

MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY
DEPARTMENT OF GEOLOGY AND GEOPHYSICS
CAMBRIDGE 39, MASSACHUSETTS

December 12, 1952

Dr. H. B. Stenzel
The University of Texas
University Station, Box B
Austin 12, Texas

Dear Henry:

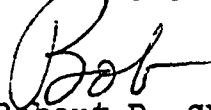

Thanks very much for your kind words about our "Principles of Invertebrate Paleontology". Thoughts like yours make worthwhile the many lonely hours that an author must spend putting together the kind of work that is represented in our text-book, and it always give me special pleasure when people are kind enough to take the trouble to write as you have done.

You are quite correct in calling attention to the mis-labelling of Figure 10-27, page 387, and I shall see to it that this correction is made at the first reprinting. This error just goes to illustrate how even specialists like the people at Harvard, who prepared this plate, can overlook obvious errors.

I hope you will take the trouble to let me know about any other errors, mis-statements, etcetera that you come across as you begin to use the book, as it will be possible to make minor corrections at the first reprinting.

With best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year -

Cordially yours,

Robert R. Shrock

RRS/R