

Thursday

Dear Emmett,

And did you buy a bundle of those Flora stamps to which the Postmaster General ordered all that excess drapery to be applied for decency's sake? Anyway, I do admire your trademark and think it will set a fashion. Archaeologists will be sporting all over the place embellished by their favorite cut.

Pant to learn how & when your plans work out. There is much to be said for that part of the country natural resources, etc.

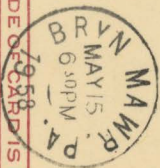

Have had more acknowledgments - most notably from Chadwick, who comments rather extensively. I suppose he can't help being slightly condescending; "while not agreeing with all your suggestions, I think you have made a good job of the publication."

Am scheduled to review MT II for AJA - but is hard to know what parts to deal with how extensively. I can of course (and will) write on the finished loveliness of such a final & definitive publication.

All best,

M.
