Persistence

One fine day in September, 1907, a young lady rustled into her physics class. A few days later—say a few months later, she rustled out. She had flunked ignominiously.

But this was a young lady of mettle. She determined that sooner or later, she would master that physics. That was in 1907. Later she married, but always kept in the back of her head the resolve that some day she would come back to the University of Texas and pass that course.

Now she is back, taking physics, determined to redeem herself in the realm of science.

Ex-Students Get Newspaper Jobs

Three Journalism Graduates Hold Posts on Austin Dispatch

Newspaper, magazine, and teaching positions have been accepted this summer by a number of 1934 graduates of the department of journalism and by former journalism students. Three of these students have positions on the Austin Dispatch, at least three are working for other papers in the state, one is employed by a magazine, and two have accepted teaching positions.

Joe Hornaday, 1934 editor of The Daily Texan, is now employed by the Tyler Courier-Times. Mr. Hornaday received his bachelor of journalism degree this June.

Ray Bonta, another June graduate in the department of journalism, is working for the Dallas News, under John Rosenfield, the theater critic.

Adoue Parker, a journalism student during the long session, is a reporter for the Houston Press.

Alex Murphree is teaching journalism in Sul Ross College at Alpine this summer. Murphree worked on his master's degree in the University last winter.

Malvin Montgomery, a former student of journalism, plans to teach journalism in McAllen high school this winter.

Three University students now have positions on the Austin Dispatch. Jackson Cox, editor of the 1932-1933 Ranger, is now sports editor of the Dispatch. Mr. Cox received his bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1934. Adeline Bubella, student-assistant in journalism last winter, is at present the society editor of the Dispatch. Miss Bubella received a bachelor of journalism degree from the University in 1933.

Tom Graham, 1934 journalism graduate, is a reporter for the Dispatch.

Dr. Frank M. Stewart, professor of political science in the University of California at Los Angeles, was a campus visitor Saturday, July 21. Dr. Stewart came to Austin from Los Angeles to attend the funeral of his father, John W. Stewart, who for nineteen years was chief of the tax division in the office of the State Comptroller of Texas. John W. Stewart died suddenly July 14, and was buried in Sherman July 16.

Dr. Stewart for many years was connected with the department of government of the University, serving over this period in many capacities. At the time of his resignation from the faculty of the University, he was professor of government. Dr. Stewart left for Los Angeles Monday. He is engaged in research work there during the summer months. He will resume his teaching duties with the University of California in the fall.

Ike Harrison, former graduate of the School of Business Administration, spent the week-end visiting friends in Austin. Harrison, a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, has been on the staff of the Seguin High School and during this summer has been teaching in one of the colleges in San Marcos.

Former Student Named Missouri Law School Dean

Masterson Awarded Degree From University in 1915

Phi Beta Kappa

Practiced for Nine Years and Then Became Professor

William E. Masterson, dean of the College of Law of the University of Idaho and a graduate of The University of Texas, has been chosen to succeed James L. Parks as dean of the University of Missouri school of law. Dr. Walter Williams, president of the University of Missouri, announced Saturday.

Dean Masterson, who received his bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1915, was also a Phi Beta Kappa in his last year here. In his junior and senior years in the University, Mr. Masterson went to Harvard University, where he was an assistant in the department of English. He received his master of arts degree from Harvard in 1917 and his LL.B. there in 1919.

New York, Texas, and Los Angeles were places in which Dean Masterson practiced law from 1919 until 1928, when he became an associate professor of law in the University of Idaho. In 1929 he was elevated to the position of dean of the college of law. In 1926 he received the degree of S.J.D. from Harvard for his services on the Harvard Bureau of International Law. He is regarded as an authority on laws relating to smuggling from the sea. Dean Masterson was honored by a LL.D. in London in 1928.

Young Will Play For Union Dance

Cool Ballroom, Free Punch Featured for Friday Entertainment

Ben Young and His Music will make their last appearance of the summer session at the Union dance on the night of Friday, August 10, Charles Zivley, manager of the Union, has announced. There will be only one more dance on the summer calendar of the Union, that of August 17.

