

Allred Declines To File Landreth Land Strip Suit

Previous Judgment Upheld Giving Oil Royalties To School Fund

Survey Faulty

Says Bobbitt Also Refused To Bring Action On Matter

A declination to file suit on behalf of the University to recover land in Crane County from the public school fund and private claimants was announced Wednesday by James V. Allred, attorney general. He had been asked by a University Regent, Robert L. Holliday, to bring the proceedings for recovery of what is known as the "Landreth strip" on which the public school fund is receiving oil royalties. Mr. Allred said his predecessor, Robert Lee Bobbitt, had also declined to bring the suit.

"The State might have had a chance to win the case upon the contention advanced by Regent Holliday, if it had not been for the judgment rendered upon the suit at an earlier time," Mr. Allred said.

The present controversy is a result of a faulty original survey whereby an excess of land was included in the Crane County strip. Oil discovered on the strip in recent years has increased its value enormously.

Money that has been impounded awaiting the decision as to what fund or individuals it should be paid, will be released as a result of this decision.

Weeks Predicts Possible Tie In Next Congress

Garner May Meet Strong Opposition From Independents

A possible tie in the election of John Garner of Texas as speaker of the house when Congress meets next month is predicted by Dr. Oliver D. Weeks, associate professor of government.

The independent factions in both parties will probably be the determining factors in the election, a fact which has had no exceptions in previous elections, and there is no prophecy as to which way the independent factions will vote. The three seats which were vacated in the House due to deaths have been filled, two went Democratic and one Republican. This result in the election of the members of the House may be a test of the probable strength of each party, said Dr. Weeks.

If Garner is elected speaker of the House there is small possibility that there will be many radical changes in previous policies, since bi-partisan members will hold in check any advancement of either party. Many Republicans will vote Democratic and many Democrats will vote Republican as they have in the past, and thereby any changes of important nature will be prevented. The election of a Democratic speaker in the House will undoubtedly have an effect on the coming presidential election, since the speaker of the House has been considered next to the president in power, continued Dr. Weeks.

If Harry Moore and Ruby Lafon are elected, respectively, to the governorships of New Jersey and Kentucky, they will tend to cast the election returns in a favorable direction which will be beneficial to the prospects of the Democratic party in the coming presidential election, since both Kentucky and New Jersey are doubtful states, said Dr. Weeks.

Vinson Slain By Chinese Bandits

Word Received by Austin Relatives Thursday

Rev. John W. Vinson, Presbyterian missionary and brother of Dr. Robert E. Vinson, former president of The University of Texas, was killed Tuesday by Chinese bandits near Haichow, China, according to word received by E. D. Junkin of Austin, his brother-in-law. Verification of the report was obtained by telegram from E. W. Smith, secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church, Nashville, Tenn., who extended the condolences of the entire church.

Mr. Vinson, who for the last 25 years had served as Presbyterian minister in China, was captured by bandits Sunday in Kiangsu province, where the mission with which he worked is located. A doctor of the Presbyterian mission informed the United States consulate in Shanghai of his death.

The minister graduated at Austin College, Sherman, and attended the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He went to China as a missionary soon after leaving school. At the time of his death he was manager and treasurer of the Presbyterian station in Haichow. His wife died in China in 1925.

Mr. Vinson is survived by three sisters, four brothers, and three children. The children, two boys and a girl, live in Lexington, Va., with other relatives, Mr. Junkin said.

Five University Applicants To Visit State Body In December

Penick Chairman

Two Texas Students Will Compete in District Election

The five applicants for the Rhodes Scholarship from the University this year, Wilson Elkins, Weldon Litsey, Meredith Gardner, Fred Cooper, and T. A. Pollard, will leave for Dallas December 5 to appear before a State committee, Dr. D. A. Penick, chairman of the committee on Rhodes Scholarships, said. This committee will choose two men from all the Rhodes Scholarship candidates of the State.

The two men selected by the State committee will be sent before a district committee in which the states of Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas are represented. From the twelve candidates of these states, four will be chosen for the Rhodes award.

Co-ed Council Banquet Held At Dormitories

320 Girls Attend Annual Dinner to Sponsor Fellowship

Co-eds of the University gathered according to classes in four dormitories last night for the annual co-ed banquets sponsored by the Co-ed Council for the purpose of fostering better acquaintance among women students.

The senior class meeting at Scottish Rite Dormitory was represented by 80 girls. Frances Greenwood presided and introduced the guests. Ruth Leslie led the songs. The senior skit, the portrayal of an old-fashioned album, was presented first. Then followed the freshman skit, the introduction of the officers of the Cap and Gown, the junior skit, and the sophomore skit. Yellow cosmo and an illustration of yellow candles only carried out the class colors of the seniors, orange and white. Copies of all the University songs were the favors.

Junior on Campus
Junior class girls numbered 70 at their banquet in the Woman's Building. Their guests were Dean and Mrs. V. I. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Calhoun, Mrs. Frances Goldbeck, Mrs. Pearl Chadwell, Miss E. M. Brookshier, and Miss Margaret Peck. The junior skit was a costume parody of a part of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." Red roses and candlesticks carried out the scheme of the junior class colors.

In Kirby Hall 65 sophomores and their guests gathered at a banquet for which blue morning glories and candlesticks portrayed the class color. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Penick, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Correll, and Mrs. T. H. Shelby. A three-character comic play by Percival Wilde portraying a young lawyer's first day in business constituted the sophomore skit. Annabelle Murray sang for the group.

Freshman girls attended their banquet at Littlefield Dormitory 105 strong. Their guests were Mrs. Ross Sterling, Mrs. J. Frank Dobie, and Miss Dorothy Gebauer. Their skit was a musical number composed of a violin duet played by Grace Eyles and Pauline Holman accompanied by Elizabeth Boyd at the piano, and of a vocal solo sung by Seawillow Halton.

Sunday Club Fixes Date for Election

Officers will be elected for the remainder of the term by the Sunday Club of All Saints' Chapel Sunday evening, November 15. After the vesper service at 6 o'clock, a dinner will be given at Grace Hall through the courtesy of Mrs. Martha Cavin, housemother, and the election will follow the dinner.

Nominations submitted by the nominating committee are as follows: president, Helen Lyle and Bill Coffield; first vice president, Carlyn Pierce, and Bill Strong; second vice president, Betty Love Rugley and Francis Hale; secretary, Janice Freeman, and Jean Best; treasurer, Bob Regan and Hamlin Hugeloy.

