Dear Dr. Bennett,

I have just received from the editors of the Classical Review a copy of your work on the Olive Oil Tablets on which they have asked me to write something. I observe that in this essay you do not say anything about the means by which you identified the ideogram for olive oil or about the way in which Ventris deciphered the sign ra 3. As these matters are obviously vital to the discussion of all the Olive Oil Tablets I propose to deal with them at some length. If you have anything to say about them that you have not already published I shall be glad to know what it is and to take account of it.

Yours sincerely,
