DEAN CARTER OF GALVESTON HERE FOR CONFERENCE

Changes Regarding Entrance Credits to Medical Department to Be Explained—Will Deliver Talk to Pre-Medics.

Dean W. S. Carter of the Medical Department of the University will be in Austin Saturday to confer with the Faculty over certain changes that the Board of Regents of the University recently made in the admission requirements for the Department of Medicine at Galveston.

Realizing the importance of putting these new requirements before the students taking the pre-medical course and those that intend to take the course, Dean Carter has expressed a desire to confer with the Pre-Medical students while in Austin, and the following letter was received yesterday by Beauford Jester, president of the Pre-Medical Society:

"Galveston, Tex., Jan. 26.
"President Students' Pre-Medical Society, University of Texas, Austin, Texas:

"Dear Sir: The Board of Regents of the University has changed the requirements for admission to the School of Medicine so that physics, chemistry and biology will be required among the five courses beginning with the session 1914-15. The Medical Faculty has made extensive changes in the arrangement of the teaching in the School of Medicine so as to meet the altered conditions.

"It seems very desirable that these changes should be explained to those students who are taking the pre-medical courses in the College of Arts of this University. I expect to be in Austin on Saturday next, Jan. 31, and if the members of your society desire it, I shall be very glad to meet them at some time which you may arrange with Dean Carter to explain these changes. If convenient please advise me concerning the time and place of this meeting.

"Yours very truly,
"W. S. CARTER,
"Dean School of Medicine."

President Jester has held a conference with Dr. Richards and several of the officers of the Pre-Medical Society as to what time the society will be able to meet with Dr. Carter, for it is very desirable and will be very profitable that every member of the Pre-Medical organization hear the explanation of the recent changes in requirements and the changes recently made in the Medical Department to meet these admission requirements. It was decided that a meeting of the society be called for Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. The hour of the meeting will be announced tomorrow. The Pre-Medics are urged to attend this meeting, for a keener insight will be given them as regards their work here in the College of Arts and the medical course proper which awaits them at Galveston or other medical schools.

SAN MARCOS TRAINING CAMP.

Next Year's Football Squad Will Train at Camp on San Marcos River.

The 1914 football squad will train on the banks of the San Marcos River, the site of last year's training camp. This decision was made upon the receipt of the following letter from Mr. A. B. Rogers of San Marcos to Athletic Director Belmont:

"We are delighted to think of having you and your squad with us again next season. Hope to have things around the resort looking even better for you than last summer. The recent floods did us quite a lot of damage, but we are still in the ring and will be open for business at the same old stand if nothing unforeseen prevents."

The San Marcos River at San Marcos is a beautiful spot and an ideal training camp. The water is very clear and affords splendid facilities for boating and swimming. It is said that the camp rivals the training camps of the Eastern schools.

Walter Evans of Houston came in yesterday for a few days' stay. He has been sick since June of last session. Mr. Evans is staying at the Sigma Nu House.

VIOLINISTS ARE PLANNING FOR A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

At Rehearsal Wednesday Night Features of Concert to Be Given Soon Were Discussed—Professor Reed, Director.

The University Violin Club is looking forward to the most successful year in its history. All the members are musicians of experience and ability, and the interest shown thus far has been very gratifying to those in charge. The club wishes to announce that Prof. Reed of the new School of Music has accepted the position of director and will have charge of all rehearsals hereafter. In the past the work has been carried on with great difficulty owing to the fact that there was no director, so that the securing of the services of Prof. Reed will be a great help to the club.

The rehearsal last Wednesday was one of the most enthusiastic of the year. Plans were discussed, and several selections from the operas were practiced, for the annual concert which will be given in April. The work is progressing rapidly and this concert is expected to surpass all concerts given by the club in the past.

The personnel of the club is as follows: Misses Ruth Nagle, Vera McNew, Lucille Rawlins, Waldine Thomas, Rose Davis, Rose Frank, Gertrude Auer, Martha Liddell, Anna Doggett and Lillian Womack. Miss Kathleen Molesworth is the accompanist.

SECOND TALK ON WOMAN AND LAW

Judge Tarlton Will Deliver the Next Lecture of His Series—Topic Deals with Injustice.

Judge Tarlton, whose first lecture on "Woman and the Law," delivered recently, created so much favorable comment, will deliver a second distinct lecture on the same subject this evening in the Law Auditorium. This lecture, as the first, is a distinct lecture, no knowledge of the first being necessary. It will be of a popular nature, and can readily be understood by persons unversed in the law.