Special to The Daily Texan.
WHITE RE-ELECTED
DENTON, Nov. 5.—E. V. White, dean of Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.), has been re-elected to serve his tenth consecutive session on the Committee of Standards of Texas Colleges for a term of three years.

Try This One In Your Swim Suit

"May I have the next waltz with you?" will be the question one swimmer will ask another next summer on the beaches provided the modern method of introducing rhythm into the sport of swimming by means of musical accompaniment invades the resorts.

The whole procedure begins with the tapping of the feet in time with "The Song of India," then diving into the pool, and finally three hundred feet of rhythmic swimming during which the movements of the arms and legs keep time with the music. Ed Barlow, swimming instructor, resumed this means of improving the advanced swimmers' style Wednesday at Gregory Gym.

All-University Dance Scheduled Tuesday Night

Celebration Is Special For Holiday Given November 11

An All-University Dance will be given Tuesday, November 10, as a special concession to University students, who will have a holiday November 11. The Varsity orchestra, popular dance orchestra from Waco, have been engaged to play since many students have requested their return after their tryout for the All-University Dance contract. The dance will last from 9 to 12 o'clock and the regular admission price of $1 will be charged.

This will not affect the usual Saturday night dance of next week for which Fred Gardner's orchestra will play.

A battle dance is to be staged Saturday night, November 7, with music being furnished by Steve Gardner's orchestra and the Imperial Dance Orchestra of Waco, Charles Zivley, manager of the dances, said Thursday.

Housemothers To Plan Loan Fund

Dean Nowotny Addresses Gathering of Fifty

"The Qualifications of a Housemother" was the subject of the address presented by Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men, to the fifty ladies at the regular meeting of the Housemothers' organization of men students in The University of Texas, Tuesday night, in the Main Building.

Mrs. Agnes Veltman, president, presided at the meeting. The entire business session was devoted to the discussion of plans for the students' loan fund. A final vote was in favor of perfecting the loan, which will be taken care of by a committee of the organization, assisted by Dean Nowotny.

Several vocal and piano selections, sponsored by the Austin Conservatory of Music, completed the program.

Debate Clubs Plan Intergroup Contest

Plans will be made next week by the Hogg Debating Club and the Rusk and Athenaeum Literary societies for the intersociety debates held each semester. The debates will start the first week in December.

Conference Members Favor Post Season Charity Game

Members of the Southwest Conference favor the idea of a post-season game for charity to be played by the Longhorns, an incomplete report made by Dr. D. A. Penick to the Athletic Council last night indicated. Dr. W. E. Metzenthin, chairman, announced that there were restrictions attached to the playing of such a contest, and pointed specifically to the fact that services of coaches and officials would have to be donated.

The paying of large salaries for services have prejudiced the conference members against post season games, he pointed out.

A post-season game with Harvard in Austin is unlikely, Dr. Metzenthin believes. "It is not only against their policy to make long trips," he pointed out, "but also to play post-season games. That Harvard would consider playing a game for charity in Texas seems highly improbable. They have their own bowl which will seat 60,000 spectators, they can charge higher prices and

Men's New Dormitory May Be Ready for Use By Next Long Session

It is hoped that construction on the men's new dormitory can be completed in time for occupancy next September, V. I. Moore, dean of men, said Thursday. Dean Moore has been appointed to the faculty building committee to serve in connection with the project. The building, first in a proposed series of dormitories, will be located directly south of Gregory Gymnasium facing north and west and extending along Twenty-first Street.

The dormitory is to be constructed in four separate and distinct units, the only connecting door between the units being in the basement. The two eastern units will be three stories high, and the two western units will be four stories high, with a tower room above the fourth floor of the extreme western unit.

Club Idea Stressed
The separation of the building into units will introduce the club idea of housing men. The University is the first educational institution in the United States to plan dormitories in this manner. The dining hall, which will serve two such structures, will be built later in connection with the second dormitory.

The entire building will provide accommodations for 137 students. The two eastern units will feature a sleeping porch on the south side of each floor, furnished with five "double-decker" beds, and there will be five study rooms, accommodating two students each. A sixth room will be used as a common lavatory. The western units will also house men to the floor, with the exception of the extreme west section. On the first floor will be located the manager's office and living quarters, with room for only four students. Three students will occupy the tower room.

Convenience Planned
Students' rooms will be furnished with built-in chiffoniers and bookcases. Each room will have two separate closets, a desk, a table, and chairs. A post office for use of the entire dormitory will be located on the main corridor of the first floor.

Storage room for trunks, a general supply room, a linen room, and the porter's room will be located in the basement. A small laundry or pressing room where students may do their own washing or pressing if they wish, will be placed in the basement of each unit.

The building as a whole will be faced with buff-colored brick, will have a tile roof, and be of fireproof construction throughout. "We are trying to provide sanitary, comfortable quarters for the students, conveniently located, and reasonable in price," Dean Moore said.

'Firefly' Scores On Sale Friday

Scores for the "Firefly," the spring production of the University Light Opera Company, may be bought by the members at 7 o'clock Friday in the office of the club, Main Building 152, Malcolm Gregory, treasurer, announced. Students may buy scores together for $2.70 and pay their dues, or their names will be dropped from the rolls.

The first rehearsal of the group will be in the girls' study hall, Main Building, at 7 o'clock. All members who have not received official notice of their ineligibility for membership are expected to report at this meeting.

Final arrangements for the banquet to be held Friday, November 13, will be announced by the entertainment committee.

Benedict to Address P.-T. A. Convention

A number of University faculty members will appear on the program of the annual convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers in San Antonio, November 10-13. Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University, will address the general assembly. Miss Mary E. Gearing, professor of home economics, will speak before one of the sectional groups on "Foundation for Child Welfare." Dr. D. K. Brace, professor of physical education, is chairman of the physical education division of the health bureau of the congress, while Mrs. Charles Joe Moore, chief of the University visual instruction bureau, is chairman of the motion picture division of the public welfare bureau.

MEETING POSTPONED

Der Die Das chorus will not meet Friday night, Edward King, director, has announced. However, it will rehearse Tuesday night provided the hall can be secured, King said.

Community Chest Workers Report $19,889 In Campaign

Sixty-three members of the University faculty comprise the University division of Austin's fifth annual Community Chest campaign, and are working to secure contributions for the drive. Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the School of Education and chairman of the division, said. Cards have been distributed to these people and are beginning to come in. A report will be available today or Saturday.

