

Dear ELB,

July 24, 1986

I thought it the lesser risk to send a business note to your home when the mound of mail is probably smaller and when the UW mail system won't misdirect it. Please come to Boston prepared to discuss several practical matters, some less crazy than others.

① CRASP needs a logo. In order to get the proper generational perspective across, and the perfectly Nestorian idea that things are getting worse all the time, I wonder whether you would consider releasing, or bringing out of retirement, your Nestor logo. It would be quite fitting for a griffin, relative of the phoenix, to rise, not quite from its own ashes, but you get the picture!

② We must talk books.

③ We must talk visit from ELB, Jr., in 87-88? or 88-89.

I would confess to some guilt to be hitting you w/ such things in your jet-lagged state, but we're both used to such things now. Best to Manja, Yours, TGP