This lecture will deal with Homestead Exemptions. In it Judge Tarlton will discuss the origin and development of laws for the protection of the debtor and his family; the historical development of the homestead law, and the incorporation of its provisions in the constitution. The historical interpretation of the law and its economic results will also be treated in the lecture.

The subject matter of the lecture is of particular interest at this time, in view of current opposition to the homestead exemptions by those who favor land mortgage banks. In the near future it is probable that the homestead exemption of the constitution may be a political issue in connection with such legislation as may be proposed to provide for agricultural credit. In his lecture Judge Tarlton will deal with the injustice connected with the operation of the law as well as with the measure of protection which it provides for the family.

HANDBALL TOURNAMENT.

The handball tournament started Tuesday afternoon with a match between Trask and Donaldson, the latter winning in a closely contested game. Yesterday afternoon two more matches were played off, the contestants being King vs. Raunick, and Purcell vs. Jones. In the first game Raunick won rather easily, and in the second game Jones came off the victor.

No admission is charged to see these games and all spectators are welcomed. Matches are played every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening from 3 to 5. By these matches it is hoped to stimulate interest in handball in the University. In many Northern schools handball ranks close to basketball as an indoor game; and when an adequate gymnasium has been provided, it is hoped that it will be more extensively played at the University of Texas.

PICTURES OF ALL TEAMS COLLECTED

Gymnasium Entry Is Covered with Pictures of Every Former Athletic Team—Lutcher Stark and Director Belmont Responsible.

As a result of a rather large expenditure of money by Mr. Lutcher Stark, coupled with the persistent efforts of Athletic Director Belmont extending over a period of several weeks, the task of collecting and reproducing pictures of all former athletic teams was completed yesterday. The pictures are arranged in consecutive order in large frames in the entry to the Gymnasium and are attracting much interest.

There are fifty-seven of the pictures, representing every athletic team ever put out by the University. On each picture is shown the year, the names of the players, the games played, and the results. The picture of the first football team is dated 1893. In it looms up in a striped jersey, the likeness of Mr. John W. Philips of Dallas, vice president of the Alumni Association. In it also appear a sturdy looking person with a long mustache and two or three other men with long bushy hair. The football held by the captain bears the inscriptions, "Champions," and no one after noting the determined and strong features of the individuals, would doubt their right to the title.

Track, which, according to the pictures, began in 1895, is the second in seniority of University sports. In a picture of one of the first track teams Judge Ira P. Hildebrand, clad in the regulation garb bearing an obscure "T," stands out very prominently in the midst of a group of hard-muscled track men. Baseball is shown by a picture dated 1897 to be the third sport to become recognized. The pictures of the early baseball teams also show odd uniforms, some of the "T's" being extremely large. In them appears Dr. A. C. Ellis, inventor of the famous sliding glove, then coach, together with Wilbur Allen, for a long time president of the Texas League.

The picture of the first basketball team, representing our infant sport, is dated 1906.

It might be possible for a good many Freshmen to find in the groups pictures of their fathers, although they might have difficulty in recognizing them in the peculiar uniforms; for it is true the uniforms of the older teams are very odd. Still, they lend interest to the collection.

Many obstacles were encountered by the collectors of these pictures. Most of them were reproduced from the old Cactuses at a large expense. Librarian Goodwin, on account of the great value of the old year books, would not consent to their temporary removal from the Library until he was assured that a man would stay with them every minute.

It was also very difficult to determine the names of each player. Numerous sources of information were resorted to. "Water" Henry proved a mine in this connection. He did not know every man's name immediately, but when a name was mentioned among numerous others he invariably associated it with the proper face. It is the desire of Mr. Belmont that any errors discovered be reported.

These pictures, it is thought, will encourage University traditions. They represent every athlete ever known in the school, and among them are some brilliant ones. They will be a source of inspiration to would-be stars, for no young athlete could be but thrilled when looking upon the likeness of the splendid men who during so many years past have struggled and fought to sustain the athletic fame of their alma mater.

Lutcher Stark, who to a great extent made possible this rare collection, while a student, was manager of football, and since graduation has been the greatest benefactor of the team and its most dependable friend. He is at present alumni manager of the football team.

FRESHMAN CO-EDS TAKE FAST GAME FROM SOPHOMORES

Thrilling Game Played Before Large Crowd, Including Many Visitors, Misses Mobley and Booth Are Stars Players in Game.

