

Nowotny Commends Students' Integrity

By KEN GOMPERTZ

The all-out campus drive led by Mortar Board to re-establish scholastic integrity as one of the higher and more popular moral pedestals has apparently taken effect.

Dean of Student Life, Arno Nowotny, wrote a letter Tuesday commending the student body on their attitude toward eliminating exam cheating. He says:

"Final examinations are now over; and from students and faculty we get the unanimous verdict that these were the best-conducted examinations we have had in many, many years. The number of cases reported to this office certainly indicates this report to be true, because we had only six cases reported. One case involved a first-year student, and the penalty of 'F' in the course and disciplinary probation for one semester was given to this freshman who was a first offender. Three upperclassmen, one a college transfer, were assessed the penalties of 'F' in the course and disciplinary probation until June, 1953. The Discipline Committee tried only one case, which involved two upperclassmen who were given 'F' in the course and disciplinary probation for one year.

The initiative taken by Mortar Board and the other student organizations and the excellent cooperation of The Daily Texan all combined to reduce cheating to a minimum."

Dr. Lewis F. Hatch, associate professor of chemistry, reiterates Dean Nowotny's findings. In connection with the Chemistry 605 finals in which some of the most flagrant cheating cases have occurred, Dr. Hatch emphasized:

"This is the first year that no one has called me to say that the exam (605 final) was out. It never left my hands or that of my associate between the time of writing and the time it was given. And I promise that the 605 final this semester will not get out either."

Dr. Hatch added that it seemed that there were less efforts to cheat during his final. No one was caught and this didn't indicate that the proctors were less vigilant, he said. He believes that one reason for there being less cheating during the past final examination period was due to the fact that professors were more vigilant and that therefore less students tried to cheat.

"However, I don't think that we have changed human nature this fast," he commented. "I think that just as many persons would cheat were the chance offered. But I think that the students are more aware of their moral responsibilities."

From the student point of view, Zeke Zbrank, chairman of scholastic standards, said that the final number of cases brought up for disciplinary action was a good barometer for indicating that student sentiment toward scholastic integrity has changed.

"Although all the cheating cases were not caught, there was the same proportion. The fewer cases indicated the mature attitude of the student body. Mortar Board deserves a great deal of credit for helping them develop that attitude."

Dickerson, Ward Promoted on Texan

Jo Ann Dickerson and Al Ward head the list of new Texan staff members appointed Tuesday.

Miss Dickerson replaced Marjorie Clapp as news editor, the top news position below the rank of managing editor. She will be in charge of continuity of news coverage. Miss Clapp graduated in January and now is working for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Ward takes over as sports editor, replacing Ken Tooley. Tooley also left school in January, going to work for the Paducah (Texas) Post. Orland Sims is the assistant sports editor.

Dorothy Campbell and Joel Kirkpatrick will fill the two day editor positions vacated by Kelly Crozier and M. E. Darsey. Darsey graduated and will go to work in

25,000 Visitors Saw Tower in 1951

Supporting the notion that wherever Americans are they are stretching their necks to see something new is the 1951 report of Mrs. B. L. Frazee, supervisor of the Tower Observatory.

Mrs. Frazee says that 1951 maintained the average of 25,000 people who have visited the Tower yearly since 1945. May was the best month, drawing 3,918 visitors, and June and April came next with 2,742 and 2,705. Mrs. Frazee attributes the large number of May guests to visiting high school classes.

The Tower, which was built in 1936 at a cost of three million dollars, has had guests from every state and from many foreign countries. During the past seven years, there have been 178,767 visitors.

Besides the view from the Tower, Mrs. Frazee says that people come because the structure has gained fame as the orange-lighted victory sign of the University after sport contest and in commemoration of certain memorials and holidays, as well as a University landmark.

