

J. M. BUGBEE

~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~
HOUSTON, TEXAS

1724 Shell Building
Houston 2, Texas
February 22, 1944

Dr. H. B. Stenzel
Bureau of Economic Geology
Austin, Texas

Dear Stenzel:

You will recall our recent conversation in which Hans Cloos' experiments were mentioned. Hubbert tells me that the photographs of the entire set of models were published in a magazine devoted to the interests of museum curators. This was of great interest because only a few of the model photographs have been reproduced in his texts and in other publications. If you do have a copy of this article, we in Houston will be greatly in your debt for the privilege of photostating it.

The new job is most interesting - of course, that's from my view - hope it will come to be the Company's, too. I'd like you to mention the change to Virgil Barnes and give him my greetings.

Cordially,

J. M. Bugbee

JMB/mk