One of the best games ever played in the Girls' Gymnasium was pulled off yesterday afternoon between the Freshmen and the Sophomores, the Freshmen winning the contest by only one point, the score being 7 to 6. The teams were evenly matched and the game was hard fought throughout. A large crowd of spectators, including a number from Kenilworth Hall, were present and added to the excitement of the game by their enthusiastic cheering. Vivian Booth of the Sophomores threw the only field goal of the game, and Helen Mobley was easily the star for the Freshmen, throwing seven out of eight fouls.

The next game will be between the Freshmen and the Seniors and will decide the championship.

The line-up was as follows: Freshmen—Aileen Scott, Helen Mobley, Martha Liddell, Marie Lovelace and Beulah Hale; Sophomores—Mattie Gillespie, Louise McGhee, Viva Booth, Gertrude Whitehouse and Lulu Edens. Bernita Minkwitz, referee.

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE.

Arrangements are being perfected by representative women of the various Women's Clubs of Austin for the delivery of two popular lectures on "Preventive Medicine," before a big mass meeting at the Tabernacle some time during the Home Economics Week, Feb. 9-15. The proposed lectures are to be delivered by Dr. J. F. Simonds of the Medical Department of the University of Texas, and Dr. Rachel Yarros, of the University of Illinois Medical School. Further announcement of the meeting will be made in due time.

Panhandle Club meeting today, in Room 218, at 2:30. Important business.

DONOR OF PRIZE IS PLEASED WITH INTEREST SHOWN

Mr. D. A. Frank Writes from Dallas Concerning the Work of Public Speaking Department—Is Grateful to Shurter.

Mr. E. D. Shurter of the Public Speaking Department, is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. D. A. Frank of Dallas, who is one of the donors of the $100 debating prize, won this year by W. W. Meachum:

"Replying to your favor of the 12th inst., I am glad to note the interest manifested by the students of the University in debating and oratory. Very often since I have been out of the University I have noticed men of brilliant attainments attempting to present matters to a court or jury, fail to do themselves justice because of the fact that they had not had the proper training along the lines of debating. I have often, in my own mind, felt grateful to you for what I learned of the art of debating under your tuition, and appreciate more than I can tell the opportunities presented in your department for the study of public speaking. Every student who intends to be a public speaker in after life ought, by all means, to take at least three full courses in oratory in the University—the course in declamation, to give him delivery; the course in debating, to teach him how to present an argument; and a course in oratory proper, to teach him proper organization of his thoughts and forceful presentation to his audience."

CO-ED ATHLETICS IS FLOURISHING

Many Girls Try Out for "T's" in Tennis and Basketball—Contests Now in Progress.

Girls desirous of making their "T's" this year should begin practice immediately. Quite a number are trying for their letters in basketball, and it looks as if the co-eds are going to make a more creditable showing this year than heretofore. Last year only six "T's" were awarded to the girls, Dorothy Densmore and Kathryn Wells winning their letters in tennis, and Elizabeth Butts, Anne Lovelace, Bonita Minkwitz and Sallie Whitehouse in basketball. In order to win a "T" in tennis, it is necessary to win either the singles or the doubles. In basketball, a girl must play on an average of twice a week and make her class team. She then has to be recommended to the Athletic Council by a committee composed of the gym director, coach and manager. The recommendations are passed on and the "T's" awarded in the spring term.

At present the class teams are playing a series of games for the class championship, the championship team to be awarded with a loving cup. The Junior-Senior game was played Tuesday afternoon, and the Freshman-Sophomore game was played yesterday, the Freshmen and Seniors winning their respective games. Those who are now on the teams are making a great cry for more girls to come out and show their class spirit. In the last game a Junior had to keep on playing after she was hurt because there was no one to take her place. If the proper interest were shown, numerous subs would be available.

RECEIVE FOR FRESHMEN.

The Y. M. C. A. is planning a reception for all Freshmen, both men and women, tonight from 8 to 11, which is expected to be one of the biggest affairs of the year. The entire building will be turned over to the "Froshies," and a very attractive program of entertainment has been arranged. A cordial invitation is extended to all members of the Freshman class to attend. It is hoped that every boy will bring "her" with him.

Sororities Postpone Open House.

Owing to conflicts with the Sophomore reception and other social functions which are to take place in the early part of February, the sororities have decided to postpone open house from the 7th until some time later in the month. Definite announcement will be made later.

WEATHER REPORT.

DR. W. R. MANNING WRITES HISTORY FOR MAGAZINES

Many Valuable Contributions on Mexican Affairs Are Given by Texas' Adjunct Professor of Spanish-American History.

