

SCHUCHERT TALKS ON EROSION OF EARTH MONDAY

Yale Professor Aided by Slides in Geological Lecture

FIRST TALK OF SERIES

Heat and Cold Given as Principal Reasons for Rock Decomposition

Causes of decomposition of rocks, rainfall of various sections of the world, and the process and extent of erosion were discussed and illustrated by slides at the lecture given Monday night to a large audience at K Hall 5 by Dr. Charles Schuchert of Yale University, who is conducting classes in geology at the University during the winter term. This was the first of a series of lectures by this noted geologist, the second to be held Wednesday evening at K Hall, at which time he will speak on "Coming and Going of Seas and Mountains."

Examples Cited

In discussing the sculpturing of the earth's surface by air and water at the lecture Monday night, Dr. Schuchert cited many concrete examples of the subject, pointing out the Malaspina glacier in Alaska and the Mer de Glace in the Alps as illustrations of the erosion caused by glaciers. A series of slides was used showing the various kinds and stages of rocks and erosion, from the new, steep mountains of the Pacific Coast to the old and weather-worn slopes of New England.

Heat and cold were given as the principal reasons for rock decomposition, Dr. Schuchert pointing out the results of the actions of glaciers that covered the northern part of North America thousands of years ago.

Action of Air

The action of the air, of sand, and of running water in leveling the surface of the earth was given and a full explanation of the formation of canyons and of flood plains by the washing of running water. Geologists have estimated that through the effects of erosion the United States will be a flat plain within fifteen million years, Schuchert contended. The amount of rainfall throughout the world and the causes were also discussed during the lecture. Forty inches of rain was given as an average in the tropics and ten inches in the arctic regions. The different temperatures and prevailing winds were given as the causes for the marked difference in amount of rainfall.

Dr. Schuchert is curator of the Peabody Museum at Yale, and was formerly associated with the National Museum at Washington. He is author of the text-book used in first-year geology at the University.

His second lecture will be Wednesday night, when he will speak on "Coming and Going of Seas and Mountains." His third lecture will be held Thursday night, at which time he will discuss "The Great Age of the Earth and Its Earlier Life and Mountains." On Friday he will talk of "Peopling of the Lands and Giant Reptiles of the Medieval World," and will close the series next Monday with a lecture on "Dawning of Present Scenery and Life." His lectures will be of general interest and not technical in nature.

POSTPONE ORCHESTRA CHOICE

Definite selection of an orchestra to play for the all-University dance for the remainder of the session will be made Wednesday afternoon, according to Reese Wade, manager. A meeting of the committee was to have been held Monday, but it was postponed. Orchestras have been trying out since the beginning of the term.

Lure of Gypsy Trail Prompts Girl Hikers to Stay Day Longer

Members of the Girls' Hiking Club on the three-day hike, which began Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, liked the gypsy life so well that a delegation headed by Thelma Dillingham secured permission Monday for the hikers to stay a day longer. The girls had intended to return Monday afternoon.

The hikers set out Saturday afternoon from the Women's Gym, the provisions and bedding being carried by wagon in charge of Bertha Black. According to the members who returned Monday, to secure permission for the extended stay, the group are enjoying themselves immensely, and it is with regrets that the return will be made Tuesday.

JUNIOR GIRLS DEFEAT SENIORS

Score 5 to 2 in Favor of Third Year Hockey Squad in Game Monday

The senior girls lost their second game this season Monday afternoon when they were defeated by the juniors in hockey, the score being 5 to 2. The other game they lost was a volley ball series to the sophomores.

In the hockey game, the juniors kept their opponents on the defensive during the first three quarters. The senior offense was much stronger than their defense. During the first three periods of play, the seniors had little chance to score; the junior halves and forward line worked together to keep the ball away from their own goal. Several times the seniors had the ball within striking distance but never found the punch necessary to pass the junior backs.

In the latter quarter the seniors pulled out of the slump and began charging the opposing goal. They carried their rush so successfully that the juniors failed to score again. Both of the senior points were made in the first quarter; the juniors scored in the second quarter.