The busy Tower elevator takes visitors past the first fifteen floors, which are occupied by library stacks, and the sixteenth to twenty-seventh floors, which are the offices of language professors, to the observatory. The Tower is especially popular with camera fans. Its clocks measure twelve feet in diameter. The seventeen bells in the belfry, weighing a total of 40,000 pounds, were purchased at the cost of a dollar a pound.

The Tower lights are 230 alternating orange and white globes of 1,000 watts each, with 30 bulbs of 60 watts in between. The Tower has been lighted on special occasions since October 20, 1937. Orange and white became the University's colors in 1885, when these were the only colors of ribbon available to a group of students who were attending a Georgetown football game.

During World War II, the Tower was more than a picturesque landmark to Austinites. It housed an air raid siren.

Ex Co-Op Cashier Held Under 1950 Indictment

A former University Co-Op cashier was in county jail Monday under a two-year-old embezzlement charge.

The ex-employee, Richard Pierce Morgan, was indicted in April, 1950, after being charged with embezzling $3,554.50 from the Co-Op.

City detectives brought the 24-year-old man back from California where he was working under an assumed name. The case probably will be called on trial docket Friday, said District Attorney Bob Long. Morgan is being held in jail in default of $1,000 bond.

A nationwide pickup order for Morgan's arrest was issued by local police shortly after the Co-Op shortage was discovered.

5 of 8 Custodians Say

'Violators of Smoking Ban Will Not Be Reported'

By FLO COX

Of eight building custodians queried Tuesday, five flatly stated they would not report professors who violated the no-smoking rule. One said he would report only major infractions of the regulation and two said they would report any violations.

All but one said they believed the janitorial staff could empty ash trays with the present manpower. One was not sure.

A building custodian in a three-story building said he heard only one of the staff say he would report violations. Everyone else he had heard comment, objected to the enforcement procedure.

Mouzon Law, assistant chairman of the Department of Drama, said that the "butt cans" used for the last five years in the Drama Department and X Hall would no longer be used. The cans had successfully prevented cigarettes being thrown on the floor, he said.

"I agree with the ruling," Law continued, "and since we're under University regulations just like everyone else, the cans will remain empty."

Meanwhile, an Assemblyman said he heard of two more petitions being started to allow smoking in certain areas.

Typical comments of the building custodians interviewed were: "I wouldn't report anybody. The average janitor wouldn't take any interest in such a matter. We're hired to clean, not sweep. I just wouldn't spy on people. I want a job all right, but I just wouldn't do things like that."

"No extra custodians would have to be hired over here to empty ash trays. They've been doing that (using ash trays) at B. Hall for quite some time, and I understand that it works pretty well."

Parking Permits Available Only In Certain Cases

Car Owners to Be Held Responsible For Violations

Sunday's Texan stated that parking permit applications could be obtained from the Chief Traffic and Security Officer but failed to say that only certain car owners are eligible for the permits.

Unrestricted permits will be granted only in the following cases:

1) Students, members of the faculty and members of the non-teaching staff whose physical infirmities make mandatory their parking near their classes or work.

2) Members of the faculty and non-teaching staff who are required by the University to use cars in the conduct of institutional business regarded by the Committee as being essential.

3) Administrative and student officers.

4) Professors, associate professors, instructors, special instructors receiving salaries within the salary range for instructors and equivalent members of the non-teaching staff whose work is situated within the restricted parking area in such number as the Committee may deem reasonable.

Restricted parking permits will be granted to faculty and members of the non-teaching staff who receive a monthly salary no less than $220 per month. They will not be granted to part-time employees who do not work at least half time.

These permit holders must observe the following rules:

1) Arrangements for parking the car must be made with the control station officer on each occasion.

2) Holders of restricted parking permits may park their cars within the restricted area only after 12:45 p.m.

3) Parking permits are not transferable. If ownership changes, permit is revoked automatically.

4) Permits will not be issued to one individual for two cars. If a car is sold or windshield replaced, a new permit will be issued only if the remnants of the old decal are returned with the application for a new decal.