For the first summer since 1925 a complete series of dances have been successful. Mr. Zivley attributes the success of the dances to the ability of the Union to obtain well-liked local orchestras and to the installation of the nine new airplane-type fans which have aided the regular blower system in keeping the Union cool for the dances. Another feature has been the serving of punch to the dancers at no extra charge.

Ben Young and His Music and Dutch Scheel and his Band have alternated on the summer dances. At present Scheel and his band are playing an engagement at the Rice Hotel in Houston. Both the orchestras have been reorganized for the summer and have increased their membership to ten members.

Mrs. Ferguson Sets Aside 'Texas Centennial Week'

State Highway Commission, Aided by Federal Funds, Will Complete Main Roads by 1936 for 20,000,000 Expected Tourists

By LILLIAN KRAUSE

In 1936, Texas—The mecca for millions, where shining events of 100 years ago were enacted, will make itself the center for a vast pageantry, as it moves into the limelight and takes its place as the cynosure of a nation's eyes in a brilliant state-wide celebration.

There will pass before us in review those almost legendary but truly magnificent figures who lived and fought and served in Texas. Bloody massacres, death, and defeat of early Texas pioneers will be recalled. The early years when the new nation was struggling and creating the institutions of free men—schools, the legislature, courts, and local government; the joy of victory and the establishment of the republic will be relived in ancient lore come back to life.

"Texas Centennial Week" proclaimed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Saturday set aside the week of August 13 "as a special time during which the Texas Centennial shall be discussed in every social and club meeting, at every dinner table and in all other places where men and women congregate, to the end that Texas shall become Centennial-minded."

Preparations Under Way
During that period Texans are urged to encourage the movement in every way for carrying this great project forward successfully in 1936. Texas should hold the Centennial, and it should be held in such a manner that the rest of the world will realize that Texas is on its feet.

In many ways Texans are preparing for their celebration of a century. Dozens of cities and towns, and sites of important historical events, are arranging pageants to emphasize some particular phase of Texas history to coordinate with the main exposition during the Centennial year. It will provide out-of-State visitors with a single impressive exposition and Texans with a wide celebration reaching everyone in the State. Aided by federal funds the State highway commission has undertaken a program to complete all cardinal highway routes in Texas by 1936. Additional revenue for schools and highways will be realized from the proceeds of the tourist crop as the result of holding the Texas Centennial in 1936. More than $10,000,000 are assured as extra revenue for maintaining and bettering the public school system as well providing good roads on the assumption that 20,000,000 visitors will tour Texas during the Centennial year.

Campaign Launched
A centennial advisory board of 1500 members created to work in every county is launching new supporters to assist the advisory board in each county, and the Texas Centennial Commission in preparation for the celebration in 1936 by securing pledges to the Texas Centennial Million Club during the month of August. This Centennial drive is a challenge to every Texan to champion the Texas Centennial throughout the confines of the State with one heart and with one accord.

Rich and worthy benefits will be reaped in the harvest by the laborers and boosters of the Texas Centennial by letting the world get a glimpse of Texas with its innumerable attractions and diversifying climate. It will open a new (Continued on Page 4)

A Proclamation

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

Ninety-eight years ago on March 1 in the quiet of Washington-on-the-Brazos a little group of clear, calm men, sorely tried by a tyrannical government and weary from conflict, drew aside from the din of battle and solemnly deliberated. From their common counsel, on the next day, came Texas' Declaration of Independence. That declaration took on strange force a month and nineteen days later when Sam Houston and his small band of Texans, devoted to the principles of the newly created republic, won the victory of San Jacinto.

Upon the civilization thus founded, always bearing in mind the heroic deaths of that small band at the Alamo, the massacre at Goliad, and the privations of the pioneer, we have builded. Now Texas ranks among the first states of the union in cultural and economic progress.

As this first century of progress draws to a close the minds of Texans are turned to 1936. A great Centennial, depicting in true form these years of achievement, is to be thrown open to the people of the United States and of the world. Such great exhibition has been authorized by act of the Texas Legislature.

