Dr. Julia Gardner,
United States Geological Survey,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Dr. Gardner:

I take this occasion to inform you that the National Research Council has given me again help for the summer. I want to thank you for the help you have given me in this matter.

Concerning the correlation of the Texas Tertiary with that of France, which you mentioned in your last letter, I assure you that I will not attempt anything of the kind for the next twenty years. The statement concerning this correlation was merely prompted by the question upon the National Research Council's application blank.

With kindest regards, I am

Very truly yours,