"Too much cannot be said for the fine charities which the Community Chest makes possible. Its sponsors are men and women who feel keenly the responsibility of the entire social welfare of the community. Since the Community Chest movement started a few years ago the cities which have adopted the plan have found that working jointly the citizenship is able to accomplish far more for the welfare of the community and the civic progress of the city than previously.

"This year more than ever before every city and community in Texas will be called on to look after men and women in dire need of help. Through the combined work and contributions of the people of Austin, the suffering of the needy can be alleviated in all quarters. Only the best results can be accomplished by the enthusiastic effort of all in this worthy undertaking."

Wilbur Will Talk In Gregory Gym Tuesday at 7:45

Secretary of Interior To Address Students Of University

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior in President Hoover's cabinet, will speak to students and citizens of Austin and Central Texas in Gregory Gymnasium at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday night, November 10. T. H. Shelby, dean of the Division of Extension and chairman of the committee on arrangements, said Thursday.

When it was learned that Dr. Wilbur would be passing through Austin on his way to make an Armistice Day address at the meeting of the State Parent-Teachers Association in San Antonio, November 11, he was requested by a telegram signed by Governor Ross Sterling, Mayor P. W. McFadden, President H. Y. Benedict, and S. M. N. Marrs, State superintendent of public instruction, to stop in Austin and make a speech.

Dr. Wilbur will arrive in Austin at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and will be escorted to the Driskill Hotel by a special committee from the University composed of Miss M. E. Gearing, professor of home economics, Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the School of Education, and Dean Shelby.

The amplifying system will be used so that everybody can hear Dr. Wilbur speak, Dean Shelby said.

FRESHMAN RED AND BLUE SQUADS MEET TODAY

Osborn, Hodges Lead Yearling Tussle

In their second tilt of the year the Red and Blue squads of the freshman football team meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Memorial Stadium gridiron. "If you want to see some real football," Shorty Alderson, freshman football coach, said, "don't miss the game this afternoon. This crew of freshmen has more pep and energy than any other yearling squad I have ever coached. The game is open to the public and there is no admission charge. The boys can really play football, and the bigger the crowd, the harder they play."

The Reds and Blues tied 6-6 in the first of their three scheduled intra-squad matches earlier in the season. Working together, the two teams licked Victoria Junior College by two touchdowns several weeks ago and last Friday the freshmen fairly annihilated a Seguin Lutheran team running up 47 points and holding the invaders scoreless. Coach Alderson said of the game that it was the best he had ever seen any freshman football team play.

Today, with no invading foes to fight off, the two fresh teams turn on each other. Russell Brickell, captain of the Blues, and Osborne Hodges, captain of the Reds, leading the opposing squads.

Captain Brickell, an outstanding guard, has for one of his ends Sikes, brother of the famous "Ski" Sikes, a former Aggie star. Johnny Morgan and Lane are two other promising ends who will probably see service. Bloom, a husky tackle who hails from Pennsylvania, is a power in the line, and in the Blue backfield are the flashy Miller and DeLaney.

Captain Osborne Hodges is perhaps the most outstanding man on the Red team. Hodges is a fast man, powerful and hard to stop. He follows his interference better than any other ball-carrier on the freshman squad.

Jack Gray and Charles Word hold down either end of the Red line and Coates ably fills the center position. Butler is a Red back that the Blues will have difficulty in stopping.

Other freshman stars that the fans will probably see in action are Maxson, all-State man last year from Dallas, and McCorkle, both excellent punters; Graham and Armour, two of the best center prospects in years; Wyman, Swartz, and Reeves, guards; Kerbow, a fine halfback; Gannon and Conner, quarters; and Lawrence and Pennington, fullbacks.

Tennis Group Will Determine Champions

To determine the tennis champions of the University, mixed doubles of the inter-group tennis group will start Monday at 4:30 o'clock. Cups will be presented to the winners of the tournament, and medals to the winners of the consolation tournament.

All applications must be made in Women's Gymnasium 104 before Friday at 5 o'clock. A fee of 50 cents per team will be charged at the time of application.

CHESS CLUB TO MEET

The University Chess Club will meet Friday night at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. to continue the elimination tryouts for the purpose of determining the members of the University chess team. William Welty, president of the club, said Thursday.

Steers Work on Pass Defense to Use In Baylor Game Saturday

By DICK WEST
Texas Sports Staff

Formulating an effective pass defense and stressing the importance of hard blocking, Coach Littlefield and James guided the rejuvenated Texas Steers through an intensive work-out yesterday in an effort to prepare for the invasion of Baylor's Golden Bears. The Longhorn mentors well remember

Professor W. E. Metzenthin, Athletic Council, chairman, requests that all "T" men wish to attend the "T" Association banquet Saturday night come by the Athletic Council office today and sign up. The banquet, which will be held at the University Commons, will start at 6:45 o'clock.

The stiff defense offered by Baylor last year when the Bruins held Texas scoreless for nearly three quarters.

Long sessions of checking receivers and "rushing the passer" were held yesterday, with Stafford, Elkins, and Clewis outstanding in the secondary. Bill Smith, who saw considerable service in the S. M. U. game last week, played a deep, roving center on defense and showed good form. The freshman squad, equipped with Baylor pass plays and using a few spread formations, scrimmaged the Varsity.

Alford Star Passer

In Alford, Baylor has one of the greatest passers in the Southwest, and this lad undoubtedly has instructions to continuously fire his heaves against the Texas secondary. Alford is ably assisted by a flock of receivers such as Red Harris, James Petty, Frank James, and Pierce. "That good old Baylor line" is woefully weak this year, but has at times shown brilliance. Coach Morley Jennings has evidently worked under the assumption that a good offense is the best defense.

The Steers are in fair shape for the Saturday tussle, but the strain of successive trips to Cambridge and Dallas against two powerful eleven men evidently has not helped. Blanton's ankle is still in poor shape, and Burt, Moody, and Bibby are nursing minor injuries. The Steers have exhibited a noticeable zip and fire in their workouts, and they are determined to present a fast-clicking machine against the air-minded Bruins from Waco.

Eleven Teams Undefeated Among High School Teams

By R. NELSON FULLER
Texas Sports Staff

Of the eighty-five football teams in the Class A division of the Class A division of the University's Interscholastic League, only eleven are unbeaten and untied. These squads represent nine of the sixteen districts and indications point to unusually close competition when the time comes for bi-district games to be played.

