Registration to Bring Total Close to 11,000

Nearly 800 New Students To Begin Enrolling Wednesday

Between seven and eight hundred new students are expected to enroll in the University for the second semester, beginning Wednesday. This number would swell the 1937-1938 registration figures to approximately 10,800, Max Fichtenbaum, assistant registrar, stated Monday.

The first semester registration reached 10,114 this year, only three less than both the semesters of last year combined. A year ago 736 students entered the University at the beginning of the second semester.

"Our office has been swamped with transcripts and letters and the reception counter has been busy giving out information for several days," the assistant registrar stated. "We don't expect a great increase over the usual number of new students, but indications are that the enrollment will be at least normal. If so, the year's total enrollment will not miss the 11,000 mark so very far."

All new students, high school transfers, and transfers from other institutions of higher learning are to register Wednesday in Gregory Gymnasium. Students who registered last September but who withdrew from the University before the end of the semester also are to register on Wednesday in the gymnasium. They must, however, receive entrance permits from their respective deans before reporting for registration.

Old students will not have to take part in the gymnasium schedule in that all section changes and course adds and drops must be taken care of through the respective deans. Fees may be paid at the Bursar's Office on the ground floor of the Main Building. Late Monday afternoon, 1,017 students had already paid their second semester fees.

Mr. Fichtenbaum stated that old students should keep in mind that the payment of fees in no way was connected with the registration of courses for the second semester. He stated that fees must be paid before February 8 and that students can pay their fees before going to the deans for arrangement of courses.

Registration lines will be handled at Gregory Gymnasium from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. To avoid congestion, students registering in the morning will do so in alphabetical groups, according to the first letter of their last names. No alphabetical order, however, will be observed in the afternoon.

The following schedule has been announced by the registration committee:

9 to 10: H through O.
10 to 11: P through Z.
11 to 12: A through G.

All new students must present certificates of vaccination approved by the University Health Service before they can be admitted to registration lines. The Health Service will be open Tuesday to check vaccinations. The Service is located in B. Hall 117.

Registration procedures will begin with new students filling out permit cards and securing entrance permits. After the new students fill out the cards, the registration committee will arrange the courses and sections. All law students, however, will meet their registration committee in Law Building 106 instead of in Gregory Gymnasium. Graduate students will meet in Main Building 121 after receiving their entrance permits, while June and August Academic seniors will see REGISTRATION Page 2.

Open Hearing On R.O.T.C. Next Tuesday

House Committee Asks Student, Faculty Opinions

Public hearings on whether or not a Reserve Officers Training Corps should be established on the University campus will be held on Tuesday night, February 7, by the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, the chief clerk of the House announced Monday.

University students and members of the faculty, as well as other interested citizens, will be given an opportunity to express "pros" and "cons" in regards to the bill. Several members of the student body and of the faculty have already made plans to appear before the committee to present arguments against the bill.

The bill, House Bill No. 25, was introduced two weeks ago by Representative Alfred C. Petsch of Fredericksburg, former student of the University. It is the third straight session that the bill has been presented for consideration. Four years ago it was defeated on the floor of the House, while two years ago it was defeated in that it never reached a vote on the floor after having received favorable committee criticism.

Representative Petsch is chairman of the Military Affairs Committee.

Other members of the committee are as follows:

H. M. Dowell of Luling, vice-chairman, Bowlen Bond of Fairfield, Ellis Cockrell of Lampasas, P. L. Crossley of Eastland, James H. Goodman of Midland, John M. Mohrman of Gonzales, Joe Skiles of Denton, Frank B. Voight of New Braunfels, Odie Weldon of Mabank.

Members of the Senate committee on military affairs are Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, chairman; J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, vice-chairman; A. M. Aiken Jr., of Paris, Vernon Lemens of Glen Rose, Jesse E. Martin of Fort Worth, George C. Moffett of Chillicothe, Will D. Pace of Tyler, and John S. Redditt of Lufkin.

The proposed bill would establish on the campus of the University a voluntary R.O.T.C. unit, to be established by co-operation between the Board of Regents of the University and the federal government.

Austin to Greet Texas Editors

Louis N. Goldberg, business manager of the Austin American, and a local committee are arranging an entertainment program for the visiting editors of the Texas Press Association when they convene in Austin for their semi-annual meeting, February 10-11.

Deskins Wells, president of the association and editor of the Wellington Leader, a University student, will preside over the convention with Raymond H. Nichols, program chairman and editor of the Vernon Record, conducting the discussion of business, legislation, and other affairs of the association.

Convention headquarters will be in the Stephen F. Austin Hotel, and registration will begin at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, February 10.

Jimmy Watson and his band will furnish the music, and a floor show will be presented.

Awards to the nine outstanding intramural athletes in the MICA division will be presented by R. L. Penland of Reynolds-Penland Company, donors of the awards.

MICA members must secure second semester membership cards to attend the open house, White said. The cards will be distributed on payment of 50 cents dues from the office of the Dean of Student Life and from tables about the campus.

MICA Dances Friday Night

MICA will start the new semester with dancing from 8 to 11 o'clock Friday night at an open house to be held in the Texas Union Main Lounge, Louis White, president, announced last night.

Jimmy Watson and his band will furnish the music, and a floor show will be presented.

Awards to the nine outstanding intramural athletes in the MICA division will be presented by R. L. Penland of Reynolds-Penland Company, donors of the awards.

MICA members must secure second semester membership cards to attend the open house, White said. The cards will be distributed on payment of 50 cents dues from the office of the Dean of Student Life and from tables about the campus.

MICA members must secure second semester membership cards to attend the open house, White said. The cards will be distributed on payment of 50 cents dues from the office of the Dean of Student Life and from tables about the campus.

Statistics in the Registrar's Office show that out-of-state freshmen who attended the University last year made better grades than Texas freshmen.

The score for all freshmen was 28.7 per cent. Texas freshmen, totaling 1,641, made an average score of 28.6 per cent, while the 174 first-year students from other states averaged 28.9 per cent.