For the purpose of acquainting every citizen of the state with the great objects of this patriotic movement is altogether fitting that a Centennial week be designated in which every village and hamlet and in every town and city the message of the heroism of the Texans of other years be retold, their memories honored, and instilled in the minds and hearts of these descendants of rugged fathers and mothers the thought that Texans never surrender, that from this depression of recent years, new resolution has been born, irresistibly carrying forward the flag of the Lone Star into fields yet undeveloped but open to the energy and imagination of citizens here and those to come to us through succeeding years.

For the purposes herein stated, now, therefore, I, Miriam A. Ferguson, Governor of the State of Texas, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do officially proclaim that the week beginning August 13 be set aside as as a special time during which Texas Centennial shall be discussed in every social and club meeting, at every dinner table, and in all other places where men and women congregate, to the end that Texas shall become Centennial minded and that plans now definitely made for carrying forward in 1936 this great project to a successful conclusion may be consummated.

In Testimony Whereof: I, Miriam A. Ferguson, Governor of the State of Texas, have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Seal of State to be affixed hereto at Austin, Texas, this third day of August, 1934.

MIRIAM A. FERGUSON, Governor of Texas.

W. W. Heath, Secretary of State.

Police To Enforce Traffic Regulations

Parking and traffic regulations are to be strictly enforced in the University neighborhood, Captain Tom Neal of the Austin police department, stated this week.

"Regulations in regard to parking and the traffic light signal on Guadalupe at the main entrance to the campus have been established for the convenience and safety of University students and teachers and Guadalupe business men," Captain Neal said. "We will enforce these regulations. Pedestrians and motorists should obey the light signal. We ask for the cooperation of the University people in our effort to serve their interests."

Another Tarzan Film At Queen

Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in a characteristic pose of the picture "Tarzan and His Mate," opening Saturday to play through Tuesday at the Queen.

Opening Today

SMARTY, the novel story of a rotating wife who furnishes some of the strangest and most hilarious marital tales imaginable, opened today to play through Friday at the Queen. Joan Blondell plays the part of the beautiful but spoiled wife who goes from the arms of one husband to another and back again, while Warren William and Edward Everett Horton have the roles of the husbands. Both are too soft with the young cave lady and lose her, but the bonnie bride gets a thoroughly satisfactory beating before the curtain goes down.

Anna Marie Stigler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stigler who recently have moved to Austin from El Paso, will enter the University as a junior this fall. Miss Stigler will be among the youngest members of her class, being only sixteen years of age. She was graduated from El Paso High School and attended the College of Mines and Metallurgy in El Paso for two years.

THEATERS

"LITTLE MAN, WHAT NOW?" starring Margaret Sullivan with Douglas Montgomery, Alan Hale, and Catherine Doucet now through Saturday and "Of Human Bondage" with Leslie Howard and Bette Davis comes next Wednesday.

"SMARTY" with Joan Blondell, Warren William, and Edward Everett Horton opened today to play through Friday at the Queen. "Tarzan and His Mate" with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan comes Saturday to play through Tuesday.

"SPITFIRE" starring Katharine Hepburn with Robert Young and Ralph Bellamy last times today at the Hancock. "Thirty Day Princess" with Sylvia Sidney and Cary Grant plays Friday and Saturday and "Billy the Kid" with Wallace Beery, Kay Johnson and John Mac Brown comes Sunday to play through Tuesday.

Alan Hale, who plays the drunken but good-hearted boy friend of the "little man's" stepmother, Etienne Girardot, and Christian Rub.

The production is intensely dramatic and emotionally appealing, but is not very good entertainment. On the whole it is rather sordid and depressing. It has a unique and fitting ending—one that carries out the idea expressed in the title.

Estimate: B minus. —M.S.

A Model?

Have you ever selected some person for your ideal man or woman and attempted to become like him or her? Have you ever seen one person who had almost every quality that you admired? Have you ever read about or known a person whom you tried to be like?

Perhaps so or perhaps not! One does not mean in this connection movie-hero stuff; neither does one mean any sort of human worship. But sometimes, one might better say frequently, there is a person who has for his model some one whom he considers the embodiment of all his admired characteristics. There is sometimes such a person who perhaps through influence quite unknown to him is someone's ideal. No, often nothing is ever said of the matter; sometimes no one knows it except the person who holds this idea.

