance Record At Assembly Stressed

Clara Marie Arrington, members of the Students' Assembly from the School of Education, has announced her candidacy for the office of secretary of the Students' Association in the election May 7.

In view of the fact that she is the only candidate who, as a member of the Students' Assembly, attended more than half of the meetings of that body this year, she has had experience enough, her supporters say, to qualify her as the most logical candidate for the office.

Besides an understanding of the Students' Assembly gained through an almost perfect attendance record, Miss Arrington has served in other positions of responsibility at the University. She is vice president of the School of Education, a member of W. A. A., the Physical Education Club and was an active worker in the recent Union Drive.

SKELTON NAMES TAX COMMITTEE

The blanket tax apportionment committee has been appointed by Byron Skelton, president of the Students' Association, to meet Friday, May 3, to determine the amount to be given each activity for 1929-1930. The committee is composed of Jimmie Miller, Virginia Montague, and Robert J. Hammond, and Byron Skelton, ex-officio member.

All organizations desiring to receive part of the blanket tax fund should get in touch with Skelton within the next week in order to appear before the blanket tax apportionment committee, it was announced.

Activities which are receiving a part of the blanket tax fund are men's athletics, W. A. A., Girls' Glee Club, Men's Glee Club, Longhorn Band, student government, Oratorical Association, and the Texas Students Publications, Inc.

BREMOND STUDENTS VISIT UNIVERSITY

The trip was made primarily to study proceedings of the Legislature.

SPURGEON BELL

BELL ENTERED BY FRIENDS IN PREXY'S RACE

Serves Four Years in Various Campus Activities

Spurgeon Bell was entered in the race for president of the Students' Association Wednesday when his friends filed a petition with the secretary of the Students' Association, initiating his candidacy on the belief that four years' experience in various student activities give him a first-hand acquaintance with student problems that will qualify him to serve as student president with distinction.

Among Bell's qualifications, his support is urged that two years' experience as Academic Assemblyman equip him with a knowledge of constitutional affairs that will be essential in the redrafting of the laws of the Students' Association in accordance with the new constitution, should it be adopted.

His long activity in official capacities with various campus organizations further equip him to fill competently such an office. Bell has served as president of the University Y. M. C. A.; president of the Baptist Students' Union; and president of his freshman class. He has been prominent in University forensic activities as a member of the Varsity debating squad, victoriously representing Texas against California and Arkansas this year; as winner of the Houston Post-Dispatch extemporaneous speaking prize and one of the winners of the Luther Stark debate prize. Bell has been a member of the team representing the Athenaeum Literary Society in the last two inter-society debating seasons. His ability in this line of activity was recognized recently when he was elected to Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity. He has been constantly active in all movements for the betterment of the University, serving as chairman of the academic department of the Student Union Campaign last year. Bell was recently chairman of the general program committee of the legislators' tour of the campus.

His supporters urge his candidacy on the ground that merits and ability, proved by four years of activity on the campus, and maturity and experience in University affairs on the campus render him pre-eminently qualified to fill the office of President of the Students' Association.

Higgins Cracks Out 3 Blows to Lead in Attack on Douglas

By BOB CANTRELL
TEXAN SPORTS EDITOR

Playing great baseball behind the steady hurling of Oscar Peebles, rookie right-hander, the Steers broke the Bruin jinx and copped the opening game of the series 4-1 yesterday afternoon. Peebles, one of Uncle Billy Disch's boys "who doesn't know how to pitch," held the Bruins to a lone bingle, a two-base blow off the right field wall by Wilson in the second, which was converted into their sole tally a few minutes later when White threw wild to third on Koch's grounder in attempting to catch Wilson.

While Peebles was holding the Bruins at bay, Pinky Higgins and Tommy Hughes were combing the delivery of Fuzz Douglas, premier orthodox hurler of the loop, for five blows and four runs. Higgins and Hughes drove in three of the Steers' runs, Higgins scoring two of them.

Good Field Support
Douglas pitched a steady game after the first frame when an error, base on balls, two singles and a sacrifice hit accounted for two runs. In addition to hurling a nice game, Douglas received great support from Wilson and Stearnes in the field, both of whom made shoe-string catches of drives that looked like hits.

