

Flooding aftermath, 10.14.13

RALPH BARRERA

Crews find the Waller Creek Tunnel project flooded on the north shore of Lady Bird Lake, where several pieces of heavy equipment were underwater from the rising floodwaters of the lake. The Austin area remains under a threat of additional rainfall as cleanup begins in some areas Monday, Oct. 14, 2013, after torrential amounts of precipitation fell across the city over the weekend.