Apropos the present general interest in all matters relating to Mexico, Dr. William R. Manning, adjunct professor of Spanish-American history in the University of Texas, has made several valuable contributions to journals and magazines dealing with Mexican affairs.

In the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, under the title "Texas and the Boundary Issue," Dr. Manning traces the diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States from 1822 to 1829. The account is replete with points of research, and numerous quotations from official letters and documents render the study not only profitable, but intensely interesting.

The latest number of the American Journal of International Law also contains a rather lengthy contribution by Dr. Manning on "Poinsett's Mission to Mexico" in which Poinsett's interference in the internal affairs is discussed.

On the November number of the Bulletin of the Pan-American Union, Dr. Manning has an interesting article recounting his personal experiences in the Mexican foreign office archives. One gains a pleasing and rather unusual impression of Mexican courtesy, as well as a rare picture of the historian at work, by reading this contribution.

SENIOR COACH NEEDED.

Inter-Class Basketball Shows Lack of Preparation on Part of Seniors.

"Wanted—One Senior with enough class spirit and organizing ability to select, organize and assist in managing a basketball team of his classmates." Such a spirited Senior is very much needed in regard to the proposed series of inter-class basketball contests.

These contests, by the way, are practically assured already. Leaders have been chosen for the Freshman, Junior and Sophomore teams and as soon as the Seniors awaken to their responsibility work will start on training the teams and arranging for the contests. The present plan is to have each class play each other class twice. The games will be played on Clark Field in the afternoons. As soon as final arrangements are made the date of the first game will be announced. In the meantime arrangements are being held up, pending the appearance of some loyal and capable Senior to assume the responsibility for his class. Mr. Belmont is anxiously awaiting applicants.

ASK "CUPID."

If it costs $3 to change a course in the University, how much does it cost to change one in Grace Hall?

WHY NOT SEVERANCE?

We are already severed in fact, so why not in theory? The University at Austin and the Agricultural & Mechanical College at College Station are as separate and distinct in reality as any two institutions in existence. Why not finish the job?

If we as institutions are so estranged as to prevent us from engaging in athletic contests with each other, it does look a little inconsistent that we should own our property jointly, keep our money together, and be under a common management.

If by a formal severance the two institutions can come to a common understanding, forgive and forget, and work side by side for the advancement of higher education, then it will be a good move.

The only objection we have to make is that we do not wish to be severed without knowing anything about it. If there is to be a division of the property, we wish to assert our claims in advance. We have heard that the College Station boys are in need of some barns for their live stock. It is easy to see how a complication may arise. There is going to be a scramble for the shacks, and we want to be prepared to defend them.

The poor old "Caf"—somebody has prodded him again.

A good way for the different classes to improve their credit with the Austin merchants is to pay in advance.

If you are fond of musical tones, go to the shacks on a windy day.

Suppose each prof. took three cuts?

If you are personally acquainted with the editor of any college newspaper in the state the Press Club would appreciate it very much if you would use your influence to get him to attend the meeting of college editors to be held here April 29th. Drop him a letter.

George Fitch and George Ade may attend the annual banquet of the Greek letter fraternity men of North Texas, to be held in Dallas on Feb. 21. Fitch is the author of the famous Siwash Stories, while Ade is noted as a humorist. We suggest that these notables come on to the main show at Austin.

Houston and McAdoo will be in Austin shortly to decide about the location of the regional bank. It matters very little to us whether the bank goes to Houston or to Dallas—we may need money in both places next Fall. Inasmuch as we play Oklahoma in Dallas and the Haskell Indians in Houston, it might be better to have the money supply in the latter city.

The students are making history these days—for the Cactus. The lure of the camera is here. Pictures, pictures, pictures! Groups, freaks, and all kinds of pictures are being snapped every day. The Cactus is in the making.

These pictures will be of educational value in the near future. The time will soon come when we cannot realize ourselves that we ever wore such freakish togery. Thanks be to the designing eye of the art editor, however, we are not fully exposed or disclosed—though some of the campus snap-shots may give the appearance that this is the "back to nature" stage.

THE FIRING LINE

The last few years have witnessed a remarkable change of spirit on the part of the upper classmen of the University of Texas toward the freshmen. Within the memory of many of those now attending the University, the attitude of the student body toward the first-year men was one of scorn and antagonism. Hazing was not only tolerated, but was even considered the proper thing. The effect of this treatment on the freshmen was bad, for it prevented many of them from receiving the full benefit of the association with other students, which is one of the most valuable things a man gets out of a University education; but its effect on the University was even worse, for it stirred up class hostility, a thing far different from true class spirit, and, by keeping the freshmen from filling their real place in the various student activities, it deprived the University of the talent which is to be found in every freshman class.