The Bruins went out in one, two, three order in the first round, when Bassett got under Smith's looping fly to right; Peebles tossed Potter out at first, and Lamm looped under Stearnes' try.

Bassett Scores
The Longhorns lost no time in getting next to Douglas, and aided by Bruin errors, counted twice. Bassett was safe when Potter failed to keep his foot on the bag. Van Lamm cracked a single off Gilliland's shin, and Bassett drew up at second. Higgins waited Douglas out and stroled to fill the sacks. Hughes shot a single through short, and Bassett raced home for the first tally. Hopkins sent a long fly to Wilson in center field, and Lamm streaked in home after the catch. Walker forced Hughes at second, and White fanned swinging to end the round.

The Bears came back with a bang. Wilson opened with a double off the right field boards, and scored when Minton White, rookie short stop, threw wild to third on Koch's grounder. Gilliland popped out to Peebles on a weak attempt to poke a blow into right. Roach skied to Lamm in left, and Sebastian went out, Peebles to Walker. From then on the Bruins got only one man on the bags, and that in the fifth when Gilliland's grass cutter got through Higgins' legs.

The Steers threatened to score again in the third, when Higgins doubled to left with one gone, but Hughes and Hopkins were easy outs. With two gone in the fifth, they added a lone counter. Higgins shot a single into left, and raced to second when Koch booted it. Leaving with the crack of the bat, he raced home when Hughes beat out a hit down the first base line.

Steer Home Run
The Steers added their last tally in the seventh, when Higgins cracked a circuit blow over the right field wall after two were laid by. The Bears were in there trying hard as they came to bat in

'BLACK ACES' TO PLAY FOR GERMAN
After having recently returned from a successful tour in New York and other eastern cities, Adolph Trent and his "Black Aces" will be the drawing card at the German in the Woman's Gymnasium tonight.

The orchestra, composed of typical southern negroes, originated at the Adolph Hotel in Dallas. They also have furnished the music at the Gutter House Roof in San Antonio. Recently they were an attraction at A. & M. where they played for the Volunteer dance.

It is expected that many happy students in Austin for the ball games will remain for the dance tonight.

TE-WAA-HISS TO INSTALL OFFICERS
New officers for Te-WAA-Hiss will be installed on Gypsy Day, the final outing of the year, Saturday, May 4, at Oak Lodge.

What Do You Know About—

By J. C. WATKINS

1. Mother Nature?
2. Mussolini?
3. Mark?
4. War?

Mother Nature wrecked havoc with the United States over the week. Blizzards in the far west, floods along the Mississippi, and tornadoes in the southwest combined to take a heavy life and property toll. Men and machinery battled to strengthen levees of the swollen Mississippi, though a break occurred near Knowlton, Arkansas. From snow-swept sections of Wyoming came reports of severe damage to stock and loss of one life. Crippled railroad service was the outside world's only contact with Cheyenne, Wyoming, where battered-down telephone and electric wires cluttered the streets, and electric current was shut off to avoid possible deaths by electrocution. Residents burned candles to furnish light in their homes.

Georgia and South Carolina suffered yesterday. Fifty were reported dead, nearly 300 injured, and property damage was set in excess of $1,000,000 after tornadoes had roared through sections of the states.

Mussolini, the dynamic one, sees another flaw in his nation and proceeds Mussolini-like to remedy it. Through his secretary he issued an edict yesterday prescribing the skirt length of young girls to be "at least two fingers' length below their knees."

Perhaps your economics professor sees through this to another panic. There was a sharp decline in the value of the German mark yesterday, due to the upset in money conditions that followed the crisis in the reparation negotiations in Paris. Heavy demand for American dollars on the exchange market forced the mark down to the lowest since 1927. New York reported heavy selling of this currency to force quotations down to 23.68 cents to the mark.

General Calles, director of the theater of war in Mexico, informed his manager, President Gil, that the stage was set for the annihilation of the rebel west coast army, north of Navajo, Sonora.

