

I wrote to Sturtevant, asking if he'd add me to the list. I Adelaide Hahn hadn't written yet on Wednesday. Faculty committees are keeping her busy. Hope she writes this week-end.

Alice

MISS ALICE E. KOBER

1050 EAST 43rd STREET BROOKLYN 10, NEW YORK

Dec. 14, 1947

Dear Franklin

Just a note to say Sturtevant wrote. He said he hadn't mentioned me in his list with Kingswald & Ralph Ward etc. because he didn't know I was interested. He didn't say, but Edgerton did, that he never thought the U. of Pa. would consider a woman.

Dec 14 1947

The more I hear of people who were recommended, the better I feel. Competition with a mythical specialist in IE is terrifying — but so far I haven't any worries about the concrete examples I've heard of. I went to a lecture at the Circle Linguistic on Wednesday where, as usual, Bonfante had a lot to say about nothing in particular. The lecture was by Prof. Sommerfelt of Oslo. Interesting, but not remarkable.

Yesterday I heard Thompson on the Agard. It made me homesick for Athens and recalled my scrambles up and down the North Slope of the Acropolis.

To-day I made a slight discovery about Minos. ☺ at the end of a word may be an enclitic for "and". Too bad I didn't discover it a couple of weeks ago. I could have prepared a paper for the AIA.