New U.A.W. Head

R. J. Thomas, above, of Detroit, takes over the reins of the United Automobile Workers of America following the deposition of Homer Martin as president by the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Martin, storm center of a fight within the U.A.W., charged that C.I.O. chieftain, John L. Lewis, was splitting the forces of labor by "dictatorial policies."

Wesley Sponsors New U. T. Co-Op

House Opens Feb. 1, Will Take 23 Boys

A new men's Co-Op house will be opened at 805 West Nineteenth Street on February 1, Murray Dickson, director of student activities at the Wesley Foundation, announced Saturday.

The new house, T.L.O.K., is patterned after the Campus Guild. Twenty-three selected students from the Wesley Foundation and from Co-Op units already organized on the campus will occupy the house.

Dick Rubottom, assistant to the Dean of Student Life, who is in charge of University Co-Op houses, said that he thought that a house started on the boys' own initiative would have a better chance of succeeding than one under University sponsorship.

T.L.O.K. will be the third non-University sponsored men's house on the campus. The Campus Guild was organized in February, 1937. Shangri-La, the second independent Co-Op house, was opened last fall.

Organization of T.L.O.K. has not been completed. Bob Douglas is temporary co-ordinator, George Ormsby is acting secretary, and Eugene Skinner is temporary chairman of the house committee. Mrs. R. H. Lewelling, former housemother for a boarding house in Dallas, will be the housemother.

Ex New Assistant To Secretary Wallace

Dr. James L. McCamey, ex-student and former instructor in government in the University, has been appointed assistant to Henry L. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

Dr. McCamey has been a member of Bennington (Vt.) College faculty since 1934. He received his degree from the University and taught government here before going to Vermont.

Students Aid Paralysis Fight At Gym Benefit

4 Local Teams Tilt for Charity Tonight at 7, 8

By CLARENCE LA ROCHE. From the sublime to the ridiculous went the Joe Whitley extravaganza on the stage of Gregory Gym last night, as the campus turned out to do honor to the fifty-seventh birthday of the President of the United States and to do their part in the battle against infantile paralysis.

Tonight at 7 o'clock the second part of the benefit program will be staged, in Gregory Gym, when the Austin High School Maroons play the School for the Deaf in a preliminary basketball game, preceding the game between the Longhorns and the St. Edward's Tigers at 8 o'clock.

Sublime in the trillings of the Girls' Glee Club, the Co-Ed Trio and the "Serenade in Blue"; ridiculous—but hilarious—in the football team's version of a "typical" scene on the Beach at Waikiki. Besides the geographical aspect of Hawaii, the audience also was presented with Hillbillies, as characterized by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and his "Hillbilly Boys," and the Frank Gardner-Gene Hurt version of Mexico.

Following the O'Daniel program and some fill-in music by Boop Burger's orchestra, Walter Kerr opened the show with apologies for the lack of adequate facilities and the shortcomings of the acoustics in the huge gym.

Grouped around the orchestra piano, the Co-Ed Trio sang the John Young hit tune, "Clock in the Varsity Tower," from "Time Stagers On." The trio consisted of Jean Granberry, Vivian Dahlberg, and Louise Self. The song was well done, despite the constant shufflings of late-comers.

Bonnie Ruth Taylor, star of many light opera presentations, teamed with Gene Hemmle in singing "Love Me Tonight," one of the best spots on the program.

For sheer muscular control and precise training, Bill Crenshaw and Wallace McCleendon brought rounds of applause in response to their spectacular "Men in Bronze." Crenshaw and McCleendon, clothed only in loin-cloths and painted with bronze gilt from top to toe, went through their repertoire in an easy, graceful pace.

Gardner and Hurt next chipped in with a medley of typical and well-known Mexican songs. Included in the medley were such well-known cancones as "Virgin-cita," "Borachita," and "Rancho Grande." The highlight of the song came when Gardner hit a high note on the line, "... que allegre me decia." A local wit at the fringe of the audience quipped: "que te decia!"

Serenade in Blue, featuring Jean Allen, Jackie Hempel, Mary Frances Crowson, and Cecilia Braden; Jimmy Valentine's "I've Got to Have You"; Sis and Bill Merrit and Murren Alcorn's tap-dancing were bright highlights. Then there were "Satan Swingin'," "This Thing Called Love," sung by Jim Pitt and the Girls' Glee Club; a soft-shoe dance by Miss Jane Allen, who showed the audience what it was that kept her in Casa Manana for two straight years.

Rainey Arrives Thursday To Visit U. T. Campus

To See Regents, Staff Members

May Be in Austin Until Monday

DR. HOMER PRICE RAINEY

Dr. Homer Price Rainey, the University's next President, will visit the campus this week-end, he has informed friends in Austin. He is planning to arrive in Austin sometime Thursday and will probably remain through the following Monday.

"I am looking forward to my coming to the campus at this time with great interest," he has written.

Although Dr. Rainey will not take office until the spring, he will probably attend to some "official business" this week. It is expected, also, that he will attend a meeting of the Board of Regents Saturday morning.

He has announced that he plans to visit the campus on several occasions prior to taking office. He is at present director of the American Youth Commission of Washington, D. C., a non-governmental agency.

Dr. Rainey was chosen as the twelfth president of the University by the Board of Regents on December 29 of last year, the announcement bringing to a close an eighteen-month search for a permanent successor to the late Dr. H. Y. Benedict, who died in the spring of 1937. J. W. Calhoun, then comptroller of the University, was appointed to serve as president ad interim until a permanent president could be selected. Mr. Calhoun, as he desired upon being selected to serve temporarily, will return to the Comptroller's Office upon Dr. Rainey's coming to Austin in the spring.

Dr. Rainey's visit to the campus this week will not be his first trip to Austin. A native Texan, he is a graduate of Austin College at Sherman and took graduate work at the University of Chicago. He has been a member of the faculties of the University of Chicago, the University of Minnesota, the University of Oregon and was for a summer term a member of the University of Texas faculty.