General Espinosa's federal cavalry undertook a forced march yesterday to completely surround rebels. While the main federal army attacks on the front, Espinosa intends to make the girl he left behind proud by beginning the extermination in the rebels' rear.

Loyalist forces brought up artillery during the day, as well as a large supply of 75-pound bombs for aircraft. Rebel escape is believed impossible.

The big news concerns the farm relief bill, now before the Senate. This brand-new offspring of several midnight committee meetings was voted in as a child with a great future by the House, with a count of 367 to 34.

The bill, which has the approval of President Hoover, would create a federal farm board and place at its disposal a revolving fund of $500,000,000 for use in loans in an effort to control crop surpluses. This board would be assisted by stabilization corporations. A legislative battle of major proportions is expected in the Senate over the matter.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OH, merry I would be
If merry be I could
But a fellow can't be merry
Just because he should.

THESE HATS

No matter where I go,
No matter what I do,
No matter how I try
To keep my hat in view—
I lose my hat.

I do not care to stop,
I do not dare to pause,
My lagging spirits flop,
And this is all because—
I lose my hat.

If I should take my hat
And tie it on with string
No matter what I'd do—
I could do anything—
I'd lose my hat.

And if I ever am,
Some place where I shouldn't
And I should run away
'Twould be no use, it wouldn't,
I'd leave my hat.

And so to circumvent
An awful fate like that
I take the weather as it comes
And never wear a hat.

IDLING ALONG WITH EILERS

One factor that usually makes a STRONG appeal in any kind of politics is the type of cigar used by the candidate.

The voice of the people is supreme, but most of them don't care to contribute to its vocalizing ability. The result is a still small voice which is not really the VOICE of the people.

A philosopher was telling us the other day how women handle their husbands. He said, "You can lead a mule to the water trough, but you can't make him drink. However, if you leave him there a while, he WILL drink."

Be that as it may, experts are still looking for a remedy for the divorce evil. And they will never find it because there are too many phases of the disease.

SARDINE GOES TO PRESS NEXT WEEK

The Sardine, the official year-book of Scottish Rite Dormitory, will go to press at the end of next week and will probably be returned and ready for distribution by the third week in May, just before final examinations, according to Everett Love, editor-in-chief.

The principal features of Sardine are the pictures of the eight girls selected as favorites of the dormitory; an alumnae section, senior and junior sections, a literary section, and a feature section containing humorous sketches of dormitory life, Miss Love said.

FIRING LINE

A GOVERNMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT, BY THE GOVERNMENT, AND FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

Loyally supported by "Good Morning," the Phi Beta Kappa dynasty approaches a general election with every assurance that the revisions they have written into the fundamental law will go over with a bang. Their hopes are not ill founded. Ex-President Bob Eikel has brought to the task of rewriting the constitution those brilliant intellectual qualities which not so long ago confounded the old line politicians. To the twenty-seven free "A's" which then swept him into the presidential chair, he has added many more. And his successor in office, Mr. Byron Skelton, had so many free "A's" on his own account that none durst oppose him when he declared for the presidency. Like Pericles, the Athenian, this man rules by sheer force of intellect. His permanent record is his sceptre.

Unfortunately for sovereigns of exalted intelligence and high moral purpose, there is an unruly demon on the campus. And occasionally the mob would have a show of deeds. Some one yawns. And then a glorious dynasty is destined to crack.

Forget for the moment all these free "A's" and the rest of their dynamic paraphernalia and take a look at this constitutional business. Just what do we get?

To use one of President Skelton's pet phrases, we will have a general "clarification of the law." So far, so good. But why the necessity for clarification?

Mr. Eikel has the answer here. "That the fundamental law," he says, "may be more efficiently administered." This administrator, by the way, had no end of trouble with inefficient laws, so he speaks in the wisdom of experience.

"But," asks some turbulent spirit of the demos, "to what end must these laws be administered? And why?"

This question would be pertinent if sovereign political entities were under discussion. The answer would be something like this: to preserve the physical independence of the group; to promote its material prosperity; and to foster its moral and intellectual welfare. But it has no bearing on the question of this so-called "student self-government." So far as any study of actual accomplishment will reveal, it may be said that student self-government exists for the purpose of framing constitutions so that the government may have something to revise.