Records of the undefeated teams are as follows:

Team	P	Pts.	Opps.
Lubbock	8	353	12
Corsicana	7	351	36
Big Spring	8	398	0
Quanah	7	343	18
Abilene	7	231	19
John Reagan	6	204	19
San Angelo	6	196	6
Brackenridge	7	186	6
Cleburne	7	158	27
Marshall	6	156	8
Oak Cliff	5	136	12

Big Spring has taken over the scoring job from Corsicana and Lubbock, having piled up a total of 398 points in eight games, while holding their opponents scoreless. Lubbock leads Corsicana by the narrow margin of two points, while Corsicana's nearest threat is Quanah, eight points behind.

Panhandle Race Close

Panhandle fans are still wondering what happened last week when the confident Pampa Harvesters went down to defeat at the hands of the Lubbock Westerners by a lopsided score of 32 to 6. The championship of District 1 will hinge upon the outcome of the clash Thanksgiving Day between the Westerners and the Amarillo Golden Sandies at Amarillo. If the Westerners win, they will win the pennant, but if the Sandies come through, the district will be thrown into a three-way tie, providing the big teams stick with the dope and win over Slaton and Plainview.

District 2 teams took the week easy, playing only one game, with the Wichita Falls Coyotes hanging up a 20 to 12 victory over Electra. Thus the Coyotes retain a mathematical chance for the flag, while Quanah and Vernon Denison. McKinney won from Gainesville last week 32 to 0.

The big question in District 8 is who will stop Marshall. Greenville and Marshall, both undefeated, meet Thanksgiving Day, with Marshall holding a slight edge over their opponents. Last week Marshall beat Sulphur Springs, 55 to 0, and Paris won from Texarkana 13 to 6.

Corsicana and Cleburne lead District 9 with perfect records. Cleburne eliminated Temple Friday with a 19 to 0 score, while Corsicana was winning from the Waco Tigers 13 to 6. This week Waco is expected to win from Waxahachie on Tiger Field and Hillsboro will play Temple.

Tyler Due to Repeat

The Tyler Lions, 1930 State champions, seem headed for another district title, with Athens and Nacogdoches left on their conference schedule. They won from Palestine 32-0 Friday, in the only District 10 game. Games are scheduled for Armistice Day when Palestine plays Athens and Lufkin takes on Nacogdoches.

The most important game in District 11 will take place this week when Bowie and Austin clash in the El Paso title fight. Bowie broke into the win column last week with a victory over Fabens 45 to 0.

Brackenridge remains on top in District 12 with an unbeaten and untied team. Three games are to be played this week, Del Rio opposing Brackenridge, Harlandale playing Austin, and Kerrville taking on Main Avenue. Austin and Main Avenue battled to a draw last week.

Beaumont and Port Arthur play November 11, with Beaumont considered the weaker team. Last week Port Arthur won from Goose Creek 25 to 0, while South Park beat Galveston 12 to 0.

Biggest Game

Alice beat Kingsville 26 to 6 in District 15's only game last week, and Robstown and Corpus Christi are still expected to meet (Continued on Page Six)

MRS. ROSS STERLING 'AT-HOME' TUESDAY

Mrs. Ross Sterling held the first of her "at homes" Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Ferns and fall flowers were used in the halls. Queen's crown and pink roses were dominant in the drawing rooms, and in the dining room autumn colors were carried out in bronze chrysanthemums for the tea table; with ivory candles on the table and buffet. Clusters of small chrysanthemums in russet tints covered the mantles.

Mrs. Dave Reed, Mrs. W. J. J. Terrell, Mrs. Malcolm Reed, and Mrs. Lee Joseph poured tea and were assisted in serving by the Misses Virginia Woodward, Dolly Ann Ellis, Latrelle Thompson, Margie Mae Byrdson, Betty Boggs, Frances Tucker, Mary Louise Hatzfeld, Eva Hart, and Katherine Finch.

Assisting Mrs. Sterling in receiving the guests were Mesdames Hallie Bryan Perry of Houston, Edgar Witt, Ira P. Hildebrand, T. J. Bennett, L. T. A Mexican theme was chosen for the party, the home being decorated with Mexican pottery, cacti, Mexican rugs, and Spanish shawls.

Dinner was served in cabaret fashion to the guests who were seated around bridge tables. While the meal was being served, Mrs. Albert R. Davis presented, ed three of her pupils, Ida Nell Brill, Mary Sue Thrift, and Arline Bolm, in a Gypsy fantasy. Earl E. Simms, Jr., gave a group of cowboy readings. ## WEBB'S BOOK GETS PRAISE OF INDIANA SCHOOL HEAD

Writing under the headings, "The President's Column," in the Indiana Daily Student, William Lowe Bryan, president of the University of Indiana, several days ago related a humorous incident and commented favorably on "The Great Plains," a book written recently by Walter Prescott Webb, associate professor of history in the University of Texas. The text of President Bryan's article follows:

"Once upon a time I said to a trans-Hudsonian professor of history of British birth, a guest of the University:

"The man whom you met a moment ago is a leading authority on the history of the middle west."

"Said he: 'What difference does it make?'

"I was thinking," said I, 'of Frederic Turner's view that the characteristic features of American society were developed not on the Atlantic coast but in the Mississippi valley.'

"I would 'admire' to see our one time guest ask that same question of an inhabitant of the great plains. Not one of the earlier Comanche or Arapahoe inhabitants carrying a tomahawk, nor one of the later cowboy inhabitants carrying a lariat and six shooter, though the answer of either would be interesting to see from a distance. I mean that I would like to hear the President of the University of Texas (for example), who lives much nearer the great plains than I, say to his guest at dinner:

"The young man over there is the leading authority upon the development of civilization on the great plains."

"Indeed," replies the guest, 'What difference does it make?'

"What President Benedict would then say I do not know. Professor Webb's book is an answer comparable to that of Professor Turner. It is the story of the level, semi-arid treeless plains which stretch west from the 98 degree meridian to the Rockies. It is the story of the struggle of white men, first Spanish and then American, to conquer those plains and to live there. They had to conquer the almost unconquerable Arapahoes and Comanches. They had to conquer the almost waterless desert. The Spaniards failed there. For a long time the Americans failed. How the Indians were at last subdued, how thousands of square miles of semi-desert were redeemed for homes, and how the long battle modified the economic life, the politics, the literature, and the laws of the white race who made the conquest is the theme of Professor Webb's weighty volume.