During the search for a new President, the members of the Board of Regents interviewed Dr. Rainey here several months ago.

Mrs. Rainey is a graduate of the University and is a former student also of Baylor University, Waco.

No schedule of activities has been made for Dr. Rainey during his visit on the campus; however, it is expected that much of his time will be spent in conferences and in becoming acquainted with the personnel of the University staff and with the University's problems.

Stark Collection Adds Columbus-less History

The "Liber Chronicarum" or "Nuremberg Chronicle," a history of the world which came off the press only a year after Columbus discovered America, but fails to mention the discovery, has been added to the Stark Collection of rare books at the University, Donald Coney, librarian, has announced.

The Chronicle was one of the first "picture books" ever printed for the masses and sold at popular prices, Mr. Coney said. The book offers valuable source material for Fifteenth Century architecture.

NEW COURSE ON MEXICO. A new anthropology course on the peoples and cultures of Mexico will be given next semester by Omer C. Stewart of the University of California. The new course will be given TTS at 11 o'clock and will replace the course on Ethnology of Polynesia, Dr. Gilbert McAllister, chairman of the Department of Anthropology, has announced.

University of Texas Safety Chart

$481,000 Asked For Junior Colleges

An appropriation of $481,000 from the general revenue fund for Texas junior colleges was proposed Monday in a bill introduced in the state Senate by Senator A. M. Aikin of Paris, International News Service reported last night.

The appropriation would cover a two-year period starting with the next fiscal year.

The sum would support, operate, and improve Texas public junior colleges, and colleges getting the appropriation would receive a number one ranking by the Department of Education and the Association of Texas Colleges.

Senator Aikin's proposal would give $50 for each nine months' student.

Junior colleges benefitting would include Blinn at Brenham, Hillsboro, Amarillo, Clarendon, Hardin at Wichita Falls, Paris, Texarkana, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Kilgore, Ranger, Edinburg, Gainesville, Houston, Temple, Victoria, Lee of Goose Creek, Lamar at Beaumont, Tyler, and San Angelo.

Special invitations have been sent to the state legislators to attend the Museum on these days as special guests, Dr. Sellards said.

The Museum is open to the public daily, except Mondays, from 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoons.

Two Student Church Groups for U. S. Jobs

Student members of the Congregational and Christian Churches voted 4,530 to 987 in favor of "provision by government of jobs for those unable to find work in private employ," according to the final returns in a nation-wide economic plebiscite conducted by the Council for Social Action of the churches.

The result of the poll showed that nearly one-sixth of the total vote of 32,580 had been cast by student members of the church. The total vote was more than 3 per cent of the total membership of more than one million.

In addition to the vote for and against the provision of government jobs, 456 students voted that no Christian issue was involved in the question.

Rooms Still Available For Women Students

There are still plenty of rooms available for new women students entering school in February, Mrs. Gladys Whitley Henderson, secretary to the Dean of Women, has announced.

The report that there are no more rooms to be rented is not true. Any girl desiring a room may find a long list to choose from in the Dean of Women's office.

Newspaper Exhibit Yellow-With Age

Early Texas newspapers yellowed by age are on display in the main corridor of the Main Building. Among these are the Austin Daily Bulletin, 1842, and the Texas Gazette another Austin paper of 1892.

Representative books from the Wrenn, Aiken, and Stark Libraries in the Rare Books Collection are bound in green, red, blue, and gold, and also in natural leather.

Inaugural reception invitations from the Archives fill another display case. They include multi-colored invitations along with the more formal and conventional white ones. The oldest one is dated 1853 and the newest is that of James V. Allred in 1937.

From the Texas Collection has been brought the Texiana, exhibiting the addresses to Congress by these Governors of Texas: J. W. Throckmorton, F. R. Lubbock, Hardin R. Runnels, O. M. Roberts, and Sam Houston. Pictures of Governor James Pinckney Henderson and his wife are also included.

STUDENT'S FATHER DIES

R. P. Bennett, father of Shirley Bennett, student in the University, died in a Shreveport hospital early Saturday from a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Bennett, who was 53, was a businessman and past president of the Shreveport Rotary Club. Survivors are his wife, his daughter, and a son, R. P. Bennett Jr., an Austin attorney.

Forced Airplane Landing Postpones Gieseking Concert to 8:15 Tonight

Delayed when the airplane in which he was flying to Austin was forced down, Walter Gieseking, pianist, will give his concert here tonight at 8:15 o'clock for the membership of the Community Concert Association in Hogg Memorial Auditorium. Association members heard Maurice Marechal, cellist, last night, the date originally set for the Gieseking performance.

The program for tonight includes several seldom heard works in addition to more generally known compositions. Bach's "Concerto in Italian Style, in F Major" will open the recital. Next will be the Mozart "Sonata in A Major," the one which concludes with the familiar "Rondo alla Turca" or "Turkish March." Schumann's "Fantasia in C Major," less frequently played, will conclude the first half of the program.

WALTER GIESEKING

After the intermission will come three numbers by Debussy, of whose works Gieseking is recognized as an interpreter. The final group will include two Liszt compositions.

The complete program follows:

- I. Concerto in Italian Style, F Major — Bach
- II. Sonata, A Major (K. 311) — Mozart
- III. Fantasia, Op. 17, C Major — Schumann
- IV. Pagoda — Debussy
- V. Reflections in the Water — Debussy
- VI. Fountain of the Villa d'Este — Liszt
- VII. Benediction to God in Solitude — Liszt

'Using Office to Sell Flour,' Hill Says Of O'Daniel as Senate Rebels Accuses Governor Of 'Pussy-Footing'

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel was assailed in the Texas Senate Monday for "prostituting the office of Governor to sell flour," International News Service reports.

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson charged that Governor O'Daniel was using his office and the Governor's Mansion as a means of advertising and exploiting Hillbilly Flour.