The "political" history of our own Association bears out this observation. The old line politicians, who were succeeded by the Phi Beta Kappa dynasty, went to pot after several years of futile, dishonest meddling with a fantastic scheme of systematic honor. Year after year the honor system was "rehabilitated." Time after time the question was submitted to the electorate. And each time the students were asked to return a verdict as to whether or not they considered themselves honest. But never once was the question put on such a basis that an indication might be had of the willingness of the student body to undertake the responsibilities inherent in such a system. Finally the Regents put an end to the farce.

Speaking in terms of the false analogy which our politicians so religiously employ in likening their fictitious affair to a sovereign government, the collapse of the honor system created a profound revolution in campus politics. Honor could no longer be regulated. But something must be regulated, otherwise there could be no student government. While consternation reigned in the Skelton cabinet, Eikel, the veteran administrator, came forward. Unbowed from his Herculean feats in abolishing the "we nip" at all University dances, and bloody strife from his strife in bringing the editorial board of The Texan to heel, he gave wise counsel: "Revise the constitution so that we can regulate the publications."

Mr. Eikel knows all about the publications, for when he was president of the Students' Association, he was also chairman of the Board of Publications. In fact, he always knew all there was to know about these publications. At about his first appearance before the board, he demanded that the editorial writers of The Texan be made subject to the authority of the Assembly. "The Assembly," he avowed, "is the supreme authority on the campus. Therefore the Assembly should appoint the editorial writers and have the say as to editorial policy." Thereupon the editors formed an uncharitable opinion of Mr. Eikel's intelligence, and they spent the remainder of the year in elaborating upon this early impression.

But although Mr. Eikel knew all there was to know, he learned even more. A recalcitrant subordinate on the staff of The Texan defied his editor-in-chief. The editor-in-chief asked the Board of Publications to take disciplinary measures. Mr. Eikel, as chairman of the Board of Publications, conducted an investigation, and as a result of this investigation, the Board of Publications asked the Assembly to impeach the recalcitrant subordinate. It then fell upon Mr. Eikel, as president of the Students' Association, to carry the request before the Assembly. As chairman of the Board of Publications, he it noted, Mr. Eikel had found the subordinate guilty and deserving of impeachment. But, as president of the Students' Association, he so beautifully bungled the deal that the editor-in-chief got impeached. And the student body was regaled with a farce wherein the defendant vigorously prosecuted the star witness of the prosecution!

Now, by the revamped constitution, there will be a majority of Eikels on the Board of Publications, and these politically minded gentlemen who are bound to know as much, if not more, about the business of the publications than Mr. Eikel does will have the power to hire the editors-in-chief.

But in forecasting the future a wise man sticks to facts as revealed by the past. How do we stand here? There has been blissful harmony between officialdom and the editorial policy of The Texan. The old editorial board is no more. There was no place for this contentious crew after the paper was converted into a journalism laboratory. Moreover, the surly scribes of the old board had regard for no man, neither the Regents, the president, the members of the faculty, the deans of student life, or the officials of the student government. And one contentious fellow even spoke disrespectfully of the advertisers. But discord has been banished by peace. For the greater part of the year we have had a clipped column. Then "Good Morning" burst forth in all its glory. And the student body was bid to do its thinking with a pair of shears. With the publication of each successive article of the revised constitution, "Good Morning" enjoined that we clip the text and lay it reverently with the others.

None but a scoffer will doubt that the ratification of the constitution will usher in the millennium. A perfectly regulated student body, each with a pair of shears, will dedicate himself to a day of pious deeds by clipping the official edicts of the Assembly and the editorial prognostications of The Daily Texan. "A's" will be free, like everything else. Bliss will reign until some leather-lunged lout stretches his jaws for a good yawn.

Note—Current shows reviewed in this column will be listed in the order of their entertainment value, as judged by the Theater Editor of The Daily Texan on the basis of his own standards of criticism. The best show in town will always be listed first and so on.