5) The owner of a car bearing a parking permit must assume complete responsibility for every traffic and parking violation which involves the car.

6) Parking permits will not be honored unless the decal is properly affixed to the lower left hand corner of the windshield.

Tillotson College Praised By Chancellor Hart

James P. Hart, chancellor of the University, congratulated Tillotson College January 27 on its seventy-fifth anniversary.

Chancellor Hart spoke for the University and other state-supported institutions. He stated that there are 56 state supported schools in Texas, of which 21 are senior colleges, as compared to 63 private colleges, 34 of which are senior colleges.

UT Has Most NROTC Grads

They're "gung-ho" at The University of Texas. Statistics seem to indicate that the University is supplying more than its share of US Marines.

Recently published Marine Corps statistics show Texas rates at the top of the list of 52 NROTC colleges. Eleven senior midshipmen are to be graduated from the University this year with commissions in the Marines.

The Marine Corps has found the Southwest to be fertile recruiting grounds. Texas and Oklahoma Universities are among the top four NROTC schools in total marine officer candidates.

Longhorns Lead SWC; Topple Bears, 58-46

By AL WARD

Texas Sports Editor

James Dowies could do no wrong Tuesday night as he ripped in 22 points to buoy the Longhorns to a thrilling 58-46 triumph over the Baylor Bears that sent Texas into a clear-cut lead in the Conference basketball race.

The victory gave Texas a record of 5-1 in league play, one triumph more than TCU, which was idle Tuesday night. The Frogs play A&M at College Station tonight. Should they win they would clinch with Texas again for the lead.

First MA Awarded To Negro Graduate

By BOB KENNY and DOROTHY CAMPBELL

Oscar L. Thompson became the first Negro to receive a graduate degree from the University when he was awarded a master of arts degree in zoology last week.

Thompson, a 44-year old native of Waco, worked as a hospital orderly, longshoreman, waiter, drug clerk, pantryman, and school teacher to go to school.

He enrolled in the University in September, 1950, after receiving a bachelor's degree magna cum laude from Sam L. Huston College in Austin.

A genetics specialist, his thesis was "A Study of Phenyl-Thio-Carbamide Deficiency in Negro Population in Family Groups." Mr. Thompson explained that the deficiency is an inability to taste the carbamide compound, commonly called "p.t.c." The percentage of persons unable to taste p.t.c. varies in different races.

Mr. Thompson found that the 5 per cent of the Negro population studied had the deficiency, as compared with 30 per cent in American white races.

"The genetic importance of this discovery has not been established," he pointed out. "We don't know whether it's good or bad; it's just a characteristic."

20 Offer Blood For Leukemia Case

Twenty stand-by blood donors have responded as volunteers for a 4-year-old boy suffering from acute leukemia, Dr. Walter D. Roberts of the Student Health Center reported Tuesday.

These twenty donors will take care of immediate needs of the child, even though several of the volunteers knew only that their blood was type AB, Dr. Roberts said. The rare blood needed is type AB positive. It is probable that several of the donors who don't know whether their blood is positive may not be able to make contributions.

The appeal for volunteer donors was published in Sunday's Texan and repeated Tuesday. The child is reported to be at a critical danger point and may need several transfusions within a short time.

The Longhorns coupled a tight man-for-man defense with the furious, driving offensive play of Dowies and George Sealing to harness their sixth straight victory and their thirteenth of the season.

Dowies showed why he leads his team in scoring with one of the greatest performances of his college career. He played the entire game and cashed in on nine of his eighteen field goal attempts and four of seven gratis tosses to lead all players with 22 points.

Only the slowed tempo of last period play prevented him from earning a higher rebate on the scoreboard. The brawny 6-3 senior had a touch of gold Tuesday night. In the last five seconds of the third quarter he loosed a desperation set shot from the mid-field stripe. Some 3500 fans roared incredulously as the ball arched through the net shortly before the buzzer sounded.