Hill's attack on O'Daniel was made in connection with Senate consideration of a bill proposing the abolition of the office of tax commissioner. The Senate finally passed the bill which had been introduced by Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus, by which the State Treasurer would be made ex-officio member of the tax board to replace the tax commissioner. All functions of the tax commissioner would be vested in the Comptroller. The measure will next receive the attention of the House.

Issue-dodging was charged to O'Daniel by Hill. Many of Hill's remarks concerned O'Daniel's appointment of Elster M. Haile as state tax commissioner. O'Daniel was accused of "pussy-footing" and repudiation of pledges.

"On the Sabbath morning the people have been regaled with a combination political speech and flour-selling campaign from the Governor's Mansion," shouted Hill.

He didn't like the way O'Daniel told the people he was against a sales tax and then proposed a super sales tax, declared the East Texas Senator. Also, Hill said he did not like the way O'Daniel has dodged issues at the State Democratic Convention at Beaumont.

Legislators were interested in O'Daniel's wordy defense of his tax-pension plan. Heretofore he has declined to comment on the plan except to say that it now rests in the hands of the Legislature.

Sunday's broadcast, however, was a belligerent defense of his plan, and once again he flung the challenge of "find a better way" into the faces of legislators.

The Legislature apparently believes this challenge must be faced and met. At first the reaction among members was to sit back and wait for public sentiment to develop. This sentiment, according to members, has now crystallized strongly against the transaction tax proposal, but the voters still want money provided for a more liberal pension program.

A number of members went home to their districts this week-end for the first time, and many of them reported a very strong sentiment against the transaction tax or any form of sales tax.

"But don't let anybody fool you. They still want those pensions paid, and they think we ought to find a way to do it without using a transaction or sales tax," one member commented.

Propose Resource, Cigarette Tax

Forty-four members of the Texas House of Representatives Monday joined in a movement to finance the state's social security program through increase in natural resource and cigarette taxes, International News Service reports.

Signing a bill drafted by Representative G. C. Morris of Greenville, the members declared that their tax-pension plan was an answer to the challenge of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to the Legislature to "find a better way" to pay old age pensions than with a transaction tax.

Morris estimated that the bill would raise $16,680,720 a year additional revenue, which would go to finance old age pensions, aid to the blind and to dependent children, and the teachers' retirement program.

The bill embodies, word for word, the O'Daniel pension plan which would guarantee to every Texan over 65 a minimum income of $30 per month from all sources, public and private.

The bill appropriates $300,000 a year for aid to the blind, $1,500,000 for aid to destitute children; $2,500,000 a year to the Teachers' Retirement Fund, and $12,400,000 to old age pensions.

The tax increase proposed in the Morris bill, together with the amounts estimated to be raised by the boosts, are:

Cigarettes, from three to four cents a package, $2,255,000; oil, from 2 three-fourths cents to 5 cents per barrel, $12,991,000; natural gas, from 3 to 5 per cent of its value at the well, $450,000; and sulfur, from $1.03 to $1.50 per ton, $1,136,000.

The allocation of taxes on these articles would be rearranged and both the general revenue and available school funds would receive slight increases, but the bulk of the new revenue would go to the financing of the state's social security program.

Chicago Feels Worst Blizzard

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(INS)—The most severe blizzard in eight years howled through the Chicago area today, bringing death to two persons in accidents and serious injury to at least thirty-five others. Ten persons died of heart attacks indirectly attributed to the storm.

Three wrecks between elevated trains in the swirling, blinding snow accounted for the high injury toll. Police officials estimated that more than a hundred persons were shaken and bruised in addition to the thirty-five whose injuries were listed as serious.

The two killed were Richard Sander, 14, and his father, Edmond, who were riding in an automobile which stalled on a grade crossing and was demolished by a Chicago and Northwestern train in Elmhurst, a suburb. Before he died the father said his view of the oncoming train was obscured by driving snow.

Fourteen inches of snowfall was recorded by the weather bureau up to noon, causing an almost complete tie-up of the city's huge transportation system and bringing a suspension of much of the industrial and business activity. U. S. Forecaster C. A. Donnel of the weather bureau described the storm as "the most intense on record."

At least fifteen persons were injured in the third elevated train crash which occurred at a north side station.

Storm Center

The Texas Senate Monday thought it had found a way to avoid further discussion concerning the appointment of Elster M. Haile as state tax commissioner by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. It passed a bill abolishing the office entirely, thereby making more debate on his appointment pointless.

Court Disperses T.V.A. Attack

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Delivering a death blow to attacks by private utilities, the Supreme Court today dismissed the attack of fourteen private utilities on the constitutional authority of the Tennessee Valley Authority's far-flung power "yardstick" program. The decision was five to two, Justices McReynolds and Butler dissenting. Justice Reed did not participate, and there was one vacancy caused by the recent death of Justice Cardozo.

The court's opinion was delivered by Justice Roberts in the presence of a packed court room, which included many New Deal officials.

The high tribunal ruled that the private utilities lacked standing to bring the suit for injunction. It held that a three-judge Tennessee federal court, headed by Circuit Judge Florence Allen, properly dismissed the case.

In dismissing the suit, the court failed to rule on constitutionality of the T.V.A.'s present vast program of producing and selling electric power in competition with private utilities.

Failure of the court to rule squarely on the issue of whether the government is engaged in a valid navigation and flood control program—or whether it is operating a camouflaged public power program—provoked protest from the dissenting justices, Butler and McReynolds.

The decision thus leaves the T.V.A. free to continue its program of constructing high dams on the Tennessee River and tributaries to protect areas from floods, make the river navigable, and provide maximum hydro-electric power. The project, it is estimated, eventually will cost $500,000,000.

May Abolish Haile's Post

Find Way to Avoid Appointee Trouble

The Texas Senate believes it has found a way to side-step the question of confirming or rejecting Elster M. Haile as state tax commissioner, International News Service reported last night.

Ever since Governor W. Lee O'Daniel sent Haile's name to the senate, a torrid storm has blown about his head. Senators have asserted that he was not a citizen of Texas and therefore should not be confirmed.