"It appears incidentally that the Indian outmatched the American as well as Spaniard when his white foe had only the single shot rifle. It was only after he had Colt's six shooter that the Texas Ranger outmatched the Indian. A Comanche chief who had expected a victory and lost half his warriors in his first battle against the six shooter said, 'They had a shot for every finger on the hand.'"

University Student Discusses Colleges

The larger universities are beginning to recognize the advantages offered by a junior college and are realizing that the first two years of college work can best be done there, was asserted in a talk by Jack Rasor, a student in the University, before the meeting of the Wesley College ex-students club Thursday night.

Leland Stanford considered dropping the first two years of work in 1925, Rasor said, but found that it needed the money brought in by the first year students to enable it to continue to pay its instructors regularly.

The next meeting of the club will be Saturday, December 5, at which time a banquet will be held. Dr. G. B. Jackson, president of Wesley Junior College at Greenville, has been invited to attend, says Rasor.

School Spirit

For the first time in nearly a month the Texas football team will play a conference game at home. It is imperative that the students attend the pep rally to be held tonight in preparation for the Texas-Baylor game. There have been rather derogatory remarks made in the past in regard to Texas' "school spirit," and it is the duty of each student to see to it that such remarks can no longer be truthfully made.

It is impossible for any team, football or otherwise, to hope to have a successful season without the support of the student body behind it, and it is nevertheless the fact that in the past there has been a somewhat noticeable lack of real support and feeling at the rallies which have been held this year. Although the attendance has been large, the feeling and spirit has not been there, and as a consequence the team at the rallies which it has attended has received a rather disheartening reception, and have left with the idea that the students as a body were not really supporting them.

The success of any team depends largely upon the backing which it receives, and the showing which has been made by the Texas team this year is probably due more to this lack of support from the student body as a whole than anything else, and if Texas is to win any more games this season, it is incumbent upon the students to attend the pep rally tonight and to really show not only the team, but the world at large that they really intend to stand behind their athletic representatives.

Junior Five

The naming of the junior five of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, has created much interest at the University, since the students and faculty members who are fortunate enough to receive membership in this honorary fraternity are always the outstanding scholars in the school.

Each year Phi Beta Kappa elects a certain percentage of the junior and senior classes to membership, the "Junior Five" being selected in the fall semester and the remainder of the members elected in the spring. Membership in this fraternity is based on scholarship and the members of it are outstanding leaders in their particular chosen fields.

Each year when Phi Beta Kappa announces its new members interest is aroused in regard to the fortunate few who receive the honor, and those who have received this award of merit this year are to be congratulated. Scholarship has tended to become under-emphasized in the past few years, and it is due primarily to such organizations as Phi Beta Kappa that interest which should naturally be present in such scholarship has been maintained at its high level.

All students in the University should look upon Phi Beta Kappa as one of the most outstanding national organizations which has been founded, and as such its members should receive the praise and acclamation which they deserve.

Homecoming

With more than a thousand invitations already mailed out to the Texas homecoming banquet to be held for all "T" Association men Saturday, the annual get-together for all men who have earned their Varsity letter and all other ex-students promises to be one of the largest that has been held in recent years.

Each year one football game of the season is designated as the homecoming game of the year for all "T" Association men, and this year since the A. & M. game is to be played at College Station, the Baylor game this Saturday has been designated as the official time for the banquet and reception.

Homecoming is always a time when Texas exes have the opportunity to revisit the campus, which many of them have not seen for a number of years, and not only to continue the many friendships which they made while in school, but to form new ones among the new additions to the ranks of ex-students which are increased every year. Homecoming is something that every graduate looks forward to, and that every student in the University should look toward with interest, since it represents practically the only real

WHAT PRICE ARMAMENTS?

Seven hundred twenty-five million dollars a year spent in the United States for purely military purposes alone—two million dollars thrown away on iron and steel every twenty-four hours. More than three hundred million dollars spent every year on the army alone; more than four hundred million dollars spent every year on the navy alone. Out of more than three billion dollars spent for all purposes by the government of the United States during the first nine months of the fiscal year of 1931, over two billions, or two thirds, was spent for present military purposes and to pay the bills of past wars.

Who pays all this money? The people of the United States. And yet there are hundreds of thousands of worthy young men and women who cannot attend college because they have no money to do so, and taxes come out of the pockets of their mothers and dads. And yet hundreds of students on the campus of The University of Texas are forced to live on less than they should—forced to stay away from Mary Garden's concert, for example, or from the concert of the Cherniavsky trio, however much their love of music cries out against it, simply because of the pinch of economic necessity. The University Y. M. C. A. reports at least one student on this campus who is forced to exist on an average of twenty cents a day for food; it reports a graduate student who not long ago was forced to go to the infirmary because of malnutrition; it reports dozens of worthy students who must leave school because they can find no work to support them. It is estimated that ten million able bodied men will be out of work this winter in the United States, which means that many millions more dependent on them will suffer. Poverty and undernourishment stalk with the spectres of disease and death among the people of our country—and yet these same people must dig into their impoverished pockets and furnish two million dollars every day to maintain a war machine.

Where does it get us? Does it bring us protection? Security? President Hoover says that the world is spending seventy percent more for armaments today than it did during the decade previous to the World War. What did that relatively small armament race do for us? It brought the nations of the world security by plunging them into a war which snuffed out the lives of ten millions of their finest manhood and loaded upon them a financial and economic burden that they will never be able to dislodge. What psychological effect did that armament race have upon the peoples of the world? It generated the suspicion and fear, the ferment of nationalism and jingoism and blind hatred that caused the nations, in the words of David Lloyd George, to "stumble and stagger into the war."

What psychological effect is our present armament race having upon the peoples of the world? The same, and on a larger scale. France is afraid of Germany and Germany is afraid of France. Poland and Germany hate each other bitterly and cast eyes of suspicion continually upon each other. Russia is arming to the teeth as fast as she can, afraid of the warlike tendencies on the part of the United States and the rest of Europe. The world is rapidly developing into armed camps, which was identically the situation before the war of 1914.

What price armaments? The sufferings of millions who throughout long months do not know where their meals are to come from—and this during peace time, in a land of plenty. For who will gainsay President Hoover's statement that we cannot dissociate the present waste of money on armaments from the world depression? What price armaments? The kind of a situation revealed in a recent Associated Press dispatch dated October 31:

"A war unlike any conflict in the past was predicted by General Jan C. Smuts, soldier and statesman, in a speech at Sheffield University tonight, unless the world soon establishes a 'disarmed peace.'"