Ex-Student Celebrations Held All Over the World Today by Loyal Graduates

Texas ex-students all over the world will celebrate March 2 today by gathering for reunions, at which time they will revive the spirit of their college days, according to William B. Ruggles of the Ex-Students Association.

Attorney General Dan Moody will be toastmaster at the Austin celebration, held at the University Cafeteria tonight. The programs will be broadcast by KUT, University radio station.

Sixty-three Texas-Ex clubs reported in advance to the Ex-Students Association headquarters at the University tentative plans for their celebrations, Ruggles said, and it is estimated that there will be over a hundred organized meetings altogether, without counting the small groups that observe the tradition that on this day, "wherever two or more Texas exes gather, they shall sit together and break bread in honor of the University."

Souvenir Programs

Souvenir programs in the form of a miniature issue of the Alcalde, and ballots for the primary voting on nominees to the vacancies in office and executive council of the Ex-Students Association were distributed by mail last week to 5,500 alumni and ex-students all over the world.

President W. M. W. Splawn formally opened the March 2 celebrations Monday, addressing the exes at Abilene while on his way to El Paso. Dr. Splawn will speak in the latter city today. Other faculty members speaking at various cities in the state today are: J. H. McGinnis at Abilene, R. A. Law at Cleburne, E. C. H. Bantel at Breckenridge, Eastland and Ranger, C. P. Patterson at Corsicana, Frederic Duncalf at Dallas, Frederic Eley at Del Rio, H. Y. Benedict at Galveston, J. W. Calhoun at Hillsboro, W. T. Mather and W. S. Simkins at Houston, H. T. FROSH AND SOPH LEADERS EAGER

Sides Will Have Three 20-Minute Periods, With 10-Minute Rests

By John Surber

"Let the fight begin; we are ready!" Such is the enthusiastic and confident cry of both the sophomores and the freshmen on the eve of what is considered to be the best organized contest ever staged between the rival classes in University history. Various meetings which each group has held during the past few days have served to increase class spirit to fighting pitch.

Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, March 2, will find the entire personnel of each faction on the stadium grounds ready for action. The main scene of battle will take place along the north side of the stadium where the goals of the opposing forces will be the two roads running north and south on the east and west sides of the grounds, the sophs possessing the east road and the slimes the west.

Struggle Begins at 9:30

Five large stuffed sacks will be thrown in the middle of the field at 9:30, and the struggle will begin, waxing faster and more furious as the next twenty minutes roll onward. The sacks must be carried beyond the roads and then must be protected in order for the obtaining side to retain them.

After the first twenty minutes are over, a halt will be called for a rest of ten minutes. Following this resting period, the whistle will again signal the struggle to begin. Again a twenty-minute encounter and then another rest. Finally the last skirmish of twenty minutes takes place. Sweating, black-faced freshmen and grimy, dirt-streaked sophomores will put forth their last and greatest effort for their class, for the side possessing the largest number of sacks at the end of any two periods will be announced the victor of the yearly feud, a victory which will go down through the ages of University class history.

Hazing Rumors Denied

Rumors to the effect that hazing, hair cutting, and other misdemeanors will be conducted secretly were emphatically denied by class officers; and under no circumstances will they be tolerated. It was also authoritatively stated that no encounters other than the one to be held Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 will be sponsored by any member of either class.

Every prospective participant in the annual fracas must wear tennis shoes; and every freshman must blacken his face so as to be easily recognizable by friend or foe. The sophomores are to meet in the stadium at 8:30 sharp in order to discuss plans for the morning's action and to run off a few of the skirmish plans that are being worked out for use against the first year men. The freshmen are already prepared for the struggle; and the appointed hour will find them eager to start the battle for class supremacy.

Frosh Blacken Faces

President Jap Arnold of the freshmen announced that his captains and the freshmen are determined to do their best, and with a snappy fight meeting just before the struggle, will give the sophs all that they are looking for and "probably more." He says: "I want every able-bodied freshman who makes any pretensions to manhood to be out on that field by 9:30 possessing a pair of tennis shoes and a blackened face; and I feel sure that although we may be slightly outnumbered, we will put up one of the best exhibitions of fighting spirit that has been seen here in the last few years."

