Dear Doctor Stenzel:

I thank you very much for information that name Bicorbula is pre-occupied. Of course I regret that the error is made and I suppose that this, as well as various other errors that creep in, in spite of all good intentions, is or will be criticized. I enclose a copy of a note which we are sending immediately to Journal of Paleontology.

One good turn deserves another. Our library has a later catalogue of generic animal names than that by Schulze, 1926. It is 1939-1940, Nomenclator zoologicus, 4 vols., edited by S. A. Neave, and published by the Zoological Society of London.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely,

M. K. Elias