"The armed peace led to the World War," he said. "Would it had ended there. But the armed peace continues in an aggravated form and as long as it continues mankind seems to be marching to some horrible doom."

"General Smuts, who is president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, made his statement in the Basil Hicks memorial address in memory of a son of the university's vice chancellor, who was killed in the World War."

"In the World War we saw only the beginning of the vast difference which science is making in human affairs," General Smuts said. "In the next war, if that is ever allowed to occur, science will, like some angry outraged deity, go far to destroy mankind itself. The next war will be unlike anything which had been called war in the past."

"The time-honored name of war would not properly apply to it. It will pay scant attention to armies and navies or to the other paraphernalia of war. It will go straight for the populations, and for the immense urban aggregations which will be its sure target."

"It will fight with new and unheard of chemical and biological weapons. It will cover the fair land and the great cities with poison and disease germs. It will saturate vast areas with a deadly atmosphere."

"There will be no escape, not even for the statesmen and the war-makers, and a pall of death will rest over all. Even now the laboratories of three continents are busy with their daily researches."

"And in due course some lunatic will press the button and the flower of the human race will be trapped and destroyed."

"There is still a way of escape, but it lies along the arduous path of disarmament. Surely sufficient has been said to show why we should without further delay take to that path."

STUDENT OF SNAKE POISONS TALKS TO UNIVERSITY CLUB

Colonel Martin L. Crimmins, U. S. A. retired, who spoke to the University Science Club Monday night, is one of the few men in America who do not fear poisonous snake bites.

Colonel Crimmins had himself inoculated with poisonous snake venom when the United States government prohibited the importation of snake serum from Brazil, thus cutting off the supply of antivenom for treating persons bitten by snakes. He was aware of the risk of losing his life by this act, but he thought only of the possibility of saving other lives in the future, for it was not known how long the Bureau of Public Health would prohibit the importation of the serum. At first the doctors refused to inoculate him, but Dr. Afranio di Amrac, director of the Museum of Serum Therapy, and an authority on poisonous snakes, was interested in the experiment, and went to San Antonio to carry out the standardization of the serum. Soon after this a 3-year-old boy was brought to San Antonio in a dying condition from the bite of a copperhead snake. Colonel Crimmins gave his blood for transfusion, and the boy recovered.

Student at Virginia

Colonel Crimmins was a student of medicine in the University of Virginia in 1898, when war broke out between the United States and Spain. He enlisted, and was sent to Tampa, Florida, then to Ferdinandina, and later to the Philippines. From the very beginning of his enlistment, he performed his services so diligently and skillfully that he was regularly promoted until he reached the position of colonel in the army.

During all this time, he never lost interest in medicine, and in what he considered useless deaths resulting from poisonous snake bites occurring in the camps daily. He studied the poisonous snakes and their venom, and methods of treating bites in the Texas camps, and discovered that there are eleven species of rattlesnake, two species of moccasin, and two pigmy rattlesnakes, all of which produce venom similar in chemical composition. Together with Dr. Dudley Jackson, he tried every known remedy, and they all proved unsuccessful in the treatment of snake-bitten animals. Next, he discovered that mechanical suction applied to the wound would draw out the venom in considerable quantities and that the serum would neutralize the poison circulating in the body.

Colonel Crimmins is a member of the Antivenom Institute of America, and a recognized authority on poisonous snakes of the Southwest, and treatment of their bites.

He is very modest about his great services, but speaks of the pleasure he has received from performing them.

"This is to determine the depth at which foundations for the new University buildings will have to be laid."

November 27 Named For Amarillo Convention

The thirteenth annual Inter-scholastic League breakfast will be held on the morning of November 27 at 7:30 o'clock in the Amarillo Hotel, Amarillo, Roy Bedchek, chief of the Inter-scholastic League Bureau, announced Wednesday.

Dean T. H. Shelby of the Division of Extension of The University of Texas will preside over the meeting, and Dr. Harry A. Scott, professor of physical education at Rice Institute, will speak on "Guiding Principles in Inter-scholastic Athletics."

Immediately following the breakfast and address, there will be a discussion of resolutions lately passed by the executive committee of the State Teachers' Association touching the control of interscholastic athletic contests. It is the custom of the assembly to alternate yearly between the discussion of athletics and the discussion of public speaking contests.

Students of the West Texas State Teachers' College will furnish music for the occasion under the direction of Wallace R. Clark, professor of music in that institution.

Morrow to Present Three Plays Sunday

Miss Morella Morrow, director of the Austin Little Theater, and a group of her pupils will present three one-act plays at the First Congregational Church Sunday evening, November 8 at 8 o'clock. Miss Morrow has come to Austin after several years on the stages of Germany and other European centers.

The plays to be presented by Miss Morrow are: "The Marriage Proposal" by Anton Chekhov, "The Cloak" by Clifford Bax, and "The Kings Woeing" by Conal O'Riordan. Players who will take part will be: Katherine Odom, Gladys Nichols, Peggy Fowler, John Hamilton, John Sydney, Elizabeth Smith, Gerard Kinney, and Lella Clark.

The First Congregational Church has also planned other Sunday evening entertainments. On November 15, a concert will be given by students of the Texas School for the Blind, which will consist of quartets, duets, solos, and several instrumental numbers. Dr. Carl M. Rosenquist, adjunct professor of sociology at the University, will lecture on "The Wickersham Report on Prohibition" on November 22. Dr. Rosenquist is making a special study of the prohibition problem this year.

Wrenn Book Goes Into New World

At least one book in the Wrenn Library has seen the outside world. The book which is one of the most valuable in the Wrenn collection, was innocently removed Tuesday by a senior English student. But having never been in the Wrenn Library before, how was she to know that books were not supposed to be removed from the famous collection?

Miss Fannie Ratchford, Wrenn librarian, acquired several gray hairs before the girl was finally reached and the book returned to its proper place. Miss Ratchford found it necessary to put in three hours Tuesday afternoon in telephoning each member of a certain English class to recover the missing book.

Dozier Begins Work Following Vacation

Miss Miriam Whittie Dozier, secretary to the teachers' appointment committee, has just returned from a four weeks vacation in Waco, Dallas and Stephenville. In Waco she visited her sisters, Mrs. E. R. Connor, Mrs. C. G. Rand, and Mrs. J. P. Jones. She was the guest of her cousin, Mr. J. E. Thwait, in Dallas, and in Stephenville she visited Mrs. E. C. Neathery, teacher of education in John Tarleton College. She said her trip was purely for recreation and had no bearing on her work.