But this spirit has passed. True, there are still manifestations of class hostility occasionally, but the old attitude of depreciation is no more. The upper classmen have come to recognize that the freshmen are the material out of which the University must build its future football teams, debating teams, dramatic clubs, etc., that from the freshman class must come those who are to be the representative students of after years. There has consequently been a disposition to try to encourage the first-year men to show their abilities and to try to develop any talent they may have by getting them interested in the various student activities.

This new spirit is one of conciliation rather than hostility. Instead of passing a man by with the scornful expression, "Oh, he's only a freshman," the upper classmen are showing a desire to meet that man, find out what he is worth, and, if he has any talent, to bring it out. One of the most effective means of bringing the freshmen into their true sphere is such get-together social functions as that which will be given at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. These affairs help to make the first-year men feel that the student body has an interest in them; that they have a real place in the life of the University, and that the upper classmen desire their co-operation in the various undertakings of the student body. These get-together affairs have another value. They bring the freshmen themselves together, make them better acquainted, and in this way increase the efficiency of the class as a working body.

We believe that such affairs as the Y. M. C. A. reception of tonight are good, and should be encouraged. Wherever it is possible, other University organizations ought to follow out the same idea—not in the same way, perhaps, but in the same spirit. We believe that by bringing the freshmen into closer relation to each other, and to the rest of the student body, a bigger, a better and a more efficient University will be made possible. Let the good work go on. BOOSTER.

THE COST OF UNIVERSITY EDUCATION.

Is it possible for a student to go through the university on $700 a year? This question is asked in an interesting article in the Yale News, and the Daily Texan, the fine little paper published by the students of the University of Texas, says that the average student at that institution gets through on $400 or $425.

The Texan says: "The high cost of living is low at the University of Texas. A great many students spend no more than $350 annually, and no small number even less. We do not know that any statistics have ever been compiled, but we should estimate the average expenditure at $400 or $425. There are a good many who spend more, but there are a great many who spend less. It is a rare instance that a student spends as much as $700. Such a student is the 'high flyer' and he usually gets his wings clipped the first year."

The Texan opines, however, that the cost of obtaining an education is too high even in Texas. "We as a student body spend a great deal of money foolishly. We follow the crowd, and the crowd spends money. And yet you cannot blame the average student for following the crowd, for he wants to take part in those things in which his fellow students are interested." What is needed, thinks the Texan, is to regulate the habits of the crowd, and it sees hope of improvement in this direction. "There is a student sentiment gaining prevalence which decries excessive expenditures," it declares.

This is a healthy sign. There are many indications that the average student at the University of Texas is there because he desires an education, and if, as the Texan suggests, there is a sentiment looking to cutting down the already low cost of living among its students this is additional evidence of their seriousness of purpose. The fine spirit that pervades the pages of the Texan is in itself an earmark of a healthy university atmosphere. The paper is doing a splendid work and can become a power for genuine reform and the maintaining of high standards in the community life of the students.—San Antonio Express.

participates. During the celebration it is customary for all the fraternities to give receptions, and advantage is taken of this to include in the list of guests a large number of alumni who respond to invitations sent to every member of the alumni association.

In past years, at Texas, Junior Week has proven to be a very popular affair. It marks the strides of our University to reach the front rank of large representative schools of the United States.

Junior Week, which will be the week between the 16th and 21st of February, will be the time for many social functions of various kinds. President Claxton Parks states that preparations are being made for a reception that will be one of the most successful features of its kind. All students of the University will be invited to attend the reception.

A number of complaints were voiced yesterday by the students who are accustomed to spending the late hours of the afternoon in the University Gymnasium, in regard to the odoriferous gases floating into the Gymnasium from the Chemical Laboratory. The experiments of the laboratory calls for the production of hydrogen sulphide gas in immense quantities. Owing to the small room offered by the annex to the Chemistry Building these experiments were held outside the annex upon tables improvised for the purpose. It seems that the wind being from the north, caused the vapors arising from the chemical apparatus to be driven directly into the Gymnasium, where a number of athletes were breathing heavily from wrestling, boxing, pulling weights and such physical exercise as is likely to make the athlete breathe hard.

