MIDDLE EAST AIR COMMUNIQUE

Headquarters, R.A.F.,
Middle East,
January 11th, 1944

Heavy bombers of the R.A.F. attacked the defences and other targets at Salamis, Southern Greece, during the night of January 9/10. Bursts were seen in the aircraft dispersal area at Eleusis airfield and a fire was followed by a heavy explosion.

Bad weather continues to interfere with attacks on enemy shipping in the Aegean Sea and has also diminished the amount of small shipping which has been able to put to sea from Greece and the enemy-occupied islands.

From all operations during the period under review none of our aircraft is missing.
