Students Tried for Years To Get a Union Fee

Let's Retain Anthem Which We Revere

THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES and its possessions, voices have been raised against the Star-Spangled Banner, our Nation's National Anthem. For several months the arguments against the use of Francis Scott Key's stirring song were kept out of the public eye, but the controversy was suddenly thrust into the limelight several weeks ago when Westbrook Pegler, in his nationwide syndicated column, added his vexed

Mr. Pegler found the music generally unsingable, the lyrics "stilted . . . pompous . . . episodic doggerel," the whole business "simply out of the question." The widely read columnist suggests as a substitute: "The Maine Stein Song," because it is "a thumping, rousing, really musical piece done within the range of the normal, or barbershop voice."

A few people in this country may sympathize with Mr. Pegler's views concerning the "Star Spangled Banner"-that it is, indeed, unsingable and out of the question; but many people, also, contend that the song written by Key as he watched "Old Glory" flying in the breeze over Fort Sumner during one of the fiercest engagements of the Civil War, was a masterpiece in describing the feelings of an American, who sees his flag at full mast during the thick of battle.

It has, also, been the belief of many Americans that the Star Spangled Banner was a thing truly dear, and precious, but furthermore-it was American!

If it (the anthem) is played before the kickoff of a football game or during a bill at a local theater, or even over a radio station, it is hard to deny its musical chords send electric sensations up one's spine. And thoughts and emotions of what our flag and our country means to us creeps deeply into our hearts!-R. M. B.

BORN A GENEROUS IDEAL in the twenties, the Texas Union was built in the depression-ridden thirties. It was the outgrowth of a genuine need for a means of maintaining comradeship in a student body which had grown into the thousands. The aim of the Union, as visualized by ex-student and students, was to extend University life beyond the academic associations of the classrooms through a democratic and socially constructive program of activity.

The Texas Union soon came to be what its visionary founders hoped for-a place where students could meet, talk, read, dance, and laugh, a niche on the campus which they could call their own.

The problem of financing the program was comparatively simple at first, even in the depression years. Most of the income for the Union was derived from student dances, which were popular and profitable. In fact, one main source of the students' contribution to the actual Union building fund was profits from

But by 1938 All-University dances had lost out in competition with Austin night clubs. Then came the real problem. The Union was no longer self-supporting. How should it's program be financed?

A compulsory Union fee was suggested. A $1 per semester fee was passed by the Legislature as a rider to the higher education appropriations bill in 1939. James Malone, engineering student from Carthage refused to pay the fee as a part of his registration expense, taking the issue into court. After Malone had fought the case through three reversals, the Third Court of Civil Appeals rendered a judgment against him for procedural errors. At the same time the Court stated that the Legislature had the authority "if properly exercised" to levy a Union fee, indicating that the presentation of the bill as a rider to the appropriations measure was unconstitutional.

The fee was collected in 1939-40, but the fund was impounded, and only the money released by student pledge was used by the Union. Although the Union fee could legally have been collected until August 31, 1941, the Board of Regents decided not to enforce it because of the element of student disapproval.

Then on December 6, 1940, students went on record by a two to one vote in favor of a compulsory Union fee. In spite of this vote and pressure of student government groups, the Legislature did not bring the bill proposing the fee to a vote in the 1941 session, although the measure was reported favorably out of committee.

NOW, a third compulsory Union fee proposal, House Bill 443, is before the Legislature. Indication of present student sentiment is a petition bearing the signatures of 1,529 students who favor the bill. The question is: Will the Legislature let down student opinion again?

With the members of the Legislature back at work this week, they embarked upon the home stretch of this session. Yes, it is just about gone with a lot of work under the bridge, but a lot still to be done.

The bill which is of interest to the University student body, the Union Fee bill, is still in committee and has not been given a hearing. The measure was one of the last to be introduced and is pretty far back on the calendar of the Committee on Education.

The Firing Line Reader Says Give Commons Money to Support Union

Quo Vadimus? Where are we going? Or rather, where are we being forced? It appears that at long last a law authorising a Union fee is being slipped through the Legislature. Is this good or bad? Let us examine the situation.

In the first place, the attitude of the University authorities has always been this: "If you want a Union, you must be willing to support it." They imply that the only way a Union can be supported is by directly assessing each student a fee of one dollar. Since most of us do want a Union, we are willingto accept the plan proposed by the authorities. We do not ask, "Why are not the many other fees we pay sufficient to support the Union? Why are not the surplus profits from the Commons, Chuck Wagon, and Fountain Room sufficient?" We do not ask these things, because we have been falsely led to believe that the enterprises operating in the Union are non-profit making; that the many other fees we pay are barely sufficient to cover the costs of running the University.

I submit that there has been a concerted effort since the founding of this University to make it increasingly more expensive to attend; to make selection of students on a basis of income rather than on a basis of merit. Where now is the citizen's college to which a poor boy or girl can go and expect educational opportunities of a high rank without the exorbitant tuitions and fees and expenses usually thought necessary for a college educa-

It used to be the case that a student was required to pay only fifteen dollars per year matriculation fee, and that for only the first two years of attendance. The last two years were free! Other fees for laboratory, property deposit, etc., were about the same as now. The matriculation fee has now been gradually increased by successive Boards of Regents until a student has to pay fifty dollars a year for as long as he attends. Compare the old cost of thirty dollars for four years with the present matriculation fees of two hundred dollars for four years. Does it appear that the welfare of the students has been kept in mind?