Ox Higgins, president of the sophomores, said, regarding the fight: "We are all enthusiastic over this year's contest; and are determined to do our best in our effort to uphold not only the traditions of our class but those of the University as well."

DAILY TEXAN'S PROGRAM FOR 1926

1. Cleaner and more beautiful campus.
2. Launching of a "better grades" campaign.
3. Creation of a real "friendly spirit" among the students.
4. Closer co-operation between the students and the faculty.
5. More useful service of The Daily Texan to the students.

FIRST ON THE BALLOT.

In the minds of the candidates, there are a great number of votes to be gained by getting their name first on the ballot. This may or may not be true. But each spring there is a frantic rush on the part of the candidates to get their petitions and grades to the secretary-treasurer of the Students' Association in order to get their names on the ballot first, for the various offices. Enterprising candidates this year probably have already filed a few petitions. They expect to get their grades a few minutes after the professor turns in his report to the Registrar at the conclusion of the winter term finals.

So eager have been some candidates in the past that they have been known to file their petitions at Christmas, and persuade the professor to send in their grades ahead of those for the remainder of the class. Other enterprising candidates are known to have rushed to Mr. Mathews in the dead of night and induced him to sign a statement that they had passed the required courses. Hope of getting first place has caused many aspiring office-seekers to use many other peculiar methods to secure their ends.

The Texan believes that a new system for selecting names for the first place on the ballot can be devised that will operate in fairness to all candidates. With no precedent to guide them, and with the laxity of enforcing the present rule that both the candidate's petition and grades must be in before he is placed on the ballot, the officers of the Students' Association should have some rule to follow.

The Texan's plan is as simple as it is effective. Give the president and the secretary-treasurer of the Students' Association authority to place the names of the candidates in a hat, and have some disinterested person draw. The order of drawing will be the order of the names on the ballot. There are other methods that might be mentioned, but they are more or less complicated.

It is needless to urge Mr. Blalock, president of the Students' Association and the members of the Assembly to adopt a new scheme. Mr. Blalock and most of the members of the Assembly have been through enough political campaigns, and have seen enough candidates scramble for first place to realize the need for a substitute method that will satisfy all.

$100,000 FOR SUMMER SCHOOL.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson has approved the plan of the committee of the Board of Regents to get $100,000 in funds for the support of the 1926 summer school. In other words, the Governor agrees to make it possible for the University to continue its service to hundreds of teachers in the summer by providing the funds to give them instruction.

Just how Governor Ferguson proposes to get the $100,000 is not made clear by the story. The important thing is that the money will be available, since Governor Ferguson declared that she "did not want to interfere with the progress of higher education at the University of Texas or any other state school."

The gratification for the act of the Governor is not confined only to the President of the University and the Board of Regents. Every student in the University, and many ex-students who are now teaching school are elated over the prospects for another summer session.

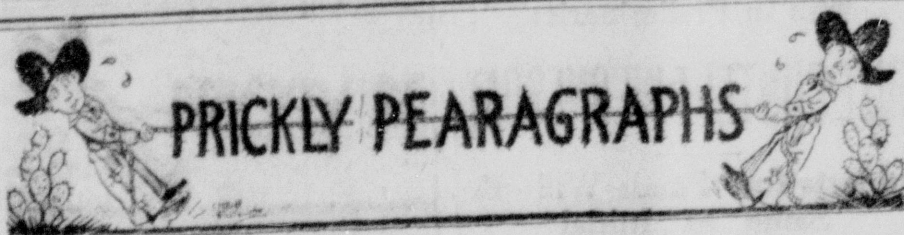

The University of Texas summer school ranks high among the similar schools in the United States. To fail to provide funds for the maintenance of the school, even for one summer, would give the school such a set-back that it would be many years in recovering.

Editorially, the Dallas News, in commenting on the reason why Texas should be glad that the summer school will be held, declares:

"This feature of the University's usefulness is probably of more direct advantage to high school and grade teachers of Texas than any other part of its work. Teachers by the score and by the hundred crowd into Austin to spend the summer months in improving their intellectual equipment. But for the maintenance of instruction through the summer they would be faced with the choice between giving up a year's work to attend the regular session on the one hand and going outside of Texas, on the other, at an expense over and above what it costs to pursue their studies at Austin.

