Dear Doctor Brookes Knight:

The Plummers tell me that you are leaving Princeton this year. So I am wondering whether Princeton would be interested in filling your place with a man versed in Tertiary stratigraphy and paleontology. It is my impression that a university of the national standing of Princeton can not afford to ignore this field altogether. At this juncture there is an opportunity to expand into this field, which may not occur again.

You may know already that I am interested in making a change for the better. Perhaps I should point out that I have a long and successful teaching experience.

I would appreciate it greatly if you would explore the situation for me.

With best regards.

Sincerely yours

H. B. Stenzel
