Council, Paleontological Society

Gentlemen:

I wish to suggest that the Council consider the question whether it is appropriate and desirable to propose nominations for officers in the Society that look to many members as a reward for faithful services in other offices.

This may sound like an ungracious letter, implying criticism of present officers and nominees. That is not my intention - my intention is to suggest consideration of a matter of policy. Hardly anybody but a Past President could make such a suggestion.

Respectfully yours,

W. P. Woodring