"Teaching in Texas is not a bananza. It is to the interest of the State to do all it can both to improve and to encourage its teaching force. Summer school helps to do both. Because of the number of teachers who turn student to get what summer school has to offer, it is becoming a more and more efficient institution. They are mature men and women and they intend to sell what they acquire. Consequently they average rather high in the scale of serious application. It is a bread and butter matter with them.

"Because the State maintains this facility many young men and women are able to obtain an advanced degree and to better their station in life, whereas without it they might never have been able to advance much beyond the level on which they started out. Similarly it has been the means of eking out the salary of some of the University faculty, so that by extra work a man of learning can push up his earning power to a point where he can save up something and perhaps finance a year of study and research himself. All told, the summer school idea is an excellent thing."

Today is Independence Day. We get a holiday so that we can catch up with our courses. Isn't that nice? We won't have to study during dead week.

Once upon a time a guy got up at 8:15 to make an 8 o'clock class.

He shaved, dressed and ate breakfast in three and seventeen-eighteen minutes. Dashing madly across the campus, he stumbled his toe on the curbing. He did not cuss. Arriving at the door out of breath, he pushed it slowly open. Laughter greeted him. He turned slowly around and closed the door, being entirely successful in his attempt to appear dignified. Had he gone into the wrong class? No, Alphonse, he was merely timid. He always blushed when he came in late. Now you tell one.

"Some people are mighty old-fashioned."

"Yeah! I know a gal who still works cross-word puzzles."

Frosh Ferdie wants to know if the exam schedule could be called a "blue" print.

This joke was brought back from Laredo by a friend who wants his identity concealed.

She: Kisses are the language of love.

He: Let's talk it over.

"Did you hear about the murder?"

"Now! Tell me quick."

"A girl went to sleep in class yesterday, and a smart boy sitting next to her started humming 'Sleepy Time Gal.' The prof bawled her out."

A DRY DISCOURSE ON A WET SUBJECT

Anti-prohibitionist leaders claim that sentiment about the liquor question has not changed much in the last thirty years, even though an amendment to the United States Constitution has been made. Even they could not conceal a smile if they read the following editorial which was printed in the Austin Statesman of January 3, 1894, then a morning paper:

"Owing to the fact that many of the business men were engaged yesterday afternoon in attendance on annual meetings of banks and other stock concerns in which they are interested, the brewery meeting has been postponed until next Thursday, at 4 p. m., at which time it will be held in the Board of Trade hall. This meeting is called for the purpose of hearing and considering a proposition submitted by a Chicago gentleman to establish a large brewery in Austin. The Statesman hopes to see a large attendance as this is a matter of great importance to the city.

"The proposition will be made in good faith, and if proper encouragement is given the movement, Austin will get the brewery. It will be one large enough to supply the city and all the surrounding country with beer. Think what this means. It means employment for many of our people, and it means that we will keep at home nearly $300,000 which is sent to St. Louis, Milwaukee and other points outside the State each year for beer.

"This large amount of money and the wages and other expense money necessary to conduct the business will be retained in circulation at home. One can see the great benefit that will result to our city. Besides all this, the brewery will supply beer to numerous points in the State and thus bring more money into Austin.

"The breweries in San Antonio make fine beer and have more business than they can attend to. To accommodate increasing orders they have been improved and enlarged several times. What has been done in San Antonio can be done in Austin. This city has better water and equal advantages in every other way with San Antonio for the brewing business. A class of beer can be made here that will be equal and perhaps superior to that which comes from the North.

"A brewery in Austin will pay in many ways. It will pay by keeping an immense amount of money in circulation at home, and it will pay handsome dividends to those directly interested in the stockholders.

"This is a good starter. Come to the front now and build this brewery. Then build some cotton and woolen factories, paper mills, a tannery, etc., and in less than ten years we will have 100,000 people in Austin."