Monday, under the leadership of Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus, the Senate unanimously passed a bill abolishing the office of tax commissioner, effective at once.

If the House of Representatives gives its approval to this measure, the question of confirming Haile will be moot because the office to which he was nominated will have been abolished.

In this way the Senate will be able to avoid either confirming or rejecting the Governor's nominee.

Refuse Collins Highway Place

The state Senate Monday refused to confirm the appointment of Carr P. Collins of Dallas as chairman of the State Highway Commission, International News Service reported last night.

Collins, insurance magnate and mineral water crystals promoter, was appointed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. He is widely known as the financial backer of O'Daniel's campaign for governor and as his closest adviser.

A group of East Texas senators had served notice that they would not vote to confirm an appointee to the Highway Commission who did not reside in East Texas.

Lindy Reported U. S., French Air Adviser

PARIS, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Playing a mysterious game that compares in some respects with that of Colonel T. E. Lawrence, the famed "Lawrence of Arabia," Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was revealed today as one of the leading figures behind the aerial rearmament of France as well as the United States.

Abandoning his lonely seclusion on the Isle d'Orléans off the Brittany coast, Colonel Lindbergh has partially returned to public life by advising the American government of its aeronautical needs and indirectly donating his knowledge of aviation to the French Government.

Donald Outlaw is recovering from an appendectomy at St. David's Hospital.

F. D. R. Ignores State Cares, Has Calm Day

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—After a last-minute decision to lay aside the cares of office for a day, Franklin D. Roosevelt, healthy and happy after six rigorous years as President, celebrated his fifty-seventh birthday anniversary in the White House proper today—with the "closed" sign hung on the executive offices. As the nation "slicked up" to attend the Roosevelt birthday balls tonight—the sixth such annual occasion when politics are forgotten in a bipartisan drive against infantile paralysis—Mr. Roosevelt worked briefly on the business of state. He held his regular Monday morning legislative conference with congressional leaders.

range their courses in Main Building 113, the offices of the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

All students will pay their fees in Gregory Gymnasium. Tuesday, fees may be paid at the Bursar's Office on the ground floor of the Main Building. No arrangements for registration and the payment of fees have been made for Thursday or the rest of the week.

All students, with the exception of law students and candidates for June degrees will be required to present record of work booklets before receiving entrance permits.

Students who plan to transfer from one division of the University to another for the second semester must make application to do so immediately. These applications should be made at the Registrar's Office in ample time to allow credits to be checked.

Benefit --

toe-strut brought the program towards its end, as the rustling of grass skirts were heard in the wings. The skirts belonged to the six gridders who proceeded to give the patrons an all-male version of what the hula-girls do to hula.

The program was ended by a rip-snorting jitterbugfest, as presented by Ed Rodgers, Pauline Dabbs, George Van Natta, Jo Barber, Billy Montandon, and Gladine McLean.

Following last night's benefit festivities, the Longhorn basketball team meets the St. Edward's Tigers at 8 o'clock tonight in Gregory Gym as part of the sports world's drive for aiding the fight on infantile paralysis. The Austin High School Maroons and the School for the Deaf meet in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

The Steers will be up against one of the highest-scoring individual performers in national basketball circles tonight, as they attempt to smother Ed Norris, sophomore star of the St. Ed's quintet. Jack Gray, Steer coach, has not indicated who will guard Morris, but it is an even bet that he will use either Oran Spears or Bobby Moers.

Gray did not indicate what the starting line-up for the Longhorns would be, but ring-side observers believed the following five would start: Willie Tate, captain, and Ken (Eagle Eye) King, forwards; Speedy Houpt, center; and Spears and Moers, guards.

Hitler Boasts Might As Reichstag Opens

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—(INS)—With a hastily rearing and a war-fearing world as his audience, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler opened the Nazi Reichstag on the sixth anniversary of his ride to power tonight with a speech that bristled with boasts of Germany's might and power.

To the 861 deputies assembled from all over the new Germany, including for the first time the 120 representatives of Austria and the Sudetenland, the Fuehrer reviewed the history-making achievements of the last twelve months of his rule and spoke in rosete terms of the German future.

Hitler was accorded a tremendous ovation as he started his speech in the old red plush and mahogany Kroll Opera House, temporary meeting place of his rubber-stamp Reichstag.

The proceedings opened with the formal re-election of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goerring as President of the Reichstag.

Minister of the Interior Dr. Wilhelm Frick then took the rostrum and announced briefly that the Nazi four-year plan of industrial self-sufficiency would be extended until 1943.

The Fuehrer arose to begin his address at 8:06 o'clock. After a brief review of the rise of the Nazi party from an obscure political group of ten thousand men to virtually 100 per cent control of the country, Hitler veered suddenly into the foreign field.

Lashing right and left, the Fuehrer cited the bitter opposition within Germany itself to National Socialist principles prior to his seizure of power in 1933, and then assailed the colonial powers for their refusal to return Germany's war-lost colonies.

Anti-Jew Riot Looms in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Unless police and troop reinforcements can stop it, a battle royal involving twenty-five thousand members of rival political factions in a quarrel over the Jewish question is set for the streets of Mexico City Tuesday night.

Fight prospects developed today as the unificatory center of revolution—so-called nationalists—announced they had enrolled fifteen thousand opponents of President Lazaro Cardenas, and would march on the presidential palace Tuesday night with a demand that Cardenas expel Jews.

Ten thousand members of the Mexican Confederation of Labor offered to fight them.

Speakers for the nationalists told followers to report with torches.

Organized labor equipped itself with clubs. Police will be mobilized and troops confined to barracks.

Longhorns Have St. Ed's Tonight, but They're Thinking of Mustangs

Steers Meet Three Foes On Road Trips Next Week

By MAX B. SKELTON
Acting Associate Editor

With the Southern Methodist Mustangs perched on top of the conference standings with five victories and no defeats, Southwest Conference cage teams, with the exception of Baylor and Arkansas, are taking the week off to either take over or recuperate from examination schedules.