When questioned regarding the number of teachers she had placed this year, Miss Dozier replied that there were only about half the usual number of vacancies to be filled. A number of positions, notably those of librarians and instructors in physical training, were eliminated from the public schools as soon as they became vacant. The Austin city schools have eliminated all kindergarten teachers and special supervisors.

There has, says Miss Dozier, been a rather general cutting of teachers' salaries. The cut has usually been five or ten per cent, but in some cases it has reached twenty per cent.

Rabbi Wolfe Macht To Speak Friday

Rabbi Samuel Halevi Baron, rabbi of the congregation of the Temple Beth Israel, and director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at the University, will read the services and introduce the speaker.

French Premier Visits Hoover

Pierre Laval, premier of France, accompanied by his daughter Josette, start for Washington to arrange with President Hoover concerted action between the United States and France in the attempt to end the world depression. The United States and France thus seek to merge economic powers, as twice before in history they have merged their military forces, for the betterment of mankind.

TITLES ON SCHOOL BOOKS MEAN LITTLE TO STUDENTS

Some students buy a text-book, study it for months, and learn everything inside the book, but they fail to learn what is on the outside of the book. Margaret Peck, who has charge of the lost and found bureau, said Wednesday, that students frequently call by her office and ask about text-books whose titles they do not know. During the interview a young man walked into the office and inquired about a book he had lost. When he was asked its title, he was unable to say anything more than that it was the regular text-book for Government 310.

Books and notebooks are most frequently turned in, but purses and jewelry are often handed to the bureau.

Geology Class Makes Field Trip Thursday

A Rob Roy Ranch field trip was made Thursday by one of Professor Bullard's classes in Geology I. The group started from the main entrance of the University and drove southward to the Colorado River bridge on Congress Avenue. There they examined the bed, flood plain, and terraces of the river.

From that point they continued along the Bee Cave road eight miles to the Rob Roy Ranch, where they observed the topography of the Colorado River in the distance. They followed the Bee Cave road one mile further, passing along the crest of the Barton Creek-Colorado River divide to a road turning to the right along the Rob Roy Ranch boundary fence, and then to a nearby hill overlooking the Colorado River valley.

Social Science Quarterly Out

Issue Contains Articles Of General Appeal

Fall numbers of the Southwestern Social Science Quarterly published by the University Press, were distributed Wednesday.

The board of editors of the publication which is published by members of the University faculty, consists of Professors R. H. Montgomery, economics, E. G. Smith, business administration, and C. A. M. Ewing of the University of Oklahoma, who is taking the place of C. P. Patterson in the department of government, now on leave of absence; J. Lloyd Mecham of the government faculty, is secretary-treasurer of the association.

The current number contains contributions by authorities in the social sciences from Princeton University, Smith College, and the University of Virginia.

"Some Fiscal Aspects of Using Public Works as an Aid in Maintaining Business Equilibrium" is the title of an article by Paul M. Titus of the Princeton faculty. It analyzes the policy of creating employment of public works conservation.

The Quarterly, although a southwestern publication, is really national in character as evidenced by the general appeal of the articles and the nation-wide distribution of the contributors.

The Book Review section of the magazine is edited by Professor O. Douglas Weeks of the department of government. Among the reviewers on the University faculty are C. H. Hackett, F. M. Stewart, G. W. Stocking, C. A. Timm, T. W. Ricker, and W. L. White.

British Fliers Hope to Advance Work of Piccard

Kuehne Discusses Flight Planned by British Brothers

Fifteen miles, equals 79,000 feet, the distance above the earth that the Short brothers, British scientists, are planning to ascend soon in the hope of carrying on the scientific discovery begun by August Piccard of Germany last summer.

"The general public thought the Piccard experiment a mere stunt to set an altitude record," Dr. J. M. Kuehne, professor of physics in the University, said Thursday. "It was by no means planned for a stunt, but for a practical experiment."

"Piccard ascended to a height of 52,000 feet, and the discoveries that he made have set the air-minded man to wondering if the so-called stratosphere is not the logical place for long distance travel. There is no weather up there, no resistance to speed. A machine that ordinarily would travel at the rate of 100 miles an hour would find it not impossible to travel at the rate of several hundred miles."

To Carry Radio
The British brothers are planning to carry radio equipment so they can keep in contact with the earth; that is, they are hoping to be able to send messages. This will have to be determined by experiment.

"Of course, it is so far just pipe dreams," Dr. Kuehne continued, "but the idea is this: a traveler across the ocean will simply rise up into the stratified area, shoot across in a half hour's time, and send a message down to earth to find out if the weather will permit his landing."

"The traveler will not only have to carry breathing air, but will also have to be well-supplied with oxygen for his motors. The air at that height is so rarified that it would not allow the fuel to burn. Piccard took compressed air, enough to last about eighteen hours. He found that the temperature registered far below zero on the shady side of his sealed metal basket and at boiling point on the sunny side. It was absolutely pitch dark on the side away from the sun, but so bright on the sunny side that the naked eye could not bear it."

"That is because the heat and light are not transmitted by the air waves, as it is down near the earth."

A hermetically sealed basket similar to the one used by Piccard, suspended from a gas bag, will carry the scientists. Air will be let out of the air tank which they will carry with them, into the sealed basket just as they need it. When the air gets too close for breathing they will let some of it out, for the air on the other side will still be heavier than the carbon dioxide breathed out."

Other important scientific experiments and measurements will be made by Eustace and Oswald Short. It is expected that their data will be of tremendous practical benefit to the commercial as well as the scientific world.

Horowitz Adjudged Guilty of 'Murder'

Defendant Isadore Horowitz was found guilty of "murder without malice" Tuesday night by the McLaurin Law Society in the moot courtroom of the Law Building. Horowitz's punishment was assessed at five years hard labor.

Professor Robert W. Stayton, professor of law, presided over the trial, while apprentice members acted as jurors. Counsel for the State were Franki, Martinez, Aiken; and counsel for the defense were Walsh, Chauncey, Gorsett, Carpenter, and Garret.

Failures occurred in only 44 hours of correspondence work during the two-month period, while a total of 454 hours of work was dropped.

T. C. U. TO SEND 1,500 Special to The Daily Texan

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5.—The Texas Christian University student body has voted to attend the football game between the Frogs and the Longhorns in Austin November 14 as its annual trip. Approximately 1500 students and Frog supporters are expected to make the trip by special train and by cars.