The alumni and members of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will give a benefit bridge party Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Cactus Tea Room.

Gwinn Harris has resumed work in the University after a long illness.

Kappas Honor Alumni at Annual Tea on Saturday

Kappa Alpha Theta entertained with its annual blossom-time tea, honoring the alumni at the chapter house Saturday. Cherry blossoms were the decorative effect, aided by the use of pink candles, and roses. Receiving were members of the alumni advisory board, Mrs. Hubert Jones, Mrs. George Hawley, and Mrs. Raymond Everett; and officers of the sorority, Lucille Stover, Julia Johnson, and Isabel Blackman.

Mrs. Evans Swann, Mrs. F. A. C. Perrin, Mrs. Carey Storey, and Mrs. S. J. Smith poured tea, while the following pledges served the calls: Lillian Bullington, Virginia Curtis, Katherine Fields, Mary Ford, Sue Heatley, Irma Johnson, Emily Long, Lucy Rountree, and Margaret Delaney.

LITTLEFIELD HAS TWO FAST MEN IN DASHES

Aubrey Cockrell of Alvin and Jerome Landa of Eagle Lake, two members of track coach Clyde Littlefield's cinder path squad, are very likely to set a new Southwestern Conference record in the 100 and 220-yard dashes this year. Both of these men are consistent runners and make the 100 yards in 10 seconds regularly.

At one time last year Landa made the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds, a speed considered about as fast as any runner in the Southwestern Conference has ever made it. Landa was a freshman last year, and was not eligible to participate on the Varsity squad. Cockrell is as good on the track as his competitor, and so far this year has been showing up slightly better. He out ran Landa by a slight margin recently.

Alton Baggett of Cameron is another good dash man on Littlefield's squad this season, and will most likely complete the team of three men for the meets this year. Although he cannot come up to the time of the first two men, he is consistent in his running, and will probably be at the top before the season is over, according to those who have seen him in action.

New Structure Now Ready for Placing of Brand Ornaments

The cattle brands of old Texas families to be used adornments on Garrison Hall will be placed around the building on a level with the third story some time this week, according to the foreman in charge.

Two brands will be placed on the north side, the foreman stated. Brands of Barnett, Littlefield, King, Austin and Swenson ranches will be used. These brands were chosen because of their importance in Texas cattle history, it is said.

Relay Prizes Shown by Stelfox Company

Prizes for the relay games to be held here on March 26 have been received and placed on display by the Stelfox Jewelry Company in their show window. In the display there are three silver cups, a number of silver watches, and bronze statuettes of relay runners. The entire display is arranged with an appropriate setting of Texas pennants and emblems. The attractiveness of the display has caused a general comment of admiration from passers-by and University students.

BESS NICHOLS SINGS

The young lady who played and sang for the freshmen at their rally Saturday night was Bess Nichols of the Delta Zeta sorority and not Evelyn Farrell, as was reported in The Texan Sunday.

THEATERS

Hancock: Continuous Big Time Vaudeville and screen feature, "The First Year."
Majestic: Aileen Pringle and Edmund Lowe in Elinor Glyn's "Soul Mates."
Queen: "The Enchanted Hill" with Jack Holt and Florence Vidor.
Texas: Richard Barthelmess in "Shore Leave."

Lucille Ballentine and Jimmy Lucas Are Featured This Week

A whirlwind dancing act heads the new vaudeville bill which opened at the Hancock yesterday. It is the offering of Lucille Ballentine who is really an exceptional dancer. Will Allen, Ernie Hober, Ted Wheeler, and Tom Atlas—her 'four boy friends'—assist her in the act. The act is brightly staged and moves along rapidly.

Jimmie Lucas, author-comedian, presents a comic interlude of concentrated nonsense and foolishness. Geraldine Herbert helps Jimmie put this peppy act over. Jean Libonati entertains the audience with his xylophone. His program runs from operatic to popular and includes novelty execution.

Little Pipifax opens the bill with an unusual pantomime act. "The Funny Little Sailor" is truly an artist in his line. Stephens and Hollister present a breezy sketch of song, dance, and comedy centering around California.

