Dear Henryk:

I thought that I had previously written and thanked you for the page of introduction on "Oysters." Is this the start of your long-awaited typescript? I should be happy to have you send on to me whenever you can any part of the typescript--also illustration materials--so that I may give you any possible aid wanted.

I have now gotten nearly everything else for Part N into near press-readiness.

Have just seen copy of Norman Newell's letter to you about this page on oysters. Of course he is right in pointing out that a family consisting of Gryphaeinae and Pycnodonteinae will have to bear the name Gryphaeidae because of priority.

With cordial best wishes,

Sincerely,

Raymond C. Moore