"HEARTS IN DIXIE." Singing niggers. Dancing niggers. Crooning niggers. Lazy niggers. Melody and colored folk's whoopee. Fox Movietone, with sobs and trills. Stephen Fetchit, an ebony ape, runs circles around himself—figuratively speaking—not literally. Plantation lyrics with too much of a sentimental presentation. But good entertainment. Last times at the Hancock.

"COQUETTE." Now our old gal's back again. Mary Pickford is all spiced up for a big hit with a windblown bob, and all that sort of thing. She's a flirt, a piquant flirt, the publicity sheets say. At any rate, she's still Mary Pickford, and that is a big thing in her favor. Judging from the hullabaloo raised elsewhere, she must have all her adorability still. Johnny Mack Brown, football star, athlete, and a few other things not worth mentioning, is the boy of brawn and muscle who tames the little Southern sub-deb and teaches her not to trifle with men. Opens today at the Majestic.

"WHY BE GOOD?" Colleen Moore romps around spreading fire and agony, and she vows solemnly in the end that she's still unimpaired. Well, we believed her. Didn't we? Lots of bromides of the kind that you might think funny in an off-moment. Example: "To think that my daughter would come to this." Neil Hamilton is a good dummy for Colleen to waste her affections and energy on. That's all he's supposed to be. Otherwise Colleen wouldn't be such a slot-filler at the box-office. And I suppose it's beyond reason to hope she'll ever wear decent clothes. She can't. Last times at the Queen.

"HIS PRIVATE LIFE." Adolphe Menjou and wife (Kathryn Carver) in one of those rare bits of Parisian comedy, the kind that has been worked to death, even getting down to the rank and file of the Cohens and Kelleys. Gay. Amusing. Clever. Rather intriguing. All Menjou films are like that. And everybody likes Menjou. He has a way about him—and it isn't altogether a way with women. Last times at the Texas.

COMING

"THE BROADWAY MELODY." A symphonic hop-scotch medley of terpsichore and warbling. Anita Page and Bessie Love succeed in swamping Charles King with their—what do you call it? Probably the best one of all, those ring-around-the-rosy bits of light, fluffy entertainment—to date, I mean. Decidedly to date. At any rate, it's cracked up to be a lot, and it'll be awfully disappointing if it isn't. Opens at the Queen Sunday.

PEEPLS PITCHES STEERS' VICTORY

the ninth, but they repeated their performance of the first frame when Smith skied to Bassett in right; Potter went out, Peebles to Walker, and Lamm leaped high into the air to snare Stearnes' drive.

Disch crossed everybody up when he sent Peebles to the mound in the series opener, and the rookie justified the change with the great hurling he turned in. Fans and scribes were looking for Railton to start the fray. The youngster had everything that a pitcher needed yesterday afternoon, fanning nine of the Bruin swatmen, without issuing a single pass or hitting a batter.

With Peebles going the route in the first frame, Disch has the rest of the staff ready for action today, and there is a possibility of Mike De La Fuente drawing the assignment in this afternoon's fray, though Railton is the more probable choice. Lefty Browning may get a shot at the loop leaders.

Higgins crashed out three blows in three trips to the plate, while big Tex Hughes picked up a pair of safeties in three tries. Higgins

TODAY'S GAMES

Baylor vs. Texas.
A. & M. vs. S. M. U.

Baylor had a large representation down for the series opener yesterday afternoon, and they were having a great time seeing a man-sized park, some of them for the first time. They say that the entire Baylor student body will wend its weary way towards Austin for today's game, bringing with them the famous Bear band. The more the merrier.

Now this is for our Baylor friends. No, we don't think Pete Cawthon called the greatest game we ever saw, because he did miss plenty, some for both sides. The Bears have some of the best outfielders in the conference, and two catches turned in by Wilson and Stearns yesterday afternoon saved Douglas from being scored on more than he was.

Well, we wonder how Jinx Tucker, sports editor of the Waco News-Tribune, feels this morning. You all know that Jinx said Peeples was a mere boy, whom Uncle Billy sent into the box, and that he couldn't pitch. As well as we remember, the Bruins got one safe blow, and nine of them did no more damage than swing through the air three times. Peeples was never behind, or in the hole.