The Bears' ace scorer, Ralph Johnson, found himself laced in by the tight guarding of Don Klein and Gib Ford. Johnson was off his standard shooting form but recovered his eye in the last quarter to pace Baylor scorers with nine points.

Sealing combined with Dowies to keep the scoreboard lights busy. He wound up with sixteen points on five field goals and six free throws.

Texas led throughout the game except for the opening minute. They breezed to a 22-10 first quarter lead and kept up the pace through the second period which ended 30-19, Texas topside.

A pair of Baylor substitutes, guard Bill Fleetwood and forward Bill Harris, threw a scare into the Shunning the Steers' clustered defense as the third quarter faded. fense, they began hitting from around the twenty-foot mark, scoring twelve points between them in six minutes to pull the Bruins to within four points of the Longhorns.

In the hectic last period, Price, Dowies, and Sealing shot Texas to a commanding 52-44 lead with six minutes left. Then the Steers slowed the tempo. Ice-man Leon Black subbed in and fans witnessed a fine display of dribbling as he, Sealing, and Ford traveled in circles with Baylor defenders at their heels.

Aggressive defensive play cost Baylor the services of Derrel Davis and Harris as the game waned and horseplay from the bench sent two points Texas' way as Dowies and Sealing meshed technical foul tosses.

Texas' next game is with the SMU Mustangs at Dallas this Saturday night.

Potent Baylor Cubs Dump Yearling Cagers, 49-44

By DICK WILLIAMS
Texas Sports Staff

Baylor's smooth-working Cubs jumped into a first quarter lead and nursed it along for a hard-earned 49-44 victory over the erratic Texas Yearlings Tuesday night in Gregory Gym.

With the exception of one bright spot—the surprising performance of new-come Phillip Kidd—the Yearlings showed little of the remarkable shooting accuracy displayed in several previous games.

Kidd, an all-stater from Lamar of Houston who entered school at mid-term, led the Yearling scorers with his 15 points, but that was not enough to offset the steadier court play of the Cubs.

Murray Bailey, a product of Athens, La., proved to be the most effective around the hoop. Most effective around the hoop, Bailey was the difference between the two clubs.

Shooting from the corners, the inexperienced Kidd was well-nigh infallible. He seldom missed a shot from the right or left corner. Playing with only a few days' practice, he quickly became part of the team, both offensively and defensively.

"He's a fine boy who learns fast, and he fits in well with the team," said Coach Marshall Hughes, following Kidd's scintillating performance.

The Cubs took a slim first period lead and pushed ahead until they had a 27-21 at the end of the first half. Yearling accuracy dwindled during the second quarter, when their field goal attempts seemed to be jinxed.

During the second half, the Cub lead fluctuated between 5 and 10 points, with a Yearling spurt in the last five minutes narrowing the margin to that which prevailed at the final whistle.

Supporting Murray Bailey in the Baylor scoring column were Bill Dalton of South San Antonio High who had 10 points and Brenham's Edwin Schroeder with 6.

Lack of support for Kidd was one factor that contributed to the Yearling defeat. Casey Wise tallied 9 points, but Sam Bradshaw, Douglas Hart, and the usually-reliable Arthur Stewart together only garnered 12 points, equally divided among them.

The first period was exceptionally tight, the Cubs holding a 14-12 edge, and neither team had a real advantage. Bailey tallied 9 of the Cub points scored in the initial quarter with three field goals coming on easy layups through the porous Yearling defense.

Jim Thorpe May Get Medals Back

Group Seeks Return Of Olympic Medals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A congressional committee decided Tuesday to try to have the Olympic medals of Jim Thorpe, the great Indian athlete, restored to him.

Thorpe won the medals in Olympic games at Sweden in 1912, but they were taken from him when it was learned he had played baseball for money.

The House Interior Committee's subcommittee on Indian affairs voted unanimously to try to have the medals restored and to have them displayed in Oklahoma, where Thorpe lived in his youth.
