Dear Leo:

Thank you very much for sending me copies of your various papers; they are interesting. You have branched out considerably since your Jurassic days. Good for you.

I have been very busy since my return from Europe. First, there was a company field trip to arrange, and since then I have been writing on several manuscripts which are now nearing completion. The work has been fascinating. Some of this work should be published in the near future.

My daughter Sonya has just recently finished her internship at the local charity hospital and now she is starting her own practice of medicine in the west part of Houston. Naturally, I am very proud of her accomplishments; it was not easy to get to that stage.

Erich Bederke continues to write me nice short notes. He is an agreeable person. It was great to see you again and to renew our friendship after nearly 40 years. My only regret is that one cannot visit more often. My best wishes for your health and future.

Cordially yours,

H. B. Stenzel