For the customers the Hancock is showing on the screen the William Fox feature, "The First Year." Matt Moore and Kathryn Perry take the leads.

TEXAS

Richard Barthelmess' film career is guided by but one definite policy—he demands for each new picture a role entirely different from any in which he has appeared previously. That may be one of the secrets of why Dick's work is so eternally refreshing to witness.

His characterization in "Shore Leave" is that of a navy "gob." In the First National Attraction Barthelmess is supported by Dorothy MacKail.

MAJESTIC

"Soul Mates" is without a doubt the best Elinor Glyn story that has been brought to the screen. It is essentially a love story, of course, but is invested with more of a comic element than is found in Mrs. Glyn's previous productions.

The woman believes the man she loves, loves her for her money. But before the final flicker the truth is found out and every one is happy.

Eileen Pringle, a necessary adjunct to every Elinor Glyn production, takes the feminine lead and Edmund Lowe heads the male characters of the cast.

QUEEN

Featured at the Queen yesterday and today is "The Enchanted Hill."

It is an up-to-the-minute high-powered, western that is as modern as it is different. Thrills, comedy, romance, and mystery are the ingredients from which the story is fashioned. Airplanes and machine guns figure in the plot that centers about the struggle for ownership of a cattle ranch on which there is a hidden treasure.

Jack Holt, Florence Vidor, Noah Beery, and Mary Brian are the featured members of the cast. Irvin Willat directed.

Blue Pencil Club to Hold Initiation for Pledges on March 22

Initiation of three pledges of the Blue Pencil Club, Stewart Harkrider, Dorothy Harris, and Etta Martin, will be held March 22, it was decided at a regular meeting of the club Monday night.

Plans were formulated whereby all feature stories written by members of the club from the present date shall be kept on file. Each member is required under the ruling to obtain, if possible, a copy of the article as it appeared in the publication, and turn it over to Hazel Hedick, the secretary, who will keep the scrap book.

A fine of ten cents a member for each failure to attend was discussed and passed. From now on this fine will be imposed on all absent members.

The next meeting of the club will be on Monday night, March 22, at 7:15 in Education Building 107.

S. M. U.	8	4	.667
T. C. U.	7	5	.583
Texas	6	6	.500
Baylor	5	7	.417
A. & M.	4	8	.333
Rice	1	11	.083

Old Man Basket Ball has started another long snooze and baseball and track are occupying the attention of Southwestern Conference fans, but for at least another week there'll be plenty of argument about all-star selections and an abundance of talk dealing directly with the replaying of some of the sensational games of the season.

Final Games Thrill
The 1926 race was a thriller, despite the clean runaway staged by Francis Schmidt's Arkansas Razorbacks. The sports in the latter part of the campaign by Texas and S. M. U. provided the fans with the colorful element that usually attaches itself to a collegiate titular struggle.

The defeat of Arkansas by T. C. U. in the final tilt of the year at Fayetteville Saturday night polished off a splendid season. After copping eleven straight and getting within reach of a perfect record for the season, the Razorbacks went stale Saturday night and the fighting Texans of Fort Worth poured it on them to the tune of 30 to 15. T. C. U. in her two games with the Porkers showed up better than did any other team against the champions. In the first game with the Hogs last Friday night, the Frogs lost by the score of 24 to 23, Pickel looping a long goal in the last ten seconds of play to beat the T. C. U. five.

S. M. U. Second
S. M. U. finished second to the Porkers with eight victories and four defeats; T. C. U. was third, winning seven and losing five; Texas rests in fourth position with six wins and six losses; Baylor is fifth, copping five and dropping seven; A. & M. comes sixth with a record of four wins and eight losses, and Rice is the real cellar champion, winning but one of eleven contests.

The Razorbacks added to their honors by leading all teams in scoring and the champions' defense proved to be the best in the organization, since they held their opponents to fewer points than did any rival quintet.