Just to show our readers the shortness of the Baylor right field line, we will cite one or two incidents. All three of the drives caught by Bassett and Wilson's two base hit would have been good for home runs in the Bruin park at Waco. And somebody said that that short fence didn't help the Bruins any.

Dusty Rhoads was all anxious to get into the line-up yesterday afternoon, and was prancing up and down the third base line all afternoon.

Oh, yes, we were about to forget something. We wish to say right now that we think the Texas fans did something very low yesterday afternoon when they started hissing the Baylor players. If you don't like the boys, go out and tell them, but don't be like a snake and hiss at them from a distance.

Just what two umpires will do was shown yesterday afternoon. The game was run off faster than any game this season, and there was less squabbling over decisions. Dick Hooper on the bases was on top of every play, and never missed a single call. He was on top of first every time a play was made at that base, watching the foot of the first sacker with an eagle eye.

Higgins' home run in the seventh was a Lou Gehrig blow. The drive was a high fly that sailed far over the right center field fence against a stiff wind and hit out in the street. It climaxed Pinky's attack on Douglas, as the Steer third sacker had already collected a base on balls, a double and a single off the Bruin ace.

Vera Hall, Pi Beta Phi, has returned from a week-end spent in Abilene.

Katherine Kelly, Pi Beta Phi, spent the week-end at her home in Dallas.

Texas Wins 2 Singles and 1 Doubles Match

Special to The Daily Texan.
NEW ORLEANS, La., April 26. The University of Texas net stars made a clean sweep of the three matches played with the Tulane net stars here this afternoon in the first day of a two-day meet. Only one doubles and two singles matches were played in today's rounds, with the other doubles and singles matches being carried for Saturday afternoon.

The doubles match between Bell and Barnes of Texas and Bayou and Sutter of Tulane was the hardest fought match of the afternoon. The Tulane stars took the first set, and jumped into a lead on the second match, but Bell and Barnes rallied to sweep through to wins in the next two sets, winning the match, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

Bell's service was one of the big factors in the Texas win, while the work of Barnes at the net completed the rout of the Tulane netters.

Louis Ferguson, lanky Texan, defeated Bayou, Tulane ace, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, and Captain Hugh Dunlap, southpaw, finished the wins for Texas in downing Dinwiddie, 6-1, 6-1. Ferguson's serve was almost perfect, as he aces Bayou time and time again, while his drives caught the Tulane star flat-footed time and time again.

Dinwiddie could never become accustomed to the fact that Dunlap was left-handed, and this proved to be his undoing, as the Texas captain chased him all over the court with his placements and drives.

This is the second time that the Texas netters have appeared in New Orleans. The first time was back in 1926 when they swept a three-cornered meet between Texas, Tulane, and Florida. The Tulane netters appeared in Austin last season, dropping a two-day meet to the Texans. The Texas four will leave here Saturday night for Austin.

PORKERS WIN ONE FROM TEACHERS

Special to The Daily Texan.
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., April 26.—A ninth inning rally by the State Teachers fell one run short and the Porkers took a 3-2 win here today. Oliver set the visitors down with five safeties, but four of these were bunched in the ninth for a pair of markers. The Razorbacks nicked Finton for ten blows with Crawford and Oliver leading the attack, each getting extra base blows.

Toad Hitters Start On Warpath With 1929 Season Waning

Special to The Daily Texan.

FORT WORTH, April 26.—

With their percentage of games won higher than at any time since the opening of the season, Dutch Meyer's T. C. U. Horned Frogs returned home this week after a successful invasion of South Texas. The Frogs divided a two-game series with A. & M., one of the strongest teams in the loop, and walloped the Rice Owls in two straight games.

The Owl games were rather loosely played affairs, with both sides scoring seemingly at will and numerous errors being credited to both squads. The Frogs' ability to hit the ball when runs were on the bases proved their margin of victory. The three games won on the southern trip ran the Frog total to five for a percentage of .417.

With eight games to go, Coach Meyer has hopes of boosting his average above the .500 mark. Games with Texas, A. & M., Baylor, and S. M. U. still remain on the Purple card. Two tilts will be played with each team. All of the remaining games will be played on the Frogs' home lot with the exception of the Mustang contests.