The people and the Legislature of the State of Texas think they support the University through appropriation of funds by taxation. It is true that the Legislature yearly appropriates funds for the University; but why then are these exorbitant matriculation fees necessary? And why are we now about to be asked to pay yet another fee? It is small, to be sure, but it might be large just as easily. What are we to do? At first an attempt was made to levy a Union fee by the Board of Regents without legislative consent. When that was stopped through the actions of a wide awake student, the attempt was continued along other lines until now we see it culminating in the Union Fee Bill before the Legislature.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, 1943

I do not propose that the students should not support their own Union. I do propose that the average student is paying out enough money in fees and enough money in prices paid for food in the Commons right now to support the Union twice over. Consider only the profits made yearly in the Commons from the sale of food. A little calculation will show that profits of fifty thousand dollars yearly are possible. In fact it is fairly well established that the actual profit last year was about $20,000. (Editor's Note: By check with auditor, the profit for 1941, $5,230.61; 1942 profit not prepared).

Twenty thousand dollars! That would furnish twice the sum which could be raised by assessing the students one dollar ach. And what better place to put the profits from the enterprises operating in the Union Building-rent freethan back into the Union itself? Incidentally, it would be very interesting to know exactly what is done at present with the profits which we know must be made in the Commons. Why are we not told these things which we have a right to know? Why do we not find out for ourselves?

The answer is that we have all supinely accepted every new assessment, every rise in prices of food, every raise in fees without any concerted opposition. Now is the time for every one of us to begin thinkingand acting. Demand to know the facts about the matters I have mentioned above. Demand that the Union fee be not allowed. Demand that, instead. the profits from enterprises operating in the building be diverted from their present mysterious channels and used for the benefit of the students who supply them.

SMALL TALK

By Mary Brinkerhoff

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler is one of America's greatest educators and probably one of America's greatest men. Being an average collegian, and not an education student at that, we know exactly nothing about the highly specialized subject of education. But if you are a college student you are part of America's educational process, and you can't be part of a process without having some opinions about it.

. Dr. Butler was quoted recently in Time Magazine as having said something with which we disagree, from what might be called our own guinea pig's eye-view. It went this way:

"A chief reason why there is in the United States the present widespread . . . outbreak of crime and disorder on the part of American youth is that the fundamental place of discipline in education seems to have been quite forgotten . . . The rabbit is at liberty to run about the barden where his life is passed, and feed upon such plants, weeds, and flowers as may attract hime . . . To call any such process education is in the highest degree absurd."

He referred to progressive education in general as "the rabbit system of education." All this is part of Dr. Butler's forty-first annual report as president of Columbia University-which maintains, as Time added, two progressive schools of its own. The main idea seems to weeds, and flowers. Judging by the students we have seen, though, that's not the way to teach a person something. Dr. Butler's rabbit can be fed a diet of carrots and nothing else, and if it tries to sample another kind of food its feeder can jerk the food cation, will get anybody any-

The ideal method seems to be that of exposing a boy or girl to everything important that has been said, done, or written. Then the student should be told what is considered good and what is considered bad, who thinks so besides the teacher, why these people are authorities, and why they feel as they do. If there is a difference of opinion among authorities, and there usually is, both sides should be pre-

LIKE A NICE OCEAN TRIP-FREE?

INE TRIP to Europe. All expenses paid... by the Nazi Government. You get your own cabin...together with about thirty others. But they'll all be Americans, so you'll be among people you know.

This is what can happen if the enemy wins.

For when the war ends, Europe will he stumbling and weak from malnutrition. There will be an enormous job of reconstruction to be done. So what more logical move for a victorious Germany than to ship healthy, well-fed Americans over?

Suppose there isn't enough food to feed them. Suppose they die in thousands like starved cattle. There will be millions more to draw from, millions more to ship over ... to work, and work, and sleep in prison camps, and work, and itch with lice, and become diseased, and work, and work, and die.

Millions more...from a subject people. Proud Americans whom their conquerors will march proudly before all the earth. Prisoners. Beaten, subjugated, slaves.

Businessmen who were proud of their white collars and their profits and didn't want to give them up. Factory workers who were proud of their wages...the highest in the world ... and wanted to keep on earning them. Shopkeepers ... whose last prosperity was a war prosperity which they enjoyed and coveted.

Are these harsh words? Words can't be too harsh today, because today reality is harsh. It is no longer a dream-world. It is a nightmareworld. And all of us must realize it and think of it day and night, lest we become soft and perish.

For never forget...we have only just begun to win in this war. The enemy is still strong. And there is nothing he would like better than to have us relax, to have us sit back and consider the war all but over.

We must do all we can now to keep the enemy from ever again regaining the initiative. And that demands ceaseless effort on our part.

On the part of you who read this advertisement and us who sign it. We must not fail now!