The scoring records follow:

Team	Pts.	Op.	Pts.
Arkansas	360	210
S. M. U.	264	230
T. C. U.	306	241
Texas	269	299
Baylor	246	261
A. & M.	283	332
Rice	233	361

The 100-point mark was passed by two players, both members of the Arkansas team, Elbert Pickel, center, won first honors in the individual scoring race, piling up 115. Rolla Adams, captain and forward of the Porkers, was second with 110.

Captain Sandy Esquivel and Joe King were the leading Longhorn scorers. Sandy made 65 and Joe was just two behind with 63.

Other leading scorers:

Strickland, Baylor, 90; Kyle, A. & M., 89; George, T. C. U., 88; Allison, S. M. U., 86; Mann, S. M. U., 77; Cantelmi, T. C. U., and Slade, Baylor, 64 each; Nevinger, Rice, and Sikes, A. & M., 63 each.

University Has 6648 Bound Volumes of Newspapers in Files

When the work of binding the newspapers which have been filed for the past year is completed, the University of Texas will have at least 7,500 bound volumes of newspapers, according to D. E. McArthur, supervisor of the newspaper collection.

There are at the present time 6,648 bound volumes, McArthur said.

692 Candidates Sign for Degrees in June

Although candidates for degrees in June at the University of Texas have until May 1 to make formal application, 692 students have already signed, according to Dean T. U. Taylor, chairman of the diploma committee.

Of this number, approximately 20 per cent will not receive degrees for various reasons, Dean Taylor stated.

Rio Grande Valley Club Has Largest Membership at U.

With a membership of 100 students the Rio Grande Valley Club has become one of the largest and most active sectional clubs at the University, according to Carroll Thomas, president. Practically every town in the Rio Grande Valley is represented in the membership of the organization, it is said.

LAIRD VISITING PROFESSOR

One of the most distinguished visiting professors for the summer session of 1926 will be Dr. John Laird, regius professor of philosophy from the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, according to Professor G. W. Cunningham of the department of philosophy.

Dr. Laird is one of the greatest of modern philosophers, Dr. Cunningham said, and is in addition an author and teacher of note. Dr. Laird is coming to the United States to attend the international conference of philosophy at Harvard in the fall and will teach during the second term of the summer session during his stay in America.

Many other notable professors have been secured for the summer session, it is said.

TOURNEY FINALS HELD THURSDAY

Roger Busfield and Ziggy Sears Will Officiate; Tickets Now on Sale

Basket ball players will be plentiful in Austin this weekend, when thirteen scholastic court aggregations invade the Capital for the big state tournament to be staged in the Men's Gym of the University Friday and Saturday.

Starting at 9:30 a. m. Friday, the interscholastic League authorities will reel off five sessions of games. The first round contests will be finished before noon Friday. Second round games will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will end at 5. The third session will begin at 7:15 o'clock the evening of the first day. Saturday morning at 9:30 the semi-finals will start.

Final Games Saturday
The championship battles are scheduled for Saturday night, the first to start at 7:30. This game will be between teams fighting for third place in the tournament. The most important struggle of the meet, that for the state crown, will start about 8:15 Saturday night.

Director Roy B. Henderson of the Interscholastic League, Monday declared that prospects for this year's tournament are the brightest since the inauguration of the championship event and that the meet is certain to be the most successful ever held.

Big-time officiating is assured, with the employment of Roger Busfield and Ziggy Sears of Fort Worth, and Lynnton Boggess of Waco. Busfield and Sears were the official Southwestern Conference referees this year, and Boggess has called many important games. The three will alternate in refereeing and umpiring the state tournament contests.

Tickets on Sale

The sale of University students' tickets for the tournament at $1 each opened at the athletic council office Monday morning and a brisk sale was reported by Wiley Glaze, manager of men's athletics. He said the tickets would remain on sale until 6 p. m. Thursday. By purchasing the $1 admission card, a University student saves $1.50, since five sessions of games are scheduled and the price will be 50 cents for each session. Glaze urges students to buy their tickets as early as possible and avoid the last day rush.

The thirteen teams entered in the tournament are Austin, Beaumont, Brownwood, Canyon, Canton, Corsicana, Nacogdoches, Pilot Point, Sanderson, San Antonio (Brackenridge High), Stephenville, Taft and Throckmorton.