The Aggies will be the next foe of the Purple, and will be here April 29 and 30. So far, the count between the two teams is even. Texas University will furnish the opposition on May 3 and 4.

The improved hitting of the Frog team has more than made up for the lack of good pitching. The Purple hurling staff, weak at the opening of the season, has been rather badly battered by the conference teams, and it has been the ability of the Purple swingers to deliver that has chalked up victories for the Fort Worth crew. In the past few games, the so-called "weak end" of the Purple line-up has been cracking the ball to all parts of the lot.

BROWN TALKS ON ART AND EMOTIONS

Emotions, moods, emotional situations, and their aesthetic effects, were discussed by Harold Chapman Brown, professor of philosophy at Leland Stanford University, in his lecture, "Aesthetics," before the Philosophy Club Friday night.

"A person must have the proper emotional atmosphere to appreciate and enjoy literature, art," Dr. Chapman stated. The use made of emotional reactions in advertising was also brought out in the lecture.

"The place of art with respect to emotion is exactly parallel to the place of science with respect to thinking," Dr. Chapman concluded.

Vacationist Finds This Smoke O.K.

Larus & Brother Company
Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs:
Having just returned from my fishing camp in northern Ontario, and in the reflections upon a fortnight of most excellent weather, wonderful fishing and complete camp comfort, I feel that an appreciation of Edgeworth is due, as one of the principal factors of our enjoyment.

In past years, I have taken along a supply of various well-known brands of smoking tobacco, never having become fully acquainted with the difference in the smoking qualities of the so-called high-grade tobaccos now upon the market, and acting upon a tip from an old smoker friend, and as a matter of convenience in packing, this year I took along a dozen tins of Edgeworth Plug Slice.

There are no places nor conditions in existence where the contentment drawn from a briar pipe meets with keener enjoyment or more critical analysis than beside the camp-fire after a strenuous day in the great outdoors.

It is the unanimous opinion of the smokers among my party that Edgeworth is without a peer, and that its smoothness, fragrance and fine smoking qualities are unsurpassed and unmatched; and I thank you for making it possible to obtain it.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. N. Curtis

LEAD STEERS IN WIN

Here are the stars of the Steers' 4-1 win over the Baylor Bears in the series opener. On the left is Oscar Peeples, rookie right hander, who held the Bruins to one safe blow, while on the right is Mr. Pinky Higgins, who pounded the offerings of Douglas for a single, double and circuit blow.

STEER THINLY-CLADS DUE FOR COMPETITION TODAY

Despite the fact that their cap-tain is in Des Moines taking part in the Drake Relays, and that the Bears are down for a two-day stay with Uncle Billy Dirsch's baseball nine, the Steer thinly-clads will hold their weekly competition this afternoon.

The dual meet with Rice was originally scheduled for today, but was moved up when the Baylor series was carded for this week-end to allow both teams to enter their best men in the Drake and Penn Relays. In place of having to buck the Rice race horses, the freshmen and ineligible will furnish competition for the Varsity squad.

The competition will start early enough to allow all those having a desire to do so, to see both the Steer-Bear game and the meet.

Grace Laurie Campbell, Zeta Tau Alpha, has returned from Georgetown, where she spent a few days visiting friends.

Dorothy Ellington, Pi Beta Phi, has returned from her home in Big Springs.

TENNIS FINALS TO BE PLAYED MONDAY

inter-dormitory group. Marilla Masterson, representing Alpha Phi, will play Marian MacDowell, playing for Delta Zeta, in the inter-sorority finals.

The Eyes of Texas are on The University

During the Interscholastic League State Meet,
May 2-4

Free Lodgings for 2,000 Boys and Girls Are Needed

The Texan has kindly given this space for this announcement. Practically every county in the state will be represented by the most talented high school boys and girls of their respective communities. Let's make their stay here memorable.

We want them to come back as University students. In the past we have gotten many of our most exceptional students from this source.

If you can possibly lodge, free of charge, one or more delegates to this, the biggest public school function held in Texas, you will be doing Austin and the University a genuine service. Solicitors are now calling on householders—sign for as many League delegates as possible.
