Creator Sketch

The 11th International Mycenological Colloquium was sponsored by the UNESCO-affiliated Comite International Permanent des Etudes Myceniennes (CIPEM) and met at The University of Texas at Austin in the Thompson Conference Center from May 8-12, 2000. It was attended by fifty European and ten American scholars who specialize in Mycenaean (studying the inscriptions of the Mycenaean Bronze Age and related cultures like those of Crete and Cyprus roughly 2000-1200 B.C.E.). The inscriptions provide information about all aspects of these cultures and those in the Near East, Egypt and Anatolia with which they interacted. The inscriptions are also primarily administrative documents, and these scholars work on topics relating to the earliest literate economic and political administrative systems in western culture.

The participants make up a who's who list of prominent linguists, epigraphers, historians and archaeologists and their younger counterparts from Cambridge, Oxford, the Sorbonne, the Universidad del Pais Vasco, the University of Uppsala, the University of St. Petersburg, the University of Salzburg, the Universities of Rome and Naples, the Université Catholique de Louvain, Århus University, the Macedonian Academy of Arts and Sciences, The Belgian National Research Foundation, the Greek Archaeological Service, and many other national research foundations, universities and study centers.

Scope and Content of the Records

This small collection of approximately 290 items contains the articles, their proofs, handouts and audiotapes of recorded Q&A sessions for the CIPEM 2000 conference. The bulk of the items reflect the articles presented at the conference by their author. The arrangement of the collection, in three groups, preserves the order of the papers as they were organized after their acceptance to PASP. They are organized by author in alphabetical order. Each folder will contain an article by the author presented at CIPEM 2000 and the handouts given to conference attendees. In other cases, authors supply digital copies of the items in the form of floppy or compact disks.

The collection has described uniformly to the item-level. A program of audiotape Q&A session is also available along with digitized copies of the recordings and timestamps for audio navigation. In this finding aid, information written by the donor is written in “quotes” and notes by the archivist written in [brackets].

The first record group, Programs, consists of the original CIPEM 2000 program as written by Tom Palaima in 2000 and also a guide to the audiotape recordings written during their production.

The second record group, Publications (277 items), consists of articles, offprints, handouts, digital media and correspondence from specific authors who presented or contributed to the CIPEM 2000 proceedings. It is important to note that some of these articles were revised between 2000 and 2005 by their authors and assistant students at PASP. These edits have been noted with their date. Not all papers are in English. Not all attendees of CIPEM 2000 submitted their papers to PASP for publication or editing. This information can be accessed in the subgroup “Publishing Updates.”

The third record group, Recorded Q&A, consists of 8 tapes which were recorded during the CIPEM 2000 proceedings. The recordings omit the presentation of tapes and focus on the Q&A which follows. These recordings should be accessed in their digitized form (mp3s). Not all Q&A is in English and an available timestamp mark-up of the recordings denotes which were in French or German.

Provenance

The documents and items of this collection were submitted to the Program in Aegean Scripts and Prehistory for their preservation and publication.