Nevertheless, such a far-off goal frequently aided in no small way. There have been many lessons taught unknowingly by this teacher. There have been various problems solved. He has sometimes caused one of his followers to have self-assurance he would not have otherwise had.

Extra! Extra!

Extra! May I bother you kind sir. May I bother you!

Step up close and hold on tight. You are about to hear one of the greatest discoveries of man-kind. Mr. Frilly Franz of Finnox has won this enormous contest. He has just made one of the greatest inventions in the history of this great world. He has just finished his work, and it has been acclaimed by the committee as the most outstanding of the year. It is appalling. It is amazing. There has been nothing of its kind before this day. Mr. Frazz is a man of no little ability. Mr. Frazz should rightly be considered as Finnox's most outstanding citizen.

Ladies and gentlemen, may I introduce to you Mr. Frazz. Here is Mr. Frazz, ladies and gentlemen, the man who has invented a joke that will never grow old.

You can withdraw after two weeks' time, with a complete history of yourself and your ancestors, and a localized pain in the back of your neck.

An optimist is one who cannot help grinning at the frowns of other people.

IDLING ALONG

DARK THOUGHTS

Old time darky's gone away,
For his golden harp to play,
While he climbs the golden stairs
Bereft of all his earthly cares

Massa too, has gone to rest,
Amid the mansions of the blest,
Massa missed the courtly ways,
Of the old plantation days.

Trouble came to Uncle Joe,
As he hoed the cotton row,
He worked hard on Massa's land,
Greeted white folks hat in hand.

As he worked he hummed or sang
Hadt'nt felt old Trouble's fang,
He never worried 'bout the morrow,
Never burdened down with sorrow.

Now the "chilluns" of Uncle Joe,
They say "more" instead of "mo,"
They don't sing along with work,
In darkness, spooks no longer lurk.

Oh, they're educated no,
Not as happy tho, somehow,
Seems to me this Yankee fight,
Didn't do the darky right.

THEY TORE DOWN THE OLD M. B.

With apologies to any and all pine trees.)

Oh, they've torn down the old M. B.,
And they've hauled it away from the hill,
There'll be no building of stein for those children
Of mine,
For they've torn down the old M. B.

But it's not alone on the junk pile tonight,
For it's there my thoughts will always be,
Though it was mommie's mart, still they tore it
Apart,
And took off the old M. B.

Around The World Today

By GRACE McSPADEN

The threat of immediate war in Central Europe which followed the murder of Chancellor Dollfus in Austria, and spirit of restless expectancy which the incident cast over the world has so far been held in abeyance. That the underlying trouble which led to this murder is still extant and has only been averted by the after affects of general Austrian and Nazi uprising is the general opinion of most thinkers of today.

Guglielmo Ferrero, one of the outstanding historians of Europe, goes even further than some of his contemporaries by stating in a recent article that "Hitler has found the true formula for disarmament. What did he do on the thirtieth of June? He massacred the leaders of his army. If all governments followed his example, Europe would soon be disarmed." And because of this position of Germany's army she is in no condition to go to war with any great power, Mr. Ferrero believes.

War Impossible

"For Germany to attack France or Poland or both, she would have to mobilize two or three million men. But can a state whose head is reduced to massacring the leaders of his army mobilize these two or three million men? And if this leader has a fear concerning a relatively small army recruited from among his partisans, how can he expect to exact obedience from a larger army composed of all sorts of men, including his enemies, Communists, Socialists, and Jews?" the historian concludes.

That none of the great powers of Europe could mobilize an army from the groups of scattered people in each nation, is the ultimate opinion of Mr. Ferrero.

In spite of predictions like Mr. Ferrero's and regardless of peace programs advanced by large groups of societies working to prevent a world massacre, munition makers continue to spread their propaganda for war, with no thought but that of personal profit. Gigantic youth movements in America, Germany, Russia, Italy, and France, however, are attesting the stand which the youth of the world takes in regard to the question of sacrificing their lives, their ideals, and the best n life for the sake of being cannon fodder. And it seems that it will be up to these young people to set the world on a saner and wiser basis in years to come.
