

Thomas L. Bailey
Hutchinson Oil Co. Calif.
Santa Fe Springs

521 Shell Bldg.
1008 West Sixth St.
Los Angeles 14, Calif.
July 26, 1945

Dear Henryk:

Your letter arrived while I was on a six weeks trip to Cuba, etc. and I have been very busy since I returned but have caught up sufficiently to get around to answering it now.

I checked up on the new enlarged Geological Institute at U.C. L. A. and it is quite correct that they already have the money for a fine new Geology Building which will also house Petroleum Engineering, Mining & Metallurgy as well as the various branches of Geology and are gradually enlarging their faculty. Jim Gilluly is the new Head of the Department and he is a very able man. The new building and much of the faculty expansion will have to wait until the end of the war because they are too cramped now.

I hope you like your set-up there with Lonsdale. He is a fine fellow in my opinion.

Best regards to you and your family.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas L. Bailey.