The Baylor Bears, now holding second place with four wins and only one defeat, and the defending champions from the University of Arkansas will tangle at Fayetteville on Friday and Saturday nights in a series which will determine whether or not the Bears from Waco will remain in second place or slip back behind Rice and Texas. On the other hand, the series will be a deciding factor as to whether or not the power which the Razorbacks showed here against Texas was only momentary or sufficient to cause other conference teams trouble.

The Longhorns here in Austin will take on the St. Edwards University Tigers in a charity game at Gregory Gymnasium Tuesday night for their first action after final exams.

Although the proceeds are being turned over to charity and even the coaches, the managers, and the players will have to buy tickets to the game, Coach Jack Gray is hoping that the Tiger game will put the Steers in the proper frame of mind for the all-important tussle with the Mustangs in Dallas on next Monday night. The St. Edwards game will be the Longhorns' first since the victory over Baylor in Waco on January 18.

Picked by many to finish the conference season in a fight with S.M.U. for first place, the Steers have not been as fortunate in early games as the Mustangs. The Mustangs have defeated the Razorbacks twice and won single victories from Rice, A.M., and T.C.U. Two of the games, with Rice and T.C.U., however, have been "fortunate" affairs for S.M.U. and Coach Whitey Baccus was indeed anxious to hear the final gun. It took an extra period to defeat T.C.U., while the Dallas team had to come from behind to score eight points and win from the Owls.

The Longhorns lost to the Owls, by four points, while S.M.U. defeated the Owls by two points. Also, the Longhorns could only split their series with the Razorbacks. So, taking comparative scores, it looks like S.M.U. will finish the first half of the conference with an undefeated slate.

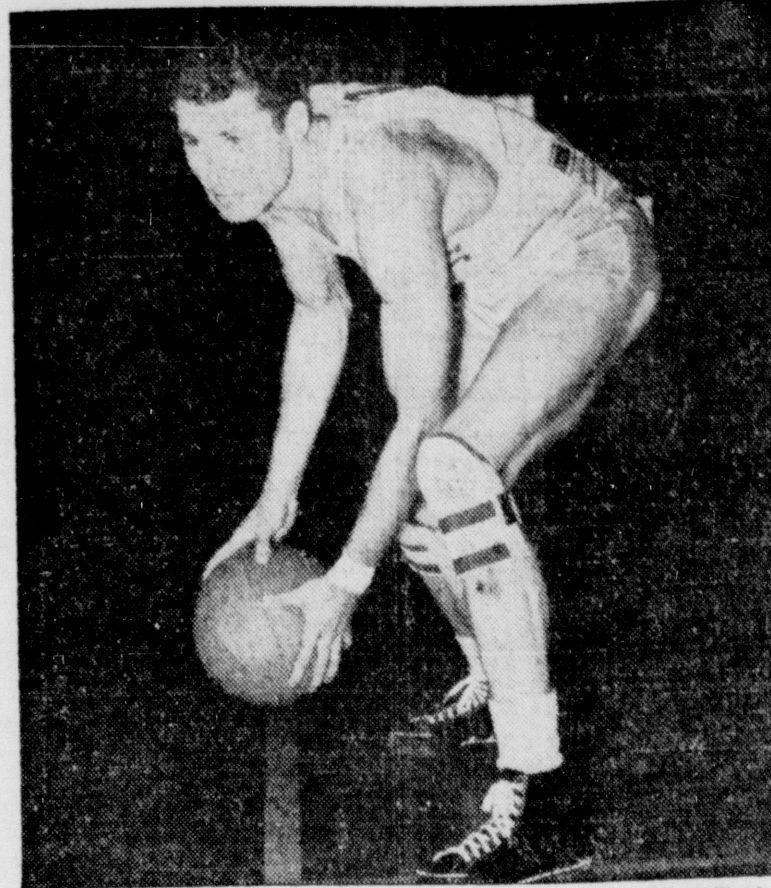

But, one can't count a Longhorn out when it meets a Mustang on a basketball court and last year's series between the two coral teams is ample proof of such a statement.

For thirty-five minutes in Dallas last January the Steers had the Mustangs on the run, with three regulars, Don White, Henry Chovanec, and Bobby Moers, out of the game either all or most of the way. In the final minutes, however, the Steers lost the game 26-29.

The Austin return engagement was about the same, for in late February the Steers knocked the Mustangs out of the conference title chase by winning 25-23, in Gregory Gymnasium.

Dallas sports writers have all but taken the 1939 championship trophy away from the Southwest Conference officials. Through Sunday, they hadn't considered the possibility of a Texas victory in the Mustang gym. In fact, they seem to think that it would be a miracle if the Mustangs were to

The 'Biscuit

Elmer (Seabiscuit) Finley, former star for the John Tarlton Junior College Plowboys, is one of Jack Gray's most dependable "reserve" men this year. Although not of the reserve class, Finley has been used for the 1939 cage team in this capacity in that he is sent in when the going gets tough and when the opposition needs a little change. He is the fastest man on the squad, and the 'Biscuit' nickname has become a common term among his teammates.

lose a game this season. They don't seem to be considering the fact that S.M.U. had a close call with the Owls in Dallas. What will the Owls do to them when they invade Houston to play on the city coliseum? It's not a court or floor down in Houston. Just a coliseum and not much of one at that.

The Mustang-Longhorn game will be a close one and on record, the S.M.U. team should rate strong favorites. But Texas has been looking forward to this game—for a long while.

It may be a tip, a hunch, or a guess, but the T.C.U. game in Fort Worth will be a harder one for the Longhorns than will be the Dallas game. T.C.U. has lost five games, won none. With an ounce of luck, however, the stand-ins would have read, T.C.U., won four, lost one, and they would be tied with S.M.U. for first place.

Two years ago, in Fort Worth, the Longhorns were opening their conference season. They were supposed to be among the leaders for the title. T.C.U. was not supposed to win a game throughout the season. They won one. They beat Texas 23-to-21.