Two years ago the Frogs invaded Austin and defeated the Steers for the first time in the history of the two schools. The score was 15 to 12 in favor of the Christians, who subsequently fought their way to a conference championship. T. C. U. followers are hoping that "history repeats."

BENEDICT TELLS PEREGRINUS 63 From — Reveals Fate of Texas' Navy AND OTHER STORIES IN BOOK

By CAPITOLA CANNON
What is a Peregrinus and why? Promptly the chorus yells, "It's a law god that the engineers and laws can have a fight every spring!" Every "second year freshman" knows the answer to that one. But, that is where they are wrong. For, though time and tide have made it so, the Peregrinus was not born to be a buffer state. Its origin is from higher things. It really comes from a Latin word meaning one who walks. And many times has Peregrinus been known to walk, though not by his own locomotive powers.

This and many other interesting anecdotes are told in a book by Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University. He calls it "Peregrinus, A Queer Title for Some Moronic Essays." On the title page is a drawing of "The Peregrinus Himself" astride a strong, stout pony in the woods adjacent to Main Building tower. It is a book of essays he wrote from time to time for the Alameda, and it is full of University history, tradition, and clever jokes on people who are in the campus limelight today, all told in that chuckling vein of Benedictine humor peculiar to its author. The book was published in 1924 by the Ex-Students' Association. It is probably one of the most delightful of the several books that Dr. Benedict has written on University history.

"For Texas Exes" It is given with a "Gentle Warning to Solemn Readers." "In this queer book you'll look in vain For anything to test your brain. No literature is here collected; No art or science is injected; It does not deal in politics; Its finest swans are only chicks. 'Twas written for those Texas Exes Who think they don't like thought complexes." The essays deal with everything from the "Bustees or Submerged Tenth" to "Building a House." There is one on how to rise in life. . . . It's called "How to Be the Whole University." There is even a bed-time story about "Bears, Especially Baylor Bears." And there are many, many others which may not be of interest to the under-graduate student-body, but which certainly are to those at all interested in how the University go to be "as is."

To get back to the Peregrinus, the story goes on to tell how Dr. Simpkins, professor of law in the University at one time, was trying to explain what use was made in Rome of a superior sort of "traveling man" to settle disputes between the different communities. He was called a "Praetor Perigrinus." Dr. Simpkins seems to have had some little difficulty with his explanations. He says in one place that "The boneheads of the class evidently thought a Peregrinus was an internal organ of the body, for they continually greeted each other, 'How is your Peregrinus today?'" Finally the humor of the situation got the better of one law student and he drew what he considered Peregrinus on the blackboard, and that's how the terrible law-god came to be. One of the most interesting events related in the book is "The Rise and Fall of the University Navy." Dr. Benedict specifically states that "the naval history of the University is totally unknown to most Texas Exes. The subject has either been omitted or at most very inadequately treated by all historians from Berosus and Herodotus up to Mrs. Pennybacker and H. G. Wells." Several boats for pleasure, etc., were at one time accessible to the University, but there was only one navy "fleet."

"This 200 ton, 3 master, 100 horsepower engine, sea-going boat belonged to Colonel Brackenridge who managed to spend about $75,000 in acquiring and remodeling it. How he came originally into possession of this boat the accessible records do not tell, but a set of new sails alone cost him $4,000. She was a noble fowl, was the Navidad, and floated proudly on the waters of Matagorda Bay, having chief anchorage at Port Lavaca.

"After taking a few cruises to Galveston, New Orleans, and Havana, Colonel Brackenridge decided to give the Navidad to the University as a nucleus for a grand Gulf biological station which in time might rival the famous marine laboratories at Naples and Wood Hole."

One trip was made upon her by a party of University professors biologically bent. After that, the Navidad rested unattended though not refraining from becoming unloosed from her moorings and wandering about in sloughs and by-ways. Finally, a telegram came which was the last straw. It read: "Your Navidad is in my garden please remove her at once." So Colonel Brackenridge was persuaded to take back his present which "he had so generously given." And he sold her to "some navigators who lived near salt water." Thus ended the University as a sea power.

Students Help

In addition to the faculty members assisting in the drive, four students in the department of public speaking spoke at the theaters of Austin Monday and Thursday nights at the request of Guy Collett, chairman of the Community Chest campaign, and Ralph Bickler, secretary. ## Mustang Fullback Leads in Scoring

"Baldy" Oliver, Mustang fullback, hopped ahead of conference scorers by plunging three yards for a touchdown against the Longhorns. Last week Oliver was tied with Ledbetter of Arkansas and Jack Frye of Rice for the leadership, but Rice was idle and Arkansas failed to score against T. C. U. The Conference leading scorers are as follows:

Players	Po.	Td.	Pat.	Pts.
Oliver, S.M.U.	FB	6	0	36
Frye, Rice	HB	5	0	30
Ledbetter, Ark.	FB	5	0	30
Petty, Bay	E	4	1	25
Elkins, Texas	QB	4	0	24
Baxter, S.M.U.	HB	3	2	20

committee. The eleven agencies in the Community Chest have agreed to this plan, and the Community Chest would delegate part of its $5,000 relief fund to financing it in cooperation with the city and the county. The purpose of the plan is to give residents of Austin applying for relief a chance to perform some kind of work for which they will be paid. In addition, the relief commission would establish a commissary and old clothes depot to provide food and clothing for residents who may need help along this line during the winter.

for the championship on Thanksgiving.

The biggest game of the interscholastic season will be played in the valley district Friday when Harlingen and Brownsville, the only teams in the district, meet. Both elevens have plenty of power, Harlingen having lost only one game—that to the Texas A. & M. freshmen—and winning from Port Arthur 12 to 6, while Brownsville has split in its games with Class A teams, winning from Corpus Christi 13-0, and losing to John Reagan 24 to 0.

WOMEN DENY FEAR OF RATS, CLASS DISCOVERS

"Would you get used to a writhing snake put around your neck every morning?"

"If a tarantula was placed in your hand at a certain hour each day, would you finally cease to fear it?"

Such are the questions discussed by students in psychology under Carlos Kling, instructor. Opinions vary among the students, but according to Mr. Kling, frequent repetition of such stimuli as those mentioned would not cause one to lose his fear, but to become obsessed.

On being asked why women fear mice, Mr. Kling stated that he believed the majority of women were not afraid of them. This created such a furore that a vote was taken among the girl students of the class, and the result was that the majority of the girls professed to have no fear of the rodents.
