Dear Ray:

Max Elias has translated two Russian papers for me and is at work on the third. The first two are:

Vialov [= Vyalov], O.S., 1948, O paleogenovykh ustritsakh iz Kashgara [On Paleogene Oysters From Kashgara]: Akad. Nauk SSSR Doklady, v. 62, no. 3, p. 381-384, 1 fig. (text minus text figs) translated 3.8 pages.

Vialov [= Vyalov], O.S. & Solun, V. I., 1957, Zarahzhenie Turkestanskikh Patina v Alaiskom yarusa [Origin of Turkestan's Patina in the Alai Stage]: Voprosy Paleobiogeog. i Biostратиг. (Vsesoyuz. Paleont. Obshch., Sess. I, Trudy), p. 191-197, 1 fig.
(text minus text fig.) translated 6.7 pages

Total 10.5 octavo pages

As to the chapter on the Oysters, I am beginning to see day light. The good libraries in the San Francisco region were a great help in clearing away pesky minor and major questions and filling gaps in the manuscript. Too bad, Rice University does not have a library equal to that task. It was a rare opportunity to discuss oysters with Hertlein, Allyn Smith, Myra and Wyatt. All these things help.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

H. B. Stenzel