AGGIE PROF RESIGNS

Paul Jones and K. M. Curtis, new assistants in the department of biology of Texas A.M. College, have been employed for the spring semester to replace Dr. O. A. Leonard who has resigned effective February 1 to be plant physiologist at the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station.

and the 'Hoss

A boxer as well as a basketball player, Warren Wiggins of San Antonio will probably see much action for the Longhorn cage team during the next two weeks as the Steers open a drive which will mean "yes" or "no" in so far as a Southwest Conference title is concerned. Beginning with the game here with St. Edward's Tuesday night the Steers will play three games, Monday with S.M.U. in Dallas, Tuesday with T.C.U. in Fort Worth and Saturday with A.M. at College Station. Last year in Dallas Wiggins played one of his best defensive games.

Pop Warner's Resignation Surprises Stanford, Temple

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Stanford University officials chorused surprise today when informed of "Pop" Warner's resignation as Temple coach, but said the rumored possibility he would become an advisory coach at Stanford "had not been considered."

If such an arrangement is proposed, it will not be before the Board of Athletic Control's next meeting, February 11, when Coach "Tiny" Thornhill's contract will be up for renewal, Dr. Thomas A. Storey, athletic director, said.

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 30.—

(INS)—Possibility that Glen S. "Pop" Warner will return to Stanford as "consulting football coach" became stronger today with his revelation that he has resigned as head grid mentor of Temple University.

Warner said he had planned to leave the Philadelphia university for some time and had finally mailed his letter of resignation Friday to Temple Graduate Manager Earl R. Yeomans.

In 1932, after nine years as Stanford coach, Warner went to Temple at a reputed salary of $25,000. During his six years' tutelage at Temple his teams went to 31 wins, 18 losses and 9 ties. His contract at Temple had another year to run.

Despite his eastern job, Warner maintained his home in Palo Alto and often expressed desire to spend his declining years in California.

The famed football wizard said he had no definite offers of jobs, but "would like" a berth at Stanford. Rumors that he would be offered a post as "advisory" to his protegee, Stanford Coach "Tiny" Thornhill, have been heard for several days.

Immediate reason for Warner's resignation undoubtedly was ill health. An old hip injury has bothered him constantly, and hampered his effectiveness as an active coach.

The "old fox of football," most famous living figure in the sport, will be 68 in April and has been a coach for forty-four years, beginning with the famed Carlisle Indians and continuing through stints at Pittsburgh, Stanford, Temple and other schools. He brought Thornhill with him as assistant when he came to Stanford in 1924 from Pittsburgh. Thornhill was his star tackle at Pitt.

The Theater-Goer

By BOYD SINCLAIR
Texas Amusement Editor

THE PRESENT theatrical season seems to be bringing a surfeit of Robert E. Sherwood, which may or may not be a good thing. It is a good thing for students of the theater and habitual theatergoers. From other standpoints it may be a bad thing.

Last November for four days the Curtin Club presented Mr. Sherwood's "Idiot's Delight." Ten days after it closed, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, having appeased and pleased Benito Mussolini, began the actual work of filming it before the cameras. The results will be mainfest on the Paramount screen February 24.

In the interim, a week from Friday to be exact, the Theater Guild's roadshow production will play a one-performance engagement at the Paramount with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne slinking about the stage.

To those who have a deep interest as to how the respective amateur, professional, and motion picture casts will interpret the different roles, the three presentations of the Sherwood play will be a field day for comparisons.

The Theater Guild cast is as follows:

Irene	Lynn Fontanne
Harry Van	Alfred Lunt
Achille Weber	John Barclay
Dr. Waldessee	Sydney Greenstreet
Captain Locicero	Barry Thompson
Quillery	Richard Whorf
Donald Navadel	Richard Rader
Mrs. Cherry	Thelma Schoon

The Curtin Club cast is as follows:

Irene	Elaine Scott
Harry Van	Pat O'Keeffe
Achille Weber	Mevin Pape
Dr. Waldessee	Clint Anderson
Captain Locicero	Brooks West
Quillery	Bob McCutchen
Mrs. Cherry	Alice Ann Nitchie
Donald Navadel	Joe Baldwin
Dumpy	Bill Grain
Pittaliga	Theodore Epstein
Shirley	Burgess Gullins
Bebe	Frances Ross
Francine	Charlene McGhee
Edna	Shirley Holmes
Auguste	Mary Ware
Signor Rossi	Yvonne Jamison
Signora Rossi	James Gussie
	Edward Potter
	Mary Griggs

The motion picture cast is as follows:

Irene	Norma Shearer
Harry Van	Clark Gable
Achille Weber	Edward Arnold
Dr. Waldessee	Charles Coburn
Captain Locicero	Joseph Schildkraut
Quillery	Burgess Meredith
Donald Navadel	Skeets Gallagher
Mrs. Cherry	Peter Willes
Dumpy	Pat Patterson
Pittaliga	William Edmunds
Shirley	Fritz Feld
	Virginia Grey

Mystery Yarn Is Without Murder

"STRANGE BOARDERS."—At the Texas. Original story by E. Phillips Oppenheim. Screenplay by S. Gilliat and A. R. Rolinson. Directed by Herbert Mason. Produced in England by Gaumont-British. The cast follows:

Tommy Blythe	Tom Wall
Louise Blythe	Renee Saint-Cyr
Elise	Googie Whittier
Barstow	Ronald Adams
Colonel Anstruder	C. V. France
Mrs. Anstruder	Nina Boucault

"Strange Boarders," an English flicker currently enlivening the Texas screen, is a corking good mystery in the most approved Philo Vance-Hercule Poirot-Tommy Blythe manner. We would say murder mystery, except that there is no murder—a fact which speaks well for any mystery yarn's individuality.

The hero is one Tommy Blythe (Tom Wall), ace intelligence man in the British secret service, who is literally torn from his wife's arms on their wedding night and plunged neck deep into the case of the stolen airplane plans. Just as he is getting hot on the trail of the spies, up pops Mrs. Blythe (Renee Saint-Cyr) to help and almost get her pretty little head shot off. But if you want to know any more, you'll have to see the picture.

