

January 1, 1932.

Dr. Raymond C. Moore,
Editor, Journal of Paleontology
University of Kansas,
Lawrence, Kansas.

Dear Dr. Moore:

With this letter I am enclosing a manuscript on the "Decapod Crustaceans from the Middle Eocene of Texas" which I am submitting for publication in the Journal of Paleontology. The MS. has two plates which are labeled A and B provisionally. I would be very happy to see this paper printed.

Much of the material will be very familiar to you on account of your field trip to the Little Brazos River, Brazos Co. which we made some time ago. The National Research Council is helping me in my work on the Paleontology and Stratigraphy of the Middle Eocene and this paper is the second contribution. I hope to do more work in this line.

The crab specimen you collected has not turned out very satisfactory. For this reason I shall send you one more specimen for your collections. I shall send them in a week or two. I want also to take occasion to thank you for your kind interest in these fossils during your visit to College Station.

Sincerely yours,