

June 10, 1963

Dr. Gideon James
Department of Geology and Geophysics
University of California
Berkeley 4, California

Dear Gid:

Your acknowledgement of the receipt of the last shipments are rather late, and I had given you up for lost or drowned.

Bill Berggren and John Fleming are in Tripoli, Libya, working for Oasis Oil Company and appear to be quite happy. You might write to them and find out how to approach that company. Address is c/o Oasis Oil Company of Libya, Inc./P. O. Box 395/ Tripoli, Libya.

The English journal "Nature" publishes in each issue a long list of open positions. In view of the exodus from British Universities and the way the Britishers are aroused by it now, there might be a welcome there.

Have you taken the U.S. Geol. Survey civil service exams lately? There seem to be openings continuously there.

I shall be on the lookout for you. However, the employment picture among oil companies here is dull.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

H. B. Stenzel

HBS:tm

Shell Development Company
Exploration and Production Research Division