Philo Vance has his drawl; Hercule Poirot, his French accent; Charlie Chan, his Oriental proverbs; and accordingly, Tommy Blythe has his Oxford accent. He more nearly resembles Philo Vance than any other screen detective we can think of, but in the end, he is just plain Tommy Blythe, operative M.T., and a darn good actor as well as operative. Miss Saint-Cyr, as Tommy's French bride, also turns in a good performance—so good, in fact, that we felt a little like punching her cute little pug nose when she butts in on hubby's work.

The scene of Mr. and Mrs. Blythe on their wedding night reminds one rather strongly of the good old pre-Hayes days, and how it got by the censors will, we suppose, forever remain a mystery. The whole picture is well directed and well acted; and although the denouement is a trifle stereotyped, the rescue of the hero and heroine from the spies' trap isn't.

"Strange Boarders" is well above the average movie mystery. We wish we could say as much for the abominable Floyd Gibbons short which goes with the picture.

Betty Bronson Returns to Cinema

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30. —(INS)—Seeking again "the thrill of acting," Betty Bronson, cinema star of yesteryear, was back in Hollywood today to find a niche for herself in motion pictures.

Miss Bronson, now married, and a mother, admitted that after six years as a society matron and junior leaguer in Asheville (N.C.) she yearns for something more exciting.

"There's nothing quite like the thrill of acting," the actress who brought "Peter Pan" to the screen fourteen years ago, declared.

Miss Bronson renounced her career in 1932 when she married Ludwig Lauerbach, Heidelberg graduate and scion of a wealthy Asheville family. But her return to Hollywood does not mean there has been a rift in the marriage, she insisted, even though her husband frowned at a continuation of her film career when they were wed.

"My husband is here in Hollywood, too, and he approves of my plans," Miss Bronson declared.

Airwaves

Music in its varied forms will play a dominant role on the Columbia network at 2:30 o'clock when Deems Taylor appears as commentator during the third of the new "Story of Song" programs. Songs he will discuss are some of his own and those of Gena Branscombe, Jacques Wolfe, and Charles Repper.

Another feature of the day is the third broadcast of the League of Composers series over WABC-CBS at 2 o'clock, directed by Arthur Shepherd. At 9:45 o'clock Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, will be heard over the Columbia network when he is interviewed by Ruth Brine on the recommendations his board will make to Congress this session.

Other leading programs over Columbia network today are "Music and the Friendly Arts," a discussion of modern music's debt to the ancient folk dances, at 1:30 o'clock; and "We, the People," with Dr. James Naismith, inventor of the game of basketball, as guest star at 8 o'clock.

Not Wholly Bad Blizzard Adds 'Cellist to Concert Series

By J. OLCUTT SANDERS

It's an ill blizzard that blows nobody some good, we are tempted to say. When Walter Gieseking, pianist scheduled to play for the Austin Community Concert Association last night, was halted in his airplane flight by severe blizzards in the Middle West, Miss Lois Trice, secretary of the Association, put forth heroic efforts and secured a worthy substitute. (Gieseking will play here tonight, we hasten to add.)

Maurice Marechal, distinguished French cellist, who was in San Antonio to give a concert tomorrow, filled the gap. Though he and his accompanist, Brooks Smith, were 45 minutes late in arriving at Hogg Memorial Auditorium, the audience took the delay with good humor and accepted a full program eagerly.

The first cello soloist to give a concert in Austin within recent memory, Marechal displayed a more than ample technique and a graceful, warm tone. He devoted the entire first half of his recital to Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Italian and French composers, whose works he did with distinct charm and good taste. This should not suggest that it was even trifling music, because there was opportunity for real depth of feeling, which Marechal recognized.

Actually, he was offering fine examples of composers who the concert-goer seldom is privileged to hear. Frescobaldi will be represented, coincidentally, on another program this week, that of Palmer Christian, organist. Boccherini is usually remembered for his "Celebrated Minuet." De Caix d'Herve is not remembered at all. Ramau gets somewhat more attention. Francoeur's name is best known in connection with the "Sicilienne and Rigaudon" which he but Fritz Kreisler wrote in the style of the early Frenchman.

Opening the second half of the program, Smith, a native Texan, played a modern group. This young pianist showed not only in his solos but also in his accompaniments an admirable blend of vitality and restraint.

Next Marechal turned to the modern French and Spanish schools. His performance sparkled throughout. Particular mention must be made of the delicate thread which he spun in the Faure and the interesting pizzicato in the Nin.

Probably to be considered as an encore but quite beyond encore proportions and usual encore significance, the Beethoven "Variations on a Theme of Mozart" by Nin; encore: "Variations on a Theme of Mozart" by Beethoven.

Austin Symphony To Give Concert

The first of seven concerts planned for the year by the Austin Symphony Orchestra is scheduled for Monday, February 6, in Hogg Memorial Auditorium. Dates and places for the others will be announced later. The orchestra is being directed by Henrik Buyten-dorp.

music. It is an excellent piece of writing dividing the honors between 'cello and piano; needless to say, Marechal and Smith struck a good balance.

Since printed programs could not be prepared in the brief time available, we share our perhaps wholly accurate notes:

I. "Toccato" by Frescobaldi; "Adagio and Allegro" from "Sonata in A Major" by Boccherini.

II. "Plainte and Tambourin" by de Caix d'Herve; "Dance Suite" by Rameau; "Allegro Vivo" from a sonata by Francoeur; encore: "Adagio and Gigue" from the same sonata.

III. "The Wind in the Rushes" by Sibelius-Palmgren; "Spanish Dance" by Albeniz; encore: "Alt Wien" by Godowsky. (Piano.)

IV. "Three Spanish Songs" by De Falla; "Habanera" by Ravel; "Fleuse" by Faure; "Granadina" by Nin; encore: "Variations on a Theme of Mozart" by Beethoven.