As soon as the athletes found out from whence the peculiar smells were coming, they immediately raised a protest and the scientists seemed inclined to withdraw from their bottles of dope and seek shelter in the annex. The situation was finally relieved by the readjustment of the apparatus and the moving of the tables to such a location as to keep the objectionable odors from entering the physical culture rooms.

THEATRE OFFERS PRIZE TO STUDENTS FOR PLAY

The Princess Theatre, New York City, offers a $500 prize for the best one-act play by a student of the following universities: Columbia, Cornell, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Barnard, Harvard, Yale, Vassar, Bryn Mawr and the United States Naval and Military Academies. Plays must be submitted before Feb. 1, 1914, in typewritten form and mailed to Princess Theatre Play Contest, Princess Theatre, West Thirty-ninth street, New York City. The conditions of the contest are as follows:

(a) Authors must be undergraduates of the above institutions.
(b) Plays must be original. No translations or adaptations will be considered. Dramatizations of novels, short stories, etc., may be entered provided full rights to make such dramatizations are secured.

(c) Each play submitted must be signed with pseudonym only, and accompanied by a sealed envelope, bearing outside the title of the play and the author's pseudonym, and enclosing the author's real name and address. These envelopes will not be opened until the judges have made their decision.

(d) Manuscripts must be clear and typewritten.

(e) No play can be considered which has previously been submitted to the Princess Theatre management.

CAPS AND GOWNS APPEAR.

In accordance with an official notice from the Senior president, all girls of the Senior Academic Department appeared upon the campus and about the class rooms yesterday in the conventional cap and gown of the pedagogues' fame. Many a debonair co-ed laid aside her customary frivolity in order to suit her behavior to the dignity of the occasion.

Last year the men of the Senior class also appeared in caps and gowns. They wore wide collars of uniform style and were scarcely ever seen without the senior cane upon their arms.

CHAPEL NOTICES

Temptations of University People.

Mr. Gray of the Department of Education gave a very helpful talk on our special temptations as University people. (1) Our physical man is more tempted than it would be if we took proper care of it. Bodies in a weakened condition nervously can not resist as well as they otherwise could.

(2) Social temptations come to us that others do not have. Not only are we tempted to overdo socially, but the greatest danger is in growing away from our homes and local conditions.

(3) Our moral horizons must necessarily undergo certain changes under new conditions and ideals, and the danger lies in the fact that we are tempted to do away with any moral standards at all.

(4) Religion is another thing that will likely be affected by our new surroundings. A boy of 12 or 13 has fixed notions of religion which will be severely tested. Because we find these new problems and come to find that there is new light to be thrown on many of them, we should rather try all the harder to honestly go to the bottom of the subject and reach the only sane position, the absolute necessity of a sound religious conviction.

(5) Intellectually, we are prone to sin, if we are not big enough to receive intellectual training without developing snobbishness. The man who makes his intellectual training impressing to the discomfort of another is not fit for college life. The man who specializes to such an extent that he sees no good in anything other than his own specialty is not a fit subject for a University either as a teacher or as a student.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR BEST STORY

Alumni Association Will Make Award to Student Correspondent of Home Newspaper.

In order to encourage journalistic work among the students of the University, the Alumni Association has offered a prize of fifty dollars for the best series of letters written by students for their home papers. In regard to the rules governing the competition for the prize, Secretary John A. Lomax has made the following statement for The Texan:

"The attention of all students in the University of Texas is again called to the fact that the Alumni Association offers $50 in cash for the best series of letters written by any student of the University of Texas and printed in his home paper. In making the decision the judges will consider the four best letters submitted by student. In other words, it will be necessary for any student to write and have printed four letters in order to be considered as a candidate for the prize. The letters will be judged mainly on their news value to the readers of papers in which they are published.

"In securing such publicity for the the University as will be afforded by well written news letters to his home paper a student will render the institution a most valuable service."

AVOID ACCIDENTS

Every week, in fact almost daily, accidents occur which could be averted by the exercise of just a little care. Many of these result in injuries—some of which are permanent, others less serious though painful—and in some instances, death occurs.

It is with the hope of lessening these accidents that we have undertaken the organization of the Austin Safety League, of which you are counted a member. You should remember that you are always exposed to and may have an accident when you least expect it, and at times and under circumstances over which you have absolutely no control. You should, therefore, always be on the alert and avoid every possibility of an accident that you can. Just a little forethought and just a little care may save much suffering and many heartaches. The good work along this line should not be confined to protecting one's self. The times frequently occur when you can warn others of danger and save them, and you should take advantage of every opportunity and WARN THEM. Let your slogan be Safety, First, Last and Always.
